Miss Amanda Goss, of Rye, fell down stairs at her home in that town on Wednesday, the 22d inst., breaking her collar bone and injuring herself internally so severely that her life is despaired of.

Rev. Mr. Pitblado's lecture Thursday evening on "Big boys and little boys" was well attended, and rounds of applause were drawn forth by the skillful and humorous treatment of the subject by the eloquent pastor.

The first number of the Advertiser, a local monthly paper, has been issued by Mr. Charles W. Gardner. As the work is all done in Mr. Gardner's job-office of course the "ads" look well, and the paper is finely printed. There is nothing of the "amateur printer" about it.

The tent which Portsmouth people contributed several hundred dollars to buy for Peter Waite, is to be soon used for a walking match—so says the Newburyport Herald. We shall have more faith in the truth of the story after the walking match has commenced.

Thieves entered the clothing store of A. Churchill in Exeter on the night of the 23d inst., breaking a pane of glass in the door. They took a whole case of jewelry and a lot of neckties, and changed their old suits for new ones throughout, from under-flannels to overcoats. They were probably tramps, as several were seen in the neighborhood during the previous day.

Mr. George S. Holman, only son of Rev. Sullivan Holman, chaplain of the New Hampshire State prison, died at Dallas, Texas, on the 11th inst., aged thirty-six years. He was well known in this city, where his father was located as a Methodist clergyman when his son was a youth. He possessed rare musical talents, and taught music in the east and west. For three years during the war he was employed at Fort Constitution, Newcastle.

Mrs. Brodhead, who had her neck so terribly gashed by the breaking of a pitcher which she held in her hand as she fell down stairs on the evening of the 22d inst., as previously reported, is the wife of Ex-Comptroller of the Currency Brodhead. The accident occurred at the residence in South Newmarket of Rev. James Pike, who married a sister of Mr. Brodhead; the latter gentleman has for several weeks been dangerously ill with a malarial disease contracted at Washington, but is now recovering, though still confined to his bed.

At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Thursday, the following officers were chosen: Miss A. E. McIntire of Exeter, president, with one vice president from each county; Mrs. B. F. Thorndike of Portsmouth, secretary; and Miss Lizzie White of Concord, treasurer. It was voted to invite the Woman's National Christian Temperance Union to hold its next annual session in New Hampshire. Delegates to the United States convention were elected, and it was voted to hold the next meeting at Manchester in October, 1880.

Stratham has done well this season in the apple line. James L. Lane picked from one tree forty-three bushels of choice Baldwins. Noah P. Young will have eight hundred barrels of Baldwins, and a hundred barrels of fall apples; he has picked one Baldwin that weighs eighteen ounces.

Dover has 1534 pupils in her public schools, and forty-one teachers.

Portsmouth boasts of, or owns up to, twenty-four doctors and dentists; we have not had time to count the music teachers and lawyers.

At no time since the war have been so many fine buildings put up in this city as have been erected this year or are now in process of erection. There are not many mechanics in the city who are idle at the present time for lack of a chance to work if they wish.

President E. B. Phillips and General Passenger Agent Tuttle, of the Eastern railroad, President Jackson and Superintendent Payson Tucker of the Boston & Maine, with other prominent railroad officials, have been on a tour over the New Brunswick & Canada railway and the New Brunswick railway, arriving back at Bangor on Friday.

The following losses have been paid in this State during the present month by the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, through C. M. Cignoux, general agent: $5066 on the life of Dr. N. Tolles, late of Claremont; $28,117 on the life of Charles S. Faulkner, late of Keene. The latter policy was for $20,000, and was taken out in 1867.

As far as I. B. Williams & Sons, the belt manufacturers, are concerned, they cannot complain from depression of business. A tour through their shops this morning found twenty-five hands as busy as possible. They now turn out 25,000 feet of belting weekly, and have orders for 120,000 feet ahead, which has caused the hands to work over time. Several alterations have been made in the shops of late, and a new brick ell just finished is now being fitted up with machinery. This enterprising firm stands A 1 as belt manufacturers, and their belting is found in mills and factories throughout the country.—Dover Democrat.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

On Friday evening there was a called meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

Mayor Sise officially notified the board of the death of Ex-Mayor John H. Bailey, and made brief and appropriate remarks, paying a just tribute to his memory.

Alderman Hall followed the mayor, and spoke in the highest terms of the deceased as to his worth as a citizen and a business man, referred to his patriotic course during the rebellion, and offered the following resolutions:

Whereas, We are by the dispensation of the divine will called upon to mourn the loss, by death, of an honored citizen, and one who has in former years occupied the chair of honor in this room, Hon. JOHN H. BAILEY,—therefore

Resolved, That while we bow with humble submission to the decree that has removed him from among us, we cherish with emotions of gratitude the memory of his active, noble life, with admiration for his manly and patriotic deeds, and with affection for his tender, generous and benevolent sympathies.

Resolved, That in his death society has lost a genial, valued helper of no ordinary capacity; the poor, an open-handed friend; the State, an ardent patriot; and our business circles an able, honorable and successful man.

Resolved, That we tender our warmest sympathies to his family, who have lost a devoted husband and loving father.

Resolved, That as a tribute of respect this board will attend the funeral of the deceased.

It was voted that the resolutions be adopted and spread upon the record, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

FRANKLIN BLOCK.

One million and forty thousand bricks will be used in the construction of the new Franklin block.

The carved stone work for the front entrance to the halls arrived on Friday, and will immediately be put in position. The apex of the arch will be thirteen feet from the sill, and the width of the entrance ten feet. It is claimed that it will be the handsomest doorway in the State, and a monument of skill to the workmen who wrought the carving.

The floor of the Franklin theatre stage was laid on Friday; the stage will have a depth of twenty-six feet, and a width of thirty-three feet.

The building will be heated throughout by steam.

FRIDAY, Oct. 24th.

The court was occupied in hearing the suit in equity of Calvin Page, administrator, of John G. Berry, Mary J. Pickering, Charles W. Berry, and Emma F. Manson, by Robert Manson, vs. Elizabeth A. Whidden, and as executrix of Joseph W. Whidden, Frank L. Whidden, Eldora A. Whidden, Carrie E. Whidden, and Edith M. Whidden,—a controversy between the heirs of the late William Berry of Newington. Page and Frink for plffs.; Hatch for the defendants.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Mr. Editor: An item in the GAZETTE of the 9th inst. reads as follows: "In a farm house in Hampton is an aged man who was for fifty years entirely blind; some six months since his sight returned," ect. I have seen the same article in several other papers, and wish to correct the statement. The gentleman referred to I presume is Dea. Jesse Knowles, who was blind some eight years, (not fifty,) and did receive the sight of one eye some six months ago, and can now see to read fine print with the aid of glasses. The full particulars of the restoration of the deacon's sight never have appeared in print; but it is quite interesting, and I will give it as I had it from his own lips.

One fine Saturday last spring the youngest daughter of the deacon, with a part of her family, was spending the day with her father. During the afternoon, while in conversation, her father made the remark that he could see her and her children. The statement caused a curious feeling to all in the room; all eyes were turned upon the aged parent. The deacon arose from his chair, and saw the family he had not seen for eight long years, and the grand-daughter he had never seen. A new world was spread out before him. Overjoyed, he went into the street alone, and walked up to the school-house that was built near his house since his loss of sight; the children were sent after him, to lead him back, thinking he had lost his reason; but he told them that he knew where he was, that he could see, and that he would come home again all right. The next day was the Sabbath. He arose early to look upon the rising sun, that he had not seen for eight years. What a beautiful sight it was no one can tell but he who was once blind and can now see. No wonder he praised God, for he had greater reason to than the man that was born blind. At the breakfast table he said that he was going to the house of God, and there in his holy temple "give God the glory." His family looked at him, almost doubting his sanity, as he said that he was going alone. Now he had not been to church without being led for the eight years he had been blind; hence everybody looked and wondered as he passed through the street to church alone. Had one risen from the dead people would hardly have been more astonished than they were when they saw this good old man walk up to the church, without aid, pass into the door and up through the aisle to his pew. Every eye in the house was upon him. After meeting, such a shaking of hands never was seen in the Congregational church of Hampton before,—as he had been an officer of the church for many years and, was loved and respected by all who knew him.

The Double Marriage.

A rare dramatic treat is in store for our people at Music Hall to-night. The following is from the Louisville Courier-Journal:

The production of "A Double Marriage" was attended with prounced success. The audience was most enthusiastic in its commendations throughout the evening. The play was written by Charles Reade, and is owned by Miss Claxton. It is a drama of the liveliest interest. The exigencies of the play are such as to call forth the emotional qualities of Miss Claxton's peculiar dramatic power. Miss Claxton is essentially an emotional actress, and is therefore especially adapted to meet, in this respect, the demands of the social drama of the day. Endowed by nature with personal charms that can scarcely fail to achieve for her the immediate favor of her audience, and possessed of a manner and bearing so thoroughly graceful and winsome, she is most happily equipped for her work. She is, moreover, full of that subtle something, which we call magnetism for want of a better word, and which reaches and controls the hearts of the assemblage in its own inexplicable way. Then, again, she never seems to be acting. She is ever natural and realistic. Her art disguises itself in the true colors of actual life. She is rarely declamatory. Passion is with her, subdued in its expression. We are conscious of its intensity, but are not startled by clamorings or frantic outburstings. Her methods are not conventional. She depends upon impulse rather than upon prescribed forms and rules. The result is her impersonations are refreshing and stamp themselves upon the memory ineffaceably. As Josephine, last night, she was thoroughly in her element. As the wife, innocently wedded to one more husband than the law allows, and tossed about in the tempest of agony and despair, living in the shadows with the sunlight shut out from her life, she held undisputed sway over her audience. The baby used in the third act fairly captured the audience, the infant being complimented with a special recall. Miss Claxton was summoned before the curtain after each act, and congratulated in the warmest fashion. The piece is very prettily mounted, the dressing being notably good.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The schooner Samuel Fish, Capt. Barter, from this port, arrived at Kennebunkport on the 21st inst., to load the frame of a ship for Bath.

A grand musical convention in York county commences at Springvale on Monday, 27th inst., at four o'clock P. M., closing on Friday with a concert at the town hall.

Stephen Goodale, long an inmate of the poor-house of York, has just died at the alleged age of 118 years. He entered the almshouse forty-two years ago, at the age of seventy-six years, and has been there ever since. Records of the town prove his age as above stated—that is, if the record made forty-two years ago was correct.

On Wednesday, 22d inst., three tons of sugar beets were shipped to Portland from Saco, and on Thursday twelve tons; about one hundred tons will go from Saco, in all. The farmers of Buxton are hauling their sugar beets to Bar Mills, and there storing them in a large cellar near the railroad station; Buxton will furnish about 1000 tons.

"Messenger Knox, "a well-known stallion owned by Mr. C. F. Warner of Portland, Me., arrived at Saco on the 21st inst. from Dover; he was sick on arriving, and though a veterinary surgeon was sent for from Portland, the animal died on Thursday. Messenger Knox had a record of 2:30, and it is said his owner had refused $12,000 for him.

A family in Kittery possess a kitten that has seven toes on each fore paw, with an effective claw to each toe, the hinder feet being similar to those of other pussies; its fore paws are now about the size of butter plates, and it is expected that when that kitten arrives at the dignity of cathood they will be big enough to envelope and smother any rat that comes along. The mother of this unique kitten is not to be sneered at for feet, as she has six toes on each of her fore paws, and each toe has its full-sized claw; and when she puts one of those hands of hers on a mouse the little animal might as well try to escape from a threshing machine.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Rev. L. L. Harmon of Hampton will preach in the Pearl street church on Sunday.

"Sealed Orders," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, author of "The Gates Ajar" and other works: Boston; Houghton, Osgood & Co. This is a collection of stories, many of which have previously appeared in the Atlantic, Harper's Monthly, New York Independent, and Scribner's Monthly. Miss Phelps is one of those writers whose chef d' œuvre has given her a wide reputation; and perhaps after "Gates Ajar," which was most extensively read and generally commended when it appeared and afterwards, led always to expect a similar enjoyment in her subsequent books. There is always but one best work of every author; still, the ability to achieve a high result in letters in one instance is always at the command of the writer, for after efforts. "Sealed orders" contains seventeen short, pleasing stories, told in an easy way, and with the display of power for which the gifted writer is noted. The book may be found at W. G. Myers' book-store on Congress street, at the publisher's price, $1.50.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made enormous profits in stock speculations, paying millions to each shareholder. The new consolidation plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $10,000. The money of thousands of customers thus massed in one mighty sum, and operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant success. A hotel keeper in Ohio invested $140 in a combination, which netted $478. Three investments resulted in a total profit of $13,801.18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a combination, which yielded a profit of $2,817.04; two investments netted him $8,664.31. Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair-restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in its nature, and acts like a charm. All other so-called cleansing mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all humors and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medicinal power of the CUTICURA REMEDIES will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered exceedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctored for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT,

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once faltered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyment, once regarded it as unworthy special attention, it is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may also arise from a scrofulous or cancerous blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the glands are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter cause is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to reach directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to move it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require a very persistent effort to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when system of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we could decidedly believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in its directions, proves it an scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. Wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists or retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 90 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $37.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a credit body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1873, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.00 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted. If subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

New Publications.

"The Temple: by W. O. Perkins, Mus. Doc.; for Classes, Conventions and Choirs," in the title of a new church music book published by the well known house of Oliver Ditson & Co., of Boston. In this book is found the usual singing-school course, and more songs, duets, glees, tunes, anthems and chants than can possibly be practised in one winter's course. Almost all the music is quite appropriate to choir and convention practice. A large proportion of it is new, and arranged or written for the book. It has 286 pages, with convenient indices of songs, tunes, etc. The book is sold at $9.00 per dozen. It has 161 numbered exercises, most of them in form of tunes, with words; about seventy-five pages of glees, quite fresh and wide awake, and 150 pages of sacred music, including a large number of metrical tunes, anthems, sentences and chants.

We have received from the publishers, Messrs. Roberts Brothers, by W. G. Myers, who has them for sale, two recent publications which will be enjoyed by the young folks. Indeed how much is done now-a-days for the little ones in the way of literature adapted to their years, and designed for their enjoyment. Louisa M. Alcott, the renowned author of "Little Women," and other well-remembered works, has written the fifth of the "Aunt Jo's Scrap Bag" series, being "Jimmy's Cruise in the Pinafore," etc. Miss Alcott is able to supply the young people with what they most desire in books, and the present volume will be none the less welcomed and enjoyed by a large circle of readers than have its predecessors from the same pen.— Susan Coolidge, author of "What Katy did" and other popular books, known and appreciated by juvenile readers, is again before us with "Eyebright," a story in twelve chapters, finely printed and illustrated, and making an attractive volume of 247 pages. We imagine that the grand army of little ones, as the weather grows cooler and in-door recreation succeeds out-of-doors sports, will create a a large demand for these books.

How She Cured Him.

John came in and inquired whether dinner was ready, and was told it was not.

"Well why in the devil isn't it?" said he.

"Because," she coolly replied, "the wood was so d——— wet that the fire would not burn."

"Why, Mary, what is the matter with you? Are you crazy, or have you been drinking?"

"Neither," she replied, and quietly proceeded to put on dinner.

The beef didn't melt like butter between the teeth—it rather resisted all attempts at mastication, like so much India rubber; and John finally blurted out, "What makes this d——— beef so infernal tough?"

Mary looked up archly, and replied, "Well, John, I suppose you went down to the butcher's, and without knowing the difference, picked out a piece of some d——— old stag that hadn't been fed for a month."

John jumped up, looked at his wife in dismay, and wanted to know what such language from her lips meant.

"It means this, John; you are the head of the family, and just so long as you think it manly to swear in my presence I intend to do the same. If you don't like to hear it, you know how to prevent it."

The cure was radical, and to this day Mary has never been compelled to administer another dose of that homeopathic prescription.

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Standay Mecury.

Sambucl Wine in New York Hospitals.

Dr. Harris, of the New York Hospital, finds Speer's Sambucl Wine an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, and recommends it, especially for ladies. Dr. Parish, of Philadelphia, pronounces it to be a purely unadulterated wine, possessing much medicinal virtue, and uses it for its purity, fine flavor, medicinal properties, and non-intoxicative qualities, &c. Our limited space forbids any more extracts from letters of similar import from numerous physicians and clergymen. It has been found to be the best Wine for Dropsy, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, the aged and infirm. It gives strength and vigor. Excellent for Females. Sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gorrish.

News and Notes.

Memphis is at last free again; the cold weather has stopped the spread of the yellow fever. The railroads resume business this week, and the exiles will return.

The postmaster general has refused an application by the counsel of the Louisiana Lottery Company for reference to the attorney general of a brief filed in behalf of that company against the recent order forbidding them to use the mails.

The search in the woods for the little girl missing at West Joy, near Richford, Vt., was given up on Friday, the people believing her to have been murdered and her body concealed. Great excitement prevails in the neighborhood.

The railroad commissioners of Connecticut made a careful examination of the portion of the New York & New England railroad in that State last week, in company with General Wilson, vice president of the road, and in their report to the railroad company the commissioners make the following statement: "The greatly improved general condition of your whole road, and your evident purpose to make it first class in every respect, cannot fail to commend it favorably to the travelling public and to all interested in your future prosperity."

A gang of five tramps, after overpowering a bartender in Olean, N. Y., on Wednesday of last week, got drunk and then stood in the street, firing with revolvers at people passing by. They cleared the street of people. Sheriff Wright arrived shortly and opened on them with a revolver. He was shot in the leg. Citizens joined him, and Dr. Heard shot one of the tramps dead and John Collins shot another dead. The other tramps fled to the woods. They had been robbing houses, stores and people on the highway for several days and nights. The same tramps on the previous Friday ran two freight cars on the passenger track of the Buffalo & Philadelphia road near Olean with which a train collided, causing damage of over $20,000, but the passenger cars were not injured. The intent was to wreck the whole train, that the tramps might rob the express car and passengers' baggage. They robbed a farmer at Bradford of over $2000 a few days ago, and the people there are forming vigilance committees. New York has no "infamous tramp law," such as oppresses honest laboring men like these Olean tramps if they show their heads in New Hampshire.

The dead body of Mr. Burr, the journalist who made the balloon ascension with Prof. Wise, was found on the shore of Lake Michigan on Friday. There is now no doubt that both men were drowned in the lake on the night after they ascended from St. Louis.

Frank F. Boynton, the defaulting receiving teller of the North national bank of Boston, was on Saturday sentenced to five years in jail.

Naval Affairs.

Commodore Crosby, commanding the League Island navy yard, reports to the department that the stores of the Essex have been landed, the crew paid off and distributed, and the vessel put out of commission.

The U. S. S. Vandalia, Comdr. Meade, was at Aspinwall Oct. 16th, to sail next day for Vera Cruz and home.

Commodore William G. Temple is ordered to duty as a member of the naval examining and retiring boards, of which Rear. Adm. Rowan is president.

Commo. D. McN. Fairfax is detached from duty as a member of the examining and retiring boards, and ordered to assume the governorship of the naval asylum at Philadelphia, Oct. 27th.

Rear. Admiral J. R. M. Mullany is detached from duty as governor of the naval asylum at Philadelphia on the 26th of October, and placed on the retired list.

Mates Hugh Kuhl and James A. Smith are detached from the tug Speedwell, and ordered to the Tallapoosa.

Medical Director Samuel F. Coues is detached from the naval hospital at New York, and ordered to special duty in attending officers not otherwise provided with medical aid, at Boston.

Lieut. Charles Seymour is detached from the Monongahela and ordered to the Ashuelot.

Lieut. Wm. W. Rhodes is detached from command of the Mahopac, and ordered to take charge of the Bellevue magazine, near Washington, D. C. Lieut. James A. Chesley is ordered to the Mahopac.

Several of the foreign maritime powers to whom the system of fog signals, prepared by Commodore John C. Beaumont, has been presented, have indicated their approval of the system, and expressed a willingness to adopt it should there be a prospect of it becoming of general use. To insure the success which it deserves, it is essential that the system should be agreed to by all nations having a navy and mercantile marine.

New Hampshire Items.

In the supreme court at Concord, Friday, Edwin Dearborn was sentenced to fifteen years in the State prison for placing obstructions on the Concord railroad.

John Mason of Chichester was nearly killed Thursday night, by his wife attacking him while asleep, with a sledge hammer. She attempted to strangle him about ten years ago while he was asleep.

Spencer and Lee, two of the parties indicted for the murder of Foster at Keene several years ago, arrived at Keene on Friday, and Dodge was reported as on the way. It is generally understood that they will all be arraigned soon, and an adjourned term of the court will be held for their trial.

The house of George Stevens, at Monroe, was on one day last week again attacked by a gang of Vandye & Merrill's employes, led by one of the former rioters, who is now under indictment. Stevens was knocked down, dragged out of the house and seriously injured. The windows and doors were smashed and the fence around the house torn down. This is the second time that Vandye & Merrill's men have committed such an outrage, and the people of Monroe are determined that such proceedings shall be stopped.

A GOOD SHIP.

Commander Winfield S. Schley, late commander of the United States steamer Essex, build at this navy yard some years ago, makes a special report to the secretary of the navy of the qualities of the ship, which he says realized his highest expectations. Her steaming and sailing qualities during her recent three-years cruise have been eminently satisfactory, and her qualities as a sea boat completely and conclusively demonstrated. Few vessels in a cruise of three years have been exposed to such severe weather, and on all occasions Commander Schley was delighted with her beautiful behavior. Under sufficient sail and way she never refused staying, and with sufficient fresh winds she was never overhauled by other sailing craft, notwitstanding she was obliged to drag her four-bladed propeller. Commander Schley reports that he never felt a moment of anxiety or lost an hour's sleep in the heaviest weather in her in the open sea. Her hull was so staunch and her fitments in every respect so complete, and her buoyancy and other sea-going qualities so superb that he regards her from that standpoint as a most successful ship. Over 40,000 miles of active cruising shows how well she is fitted and appointed as a vessel of war. She never lost a sail or a spar, although she encountered on some occasions the most terrific weather.

AROUND HOME.

"Baby" was well rendered at Music hall on Saturday evening.

The Concord railroad has declared a dividend of five per cent, payable November first.

Rev. H. Benton Smith, the new pastor of the Universalist church in South Newmarket, arrived there with his family last week.

One hundred and seventy-three teams were counted on or in the vicinity of Market square on Saturday at eleven o'clock A. M.

Members of the city government are to meet at the city rooms at one o'clock this afternoon, for the purpose of attending the funeral of Hon. John H. Bailey.

C. M. Cignoux, general agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, is to occupy the office corner of Congress and Fleet streets in the new National block.

The second lecture in the Methodist course will be given this (Monday) evening by Rev. C. B. Pitblado; subject, "Robert Burns." Evening tickets, ten cents each.

Kate Claxton and her company played "Double Marriage" to an audience only moderate in numbers, Saturday evening, Those who were present enjoyed the entertianment greatly.

There was a called meeting of the common council on Saturday evening, to take action upon the death of Ex-Mayor Bailey. Appropriate resolutions werp passed, and the board voted to attend the funeral.

The United States coast suvey steamer Endeavor, Lieut. Jefferson F. Moser commanding, arrived at this port on Thursday afternoon of last week from Rockland, Me., and left again in a few hours.

Rev. Henry Powers of Manchester, secretary of the New Hampshire Unitarian Association, occupied the desk of the Unitarian church in this city on Sunday. Mr. Powers preached at Eliot in the afternoon.

An alarm of fire, Saturday evening, was occasioned by the burning of a barn standing in a field on Islington road, above Frenchman's lane, and owned by Mr. Samuel S. Frye. The fire was incendiary.

Mr. Charles N. Thompson, for several years associated with his father in the confectionery business at No. 35 Congress street in this city, has recently established himself in the same business at No. 1189 Broadway, New York, near the Fifth avenue hotel.

Garribaldi hook and ladder truck, while going to the fire on Saturday evening, was upset on Cass street; two of the company were injured, Thomas A. Prior having one of his legs hurt, and John Lydston receiving a cut on his head. The truck was somewhat damaged.

A new stable is about to be built by the Messrs. Peirce, on the site of the one demolished last week at the rear of the Leavitt lot, on Warren street, recently purchased of the heirs of Miss Mary Leavitt. The stable when completed will be occupied by Jackson & Co., for their express teams.

Mr. Frank Harvey, while engaged in hoisting iron beams at the Franklin block, Saturday morning, fell from the second floor, severely injuring him about the head and shoulders. He was taken to Dr. Whittier's office, where his wounds were dressed, and from thence to his home in Stratham.

Mr. George A. Mudge, in the garden of his house on State street, has a peach tree which came up from a seed four years ago, and has borne fruit for two years, this season producing about a bushel and a half of very large and handsome peaches. The tree is very late in ripening its fruit, for Mr. Mudge did not gather it until last Saturday, and it was not fully ripe even then; but it is of good flavor, and if it will ripen off the tree Mr. Mudge can have choice peaches of his own raising for his Thanksgiving dinner.

No lack of attactive entertainments in this city just at present. Last week at Music hall we had the splendid Kate Thayer concert, the fine presentation of the "Crown Diamonds" by Stetson's English Opera Co., and Kate Claxton's "Double Marriage." This week, "Kit, the Arkansas Traveller," on Wednesday evening; and on Saturday evening the Boston Theatre Co. in "The Exiles," the gorgeous and romantic drama which last season had seventy-nine consecutive performances in Boston, and drew large audiences up to the end. Next week, Joe Jefferson as "Rip Van Winkle," and probably other entertainments, though no others are announced at the time we write this.

THE ARKANSAS TRAVELLER.

On Wednesday evening next, at Music hall, "Kit, the Arkansas Traveller" will be played by Mr. F. S. Chanfrau and the company that has travelled with him for two years past. The play has been given by Mr. Chanfrau in the Boston theatre for 127 nights, who has for eight years past opened the season at that noted place of amusement with it, always drawing crowded houses. Of the last occasion the Herald says:

An old-time greeting, hearty and enthusiastic, was extended by an immense audience to Mr. F. S. Chanfrau last evening, when, for the eighth consecutive time, he opened the regular dramatic season at the Boston theatre. It is all very well for the critical to call the play of "Kit" crude and inartistic in design and construction, full of forced situations and violations of probability, and with a dialogue consisting largely of inflated "fustian" and overstained sentiment; but granted that all this is true, it is equally indisputable that the piece possesses a romantic interest which few audiences can resist, and that the fortunes and misfortunes of the hero, as personified by Mr. Chanfrau, are followed with the closest attention by the most blase of theatre-goers. If success be an indication of merit, "Kit" and Chanfrau take high rank in the list of modern plays and "stars."

REAL ESTATE IMPROVEMENTS.

Probably never in the history of our ancient city has there at any one time been a larger number of substantial buildings in course of erection than during the past season. Indeed, since the decline in our commercial importance, for many years real estate was depressed in value, capital sought investment elsewhere—often not as profitably or safely as was expected—and few bought real estate except for personal occupancy. Recently there has been a change in this respect. Sagacious men like Benj. F. Webster, Chas. H. Mendum, Frank Jones, E. H. Winchester and others whom we could name, have determined that a local investment carefully looked after was in the long run just as safe as hazarding their funds in the care of managers of foreign corporations, or placing them in investments of a doubtful class in the dim distance. The substantial peices of real estate of some of these gentlemen show that they did not err in judgment, when, taking year by year, we see how much better estate in Portsmouth—never fluctuating, depressed by no dullness and elevated by no speculation—has maintained is rentable value, while other property has fallen from its cost.

The fine houses now being built by Messrs. Sise, Webster, Ward and others, are a credit to our city, while such buildings as the National and Franklin blocks on Congress street will add much to the character of the business part of the place.

But these buildings are before us in our daily walks, and every one knows of them and we trust properly estimates their value to the community. Like a well appointed hotel, or a capacious and attractive place of amusement or instruction, they are important adjuncts to our city in every respect.

But there is another department of real estate in which great improvements have been made the past season, and of which it was our intention to speak. We refer to the extensive additions to the brewery and malt houses of Hon. Frank Jones, at the west end. A brief visit to these premises on Saturday afforded us an opportunity of learing something of the increase of the capacity of Mr. Jones' premises for the business, which, after the decline of commerce, the limit to trade, and the failure of so many kinds of manufacturing enterprises, and attempts to achieve success in various ways, seems to cause Portsmouth to become the most noted for its brewed products of any city in New England.

What a change, even since these premises were first used as a brewery, when John Swindells, in a set of wooden buildings, brewed good ale, but with little capital, and less self-denial, did a small business, which however was the beginning of a manufacture which has since so extensively enlarged. The old buildings are no longer seen; indeed, the houses on the westerly side of Albany street and the easterly side of Jewell's court have been removed, and upon the lot where they stood is a fine open space which we are told is to be converted into a green lawn.

The extension of the malt house facing on Albany street, is forty feet by forty-five, with two additional stories, making a building 225 feet in length, with a sharp roof, slated, and surmounted on the eastern end, by a tower. Below this is a marble tablet from the works of John S. Treat, upon which is cut in heavy letters

"Built 1866,
BY FRANK JONES,
Enlarged 1879."

Here is every modern appliance for the extensive business, including elevators and conveyers for handling grain. Attached is a kiln house fifty by sixty feet, (used for drying malt,) slated also, supported by iron pillars with a floor of perforated iron. Adjoining is a substantial storehouse, two stories high (each fifteen feet in height) designed ultimytely for an additional malt house, but at present for the reception of grains, which are taken thence to the malt house by conveyers—a tubeing with an endless screw, which carries the grain along, and from which it is deposited in whatever place it may be designed. This building is especially substantial and thorough in its construction. It was built by contract. Its foundations are laid upon a solid rock ledge. Its walls were built and mason work done by A. Brackett Trefethen, and its roofing, etc., by M. C. Foster of Waterville, Me. In these additions have been used a million five hundred thousand of bricks since last March, most of which were manufactured at Dover point. The iron pillars which support the floors of the malt house, were cast by the Somersworth Machine Co., at Great Falls. The lumber came from the Bartlett Lumber Co., at Bartlett, and was shipped by Gardner & Buffum over the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad.

Especial care seems to have been observed throughout the works to guard against possibility of damage by fire. Four steam engines are required to operate the brewery, pump the water, elevate the grain and do the malting. The water used for the ale comes from the Portsmouth Aqueduct Co., and for this purpose no better water has ever been discovered in the world; but the supply here needed for other purposes, such as feeding the engines, washing the tuns, cooling the ale, etc., is enormous, and this is derived from two artesian wells, twenty-five feet deep and twenty-five feet in diameter. Large tanks are kept full by steam pumps, and hose leading from these reservoirs of water throughout the building are everywhere at hand. In addition to these precautions, besides the regular men employed at night, are three night watchmen whose duty is on separate beats to carefully look out for accident by fire, and it is from these watchmen that fires in town are generally first announced to our citizens when they occur in the still hours of the night.

The immense business of receiving stock and shipping ale, which some time since requred a railway track, is simplified by the manner in which cars are unloaded by of elevators, and barrels are put on board, by being raised by an endless chain. In order to prevent the inconvenience of the frequent occupation of the Islington street crossing by cars shifting in and out, an additional side track has been laid, which relieves the main siding and eventually diminishes the necessity of crossing the street by cars save when trains arrive and depart from the brewery. We noticed on the side track eleven cars and were informed that there is in addition to the arriving cars, an average of ten freight cars loaded here daily. This of course relieves our streets of much heavy teaming which would constantly wear them down.

Just now a large quantity of barley is coming in from Canada, which pays a duty of fifteen cents per bushel, much of which comes in bond and the duties are paid at our custom house.

There is also required an enormous amount of hops, which comes from New York State. The scarcity of this article in Europe caused by the bad season abroad, has caused a great advance in the price of hops in the American market, and Mr. Jones could not to-day purchase the hops he secured and stored last spring, for three hundred per cent advance upon the price he then paid. The amount of the products and the material consumed, and like information, are mere matters of statistics, uninteresting save as indicative of the magnitude of business. It was our purpose rather to glance at the permanent improvements than to study the workings of the establishment further than to note that it employed seventy-five men constantly, and in addition to the railway transportation being so conveniently accessible, twenty-one horses were in use for teaming and other purposes, and kept in the stables adjoining.

We were struck with the everywhere unmistakable evidence of thoroughness and faithfulness in the construction of the buildings. These works are not copied in their structure from any similar establishments, but are the results of the clear head and sound judg ment of their owner, aided to no little extent by the practical knowledge and experience of Mr. Josiah H. Morrison, the head brewer. Mr. Jones seems early to have determined that to be a success in the market he must attain a reputation for brewing a good ale and ever after keep it, so that customers could always rely upon his ale being of a standard quality. In Boston, Salem, Worcester, Providence, Newburyport, Lowell, Lawrence, Manchester and many other cities he has always managed to secure agents who understand their business, and he has never disappointed them in the quality of a single shipment. In these cities and many other places Portsmouth ales are as well known as Barclay & Perkins' products are in London, or Guinness' stout in cities of Ireland and other countries. This reputation has been gained by only by untiring energy, and notwithstanding his many other engagements, by never forgetting the advice of that sententious motto "Mind your business."

Such are some of the improvements at the Jones brewery and malt house, the active proprietor of which we were told was on Saturday absent in Canada engaged in purchasing grain. We have thus sketched the principal feature of the establishment, because probably few of our readers have any idea how extensive have been the improvements made at the west end, which in construction has given work to so many mechanics and laborers during the past season, and in their completeness, conveniences and appliances for the work designed, are second to none in the country.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mr. Daniel Moulton's house at Groundnut hill, York, near Mount Agamenticus, was burned last Friday afternoon; furniture mostly saved. The house was valued at $800; insured $400.

The editor of the Kennebunk Star boasts that he had for breakfast a day or two ago, a mackerel 19 1-2 inches long and weighing 2 3-4 pounds; and tells of another one 24 1-2 inches long, and 9 1-2 inches wide when split. The Ogunquit fishermen one day recently landed ten thousand pounds of dressed fish, of which the sloop Adams brought in five thousand.

At the Eastern railroad depot in Saco, on Friday morning last, six cars in the middle of a freight train left the rails, probably through a loose truck; one car was swung around across the track, ploughing up the ground and tearing up a platform, the car being damaged to the extent of needing a new truck frame; the other cars were little injured, and no person was hurt. Passenger trains were not delayed, one track being got clear in time for them to pass.

Political.

The greenback managers in Calais, (Me.,) after their defeat complained of bribery on the part of republicans. The charges were brought before a grand jury in Washington county, composed of eleven democrats and seven republicans, which, after an examination of the evidence, dismissed them as groundless. Like the party, its charges were flat.

The New Haven Union, the only greenback paper in New England conducted with any ability at all says: "Our faith in the justice of the greenback cause is as strong to-day as ever, but we are satisfied the people are not ready to battle for their material interests. They have repudiated their champions in Ohio and Iowa. In the former the greenback cause has gone back amazingly since 1878, when Allen was barely defeated. In Iowa the same is true. The greenbacks have lost greatly, Gear being elected by a majority over all. The republicans, flushed with success, will now make a desperate attempt to gain full and complete control of the government next year, and if they win, popular rule will become a farce. Citizens must now array themselves either for or against Grant and a practical monarchy."

—He was weary—completely tired out. He crawled out from a box in the rear of a San Francisco saloon and saw the flags flying in every direction, looked upon the scene of Grant's reception in horror and, exclaimed: "What have I come to; here it is the Fourth of July—nine months drunk. I am going to Bodie to brace up." He arrived this morning, and immediately sent a postal card to his friends dated 8th of July, 1880.—Bodie Standard.

"As for the use of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, for diseases," said Mrs. Partington, holding the bottle up to the light, "it is one of the best specifications in the world for all sorts of melodies. A friend of mine used it for sciatica in the head, and forgot his pain, after he tried everything else. Bless you, there's nothing like it as a healing rostrum." Ike played a solitary game of marbles on the mat.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP. LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some cleagenous mixture or poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that inflame and irritate the scalp and hair glands and induce, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered excedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was told by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctor'd for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,
GEORGE A. MUDGE,
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT,
881 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 15, 1878.

We know the above to be true.
MARY E. TOWNSEND, 412 W. Jackson St.
MRS. C. A. GRAY, 351 Fulton St.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did me no good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. A. RAYMOND,
Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.
JACKSON, MICH., Dec. 20, 1878.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 251 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury it causes, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becomes more aggravated when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The diseases may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, such as Catarrh Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, in distinctive features, differ in Catarrh to cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surface being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter of discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being vexed by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and partly deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages of using Dr. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The unequivocal testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED,

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and symptomatic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 1500 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Montezuma Lode," continuous for a distance of 4,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which mined with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of the Company, ten thousand shares (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 183.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

No patent was granted to any one for any invention by the Colonial government of New Hampshire. After independence was secured and the State government had been formed, patent rights were granted, although the instances recorded were not many. One will be given; it was in 1786, three years before the national government was constituted under the United States constitution.

There is a record of the State government granting patents after the federal government was constituted, so it inferred that the United States patent office was not established till some time later than the government itself; but I have not the record of the time.

Benjamin Dearborn of Portsmouth, printer, petitioned the legislature at a session held in Portsmouth on the first Wednesday of Febuary, 1786, for a patent for a new-constructed printing-press, and at the same time for a new-constructed balance or scales, and also a collection of rules in arithmetic, entitled "The Pupil's Guide."

An act was passed granting him a patent for the printing press and also for "The Pupil's Guide." Nothing is said about the balance or scales. The patent was for fourteen years. Any violator was to pay to the said Dearborn double the value of the press or guide. It passed the House of Representatives June 14th, and was signed "John Langdon, Speaker." It passed the Senate the same day. The president of the Senate signed it. The chief magistrate was then called president. That year it was John Sullivan, who signed the bill. No description of the improvement of the printing press is given.

No doubt this Benjamin Dearborn was the one to whom the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE passed, as publisher, in 1776. Daniel Fowle established it in 1756, and after twenty years Dearborn published it two years, after which it reverted back to Fowle, who continued publisher nine years longer. Mr. Dearborn changed the name to The Freeman's Journal or New Hampshire Gazette. Years later, it bore the name of New Hampshire Gazette and General Advertiser; and finally, NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE, which name it has now.

Money Rapidly Made.

Small and large investments (from $25 to $10,000), in the combinations of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., pay large profits. This new and successful system unites thousands of orders from customers into one immense capital, and is managed with the best skill and experience in the stock market. Profits are shared pro rata by customers every month. Shareholders thus obtain all the advantages of large capitalists. Thousands are rapidly making money, and many have acquired handsome fortunes by this safe and legitimate method, which has been among the most successful of the movements of the Stock Exchange. $25 will make $125, or 5 per cent., $100 will return $500, $200 will net $3,000, etc., according to the state of the market. New explanatory circular with "unerring rules for success," mailed to all applicants by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city.

News and Notes.

The trial of Allen N. Adams, charged with being an accessory in the killing of Jennie P. Clarke by abortion, will probably take place at the November term of the superior court in Boston. It is said the evidence to be put in against him will be entirely new to the general public. It is possible that one or both the defendants in the case just concluded may appear as witnesses.

Two tramps were found dead in Hazelton furnace, two miles east of Youngstown, Ohio, Sunday morning, having been suffocated by gas.

The trial of the Georgians who murdered the Mormon elder, Standing, closed on Saturday at Atlanta with the acquittal of the parties.

The jury in the trial of Jason Scribner, who killed his children with a spade several years ago, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, at Augusta, Me., on Saturday.

Mr. Loring Moody, secretary of the Massachusetts Children's Protective society, has written a letter approving the performances of the juvenile "Uncle Tom" troupe, and stating that he can see no ground on which the society can reasonably object to their performances.

Lulu Davis, aged seventeen years, daughter of Levi Davis of Brookfield, Mass., threw herself into the river Sunday morning and was drowned. Temporary insanity is supposed to have been the cause.

Thirteen temperance women destroyed all the liquor in the saloons in Fredericktown, Ohio, Saturday, and threatened the drug stores with similar treatment on Monday. The druggists promptly got out warrants for the arrest of the women.

Special Agent Adams reports that he has visited the Ute camp, and that the captive women and children were delivered to him without conditions. He adds an expression of great hopefulness that further hostilities may be wholly averted. Other reports from the Indian country do not warrant so hopeful a view of the situation.

The later reports of the destruction by the recent floods in Spain show that the calamity was much greater than the first despatches indicated. The total loss of life will exceed three thousand.

The experts have found arsenic in the body of Mrs. Julia Riddle, wife of William B. Riddle, now in jail at Norwich, Conn., on a charge of poisoning his wife. When Riddle's case comes to court it will make the fifth murder trial in that county in the last two years.

It is now stated that the principal cause of the trouble with the Indians in Alaska arises from the intemperate use of vile rum manufactured from molasses, and that until the government shall stop the molasses traffic it will be necessary for a man-of-war to remain at Sitka for the protection of the few whites who are compelled to remain there.

John F. Webster was knocked down and robbed on the street in Lynn, Mass., Saturday night. On Sunday two men named John Doherty and Thomas Murray were arrested for the crime, and identified by Webster.

James Halloran was severely cut with a hatchet in the hands of a woman named Duffy, who is his cousin, during a drunken row in a house on Kneeland street, Boston, Sunday night. Dennis Harrington, with whom the woman lives as his wife, aided her with a club in the assault on Halloran, and the latter will probably die.

Hanlan and Courtney have agreed to accept the proposition of Mr. A. T. Soule, the giver of the $6000 rowing prize. The race will be rowed at Washington, D. C., as both men are in favor of that place.

Quite an excitement was caused at Columbia, Conn., by the recent elopement of one Demar, a widower, with the wife of a man named Penharlow, who was working for him. It has since turned out, however, that the escapade was the result of an amicable settlement between all parties concerned; that, in consideration of the sum of fifty dollars cash in hand, Penharlow had relinquished to Demar his wife and youngest child. Penharlow followed the parties to Willimantic, and there, it is said, finding they had gone off together, claimed that Demar had broken his contract, which was to the effect that he (Demar) was to send the lady home and support her until a divorce could be obtained, but that in consequence of Demar's course he (Penharlow) was going to follow them and put the seducer to grief. The public has now lost all interest in the case, as well as in Penharlow.

New Publications.

"Afternoons with the poets; by Charles D. Deshler." New York; Harper & Brothers. The author calls his work of 320 pages an "unpretending little volume." It is divided into seven "afternoons," all teeming with valuable knowledge of poetry, imparted in a pleasing, attractive way. It begins by defining the sonnet, and treats of its origin and the early sonnet writers, etc. Further on is a disquisition upon the state of English poetry, Chaucer and Spenser—the pioneers of English poetry—the Elizabethan era, and all along down to the poets of our day. A copious and well-arranged index enables the student or the casual reader to direct his attention to any especial period, or author concerning whom he may seek information. Aldrich's sonnet on Barberries, doubtless written at this season of the year, and in this region so celebrated for the product, is copied as "a delicious bit of New England still-life rich in the autumnal colors and fragrance." All through the book is a sparkle of humour; the reading is not only profitable but pleasant; and especially to the young or those unfamiliar with the work of the poets, the book will be of much value. In fine it is a work of standard worth, and withal a suitable selection for a present at the approaching season.

The Nashua Iron and Steel Company recently cast an ingot of steel weighing 14,700 pounds, and hammered it into a shaft. It is said to be the largest ingot ever cast and hammered in the United States.

A waste building connected with the Morrison paper mill at Peterboro' was burned Saturday night, and four tons of hay and a small quantity of paper stock consumed; insured. Cause, incendiary.

An illicit distillery was raided on and destroyed by revenue officers at Coventry, Conn., Saturday.

Naval Affairs.

Advices from Norfolk, Va., of October 24th, contain the following: "The training ship Constitution, Commander Oscar F. Stanton commanding, came up to the navy yard to-day from Hampton roads for stores, and to go in the dry dock to have her bottom inspected. Salutes were exchanged with the receiving ship Franklin. Later the steamer Marion of the North Atlantic squadron, Commander F. M. Bunce commanding, arrived at the yard from Yorktown for stores and a supply of coal. In the afternoon the Kearsarge, Commander H. F. Picking, arrived from Yorktown for stores and coal, and some attention from the construction department in the way of removing the warrant officers' quarters and getting new water tanks. At noon the flagship Powhatan arrived from Yorktown for coal and stores, and exchanged salutes. The Saratoga left Yorktown at ten o'clock Friday night and is now at anchor in Hampton roads. She was joined there this morning by the Portsmouth. Orders have been received to place the Portsmouth in the dry dock when the Nipsic comes out."

THE WEATHER.

Probabilities for the New England States, To-Day:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28, 2 A. M.

Increasing cloudiness, followed by rain during the afternoon and evening, falling barometer and a slight rise in temperature, and southerly to westerly winds.

AROUND HOME.

The Aqueduct Co. are laying a new pipe, two and one-half inches in diameter, on Elm street.

Leonard H. Pillsbury was last week appointed postmaster at Derry Depot, in this county, and John H. Chase at North Waterboro', York county, Me.

Warren N. Gage, the cigar manufacturer who was burned out of his shop on Christian shore on the night of the 18th inst., has removed his business to Concord.

The Hot Springs, Ark., Sentinel of last week announced Hon. Marcellus Eldredge of this city as registered in one of the hotels there, with his wife and her sister, Miss Olivia A. Dill.

The one-story cottage on Elm street, near the residence of Mr. Rugg, and we believe owned by that gentleman, is receiving a second story and being put in thorough repair. When completed it will furnish a very desirable residence for a small family.

In an item in Saturday's CHRONICLE we inadvertently alluded to Mr. Jackson as president and Payson Tucker as superintendent of the Boston & Maine railroad. Those gentlemen are president and general superintendent of the Maine Central railroad, not the Boston & Maine.

The Granite State base ball club will commence a course of assemblies at Mechacics' hall, Thursday evening. The boys intend next season to play exhibition games with the best amateur clubs in New England, and take this means to raise a fund to assist in meeting the expenses.

Monday forenoon fire was discovered on the eastern end of the roof of the building in the shipyard near the south bridge, and was extinguished by a few buckets of water. That end of the building is used as a blacksmith shop by Moses R. Hall, and the fire was probably caused by a spark from the chimney.

Dover will probably have another malignant attack of go-as-you-please-ativeness, two of her pedestrians having won much glory and pelf. One of them, named Madden, last week won a six-days "tournament" at Worcester, Mass., there being fifteen contestants, and the racing time being limited to twelve and a half hours each day; Madden's score was 407 miles, the second man scoring 400. At Park garden, Boston, a seventy-five hours (continuous) race was won by Hanson of Dover, with a score of 268 miles, the next man making 262 miles.

The funeral of Hon. John H. Bailey took place Monday afternoon, many prominent persons joining in paying tribute to his memory. The present city government, with members of past governments, attended, and the pall-bearers represented the churches, the city and the banks, and the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Pythian fraternities. Many stores were shut during the time of the funeral, and the custom-house closed at twelve for the remainder of the day as a mark of respect to the ex-collector. The services were held at his late residence, and were simple and impressive.

Eighteen large monk-fish (the "fishing frog" of the naturalists) were counted on the beach on the Little harbor side of Jerry's point, Sunday, by a couple of gentlemen, between the end of the point and the "Devil's den." These big fish, with their enormous mouths and sharp teeth, are formidable-looking enough; but they are in reality of very little account, having no jaw power worth mentioning, and very little speed. One cat-fish, with its small mouth, blunt teeth and immense strength of jaw, could kill all the monk-fish there are, if so inclined. At certain seasons the monk-fish appear to be seized by a sort of phrenzy which causes them in large numbers to rush for the shallow waters along the beaches, where they soon die, and their flabby flesh in a few days decays and falls to pieces.

Was the alarm of fire Saturday night owing to the visit of Kate Claxton's theatre company?

Six hundred barrels of apples have been gathered on the Hayes farm in the past two weeks.

A Council of the American Legion of Honor will be instituted in Greenland on Friday evening of this week, with twenty-four charter members.

Schooner Mary J. Adams, of this port, at Vineyard Haven on the 24th inst., bound for this port from Port Johnson, had her mainsail split in a blow on the 23d inst. She arrived at this port on Monday.

Mrs. Flora E. Barry, the popular contralto of Boston, who assisted at the benefit concert of Miss Edith Wendell here last winter, has met with great success as the "round and rosy" Buttercup, throughout the middle and western States.

A finely executed portrait of the late William Bodge, Esq., has just been added to the collection of likenesses of former presidents of the Mechanics' Association, gracing the walls of their beautiful and liberally conducted reading-room.

The New York Times publishes our item of last week on Major Urch's seal, under the heading of "A Homesick Seal." On Sunday last the seal lay basking in the sun on the grass near the major's front door, and evinced much pleasure at having his fur stroked by passers-by.

A horse and buggy owned by a livery stable keeper named Webster, of Newmarket, were hired last week for a trip to Dover. In the latter place the team was hitched in front of a saloon, when the horse took fright and ran away, damaging the turn out to the amount of fifty dollars. The police took charge of the team, and notified Mr. Webster of the condition of affairs.

Rising Star Lodge, F. & A. M., of Newmarket, was visited on Friday evening by delegations from the lodges in this city, Greenland, Exeter and Farmington, the occasion being the visit of D. D. G. M. John F. Cloutman of Farmington and Grand Lecturer John Pender of Portsmouth. The working of the third degree was splendidly amplified, after which a banquet was given to the visiting brethren.

There is at least one woman in Dover who is not deficient in "cheek." A week or more ago she went into a boot and shoe store and stole a pair of boots. Two or three days later she carried the boots into the same store, and asked to have them exchanged for a smaller pair. The clerk recognized the boots, confiscated them, and told the woman to clear out or he would send for an officer. She finally went, but not until she had made considerable bluster.

The Stetson English Opera Co., which performed in this city last week, appeared at the Globe theatre, Boston, on Monday evening of this week, in the "Crown Diamonds"—said to be the first time that opera has been produced in Boston for twenty-five years. Those who attended the performance saw a very pretty little prima donna, and a chorus the very homeliest as well as one of the best that ever appeared on any stage.

The scheme for getting all the ex-soldiers and sailors of the rebellion to sign petitions to Congress for a distribution of back pay, to the extent of the difference in value between gold and the currency in which the business of the country was carried on during the war, it seems is a plan devised by Gen. Horace Binney Sargent, the noted greenbacker of Massachusetts. One of these petitions was sent to this city, but has not been very largely signed. The fact is that the scheme is impracticable, for it would cost a sum as big as the national debt to calculate how much would be due each veteran of the war; and the soldiers and sailors have no more just claim to be paid the difference between the value of gold and the value of the currency in which they were paid, than have the laborers and mechanics who were forced to take from private citizens the same currency as payment for their services.

Lieut. Thomas H. Walker, of Durham, has had with him, boarding, the past two months a valuable setter dog named "Jake Skinner," belonging to Alvah A. Skinner, jeweller, of No. 62 Hanover street, Boston. Recently Lieut. Walker was confined to his bed by sickness for three days, and during this time the dog evinced great solicitude for his friend, remaining at the head of the bed the entire time, not even leaving for his meals. One day during her husband's illness Mrs. Walker was bringing in wood from the shed, and noticing the dog watching closely, she said to him, "Why don't you bring in some wood, Jake?" The dog immediately arose, went to the shed, and taking a stick of wood in his mouth, brought it in the house and deposited it in the wood-box. This he repeated six times, when, probably thinking he had done his share, he returned to his post at the head of his master's bed. On the day that Lieut. Walker recovered sufficiently to be able to sit up in bed the dog seemed highly delighted, and proceeded at once to bring his master's stockings to him, and then followed with his boots, as much as to say, "Come now, Tom, try and get up and dress yourself." Who says dogs have not souls? That this one seems almost human do one will deny.—Newmarket Advertiser.

THE ARKANSAS TRAVELLER.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, we expect to see the larest audience that has been in the hall for some time, to greet the popular favorite Frank S. Chanfrau in his famous impersonation of "Kit" in the play of "The Arkansas Traveller, or life and adventures in the southwest." In the cities of Boston and New York only, 330,000 persons have seen this play and throughout the Union probably not less than 1,000,000. The "two old beats" are almost as well known in this play as the star himself, in their ever-ready willingness to drink at any person's expense save their own. The company bring their own scenery, enabling them to produce the play with fine effect. The "sailing of the Medora," "the explosion," the "daughter's recognition" and the "Bowie-knife duel" are all familiar in description as connected with this play. Mr. C. W. Tayleure, the author of the piece, will be with Mr. Chanfrau in this city. The company comes under the management of Manager Smith, of the Fall River Academy of Music, who presented Genevieve Ward, "A Celebrated Case" and other choice entertainments to our citizens, and has never yet given us an inferior one.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Oct. 27; Batchelder, J.

Charles E. Gray, charged with an aggravated assault on Patrick Sheehan, was ordered to recognize in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the April term of the supreme court to answer to the charge, and furnished the required sureties. On an old complaint, for larceny of a shawl, Gray was committed to the county house of correction for thirty days, with costs.

Joseph Bolter, for drunkenness, was assessed $9.90, which he paid.

Daniel W. Rowe, of Newmarket, was brought before the court on a charge of receiving goods stolen from the store of James C. Taylor in Derry, knowing the same to have been stolen. [The goods referred to were stolen by Curtis P. Lamos, of South Berwick, Me., indicted for burglary by the grand jury at the present term of the supreme court.] The case was continued to Thursday, bail in $600 being demanded, in default of which Rowe went to jail.

RUNAWAYS.

Mason's milk cart ran away on Court street, Monday morning, propelling the horse down street at a high rate of speed, finally capsizing, and spilling nearly all the contents of the cans. No other damage resulted.

Monday morning one of C. H. Hayes & Son's farm teams ran away near the Eastern depot, and struck the horse attached to Sheldon Brothers' furniture team, injuring one of his forelegs so badly that it was feared the animal would have to be killed.

As Mr. Leonard C. Cook, of Kittery, accompanied by his daughter, was driving across the Noble's island bridge at about ten o'clock Monday forenoon, on his way home, his horse exhibited symptoms of fright at the train just then starting for Portland. Mr. Cook got out of the wagon and attempted to hold the horse, but the frightened animal threw him down and started on a run across the island, with the young lady still in the wagon. At the crossing of the Dover railroad another train was met, and this new object of terror so confused the horse that before he recovered sufficiently to run away again he was caught by Mr. James Hooper, freight conductor on the Eastern road, who held him until he cooled down. No harm was done.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Edgar Smith, of Boston, had his left hand badly shattered by the accidental discharge of his fowling-piece while gunning near Mt. Agamenticus, York, on Saturday.

Mr. Henry Moulton, of Spruce creek, Kittery, this season raised a ruta baga turnip measuring four feet eight inches in circumference, and weighing nineteen and a quarter pounds.

It is said that the breakwater at the mouth of the Saco river has greatly improved the channel at that point, and parties interested are agitating the subject of having another one built on the opposite side from the present one, a la the Mississippi river jetties built by Capt. Eads.

Charles C. Johnson of York committed suicide on Sunday by shooting himself through the neck with a shot gun, the charge passing entirely through. He had been in ill health and low-spirited for some time. Mr. Johnson was thirty-six years old, and unmarried. He was much respected, and was in comfortable circumstances.

Capt. William Stevenson died in Saco on Friday last, at the age of eighty-six years. Just before the war of 1812 he was impressed from an American merchant vessel for service on board a British man-of-war, from which he was no sooner released than he entered the United States navy, serving through the war, being in the Constitution when she captured the British frigate Java, and serving under Commodore Perry on the lakes. He was discharged from the navy at Sackett's Harbor, N. Y., at the close of the war, and walked all the way form there to his home in Biddeford. His sea service in the navy and merchant marine was continuous for more than sixty years, and he was several times shipwrecked.

A correspondent of the Biddeford Union and Journal, writing from Eliot, says: "Two enterprising men recently passed through this place (though not in company) picking up money from the credulous. One professed to be a theological student and book agent and carried a certificate with the forged signature of Dr. Fisk of Bath. The other had a more effective certificate in the shape of a dreadfully sore arm and hand with the fingers missing. He claimed to have been burned out of a vessel recently, at which time the injury was received, and that he was trying to get home to Mt. Desert. As we hear of no such burning of a vessel, we concluded that hard work disagreed with him more than a sore arm. At the rate he got money here, a few days of enduring hardship would give him three years support."

THE BOOK CLUB.

The Literary News, a monthly journal of current literature published by Estes & Lauriat of Boston, has the following account of the Portsmouth Book Club, which is among the oldest club in New England, having been founded in 1850. It has never been suspended, and has been almost invariably full. The number of members is limited to thirty, and there is usually some application on hand for any vacancy that may occur. The subscription is four dollars, payable at any time during the year. Absence of more than two months is considered in the charge. The club has but one officer, the secretary and treasurer, who does the business, and selects the books, calling upon any member for advice and counsel. If any one wishes a particular book, not chosen by the secretary, it is obtained, unless there is a decided objection. Questionable books are examined, but the general rule is to take the best of the current literature in biography, travels, etc., and the very best of the current fiction. The books when procured are sent at once to some member, each having one or more new ones in the course of the year. The invidual taste of members is consulted when possible. The magazines are sent for one year to one member, then to another. A list of members in their order is pasted in each volume, with the time of keeping it; one week for magazines, and usually two weeks for bound volumes. No fines are exacted, and the regularity of the books is entrusted to the honor of the members; the main idea being that one bound book (sometimes two, but never more) and two or three magazines are sent to each member every Saturday. The expenses may be averaged thus:

Accruing from subscriptions.....	$120 00
From auction.....	25 00
		$145 00
Spent for magazines.....	$46 60
Printing, covering, errands.....	12 00
Bound books.....	86 00
		$145 00

The books are never bought directly from the publishers, but from the principal bookseller of the city, who makes a reasonable discount, and takes back books rejected after examination, beside attending to the covering of books and magazines. The influence of this book club in raising the standard of reading in the community has been marked and gratifying. The books for the last three years may be classified as follows, and this is a fair example of all the years:

History.....	13
Travels.....	28
Biography.....	40
Fiction.....	57
Science, poetry, and miscellaneous.....	40
	178

As soon as the books have finished their circuit, they are sent to the secretary. If any member has expressed a wish to have any volume a second time, it is now sent to him; if not, all the books are laid away for the annual auction. The auction is among the club members solely, and everything is disposed of. From twenty-five to thirty dollars is usually realized.

MARRIED.

Political.

The old-line democrats had a rally of the old-fashioned kind, in Boston, Friday night, in Faneuil hall. Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury presided, and Hon. John Quincy Adams was the first speaker. He made a novel proposition. Assuming that neither he nor Butler had any chance of election—although he admitted Butler's was the better of the two,—he offered if Butler was sincere in his desire for reform, to resign if he would, and unite their forces on some man like Charles P. Thompson, who could be elected. Butler has not yet resigned in Thompson's favor.

Sambucci Wine in New York Hospitals.

Dr. Harris, of the New York Hospital, finds Speer's Sambucci Wine an excellent tonic and gentle stimulant, and recommends it, especially for ladies. Dr. Parish, of Philadelphia, pronounces it to be a purely unadulterated wine, possessing much medicinal virtue, and uses it for its purity, fine flavor, medicinal properties, and non-intoxicative qualities, &c. Our limited space forbids any more extracts from letters of similar import from numerous physicians and clergymen. It has been found to be the best Wine for Dropsy, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, the aged and infirm. It gives strength and vigor. Excellent for Females. Sold by Preston, Kimball, F. B. Coleman, and H. F. Gerrish.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. "As for the use of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, for diseases," said Mrs. Partington, holding the bottle up to the light, "it is one of the best specifications in the world for all sorts of melodies. A friend of mine used it for a sciatica in the head, and forgot his pain, after he tried everything else. Bless you, there's nothing like it as a healing restrum." He played a solitary game of marbles on the mat.

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced by man. It is medicinal in the truest sense of the word. All others are some disagreeable mixture or poisonous dye. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that infest and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medium doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in connection with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the Salt Rheum on my hand and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having tried everything known with it. The dandruff falling from my hair was very annoying. I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions, but considered but did not find any cure and but little relief. I was advised by many persons to have the Salt Rheum, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend wanted me to try CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of Salt Rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by Humor of the Scalp. I tried various remedies, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, one box of which has entirely cured me and new hair is beginning to grow. Respectfully yours, MRS. O. J. ROOT.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for Scald Head, and it has cured me when all medicines that I have taken for nine years did no not good. I am now using it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Yours truly, H. S. RAYMOND,

Auditor Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was a very trifling ailment; and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should send for it and read themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membranes. Two elements and conditions must vary to every individual case. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled throughout, digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a specific taint in the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eyes and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all cases of Catarrh, whether caused by the one or the other, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow, ash, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling as if parboiled, and so it is we are encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The membranes discharging, the tissues begin to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs, from matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to cough, and a feeling as if you could cough off, but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of ridding you of the throat it is to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, watery, and weak, and morning the lashes may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, and in severe cases attended by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who find themselves afflicted with its unsparing visitations to treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently claim are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in its directions, and in its adaptation to remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most distressing and dangerous diseases with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic affections, sent free, with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh, and a vapor and shower bath, with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities shows in every case, MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken from specimens from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of MATORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (one-third as much as this Company), and which rolled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of its stock are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be accepted at the subscription price of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

BEN HAZZARD'S GUESTS.

Ben Hazzard's hut was smoky and cold,
Ben Hazzard, half blind, was black and old,
And he cobbled shoes for his scanty gold.
Sometimes he sighed for a larger store
Whereewith to bless the wandering poor;
For he was not wise in worldly lore.
The poor were Christ's; he knew no more.
'Twas very little that Ben could do.
But he pegged his prayers in many a shoe,
And only himself and the dear Lord knew.
Meanwhile he must cobble with all his might
Till, the Lord knew when—he would all be right,
For he walked by faith, and not by sight.
One night a cry from the window came—
Ben Hazzard was sleepy and tired and lame—
"Ben Hazzard, open," it seemed to say,
"Give shelter and food, I humbly pray."
Ben Hazzard lifted his woolly head
To listen. "Tis awful cold," he said,
And his old bones shook in his ragged bed,
"But the wanderer must be comforted,"
Out from his straw he painfully crept,
And over the frosty floor he stept,
While under the door the snow wreaths swept.
"Come in. In the name of the Lord," he cried,
As he opened the door, and held it wide.
A milk-white kitten was all he spied,
Trembling and crying there at his feet,
Ready to die in the bitter sleet;
Ben Hazzard, amazed, stared up and down;
The candles were out in all the town;
The stout house-doors were carefully shut,
Safe bolted were all but old Ben's hut.
"I thought that somebody called," he said;
"Some dream or other got into my head:
Come, then, poor pussy, and share my bed."
But first he sought for a rusty cup,
And gave his guest a generous sup.
Then out from the storm, the wind and the sleet,
Puss joyfully lay at old Ben's feet.
Truly, it was a terrible storm;
Ben feared he should nevermore be warm.
But just as he began to be dozy,
And puss was purring soft and cozy,
A voice called faintly before his door;
"Ben Hazzard, Ben Hazzard, help, I implore!
Give drink and a crust from out of your store."
Ben Hazzard opened his sleepy eyes,
And his full-moon face showed great surprise.
Out from his bed he stumbled again,
Teeth chattering with nemalgic pain,
Caught at the door in the frozen rain.
"Come in. In the name of the Lord," he said,
"With such as I have, thou shalt be fed."
Only a little black dog he saw,
Whining and shaking a broken paw.
"Well, well," cried Ben Hazzard, "I must have dreamed;
But verily like a voice it seemed.
Poor creature," he added, with husky tone
His feet so cold they seemed like stone,
"Thou shalt have the whole of my marrow-bone."
He went to the cupboard, and took from the shelf
The bone he had saved for his very self.
Then, after binding his broken paw,
Half dead with cold went back to his door.
Under the ancient blue bed-quilt he crept,
His conscience was white, and again he slept.
But again a voice called, both loud and clear:
"Ben Hazzard, for Christ's sweet sake come here!"
Once more he stood at the open door,
And looked abroad, as he looked before.
This time, full sure, 'twas a voice he heard;
But all that he saw was a storm-tossed bird,
With weary pinion and beaten crest,
And a red blood-stain on its snowy breast.
"Come in. In the name of the Lord," he said,
Tenderly raising the drooping head,
And, tearing his tattered robe apart,
Laid the cold bird on his own warm heart.
The sunrise flashed on the snowy thatch,
As an angel lifted the wooden latch.
Ben woke in a flood of golden light,
And knew the voice that had called all night.
And steadfastly gazing, without a word
Beheld the messenger from the Lord.
He said to Ben, with a wondrous smile,
The three guests sleeping all the while:
"Thrice happy is he that blesseth the poor;
The humblest creatures that sought thy door,
For Christ's sweet sake thou hast comforted."
"Nay, 'twas not much," Ben humbly said,
With a rueful shake of his old gray head.
"Who giveth all of his scanty store
In Christ's dear name, can do no more.
Behold, the Master, who waiteth for thee
Saith: "Giving to them, thou hast given to Me."
Then, with heaven's light, white on his face, "Amen,
I come in the name of the Lord," said Ben.
"Frozen to death," the watchman said,
When at last he found him in his bed,
With a smile on his face so strange and bright;
He wondered what old Ben saw that night.
Ben's lips were silent, and never told,
He had gone up higher to find his gold.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1879.

News and Notes.

In Syracuse, N. Y., on Sunday, a boy seven years old, named Adolph Auer, shot and almost instantly killed his sister, three and a half years old.

D. K. Cameron, a prominent citizen and mayor of Farnham, P. Q., had his head split open with a circular saw on Monday, and died instantly.

The ravages of cholera in Japan have been terrible during the past season, but the plague is rapidly subsiding. Official reports show upwards of 150,000 cases since the outbreak in April, and 85,000 deaths.

Several prominent Mormons have been indicted for polygamy, but the leaders are openly and boldly defiant. They publicly declare that they will do as they please and will not submit to any interference by officers of the law with their polygamous practices.

A new and singular means of incendiarism is reported. In a village of Poland a cat was saturated with kerosene by an unknown party, and set on fire; the unhappy animal rushed furiously to and fro, spreading fire all around, till it perished in the flames, together with a number of buildings.

There was a sensation in Lawrence, Mass., Monday, caused by the arrest of Andrew J. Perkins, a wealthy widower aged sixty-four years, and Laura J. Kelly, a saloon waiter-girl aged twenty-four, on a warrant charging improper conduct. Subsequently it transpired that the couple had been married during the forenoon, at Salem, N. H.

During a row at a christening in New York city, Sunday night, Mrs. Tom Collins held her husband on a red-hot stove, and he will probably die. Both were drunk. She has been arrested.

Josiah Seaver, of Waitsfield, Vt., a man thirty-two years old and recently married, has confessed to setting six fires since April, 1877, by which twelve or fourteen farm buildings, many cattle and large quantities of farm produce were destroyed. He was on friendly terms with all the owners of the buildings, and declares that his only motive was "couldn't help doing it."

In London, Oct. 27th, Editor Rosenberg of the Town Talk was sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment for libeling Mrs. Langtry, and to six months imprisonment on each of two indictments for offences against Mrs. West and Lord Loundesborough. At the expiration of the imprisonment he is to be bound over in £1000 for good behavior for eighteen months. The magistrate regretted that he could not impose a sentence to hard labor.

An uneasy conscience has forced John Powell of Alfreton, Eng., to confess that he pushed a man off a railroad bridge at Cleveland, Ohio, in 1872, causing his death. The confession reached the mayor of Cleveland through our consul at Liverpool, and was at first discredited, but search disclosed that Martin Monroe of Newbury was killed at that spot in 1872; but as Monroe was drunk at the time it had always been supposed that he fell from the bridge by accident.

Freights at Calcutta have advanced very rapidly within the past three or four weeks, and at the present time $12 per ton is obtainable from that port to the United States. Two months ago rates were quoted at $5 per ton for the same voyage. Ships now on the way to Calcutta are in demand, and can be readily chartered in advance of arrival at $10. This quick and decided improvment in the freight market will have a tendency to improve the value of ship property, and inasmuch as this rise seems to be general in all the ports of the world, there is a fair prospect that it will continue for some time to come, which must at least be somewhat encouraging to shipowners, who have suffered seriously during the business depresssion of the past two or three years.

Asa and Edson Magoon, sons of Asa Magoon, now in prison under sentence of death for the murder of Rufus Streeter, have been arraigned at Montpelier, Vt., on a complaint of stealing eighteen turkeys. They were bound over to appear in court, and sent to jail in default of bail.

William Kilgarriff, fourteen years old, while jumping from the train at South Framingham, Mass., Monday evening, was thrown under the wheels and his head severed entirely from his body.

At Atchison, Kansas, on Sunday, Policeman Lewis Chew attempted to arrest a drunken negro named Monroe Ames, when the latter fired a revolver at Chew, mortally wounding him. Chew fell, but drew his revolver and shot Ames just over the heart, killing him almost instantly. Chew died next day.

Mr. Reynolds used to court Miss Lamaster at Jeffersonville, Ind., but finally transferred his attentions to Miss Brown. That enraged Miss Lamaster, and she has twice shot Reynolds as he passed her house on his way to visit Miss Brown, who has thus far been able to nurse him through his injuries.

J. A. Bousley, who escaped from the court-room at Newburyport in 1877, while under indictment for felonious assault on two young girls, was arrested in Andover, Me., on Saturday. The officers had been on his trail for nearly a year.

The corning mill of the Oriental powder mills at Gorham, Me., exploded Monday. One man, named Stokes, was killed, and Clinton Mayberry was seriously injured. Cause of the explosion unknown; damage to mills slight.

Lawrence, Mass., has no church bells within its limits, with the exception of the Catholic chimes. The mill bells have always rung for meeting, and still do.

New Hampshire Items.

According to the shipping report of the New York Herald, the "Schooner Mary Brockway, Brockway, from Lyme, N. H., for New York," passed through Hell Gate on the 27th inst. We should expect a schooner from Lyme, N. H., to get into some such place.

An unknown man was imprisoned at Rochester on a charge of intent to break and enter, as he was found prowling around a house. Soon after a well-dressed man, also a stranger, came and looked at the prisoner without a sign of recognition, and secured his release by leaving $600 as surety for his appearance at the February court.

The Boston Post of Monday morning furnishes evidence that Capt. Samuel Morey, of Orford, was the first man who ever applied steam to the propulsion of a boat, and that the first steamboat ever seen on American waters was built by him, and the experiment of its practicability tried on the Connecticut river between the town of Orford and Fairlee, Vermont, in the year 1793.

An old iron breastplate of the pattern worn by our Puritan fathers more than two hundred years ago was discovered recently in the accumulations of old iron at the Cole manufacturing company's shops at Lake Village. It weighs twenty-five pounds.

Mrs. Marilla Mason, who committed the murderous attempt upon her husband at North Chichester on Thursdy night of last week, has been arrested upon the charge of an assault with intent to kill. She pleaded not guilty, and was committed to jail in Concord. She manifested no emotion when apprehended, but when she was taken away from home her little children pleaded piteously that she might not be taken away. The theory of the action is that she struck her husband one blow, with the intention of stunning him, and then to pour kerosene oil over the bed and set the premises on fire to conceal her crime. Mrs. Mason says that she attacked him out of revenge for an assault upon her ten years ago, but that she did not intend to kill him.

Naval Affairs.

Lieutenant-Commander C. J. Barclay is detached from the Onward, at Callao, Peru, on the reporting of his relief (Lieutenant-Commander T. M. Gardner) and ordered to return home and report arrival.

Ensign Winslow Alderdice is ordered to the Wachusett, at Rio Janeiro, per steamer of the 6th of November.

Orders have been received at the Brooklyn navy yard to fit out the frigate Tennessee. She will be put in commission as soon as possible. She is to be the flagship of the North Atlantic instead of the European squadron, as at first intended, and will relieve the Powhatan, most of whose officers will be transferred to the Tennessee.

The sailing ship Constellation, which was to have sailed several days ago from the Brooklyn navy yard with the relief officers and crew of the flagship Trenton, of the European squadron, has been delayed waiting for stores and supplies for the other vessels of the European fleet. She is expected to sail the latter part of the week.

An Englishman's House is His Castle.

Whoever may have been the originator of the above idea, an amusing instance is remembered of its being sustained by one of the police judges of New York. Among the population of the great city, there is never a lack of homeless vagrants who get their food, such as it is, from any source where they may chance to find it, often from the gutters, where it is thrown by beggars, who select the best of what is given them from door to door, and throw the rest away; finding a sleeping place at night by stowing themselves away in any retreat, however rude and comfortless, that may be open to them. One of them, a subject of Queen Victoria before leaving the shores of his native land, had found a large sugar hogshead, thrown overboard from some vessel, that had floated into one of the East river docks, and rolling it to a corner in the rear of a foundry, where he had been accustomed to sleep at night in an old steam-boiler, was allowed to keep it there; and when he had filled it with the refuse hay and straw he found near by, it formed what be regarded as a lodging place of rare luxury. He had enjoyed it but a little while, when, to his surprise, he found it one night occupied by another, of Teutonic origin, who refusing to surrender it to its rightful owner, a misunderstanding occured between them, that, when a policeman discovered them, resulted in both being taken to a police station for the night. They presented a dilapidated appearance from the marks about them of their rough and tumble encounter before being taken into custody, when brought into court in the morning, and so novel was the case, the magistrate drew from Diogenes, as we will call the proprietor of what served for him the purpose of the tub of the philosopher, a history of the cause of the altercation that had brought the parties before him; and learning, besides, from the policeman, that he was ordinarily one of the most peaceable of men, justified him in ejecting the other from his lodging place, his "castle" for the time being; and when he had dismissed them both, did so with a reprimand to the aggressor, and a recommendation to him not to intrude again into another's quarters, however humble they might be.

It is not alone from the lowlier classes that these homeless beings have their origin; those who have indeed known "better days," with life's comforts and not seldom its luxuries around them at some earlier time, even professional men, have been found among them. Not many years ago a man of fine personal appearance and of rare skill as an accountant, in emigrating from London, brought from the Rothschilds a letter of recommendation to one of the most extensive mercantile firms of New York, who gave him employment, an expert as he was and having been in business himself. He might have remained with the firm as long as he chose to retain his position, had he not been fond of luxurious living, in which a liberal salary enabled him to indulge, that, involving an increasing use of stimulants, drew him from one point to another in his downfall by slow yet sure degrees, until, unfitted at last for any employment, and destitute of means, he became the most miserable of homeless vagabonds. For more than two years of this sad condition, he was familiar especially to the newspaper people in one of the downtown streets, on their way home at all hours of the night and early morning. From his retreat beneath the stoops of dwellings, hobbling forth on pieces of board that served him for crutches, he would ask charity of any who chanced to pass, the proceeds of which none could doubt who saw him went mainly for drink, until at last he was found in such a far-gone condition on a winter night as to survive but a few hours after being taken to one of the city institutions, thus ending a wretched existence that it was a wonder to those who had been accustomed to meet him could have continued so long. This is but a single instance of like cases that are always occurring in all large cities. Incredible as would once have seemed to them a destiny of such utter misery, it will continue to be the fate of many a one, who, though seeing its effects upon others, like Shakespeare's Cassio "put an enemy into their mouth- to steal away their brains."

AROUND HOME.

The Arkansas Traveller at Music hall this evening.

"Robby Burns" and Scotland found an eloquent champion at the Methodist church, Monday evening.

Robert B. Thomas' "Old Farmer's Almanac" for 1880 has already appeared, and can be procured at Mercer Goodrich's store, under the city rooms.

Mr. Daniel Redman of Hampton was thrown from a load of barrels on Friday of last week by his horse taking fright, and received serious injury to his spine and head.

The steam fire engine Moses H. Goodrich is to be repaired by Messrs. Critchley & Whalley of this city, their figures being much lower than those handed in by any other party.

Mr. Beverly Decatur of Kittery, and Capt. Eastman of this city, have started on a gunning excursion along the eastern shore in the boat recently built for Mr. Decatur by Mr. William Dixon of Kittery. They propose to run the coast down as far as Cape Porpoise.

The money collected by the high school graduating class of '79 for the purpose of putting a drinking fountain on Haymarket square as a class memorial, has been returned to the contributors. The projectors found it difficult to procure water for the fountain, so the idea had to be given up.

Mr. John N. McClintock of Concord is in town, soliciting subscriptions to the Granite Monthly. This publication is a New Hampshire enterprise, ably conducted and always interesting, and should be liberally supported. It is the only magazine published in the State, and deserves a large list of subscribers in every town.

The house of Patrick Hafey, of Exeter, was broken into one night recently, and a barrel of pork stolen from the cellar. A lot of shirts belonging to students at the academy, for whom Mrs. Hafey does washing, were stolen from a line in the yard. Two men were seen to leave the premises, carrying something between them, and to enter a wagon standing near and drive off.

While Mr. William Norris of Hampton was driving home from North Hampton depot on Monday, he was overcome with faintness and fell from his seat in the wagon against his horse, frightening the animal and also another horse which Mr. Norris was leading, causing them to run away. Mr. Norris was thrown out and sustained serious injury to his head and legs. One hand was also injured to such an extent as to render it necessary to amputate a finger.

City Marshal Entwistle on Tuesday afternoon arrested Burleigh Tuttle and Jeremiah Marden for breaking into and stealing numerous articles (including a string of sleigh bells) from the house of Joel Bean in Newington, last March. The police have been after the parties (who were unknown) since the robbery, and established their identity by means of the bells, which the thieves had attached to their fish-team. They confessed, and will be brought before Judge Batchelder today.

The new calculating attachment for weighing-scales, recently patented by H. H. Ham, Jr., of this city, is attracting the attention of business men and mechanics from all parts of the country. A recent number of the Scientific American had an engraving and description of the attachment as affixed to a Fairbanks scale, since which time large numbers of letters have been received by the lucky inventors (for we understand that E. G. Pierce, Jr., is associated with Mr. Ham in this patent,) asking for information, and some making flattering offers of purchasing the invention outright. The attachment has also been adjusted to a Howe scale, and both can be seen at the inventors' rooms in Mechanics' block. The object of the invention is to indicate the price of any number of pounds or ounces of the articles being weighed; and it avoids all calculating and insures accuracy.

There is to be a harvest ball in the town hall at Hampton next Thursday evening.

It is rumored that a piece of statuary is to adorn the ornamental balcony or shelf on the front of the new National block.

There are several cases of ivy poisoning in this city resulting from the indiscriminate gathering of brilliant-hued autumn leaves.

Mr. Thomas J. Goodwin of this city is temporarily acting as clerk and freight agent at the Eastern railroad station in Great Falls, in the absence of Mr. Foster, the permanent clerk.

A fire caught in the barn of Jeremiah Smith at Exeter on Monday night, entirely consuming the barn and also the ell of his house. Loss, $500. A child of Mr. Smith's was badly burned.

On Sunday last the woods of Newington and Greenland "bayside" were full of men and boys, gathering nuts, a man and boy from this city getting two bushels of shagbarks, free from burrs. This kind of nut was never so plenty as this year.

The seating capacity of the Franklin theatre will be about nine hundred. The slope of the parquette and balcony will be one foot in three, the seats rising one above the other as in an amphitheatre. A light galley will extend around the hall, not projecting, however, over any of the seats in the auditorium.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

TUESDAY, Oct. 28th.

The following sentences were imposed on persons who pleaded guilty to indictments:

Henry B. Haley, breaking and entering a store at Newmarket, three years in State prison at hard labor.

Curtis P. Lamos, breaking and entering the dwelling of Capt. George M. Ball in Greenland, and stealing jewelry therefrom, three years in State prison.

Charles E. Wilson, breaking and entering dwelling of John S. Pickering in Newington, three years in State prison.

Michael Fitzgerald and his wife Mary, disorderly house; Michael six months in county jail, Mary released on her own recognizance.

Mary Mitchell, disorderly house, four months county jail.

Charles H. Winkler, indicted for breaking and entering, pleaded guilty to stealing $19, and the plea was accepted by the State; sentence deferred.

Thomas E. Drake was arraigned on four counts, for perjury; plea, not guilty; trial assigned for Wednesday.

Thomas E. Drake and David Webster were arraigned on a charge of conspiracy, and pleaded not guilty.

E. Millege Berry, aggravated assault on A. T. Wilbur at Greenland; plea, not guilty. Case continued.

State vs. Joseph S. Grant, for liquor selling, was put on trial, Drake and Webster, the liquor spotters, being the witnesses. Webster, who testified first, did not seem to know much about the case. Drake testified that on the 5th of July, 1878, he bought a glass of whiskey of Grant, and paid for it; but his testimony was rather cloudy. Defendant testified that he did not sell Drake liquor on that day, and should not had Drake asked for it, as he and his business were well known to defendant. Several Massachusetts officers, and also Sheriff Kent, testified concerning Drake's reputation for veracity, that it was bad. The case was argued by A. R. Hatch for the defence, and by County Solicitor Harriman for the State. Given to the jury in the evening.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Rev. Mr. Lord, pastor of the First Congregational church at Kittery point, being about to leave on account of his health, was on Saturday evening called on by a large number of his parishioners and friends, and on their behalf was presented with with a pair of gold-bowed spectacles by Mr. Crosby, whose remarks were feelingly responded to by Mr. Lord. The visitors loaded the table with eatables, and a very pleasant evening was spent. Mr. Lord goes to Limerick, N. H.

Two South Berwick men drove to Great Falls one day last week, and left the horse standing before a store door on Main street. When they returned the horse was not to be found, and supposing he had gone home they also returned, but the horse was not there. After much search they found the horse. One Charles Lord had taken the team to ride around. The horse ran away, threw Lord out and broke his leg. Lord had to crawl about a mile and a half to a Mr. Goodrich's, who assisted him to his (Lord's) home at Little River Falls.

The Stillman B. Allen corn prize was to have been awarded on Saturday, but owing to some of the returns being behind time and others irregular the president of the York county society decided to postpone the announcement of the decision. Thirty-two boys each raised upon one-eigth of an acre of land over 1000 pounds of corn, six over 1100 pounds, five over 1200 pounds, one over 1300 pounds and one over 1400 pounds. The Dane prizes for best traces were awarded to Charles A. Tibbetts of Sanford, John F. Goodwin of Shapleigh, and Willie E. Storer of Kennebunk. Moses S. Milliken, Jr., of Biddeford, raised the highest amount, 1404 pounds of corn in the ear.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Sacramental Wine.

Speer's Port Grape Wine is a pure, unintoxicating wine, made from the finest native grown Port Grapes. It is especially adapted to the use of Christian Churches, and guaranteed to retain its grateful flavor and essential qualities unimpaired for any period. Much used by invalids. The principal churches in New York and Brooklyn have adopted its use. For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

As caloric, electricity and phosphorous are induced and supplied by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, it only requires the administration of this successful invention to fortify the feeble, give sprightliness and motion to the torpid, and bring about a condition which not only secures tenaciousness of life but makes life really enjoyable.

Political.

The New Orleans Democrat (extreme Bourbon) says that the friends of Representative Acklen deemed it best to make his nomination thus early, "in order that ample time might be given to overcome the 4000 republican majority in his district." This is frank.

Joseph E. Palmer, former clerk in the department of city works of Brooklyn, N. Y., makes affidavit to illegitimate expenditures of public money by W. A. Fowler, then president of the board, of over $300,000. Most of the Account was falsely entered on the pay rolls by Palmer under the instructions of Fowler, and was principally used for the pay of political placemen. The ring which has ruled Brooklyn for many years, and now rules it, has always been redhot for Tilden and Reform; and the nomination of Tilden's man Robinson for governor was a victory of the Brooklyn ring, under Boss McLaughlin, over the Tammany ring under John Kelly.

Dr. Eddins, a prominent citizen and leading democrat of Tennessee, convicted of ballot-box stuffing in the western district of Tennessee, was pardoned Monday upon the solicitation of prominent citizens of his neighborhood, including Col. William M. Randolph, the republican candidate for Congress who was defrauded of his election by democratic rascality. Dr. Eddins had served eleven months in prison.

The only combination of the true Jamaica Ginger with choice aromatics and French brandy, for correcting intemperate habits, regulating the stomach and bowels, breaking up colds, chills, and fevers, is SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER. For relieving gouty and rheumatic pains, preventing malarial fevers and promoting sleep it is truly wonderful. Ask for SANFORD'S.

—A goodly parson complained to an elderly lady of his congregation that her daughter appeared to be wholly taken up with trifles or worldly finery, instead of fixing her mind on things above. "You are certainly mistaken, sir," said she; "I know that the girl appears to an observer to be taken up with worldly things; but you cannot judge correctly of the direction her mind really takes, as she is a little cross-eyed."

Cuticura

HUMORS OF THE SCALP, LOSS OF HAIR.

Loss of Hair in thousands of cases is due entirely to some form of scalp disease. Seventy-five per cent. of the number of bald heads might be covered with hair by a judicious use of CUTICURA, assisted by CUTICURA SOAP. It is the most agreeable as well as the most effective hair restorer ever produced. It is medicinal in the strictest sense of the word. All other so-called cosmetics are mere mixtures of poisonous dyes. None but CUTICURA possesses the specific medical properties that enable it to cure all itching and scaly diseases that infest the scalp and irritate the scalp and hair glands and tubes, causing premature baldness. Medicinal use of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT will purify the oil and sweat glands of the virus of scrofulous humor of the blood and insure a permanent cure, when taken in conjunction with the outward application of CUTICURA.

SALT RHEUM AND DANDRUFF

Cured that several physicians had failed to treat successfully.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I have had the salt rheum on my head and all through my hair, also on my legs, for the past four years, having suffered excedingly with it. The dandruff falling from my head was very annoying; I consulted several distinguished physicians in regard to it, and have taken their prescriptions as ordered (all of which I have kept) but have found no relief. I was cured by many persons who have the Salt Rheum, and who have been doctor'd for years, that there was no cure for it; that it was in the blood, and I should always have it, and I was almost inclined to agree with them, but a friend insisted upon my CUTICURA, made by your firm. I did, and to my astonishment, in less than three weeks, my head was entirely free from all Salt Rheum and Dandruff, and I cannot see any appearance of salt rheum on my person. I think it a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE A. MUDGE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FEB. 6, 1878.

HUMOR OF THE SCALP

That was destroying the Hair cured with one box of CUTICURA.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I want to tell you what CUTICURA has done for me. About ten years ago my hair began falling out, caused by humor on the scalp. Every remedy I tried, too numerous to mention, without relief, until I began using CUTICURA, two box of which cured me. My hair is now about half as thick as it grew. Respectfully, MRS. O. J. ROOT,

297 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 13, 1878.

SCALD HEAD

For Nine Years cured when all other Remedies failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Since July last I have been using your CUTICURA for scald head, and it has cured me when all medicines and hospitals failed to cure me, and no good. I do now bring it as a hair dressing, but my head is well. It keeps the hair in very nice condition. Gratefully, H. A. RAYMOND,

THE New Hampshire Gazette

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared market news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or entered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 251 Broadway, N.Y., Boston, where the afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was a trifling affair, and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affection, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. Reference given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the last Sixteen Years; how the afflicted should result and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who takes advantage of my reputation with him of being related to Dr. B. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. He is a bold cheat, imposing upon and deceiving the afflicted. Preserve this advertisement and show it to your afflicted friends. 10ec20

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Treatments and conditions vary with the severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. In this case nature throws the scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge qualities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acrid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head being painfully affected, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throats as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and possibly deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Before using its preparation, every line in the circular, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most distressing and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Experts" Mines, which aggregate 2300 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economical and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27th.

Washingtonians propose that to-morrow shall be celebrated as the beginning of a season remarkable for its attractiveness, politically, socially and in every other sense, and to continue probably until the close of the coming session of Congress, not far short of August, 1880. The series of attractions opens with the National Fair to be inaugurated to-morrow and continue nine days, and which all good capitalians anticipate will be the nine-days-wonder of the age. The signs are that it will draw hither a large crowd from all parts of the Union.

Following this will be the reunion of the Army of the Cumberland on the 19th and 20th of November, which will probably be the largest assemblage of military men that ever took place on this continent, except during actual hostilities. The chief attractions will be the dedication of the monument in memory of Gen. Thomas and the reception to Gen. Grant. We are promised an immense crowd of civilians as well as warriors on this occasion. In truth I may say that the landlords and ladies anticipate a crowd of guests, from the beginning of the fair through the whole social and political campaign to end with the close of Congress and the national conventions.

After all, the grand attraction will be Congress and its attendant political discussions and intrigues. For, say what we may in deprecation, the people of the United States are given to political contests, and cannot avoid them if they try. Men who come here to spend the winter will come with curses upon their lips for the partisan politicians, but even they come through idle curiosity, and before the winter is half gone, or the lines have been drawn for the national conventions, you will find these same men not only ardent partisans, but arrayed on the side of some individual leader in the Presidential race. In short, everybody of the immense gathering expected here this winter will add to the great army of politicians who are about to make the capital city the liveliest centre in the world for a few months to come.

I believe I have said before that this will be a political session. So it will be, emphatically. It will be surrounded by political influences. The national committees will meet early to prepare for the national campaign. The greenbackers will meet first—probably because last in the race—proposing to come here the first week in December. The republican committee will follow at an early day, and their machinery will be oiled and in motion with the opening of the new year, doubtless. The democrats have made less talk with reference to the future, but they will not lag in the campaign. The "racket" will be kept up in the liveliest manner until the departure of the forces for the national conventions, which will probably be in June or July—except that of the greenbackers in January, and that will most likely be adjourned over until later in the season. So great is the political pressure even now that it is difficult to "get in edgewise" with any other topic.

However this may be, it is evident that important business will come before Congress, and must be attended to. The Indian troubles point to a subject which is likely to engage some attention, hardly of a partisan nature. Perhaps the threatened effort to renew the scheme for transferring the Indian bureau to the war department may take a partisan turn, since it is believed the republicans will oppose any change for the present. But there is a strong feeling against the present management even in the republican party, and something will be done to correct what is popularly alleged to be mismanagement on the part of Secretary Schurz. The post-office department and the patent office will also make strong demands upon Congress in the name of business. I might go on in this way enumerating the subjects of a strictly business nature to come before Congress, but most of them will suggest themselves to the intelligent reader, and will be shortly developed by action of the government officers.

KNOX.

News and Notes.

The women and children captured by the Ute Indians, and afterward surrendered to Special Agent Adams, arrived at Los Pinos, Col., Oct. 28th, and slept in Chief Ouray's house that night, starting east next day. Mrs. Meeker thinks Susan, squaw wife of Chief Johnson, sister of Ouray, did more than all others to save their lives.

A Meriden, Conn., man sent $2 in answer to an advertisement in a weekly newspaper about Swiss organs, warranted to play eight tunes, and sold for $1 each. The Swiss organs proved to be small harmonicas, worth about twenty-five cents.

At the Nicoll house, Oakland, Cal., on the evening of Oct. 28th, Herbert Benton and a girl named Frankie Woodward both committed suicide by shooting themselves with the same pistol, the man killing himself first. It was a premeditated deed, as both had threatened to kill themselves. Nothing is known of the cause of the act.

James Redpath, the famous lecture-bureau man, whose mysterious disappearance some time ago caused great disquietude among his friends, has arrived at San Francisco.

A man named Richard Kuehn, a resident of Buffalo, N. Y., recently returned from Germany, has been arrested on suspicion of having murdered his father, brother and sister at Eckertsburgh, Prussia, September 24th. Kuehn's father had disposed of a large property, and it is supposed the crime was committed to obtain possession of the proceeds.

Advices from Grayson, Ky., are to the effect that the feud between the Holbrooks and Underwoods is not ended, but that the Holbrooks have ordered the Underwood women and children to leave the district inside of a week. They have also posted notices threatening any one who tesifies before the grand jury about the killing of the Underwoods.

Pawtucket, R. I., is to have a splendid drinking fountain, to cost between $20,000 and $30,000, the gift of a generous and public spirited citizen, Mr. Cogswell.

The Ohio river is nearly dry at Louisville, and immense quantities of freight will have to be railroaded. The absence of coal is a great hardship to the people, and fuel has avanced 100 per cent.

A brakeman on the Bangor & Piscataquis railroad, named Hodgkins, fell under the train near Dover, Me., on the night of Oct. 28th, and had both legs cut off above the knees.

The steamship England of the National line arrived in New York from Liverpool, Oct. 28th. When the cargo was about to be unloaded a man was found leaning against a crate who faintly gasped out "water." He was terribly emaciated. He gave his name as Harry, and said he was a baker. When asked if he had been all these days, while the ship was at sea, without food or drink, he nodded once, shuddered and died. The body was sent to the morgue. The England left Liverpool October 15th, and the stowaway must have been thirteen days without food or water.

New Hampshire Items.

At about one o'clock Tuesday morning, Oct. 28th, the house and barn of Elder J. H. Pratt at Gonic village, Rochester, were destroyed by an incendiary fire, with most of their contents. No insurance. The fire was set in the barn.

On the night of Oct. 27th, Mr. S. D. Wentworth, president of the Rochester savings bank, retired to rest, and on his preparing to dress next morning, was not a little astonished to find that his pants were missing. On further search he found the front door open, and the lock looked as if it had been opened by a cracksman. Several articles lay in great disorder around the house, and different kinds of provisions were missing. From appearances of the dining table it looked as if the burglars took their time to enjoy a midnight lunch. In the pants which are missing was a wallet containing $18. The object of the robbers is supposed to have been the finding of the key of the bank safe of the Rochester savings bank.

There is a movement in Hillsborough county to erect a colossal bronze statue to Gen. Stark, the revolutionary hero.

The annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire began at Concord on the 28th inst., in St. Paul's church, with a large attendance of the clergy and laity. The evening service was read by Rt. Rev. Bishop Niles and Rev. Drs. Crawford, Goodrich and Leroy. The annual missionary sermon was preached by Rev. A. R. Graves of Littleton. The convention continued through the following day.

A four days musical convention opened at Laconia on the 28th inst. with a chorus of 175 voices, Prof. L. O. Emerson of Boston conducting.

The Congregational church at Newport celebrated its centennial anniversary Oct. 28th with a historical address by Albert S. Waite, and reminiscences by Rev. Henry Cummings and Rev. G. R. W. Scott, and an original hymn by Edward A. Jenks. The afternoon and evening were devoted to brief addresses and discussions, with a collation in the chapel. The church organized October, 1779. The original covenant was signed by eight males and nine females. Rev. Samuel Wood, afterwards of Boscawen, was the first minister. The first regular pastor was Rev. John Remelt, installed January, 1783. Rev. E. E. P. Abbott is the present pastor.

Political.

The republican committee of Louisiana has determined to invite Evarts, Blaine, Garfied and twenty or more other prominent republicans to take part in the campaign, and some of them will be requested to stay there until election is over and the votes counted. Senator Kellogg says there is no doubt that the republicans can carry Louisiana if proper effort is made with funds and speakers.

Elections will be held next Tuesday in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Mississippi, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Virginia. The greatest interest centres in New York and Massachusetts.

Avoid Borrowing.

"Owe no man anything" is the most important maxim in the best possible scheme of political economy. California farmers have discegarded it; have in many cases fallen into the delusion of supposing they could conduct their agricultultural operations successfully on capital borrowed at annual interest of fifteen per cent, and the natural result is indicated in a recent letter from San Buenaventura to the Pacific Rural Press. The writer, Mr. S. Bristol, declares that in his locality so deplorable is the condition of the farmers that probably not one in ten, if forced to meet his paper, could do so without losing every acre he owns. He adds that many have given up and left the State, and "ten thousand more would go to-morrow if they could." Commenting on this condition of things, the San Francisco Alta makes these sensible remarks:

"The farmers who want to prosper as a class must avoid borrowing. That is the rule in other countries, and California is no exception. One man who borrows a million in the hope of making two millions out of twe immense grain crops, may succeed in his scheme, and get a nomination for governor in addition, but the multitude who treat farming as speculation must fail. If the farmers were not so greedy to borrow money, the rate of interest would not stand at fifteen per cent in the country, while it was little more than half that in our city."

Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments, (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,892.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months, all through the new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest success in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanations, how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

—An indefatigable mamma, who has succeeded in getting her own seven daughters "well off her hands," has determined to extend to others the benefit of her system. She is going to open a class for the instruction of young ladies in the art of husband-catching. It is to be called the "School of Design."

—A stage-driver in the White Mountains, when asked what he thought of the Notch, replied: "Well, I was born around here, you know, and I don't mind it so much. But if I should go down to New York I reckon likely I'd gawk around considerably myself."

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. AROUND HOME.

Rev. Mr. Pitblado lectures in Concord to-night and in Dighton, Mass., to-morrow night.

George K. Lowell, son of George G. Lowell of Dover, has been appointed a passenger conductor on the Galveston, Houston & Henderson railroad of Texas. He was formerly a fireman on the Boston & Maine railroad.

At the urgent request of a number of ticket holders Mr. Riddle has decided to substitute the "Midsummer Night's Dream" for the "Merchant of Venice," Friday evening. This and the Saturday matinee will be the last appearances of Mr. Riddle in this city.

The Concord Monitor, in speaking of Mr. Albee's lectures in that city, says: "In the opinion of good judges no lectures on the origin of our language surpassing these in value and interest have ever been given in this country, even in our larger universities."

The present season has been a remarkable one for large and fat mackerel, and they have brought good prices. A short time ago a schooner came into port with thirty barrels, containing less than a hundred mackerel to a barrel, which were sold for forty dollars per barrel.

A large audience greeted "Kit, the Arkansas Traveller," at Music hall Wednesday evening. The play is somewhat of the dime novel order, but was put on the stage in good shape, and finely acted, and appeared to give entire satisfaction to the spectators. The "two old beats" were about as popular with the boys as Kit himself.

At the annual meeting of the Exeter Manufacturing Co., Oct. 28th, officers were elected as follows: President, Ebenezer Dale of Boston; treasurer and agent, Hervey Kent of Exeter; directors, Ebenezer Dale, Hervey Kent, Thomas Appleton of Marblehead, Mass., Nathaniel Farwell of Boston, and Wm. J. Dale, Jr., of North Andover, Mass.

We are informed by Mr. Edwin H. Merrill of this city, who has been with Elder A. A. Waite since the gospel tent was first pitched on Miller avenue in this city, that the tent is safely stored in Newburyport for the winter, and will not be used for a walking match or circus, all stories to the contrary notwithstanding. We placed no faith in the yarn that the tent was about to be used for a walking match, though several other papers jumped at the chance to exultingly remark "We told you so!" when the story first appeared.

A lively breeze blew through Tuesday night and Wednesday of this week, and some awnings that were left up Tuesday evening were taken in before morning by the wind. The wind also played havoc with some of the carpenters' work on the Franklin block, Wednesday. The row of window frames on the Vaughan street wall, which had been placed in position ready for the masons, blew over several times during the day, some of them being badly shattered. There were plenty of white-caps and bare poles in the lower harbor throughout the day.

Mr. M. C. Foster, of Waterville, Me., has been awarded the contract for building the extension to the Wentworth at Newcastle. Mr. Foster has also the contract for building the extensive block of buildings for Mr. John Bracewell over the Cocheco river near the bridge in Dover. This block we are told will contain eleven stores, and is built to accommodate the increased trade of Dover resulting from the enlarged operations of the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., — and the building of the Eliot bridge on the road to South Berwick. These stores will have excellent sub-drainage, and will be an ornament to Dover.

The Arcanum Journal, published in Wooster, Ohio, prints in full the document issued by a committee from the Legion of Honor and other co-operative organizations of this city in reply to attacks made upon them by the friends of so-called "genuine" insurance companies, and says in an editorial "the author of this defence of our system against the unjustifiable attacks made from time to time by the 'genuine' companies, is abundantly able to cope with the writers in the interest of life insurance—he wields a trenchant pen, and his sarcastic thrusts at the sham and pretense of certain claims made by the 'genuine' writer are most cutting and go straight to the mark." We believe the major does have the reputation of being in possession of keen powers of sarcasm.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

The jury in the case State vs. Joseph S. Grant, for selling liquor, having failed to agree after being out some hours, were discharged. It is understood that they stood two for conviction to ten for acquittal. William S. Hadley of Portsmouth was foreman of the jury.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 29th.

State vs. Charles S. Walker of Portsmouth, for indecent assault on his stepdaughter, Augusta J. Roberts, seven years of age. The child, though somewhat embarrassed, gave her testimony in a straightforward manner. Case given to the jury in the afternoon. Wells W. Healey of Hampton Falls, foreman of jury. County Solicitor Harriman and City Solicitor Foster for State; William H. Hackett and George E. Hodgdon for defendant.

Willis Babb of Salem, indicted for larceny, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to be confined in the county jail for three months, and to pay a fine of $25 and costs of prosecution.

State vs. Thomas E. Drake, for perjury, was commenced. He is indicted for falsely swearing before Justice William A. Shackford at Newmarket, on July 20th, 1878, that he bought of Samuel Tibbetts, who then kept a saloon in that town, a glass of liquor, paying ten cents for the same. Justice Shackford testified that Drake was before him, and swore as is alleged in the indictment. Samuel Tibbetts, sworn, testified that he never kept liquor for sale; that Drake came into his saloon and called for gin, and was told that no liquor was sold there, though lager beer was; that he sold Drake lager beer, but did not sell him any liquor. Case continued to Thursday morning. Harriman and Page for State; Hodgdon for defendant.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 29; Batchelder, J.

Jeremiah Marden and Burleigh Tuttle were up on a complaint charging them with breaking into the house of Edmund C. Bean (now living at Freeman's point, this city,) at Newington in March last, and stealing therefrom crockery, firkins and other articles. They pleaded guilty to the charge, and were held in $500 each for their appearance at the April term of the supreme court. Jail in default.

THE EXILES.

On Saturday evening, at Music hall, a rich treat will be afforded our theatre-goers in the presentation of the great drama of "The Exiles" by the Boston Theatre Co., with the brilliant costumes, dog teams and wonderful realistic effects that gave to the piece its remarkably successful run of seventy-nine consecutive nights in Boston, to crowded houses, over 250,000 persons having attended its representations in that city. Mr. L. R. Shewell will appear as Schelm, his original character, and he will be supported by the entire company of the Boston theatre. The drama is of the most romantic order, and one of the most pleasing productions of recent years. Tickets can be secured at Preston's; and as there will probably be a crowd to see this splendid company in their great play, persons having a choice of seats will do well to secure them at once.

"Lessons from the Fair."

This was the subject of Rev. J. W. Hubbell's sermon at the First church on Sunday evening, and admirable lessons he drew. He took his text from Psalm lxv., 11—"Thou crownest the year with Thy goodness." He first spoke of the past week, of the crowds which had invaded our peaceful village. Then referring to the Fair itself, he told how much pleasure and profit it had been to him in looking at the bountiful fruits of the harvest, the beautiful flowers, the work of the deft fingers of the people, the beautiful creations of art, and the labor-saving machinery. The greatest sight and study, however, was the crowd. Each one of these had a life wide as eternity, with vast capacity of endless joy or endless woe. There were no two faces alike, no two experiences alike; but they all seemed alike in that they were passing on to the judgment seat of Christ, where we shall hand in the fruits and the works of a life. Who shall get the premium there? Those names and those lives shall be accepted which have the name of Jesus Christ presented with them. The fairest life is not fair enough without Christ. The speaker then referred to the first fair on record, that of Cain and Abel. Cain brought the fruits of the earth, for he was a farmer. Abel brought only a simple lamb, for he was a herdsman. The offering of Abel was accepted and Cain rejected. Why? Abel's offering was made with faith. Cain expected to be accepted because of the fine show he made. The test will be with us as with these two—whether like Abel we can stand with the faith on the Lamb that was slain for us. If we are accepted it will be because what He has done for us. Offerings of fruit and flowers are all very well, but there must be something to represent sacrifice, and it must be offered in humble faith. In conclusion the reverend speaker said:—

"There is just one other lesson from the Fair, and that is the lesson we learn from the great show outside which the farmers could not gather up and bring in—the beauty of the changing foliage, covering the hillside with brilliant splendor, lighting up the valleys with the tints and hues of beauty with their delicate, exquisite traceries to charm our eyes from things too sensual, and lift us up to what is spirited in its loveliness and can never fade and pass away. * * * * The fields under the hills yonder have already yielded their harvest; and the meadows are becoming dry and brown, and the bushes and wild flowers that skirt the roadside are already gathering up their wealth and are beginning to store it away to prepare for summers and for harvests yet to be. And as we pull up the tents, take down the tables and turn away from the place where we have seen and enjoyed so much, let us learn a lesson each one for ourselves; we all must fade as the leaf; the places that know us now amid these busy activities must ere long know us no more. Oh, that the closing of life might somehow be beautiful like the closing of these October days of the year, and that death might be only the taking on of new forms of beauty; and though the leaves fall the fruit shall remain to be gathered in, that there might be a golden harvest as the result of life's sowing and reaping."—*Danbury (Com.) —A matchless story—One in which there are no weddings.

—When you pick up a paper and peruse a sublimely sentimental or deeply philosophical essay, the last line of which reads, "Sold by all druggists," you are forcibly struck with the truth of that conclusive remark.

—The Taunton Gazette tells of the presence of mind of Mr. Fuller, a carpenter, who, when a two-and-a-half-year-old girl climbed a ladder to the roof, a distance of twenty-five feet, turned to her and said, "You have come up to see me," and then walked up to her, smilingly, and caught her in his arms before she could realize her peril.

Y., and received a whole or half-ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the next drawing of which takes place Nov. 11th; and the reader who heeds this may be the one who comes next as the fortunate winner of $30,000.

MODEL RANGE

Manufactured by Spicer & Peckham, of Providence, R. I. The Portable Cooking Range is the best adapted to do work surely and quickly, of any device yet made. There are many sizes. They do all work cleanly and readily, with a great saving of fuel. The expense has been spared to make the Model Range first-class in every particular, and it is presented to the public as one that is admitted even by competing manufacturers to be the most neatly ornamented and perfectly proportioned Range yet made.

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and curve flue will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 43 Milk St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment, and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation calls himself Dr. Sherman, or Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. The symptoms and complications may be severally in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of climate, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled; from deep depression of spirits, from a sluggish or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The discomforts resulting from catarrh are the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the nostrils with which they come in contact, or they may be thick and yellow, resembling a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and temples, back of the head, throbbing with pain, and as it is was enclosed by a light, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharged causes the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult, and causing the sufferer to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to come directly into the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to clear it and expectorate to throw it off. Yet when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the membrane becomes hard and forms scabs, incrustations and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery; and in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear may be seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending finally in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when presentation of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of the most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently refer, as to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in its formulation, marks its adaptation to meet the wants of every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States, and the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous diseases with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting a cure with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case BILLIAN ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $25.00 per ton. Two diver shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Montana Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which sulled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock (25,000 shares,) or two hundred thousand shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for Ten (10) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

IN SEARCH OF A WIFE.

Uncle Dan'l Onderdonk, says the New York Sun, is one of the patriarchs of Rockland county. He is a cousin of the well-known Barmore Brothers, pianoforte manufacturers of New York, and is the favorite nephew of Mrs. Effie Barmore, who, in January next, will be 100 years of age. Uncle Dan'l himself is a little over seventy-seven. Up to last spring the old man lived by himself in a picturesque, white-porched cottage, embowered in trees, on the Rockland lake road, and under the shadow of the Rockland mountain. A weeping willow hangs over his front gate, the thick blossoming clover springs up luxuriantly over his lawn, and an old-fashioned well-sweep, bearing a moss-covered bucket, and sinking into the deep, dark well of coolest and sweetest water, occupies another corner of his domain. Every year the fat acres surrounding his homestead bear a rich harvest of corn, potatoes, cabbage and other garden truck, which Uncle Dan'l takes down to Nyack and ships to the buyers in Washington market. The butter and cheese raised on Uncle Dan'l's place are extra, and the middleman who secures the refusal of it for the season is considered fortunate.

About three years ago, Mrs. Onderdonk, Uncle Dan'l's excellent helpmeet, died, after a wedded life of upward of fifty years. It was a sad blow to the old man, who, throughout his long career, had been one of the most affectionate of husbands. After Mrs. Onderdonk died and was buried he became inconsolable, and declared he could not be the same man again until he got another wife. He talked the matter over with Thomas Jefferson Tallman in the haying field one day, and the upshot of the matter was that Uncle Dan'l determined to go down to "York" and get a wife.

"I hain't been down in years," he said, as he bade good-by to Tallman at the crook in the road, and jerked his thumb in the direction of the city. "I hain't been down in years, but guess there's plenty of women there that'll have me. It's changed since fifty years ago if there ain't."

He put on his long brass-buttoned coat, high hat, and took in his hand his staff, which he always uses to assist him in walking. He got off at Washington market, and walked along the stands until he came to 354 Country row. Then he paused. There was a buxom, auburn-haired young woman behind it cutting up lamb. Her plump bare arms looked attractive in the sunlight, as she raised her cleaver aloft and brought it down on the firm, hard meat. Uncle Dan'l thought her pretty, and paused to take a longer look. Presently he got into conversation.

"Are you married woman?" he asked, with just a bit of trembling in his voice.

"No."

"Old maid?"

"No."

"Widder?"

The fair butcheress nodded her head, and Uncle Dan'l smiled a very significant smile.

"Supposin' you have me?"

The butcheress smiled and said hastily that couldn't possibly be. She thought too much of her last husband, and besides, had four small children to provide for. Then she hesitated for a moment, and added archly:

"But I've got a sister—"

"Is she a widder? Is she as good-lookin' as you?" Where is she?" asked Uncle Dan'l, somewhat flurriedly and all in a breath.

"Yes, she is a few years older than I am and a good deal better looking. I can assure you. I'll give you her address and a note of introduction, and you can go and call on her if you want to."

"Give me the note," said Uncle Dan'l, energetically. The auburn-haired stand-keeper wrote neatly on the back of one of her business cards: "Miss Sarah Ann Gibson, No. 25 Dominick street. Introducing Uncle Dan'l Onderdonk of Rockland." And Uncle Dan'l, pocketing it, made his way out of the crowd. In fifteen minutes his snow-white hair, long staff and generally venerable appearance were attracting a crowd of gamins and street loungers in Dominick street. Uncle Dan'l marched up to No. 25, which bore the sign, "Millinery and Dressmaking," and used the brass knocker with a vigor that made the house resound. A female head popped out of the window.

"Why! what's all that noise about?"

"It's me, Uncle Dan'l Onderdonk from Rockland county, come to marry yer!" explained the old man. "Be quick if you want to catch the three o'clock train back!"

There was a scream, a popping back of the head, a scurrying through the hall above, and a banging of doors on all sides, all of which, however, did not in the least disconcert Uncle Dan'l. He stood there patiently until he was admitted. In the front room he found a woman as buxom and well favored as the one in Washington market. She was, perhaps, ten years older, and had darker hair and eyes.

Uncle Dan'l explained his business, told her about his farm in Rockland, how his wife died, how he'd got tired of keeping bachelor's hall all alone there by himself and must have a helpmeet. Then he asked her to be his helpmeet. Miss Gibson protested that she was astonished; that she hadn't dreamed of such a thing, etc., and that she must have some time to reflect.

"All right," replied Uncle Dan'l, though somewhat reluctantly. "I'm comin' down again in two weeks with a load of truck, and I'll give you till then to think it over. By the way, what religion are ye?"

"I'm an Episcopalian," replied the lady.

"And I'm a hard-shell Baptist. Baptist and 'Piscopal goes well enough together, though. What's the difference whether you only sprinkle a man or half drown him, so long as it's a saving ordinance both ways?"

A fortnight later, when the Rockland county patriarch called at No. 25 Dominick street he found the dress-making sign taken down and several boxes packed and corded for shipment. The lady to whom he had proposed was in the front parlor, arrayed in her Sunday best. After exchanging a smack that made the glass in the windows rattle, the patriarch picked up his hat and said:

"Put on your bonnet and shawl, Sabrer. I'll leave it to you to pick out the minister. Only get a 'Piscopal. They do it up in finer style."

Miss Gibson was a member of St. John's Chapel, and she preferred to have one of the clergyman attached to it. At Varick street the pair boarded a Sixth avenue car. At Forty-fifth street they got out and crossed to the house of Rev. Dr. Sullivan H. Weston in Fifth avenue. The doctor, who is chaplain of the 7th Regiment, and is reported to have married more couples than any other three clergymen in Trinity parish, received them in his study, and shook hand heartily with bride and bridegroom. "Why, what brings you here, Miss Gibson? Who is this pleasant old gentleman with the white hair—your father or grandfather?"

Uncle Dan'l grasped the doctor's arm, and whispered: "I ain't neither of 'em, elder, but I'm going to be her husband in about ten minutes!" The doctor was at first taken aback, but he laughed, and shook hands with the old gentleman, and congratulated him upon his good fortune in getting such a wife. Then Uncle Dan'l put his hat on the table and his staff in the corner, and standing up alongside his bride the pair were duly pronounced man and wife according to the rites of the church. In the marriage certificate the age of the husband was stated as seventy-seven and the wife's as forty-seven.

Meantime there had been great excitement in Rockland. A number of aged spinsters and relicts of farmers thought it was an outrage that a man with a farm like Uncle Dan'l's should go and get married to "one of them York wimmin"—one so much younger than he was, too. The majority of the neighbors, however, approved his action, and it was determined to give a grand "scimmerton," or wedding serenade, in honor of the plucky patriarch on his return. Uncle Dan'l got word of it, and spent the two weeks of his wedding tour in "York," at his sister-in-law's. When he did come he left his wife behind for a day or two, and drove up to his house after dark. His neighbors, Thomas Jefferson Tallman, John Edward Tallman, and Abraham Tallman, together with a number of Onderdonks and Blauvelts, came to his house, drummed on tin pans, blew horns, and fired off guns and pistols, under the supposition that Mr. and Mrs. Onderdonk were under the roof. Meanwhile Uncle Dan'l had ample preparation in the way of Jamaica rum, lemon peel and sugar, and pipes and tobacco, and the festivities that followed left those of Jackson's day far behind. Mrs. Onderdonk arrived the next day, and has lived most happily with her husband ever since.

News and Notes.

President Diaz, of Mexico, has ordered the adoption of the international signal code presented by Commo. John C. Beaumont, U. S. N., and also of a set of fog signals presented by the same officer.

The Eastern railroad freight business in the eastern part of Massachusetts is rapidly increasing, and is much larger than ever before.

Cleopatra's needle, while being removed for shipment to the United States, was seized by creditors of the Egyptian government.

Up to the 30th inst., no trace had been found of the child missing for nearly two weeks from West Jay, Vt. At a legal investigation on the 28th there was much evidence produced to show that the girl was kidnapped, and probably with the mother's consent. There is great excitement in the town, and but little work has been done in any of the workshops or factories in that region since the 22d inst., the people generally joining in the search.

A few days ago, at Machiasport, Me., Mr. Matthias Phinney, in his 80th year, was shingling the roof of his house. Lewis Sanborn, in his 75th year, was doing similar work on the roof of his house. Mr. John C. Jewett, in his 80th year, was at work alone, building himself a house. Mr. Christopher Chandler, in his 85th year, was at work shingling the roof of a building.

The treasury department at Washington discovers that the continuance of extensive smuggling along the Maine border is due to collusion between customs officers and the smugglers, and removals will shortly be in order. As only five officers are employed to watch for hundred of miles along the borders, the facilities for smuggling are, of course, very great.

The new valuation of Portland shows an increase on real estate of $613,000 over that of 1888, and a decrease of $1,080,225 on personal. The rate of taxation is $2.50 on the $100. The following are taxed over $5000: John B. Brown, $31,265.50; William W. Thomas, $6,780.50; Ira P. Farrington, $5,380.50.

Charles L. Peterson, a real estate agent, was shot dead in San Francisco, Oct. 28th, by garroters. W. H. Henderson, commercial editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, twice shot himself in the head on the same day, in a saloon, and died in a few hours.

A man named Jones, of Dixmont, Me., was accidently shot in the leg a few days ago by a companion who was fooling with a revolver of the "didn't know it was loaded" variety.

The trial of Bill Young for the murder of Louis Spencer and four children closed in Kahaka, Mo., Oct. 25th, resulting in a verdict of not guilty. The circumstantial evidence was strong, but was utterly wrecked by the fiasco of the detectives' evidence. Although Young was acquitted, the belief in his guilt was very decided among the citizens, and they determined to lynch him. Sunday afternoon, Oct. 26th, Young married Lydia Bray of Ohio; and on Tuesday morning, as their train passed through Kahaka, Young and his wife alighted, and a mob of 200 or 300 persons followed them on horseback and in wagons, and surrounding his house demanded his surrender. Young opened fire on the mob, and shots were exchanged until he was wounded. Eight men then forced their way into the house, took him out and hanged him.

Through the generosity of one of Haverhill's prominent citizens, a monument is soon to be erected to the memory of Hannah Dustin, a woman whose name has prominent position in the early history of New England. The monument consists of a bronze statue of a female six feet in height, with a wreath of laurel on the head, and holding a tomahawk in one hand by her side, with the other extended. The figure is loosely clad, the hair falling naturally upon the shoulders, presenting a graceful appearance. The statue is to stand on a gigantic pedestal, nine feet high, making fifteen feet for the entire monument. On each of the four sides of the pedestal, which is to be sixty feet square at the base, will be bas-reliefs, also in bronze, representing events connected with Mrs. Dustin's capture, her journey to Concord, N. H., her despatching the Indians, and her subsequent escape and return home. The statue and reliefs are already cast, and the pedestal and foundations are also nearly completed, and it is expected that the monument will be unveiled early in November. A competent committee has the matter in charge, and the ceremonies will be of an appropriate nature.

"Dr." Daniel F. Kimball and Mrs. Caroline C. Goodrich, the principals in the Jennie P. Clarke abortion case, were sentenced in Boston on Thursday, the former to six years in State prison, and the latter to ten years in the house of correction. Kimball attempted sucide by cutting his throat Thursday morning, but failed.

Standing Bear, the Ponca chief, accompanied by Bright Eyes and Woodworker, daughter and son of the head chief of the Omahas, and Mr. T. H. Tibbles, of the Omaha Herald, arrived in Boston on the 29th inst. They were given an informal reception by Mayor Prince and others at the Tremont house, and a public reception was held at Horticultural hall in the evening.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. John H. Hutchinson has recently greatly improved his fine residence on Lincoln avenue by several additions, and some very pretty conceits in the way of ornamental wood-work.

The stock of groceries in the store of Mr. Thomas Wardwell on Islington street was sold on Thursday at auction by Mr. Jos. P. Morse. Mr. Wardwell has purchased part of the Emery farm, with the intention of moving upon and working it.

The schooner Mary J. Adams is to receive a new deck and hanging knees, and butt-bolting, and have a general and thorough overhauling under direction of Mr. Warren Keen. She will probably go on the beach at Noble's island while the repairs are being made.

On Wednesday forenoon of this week one of the uprights of the staging around the house in course of erection by Mr. Benjamin F. Webster on Broad street was blown down, in its fall aiming directly for Mr. Edward Watkins, who fortunately happened to see it in time to escape injury by stepping to one side.

Mr. Decatur of Kittery and Capt. Eastman of this city did not start in Mr. Decatur's new yacht for a gunning trip along shore to the eastward on Tuesday of this week, as they proposed, owing to the threatening appearance of the weather. Had they been out in the gale of Tuesday night and Wednesday it is hard to say where they would have brought up.

The recent sudden death of Hon John H. Bailey recalls to mind the fact that when he was collector of the port of Portsmouth there were employed in the custom house under him Mr. Joseph M. Edmunds as deputy collector, and Joseph E. Pillow, Payne Durkee and Aaron Young as inspectors, all of whom save Mr. Young have passed away, and all died suddenly.

Some time last spring the house of Oliver Swain in Strafford, near Barnstead line, was broken open and entered in the night, and robbed of money and other articles of value. Some uncharitable people discredited the report of the robbery, to the dissatisfaction of the friends of Mr. Swain, and not long since the services of Sheriff Kent of this county were secured by the friends of Mr. Swain to investigate the case. Within a few days Mr. Kent has recovered some of the property, and has a clue to the rest, the thief being in custody.—Weekly.

As the fishing schooner Can't Come It was returning from a trip on Monday afternoon of this week, when three miles inside the Isles of Shoals she was discovered to have sprung a leak, being half full of water at the time, and leaking rapidly. The pumps not being in a condition to use, the schooner ran back to the Shoals, where they were put in order and the vessel pumped out. The leak was found to be owing to the starting of a plank on the port side, near the stem; and by listing her over to starboard, and keeping the pumps going, the crew managed to get her into this port, where she is now being repaired.

The old Washingtonians held their adjourned annual meeting on Tuesday evening, Oct. 28th, at Mr. Craig's office, and elected Frank W. Miller president; Rev. E. M. Grant, vice president; A. F. Craig, secretary and treasurer; B. F. Thorndike, Isaac Dow, Joseph Pettigrew, Rev. John A. Goss, T. E. O. Marvin, James Sanborn and Wm. D. Fernald, directors. It was the general desire that some practical temperance work, or at least discussions, be engaged in; and after several propositions, it was voted to meet again at the same place on Tuesday evening, Nov. 4th, at seven o'clock, all members of the new board of officers, and temperance people generally, being invited to be present.

Our city has no better policeman than the mayor himself; hardly a day passes but he is seen to drive gangs of loafers from doorways, where they congregate to squirt tobacco juice and throw peanut shells on the sidewalks. Some traders, too, we understand have been warmly remonstrated with for throwing waste paper and other refuse matter in the street.

Messrs. Lee & Shepard, of Boston, announce "Cruises with Captain Bob," by B. P. Shillaber, being a continuation of "Ike Partington and his friends."

Mrs. Helen C. Knight, of this city, is one of the signers to a call for a meeting in Boston for the purpose of organizing a Woman's Board of Home Missions.

The Catholic society of Hallowell, Me., of which Rev. Father Murphy, formerly of this city, is pastor, dedicated a new and elegant church on Sunday, Oct. 26th.

Schooners Juliette, Senator, Oranaska and Hannah, were lying at Rollins' wharf on Thursday, loading with apples for eastern ports. They will take about 1500 bushels in all.

The schooner Henry M. Clark, formerly of this port and one of Valentine Doane, Jr.'s, fishing fleet, has come to grief, having stranded at Tiguish, Prince Edward's Island, and become a total loss, with her cargo. The crew were saved.

The yacht Una, Capt. A. C. Thurlow, recently arrived at Newburyport from Mt. Desert, after an absence of twenty days. She had an excursion party of twenty, all belonging in Hampton. The weather was pleasant during the entire trip, and all enjoyed themselves.

Frank Hanson of Dover is entered for a six-days square-heel-and-toe walk at Newark, N. J., commencing Nov. 3d. The racing time is limited to twelve hours and a half each day, and $1200 will be given in prizes, and a gold watch valued at $250 will also go to the winner of the first prize.

The blow on Tuesday night and Wednesday forenoon of this week was a brisk one at Dover. Joseph G. Abbott's ice-house at Willand's pond was damaged to the amount of $500, slates were torn from the roof of the Methodist chapel, fences were blown down, numerous shutters and signs wrenched off, and the show-windows of Wm. A. Morrill's crockery store completely demolished.

The Exeter Pinafore Co. of amateurs went to Hampton on Tuesday of this week, but owing to the rain had but a small audience. After the opera the party adjourned to another hall for supper. The proceeds of the play go toward building a vestry for the Congregational church in Kensington, and the proceeds of the supper to the Congregational church in Hampton. A very orthodox affair for a comic opera.

In another place will be found the announcement of the Rockingham Course of Entertainments, second series, to consist of five first-class performances, including one by Helen Potter's Pleiades, the "Chimes of Normandy" by the Boston English Opera Company, and a concert by the Bernhard Listemann Company, assisted by Miss Julia A. Wells. The tickets, at $1.50 to $2.50 for the course, are as low as they can be placed, and are very low when the high character of the entertainments promised is considered.

At a meeting of S. H. Hines Lodge, No. 56, Knights of Pythias, of Lowell, Mass., held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 28th, it was unanimously voted to extend an invitation to Damon Lodge, No. 9, of this city, to exemplify the amplified third rank in Lowell on Nov. 18th. A reception committee was appointed, of which John W. Gray, formerly of this city, is chairman, who will make special rates for transportation. We judge that the officers of Damon Lodge are well posted in the mysterious working of the third rank, from the numerous invitations they receive to exemplify it in sister lodges.

THE EXILES.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, the splendid dramatic company of the Boston theatre will present the romantic drama, "The Exiles," using all the accessories employed in its representation in Boston, so far as the stage will admit. The play created a furore in Boston, and night after night the theatre doors were placarded with "Standing room only" in a few minutes after they were opened; it has never been presented in this city, and is not likely soon to be again, as a more numerous company and larger amount of special materials are required for its production than ordinary dramatic companies possess. Tickets now on sale at Preston's.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

The time of sending in bids for the building of the sewer on State and Winter streets having expired, but one bid, that of Mr. Joseph R. Holmes, was offered, who agreed to build the drain for forty-two and a half cents per foot, of Akron pipe, providing there was no ledge. Voted that the bid of Joseph R. Holmes be rejected.

Petition was received from Moses H. Goodrich and Frank Jones, and others, requesting the city to lay out a new highway through the Raynes ship yard and widen Short street, begining at the north terminus of Vaughan street. Albert R. Hatch appeared before the board in behalf of the petitioners. The petition was accepted.

Voted that the mayor appoint a time for the petitioners to be heard. Mayor Sise appointed Thursday evening, Nov. 20th.

Joseph Parry asked permission to open Fleet street for the purpose of laying a drain; granted.

William A. and Joseph W. Peirce asked for a new side walk in front of their residence on Court street; granted.

Albert Rowe was appointed special police without pay in vicinity of the Rockingham house.

Charles W. Gardner appeared before the board in relation to the heating apparatus in one of the rooms at the Haven school house. The subject was referred to the committee on school houses, with power.

A communication was received from the members of Garibaldi Hook and Ladder company, requesting that one month advance pay might be paid them for the purpose of purchasing fire hats as ordered by the board of engineers; granted.

Voted that the drain on State and Winter streets be built under the superintendence of the street commissioner.

Committee on street lights reported on the request for a naptha light on Jackson street, that if the petitioner purchase post and lamp the city would locate and maintain the same. Report accepted.

Adjourned.

THURSDAY, Oct. 30th.

In case State vs. Charles S. Walker, indecent assault, which was given to the jury Wednesday afternoon, the jury were out all night without coming to an agreement, standing six to six. They were excused until the afternoon session, and in the meantime the court accepted Walker's plea of guilty of a simple assault, and sentenced him to six months in jail and to pay the costs of prosecution.

Curtis B. Edgerly, one of the parties implicated in the robbery of Mr. Haley's store in Newmarket, pleaded guilty. Hon. Napoleon B. Bryant of Boston addressed the court in Edgerly's behalf, and introduced a witness from Cambridge, Mass., who testified to Edgerly's good character while in his employ, stating that at night and on holidays he was in charge of the place where he was employed, in which was a large amount of brass and other goods, and that nothing was ever missed; witness considered Edgerly a trustworthy person. Mr. Bryant appealed to the court for a lenient sentence, as incarceration in State prison would indelibly stain the man's name, and urged that Edgerly had always before respected the laws, and that but for the use of liquors he would not now be in such a position. County Solicitor Harriman said that before sentence was imposed he wished to make some remarks in relation to the case, and sentence was deferred.

State vs. Thomas E. Drake, for perjury, was continued. Several witnesses were called by the State, and testified that they had more or less frequently visited the saloon kept by Tibbetts, but never saw or knew of any liquor sold, drank or kept there. The defence put Drake and Webster on the stand. Drake swore that he did buy a glass of whiskey of Tibbetts on the 15th of May, 1878, and gave other testimony, which the cross-examination muddled up somewhat. Webster swore that he was near Tibbetts' saloon at the time Drake went in there; that Drake met him nearly opposite when he came out of the saloon, and blew his (Drake's) breath in the face of witness, and it smelt of whiskey. Webster also stated that he acted as counsel for the State during the examination of Tibbetts before Justice Shackford at Newmarket, and that there was considerable local excitement manifested at the time. In the afternoon Webster was cross-examined by the State, the only material result being that he contradicted Drake in a portion of his testimony given at Exeter last April. Several officers from Massachusetts were called, and testified that Drake's reputation for veracity was bad. The case was given to the jury in the evening, and after being out a short time they returned a verdict of guilty.

Stephen L. Marston, Benjamin J. Plumer and Stacy Hall were drawn as jurors from ward two, Thursday evening, to report Nov. 10th.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Oct. 30; Batchelder, J.

Daniel W. Rowe, of Newmarket, was examined on a charge of receiving stolen property, knowing the same to have been stolen; case continued from the previous Tuesday. The store of James C. Taylor, in Derry, was broken into by Curtis C. Lamos, and robbed of various articles; and the thief, being arrested for another crime, confessed the burglary, and said he gave part of the plunder (a half-dozen plated forks) to Rowe; and that Rowe turned a grindstone while Lamos ground certain marks off the goods. Evidence corroborative of Lamos' testimony was produced in court, and Rowe was adjudged guilty and sentenced to ninety days in jail, from which sentence he appealed, and was ordered to give bonds in the sum of $100 to prosecute the appeal.

JOE JEFFERSON AS RIP VAN WINKLE.

The celebrated comedian, Joseph Jefferson, is to enact his great character of Rip Van Winkle at Music hall next Wednesday evening, having been engaged together with his entire New York company for a New England tour by manager Charles H. Thayer. Upon Mr. Jefferson's recent appearance in New York, Mr. William Winter, the accomplished critic of the Tribune, spoke of his performance as follows:

It can never be considered a common chance that brings back to our eyes, which have missed him, and to our hearts, if ever he has been suffered to wander out of them, such an actor as Jefferson. It is a chance that lights up with renewed vitality some of the sweetest and noblest of influences that flow from the stage. To mention that Jefferson reappeared here last night, is, therefore, to record the occurrence of an important event and the presence of a great public benefit. The comedian came forward in his old character of Rip Van Winkle, and, of course, he was welcomed with acclamation and obvious and sincere pleasure. It has often been our task to dissect and describe this performance, and to honor it for its rare poetical and spiritual beauty,—as an ideal,—while recognizing its spell of tender humanity, and the simple perfection of its mechanism as a work of art. There is no call to retrace a familiar line of comment.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

At Kennebunk depot, on the 28th inst., the gale uprooted trees, displaced a building belonging to the Eastern railroad, blew down fences, broke windows and did other damage.

Four deputy sheriffs made a liquor raid in Biddeford on Tuesday of this week, visiting fifteen suspected places; result, the capture of a jug of yeast! But they seized a ten-gallon keg of whiskey at one of the depots in Saco on the evening of the same day.

At the Methodist ministerial meeting for the York district, which closed a session at South Berwick on the 29th inst., Rev. G. R. Wilkins of South Eliot spoke on the "Relation of pulpits to politics." Rev. E. W. Hutchinson spoke on the "Resurrection of the body." There was a discussion on "Are pulpit exchanges with liberal preachers consistent with Methodist ordination vows?"

On Monday of this week Capt. Abraham Brooks went in a big dory to the schooner Water Lily, at anchor off the late Rev. Daniel Austin's place in Kittery, to get his share of her fare of 1700 fish averaging nine pounds each, and loaded the dory so deeply that she sank. The fish were taken up next day, with the exception of about a hundred, which were lost.

—"That puts a different face on it," said the swindler when he raised a check from twenty to two hundred dollars.

—An ironclad, 400 feet long, 73 feet wide, 50 feet deep at the bow, and 55 feet at the stern, with solid iron armor of one foot thickness, and a speed of sixteen knots an hour, is to be launched next month from the royal navy yard near Naples. It is to be called Italia, and will be the largest war ship in existence.

—He was a new man in the music store, she was a delicate blonde. She entered, and approaching the man timidly asked, "Have you 'Rocked in the cradle of the deep?" He answered with a slight blush and some hesitation, gazing far away toward the horizon, "Well —I really could not say—I must have been very young at the time, if I did."

The only combination of the true Jamaica Ginger with choice aromatics and French brandy, for correcting intemperate habits, regulating the stomach and bowels, breaking up colds, chills, and fevers, is SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER. For relieving gouty and rheumatic pains, preventing malarial fevers and promoting sleep it is truly wonderful. Ask for SANFORD'S.

As caloric, electricity and phosphorous are induced and supplied by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, it only requires the administration of this successful invention to fortify the feeble, give sprightliness and motion to the torpid, and bring about a condition which not only secures lanaciousness of life but makes life really enjoyable.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, is now at his branch office, 251 MILK St., Boston, where those afflicted with Rupture wishing to obtain the benefit of his experience and remedies may consult him daily for a limited period.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once believed himself that it was but a trifling ailment, and every man who now suffers from it and the injury of trusses, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

Principal Office, 251 Broadway, N. Y.

BEWARE of a man named Sherman, who, taking advantage of my reputation calls him off Dr. Sherman, alias Dr. S. Sherman, alias Dr. S. J. Sherman, pretending to be famous for the cure of Rupture. He is a bold cheat, hoping to mislead and victimize the afflicted. Preserve this advertisement and show it to your afflicted friends. 1ocu2x

—HAVING THE—

Patent Reflex Coal-Grate and Ash-Sifter,
New Patent Automatic Oven Shelf,
New Patent Extension Leg,
New Patent Double Top,
(No more cracked tops.)

And many other improvements. As perfected, we sincerely believe that the most durable and beautiful range in the world is the

MODEL RANGE

Manufactured by Spicer & Peckham, of Providence, R.I. The Portable Cooking Range is the best adapted to do work surely and quickly, of any device yet made. There are many sizes. They do all work evenly and steadily, with a great saving of fuel. No expense has been spared to make the Model Range first-class in every particular, and it is presented to the public as one that is admitted even by competing manufacturers to be the most neatly ornamented and perfectly proportioned Range yet made.

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and curve fire will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

This Range, with a large variety of other

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that is in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And yet, as valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write, testifying to great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I say an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried it, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 60—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me inestimable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to you, you have my leave to use it. I have been, and shall be, ready to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), by object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Motzkin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock (25,000 shares), ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. A Cheap Smoke House.

The following description of a home-made smoke house is by Professor W. B. Brooks, in the Rural New Yorker:

The arrangement can be made by any one without the least trouble, and it is sure to "work" every time. The device consists of a barrel of any suitable size. An ordinary flour or apple barrel will smoke four or five moderate sized hams or shoulders. Both heads are removed, and a movable cover provided for the top. This may be of boards, or an old oilcloth or tight blanket will answer. A short trench, is dug in which is laid a length of old stovepipe. A larger excavation is then made, in which a pan of burning cobs or chips is placed. This is covered by a tightly-fitting plank. One end of the stovepipe communicates with this excavation; over the other end the barrel is placed, the earth banked up around the bottom of the barrel and over the stovepipe, to keep all tight. The meat may be suspended from a stick laid across the top of the barrel, and then all covered tight with an oilcloth or blanket. On placing a pan of smoking cobs or chips in the place provided, the smoke passes through the stovepipe into the barrel, filling it with a dense, cool smoke. Should the support of the ham, etc., break, the latter cannot be harmed by coming in contact with the fire or ashes, as sometimes happens in the regular smoke house. The smoking is effected in a very thorough manner in a short time. The writer had for this morning's breakfast some ham which was smoked in a contrivance precisely similar to this in six hours.

Sacramental Wine.

Speer's Port Grape Wine is a pure, unintoxicating wine, made from the finest native grown Port Grapes. It is especially adapted to the use of Christian Churches, and guaranteed to retain its grateful flavor and essential qualities unimpaired for any period. Much used by invalids. The principal churches in New York and Brooklyn have adopted its use. For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Kinderick, a widow living alone near Winona, Minnesota, was found murdered Thursday morning. The crime was committed with a hatchet and butcher knife, which were found. The clothing on the body was saturated with kerosene, as if the intention was to burn it.

Several hundred students of the Ann Arbor (Michigan) University went into town on Wednesday night, Oct. 29th, to clean out the citizens, in retaliation for the arrest of several of their number the evening previous. They pounced upon the officers, who attempted to quiet them. The alarm bells were rung, calling out the citizens, who came by hundreds, armed with clubs, and soon overpowered the unruly students. Ten of the students were arrested and lodged in jail. The military was then called out, and no further trouble occurred.

In the supreme court at Belfast, Me., last Thursday, Leander J. Hatch of Morrill recovered a verdict of $10,000 damages against the city of Belfast, for injuries sustained on a defective bridge at Poor's Mills in 1878.

The supreme court at Worcester, Mass., in the case of the Commonwealth vs. H. J. Munson, the case of self-marriage, orders the verdict of guilty of lewd and lascivious cohabitation to be set aside, and says: "There was no legal or lawful marriage, but the fact of cohabitation under the honest thought or mistaken belief of the parties that they were lawfully married will not support the indictment."

The ports of Puerto Plata and Monte Cristo, in San Domingo, are declared blockaded on account of rebellion.

By order of the viceroy of India, Gen. Roberts has issued a proclamation stating that that British government is compelled to occupy Cabul and other parts of Afghanistan. The Afghans are kept down simply by power, and would rise if they saw a chance of success.

Morning prayer was said at St. Paul's church, Concord, Oct. 29th, after which the diocesan convention assembled, and the roll was called. An adjournment was had for divine service, when the holy communion was celebrated by Bishop Niles, assisted by Rev. Messrs. Renouf, Holbrook of Portsmouth and Roberts of Concord. Bishop Niles then delivered his annual address. After the morning adjournment the clergymen and laity, with their ladies, were very handsomely entertained at the Phœnix hotel by James R. Hill.

In the supreme court at Concord last Thursday the jury returned a verdict of $1,500 against Moses D. Perkins and daughter of Pittsfield. This was a suit brought by a Mr. Merrill for damages alleged to have resulted from taking out the windows of the house in which plaintiff lived and which was owned by defendant, while plaintiff's wife was in a delicate condition of health. Perkins claimed that he wanted the house, and had warned Merrill to leave it.

Naval Affairs.

Norfolk, Va., advices of October 29th say: "The work of sheathing the bottom of the Nipsic will be finished tonight by the construction department, but she will not be able to come out of the dry-dock before Saturday on account of the steam engineering department not being through with the propeller and sea valves. The job of overhauling, cleaning and repairing tanks of the Kearsarge commenced yesterday. The Marion has dropped down to the naval anchorage to await orders. The Constitution will not go in the dry-dock, it is now determined."

Lieut. Nathan H. Barnes is ordered to the Nipsic; Past Assistant Surgeon Wm. A. Corwin to the Kearsarge; Lieut. Commander C. H. Davis and Lieut. J. A. Morris are detached from their present duties and ordered to special duty at the bureau of navigation; Ensign J. A. Sherman has reported his return home, having been detached from the Vandalia, and has been placed on sick leave; Surgeon T. Woolverton is detached from the Kearsarge and ordered to hold himself in readiness for duty on board the Powhatan; Assistant Paymaster A. K. Michler is detached from his present duties and ordered to settle accounts; Second Lieut. Joseph Nicholson, U. S. M. C., is ordered to command the marine guard of the Nipsic, now at Norfolk.

AROUND HOME.

D. F. Borthwick's cloaks are good style and very cheap.

Coal freights from Baltimore to this port are quoted at $2.15 per ton.

Hon. Marcellus Eldredge is absent from the city on a visit to Kentucky.

Exeter Manufacturing Co. stock (preferred) sold at auction in Boston this week at 49. Eastern railroad 4 1-2's are quoted at 85.

Hundreds of star-gazers in our streets, Friday. Venus, which is now a morning star, was plainly discernable with the naked eye throughout the day.

E. H. Bickford of Greenland lost a valuable horse by colic a few days ago. Joseph H. Leavitt of Stratham has lost two horses through the same trouble, this fall.

The Main street Methodist church at Great Falls, which re-opens on Sunday afternoon, November 9th, has secured Rev. C. B. Pitblado of this city to preach the sermon.

Rev. Mr. Reding, pastor of the Calvin Baptist church of Manchester, Mass., is visiting friends in this city. The reverend gentleman is a native of Portsmouth, and for many years resided on State street.

Examination at Dartmouth college will commence on Monday, Nov. 10th; graduating exercises in college chapel, Tuesday afternoon and evening, Nov. 11th. Dr. S. C. Whittier of this city will deliver the address before the graduating class of medical students.

A Stratham correspondent writes us as follows: "Having seen in a recent issue of your paper that Mr. Amos Dame of Newington in one day picked thirty-five barrels of apples, I wish to say that in Stratham we should not consider that anything very remarkable. One of our sturdy yeomen, Mr. Jerry Jones, picked on the farm of Mr. Noah P. Young, in ten hours, forty-two barrels of apples; and we can produce plenty of men who can perform the same for a day's work. Such men as J. H. Barker and Winfield F. Kelley have repeatedly picked forty barrels in a day; and Mr. Ezra Barker, the well-known fruit raiser, who is seventy-seven years old, recently picked a bushel of apples in two minutes, at the top of a twenty-foot ladder. Stratham is also ahead on parsnips, having this year produced one four feet and one inch long, which cannot be 'beet' in the State; it was raised by Mr. Arthur H. Craig, the well-known florist."

The urchins have a new dodge for raising money. For several days past the dealers doing business on Spring hill have missed lots of empty barrels which have been left standing outside the doorways of the several establishments. On Thursday one of the traders, determined to fathom the mystery, placed one extra nice empty barrel outside his door, and from behind his desk watched and waited for developments. Soon a young hoodlum came carelessly down street, and hastily glancing about, slyly gave the barrel a kick that sent it, aided by the high wind, rolling down behind the Riverside house, where hoodlum number two gobbled it and carried it down the wharf, soon appearing with it on Bow street, and taking it to a dealer in produce was about to receive his twenty cents, when the owner of the barrel appeared on the scene and gave number two such a lift in the rear that he has not been seen since. Number one escaped.

About one o'clock Friday afternoon a two-horse team belonging to Mr. Israel Hoyt of Newington ran away, starting from Christian Shore and crossing the bridge into Elm street at a furious rate. Mr. Lyman Plaisted, of York, Me., happened at the time to be on Elm street, leading a horse that was drawing a load of charcoal. Mr. Plaisted's boy being on the load. Seeing the runaway team approaching, Mr. Plaisted got his own team as far as possible to the side of the street, nearly opposite Capt. J. Gilman Moses' residence, to let the other one pass; but the flying team struck on both sides, breaking the forward axle of Mr. Plaisted's wagon and tumbling the charcoal into the street, and snapping off two stone posts, each eight inches square, in front of the premises of Capt. Moses. The boy jumped off the charcoal wagon when he saw that a collision was inevitable, and escaped injury; but one of the runaway animals, a valuable mare, broke one of her hind leg and had to be killed.

The four-years-old boy of Mr. Jeremiah Smith, of Exeter, who was discovered under a bed in a chamber of the house, almost suffocated by smoke, when Mr. Smith's buildings were partially burned, Oct. 27th, died on the 29th, having never fully revived.

A New York despatch of Oct. 31st says: "The customs officers seized yesterday, on steamer Granite State, a trunk full of China ware, 50 yards of silk, 30 1-4 yards of linen and 14 1-2 yards of cloth, addressed to Oscar E. Ross, Portsmouth, N. H. It is charged that they were smuggled from one of the European steamers."

LEGION OF HONOR.

A large delegation of St. George Council, Legion of Honor, of this city, went to Greenland Friday evening and instituted a council in that place under most flattering auspices. The visiting companions were handsomely entertained. The officers of the Greenland council are as follows:

Wm. O. Junkins, Past Commander;
Herbert C. Taft, Commander;
N. P. Ordway, Vice Commander;
C. R. Edmunds, Orator;
Frank O. Philbrook, Secretary;
Levi Barker, Treasurer;
E. Bloomer Jewell, Collector;
C. A. Norton, Warden;
George G. White, Guide;
Fredmah S. Smith, Sentinel;
Wm. O. Junkins, Medical Examiner;
Wm. S. Bennett, Nathaniel Wiggin, Daniel Keefe, Trustees.

The name of "Junkins Council" was adopted, in honor of the past commander, who is one of the most prominent and popular citizens of the town.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Oct. 31; Batchelder, J.

Mary Hackett was complained of for an assault on Annie Geddie. The trial was quite lively, the female tongues moving as though hung by the middle instead of at one end, the respondent being so fluent that the court was obliged to order her to be locked up for a couple of hours, at the end of which time she was considerably calmed down. Neither party appearing to be entirely blameless in the matter, respondent was allowed to go on a promise of good behavior.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

FRIDAY, Oct. 31st.

State vs. Charles E. B. Edgerly, for receiving stolen goods knowing them to have been stolen. The evidence for the State was to the effect that Edgerly negotiated with Henry B. Haley of Newmarket, concerning a plan for the latter to break into the store of his father, Samuel H. Haley, and advised him to steal silk, as it was more valuable and more easily disposed of than any other goods; that after the burglary by Haley, Edgerly took the silks to Boston and left the goods at a "collateral banking house," receiving $20 therefor, of which he gave Haley $10. The robbery was committed in August, 1877. The State here rested the case, reserving the right to examine one Ham, who was also concerned in the robbery, for the purpose of corroborating the testimony of Haley.

Charles H. Smith of Newmarket, counsel for the respondent, in opening the defence stated that he should show that Edgerly did not communicate with Haley in relation to the robbery, and that he was not in Newmarket from the 20th of July to the 18th of August, 1877; also that Haley requested Edgerly to raise money on the silk, telling him that he had exchanged a harness for it; and that this testimony of Edgerly's would be corroborated by other witnesses. Edgerly was then put on the witness stand, and flatly contradicted Haley in many material points of the latter's testimony. He also gave an account of the part taken by himself in procuring evidence against Haley for the robbery of the store of Benjamin F. Haley in Newmarket, in August last. James Stark and Edgerly's wife also testified, contradicting some parts of Haley's testimony; and an affidavit from John Leopold, in relation to the case, was admitted.

Evidence was put in by the State as to the reputation of Edgerly for veracity, three Boston policemen testifying that it was bad.

The case was ably argued by County Solicitor Harriman for the State and Mr. Smith for the respondent. Judge Bingham, as in the previous cases, gave his charge in a clear and concise manner, explaining the law to the jury so as to be perfectly understood; and the case was given to the jury at about six o'clock.

The jury came in at half-past eight o'clock, and reported a verdict of not guilty.

THE EXILES.

This evening, at Music hall, will be afforded an opportunity of witnessing the famous play which held the boards at the Boston theatre during a whole summer season, "The Exiles." It is a romantic piece, requiring many actors and an unusual amount of special material for its production with full effect, so that ordinary dramatic companies cannot present it, and this is probably the only chance many residents of this city will ever have to see it satisfactorily given.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Rev. George W. Sederquest will preach at the Advent church.

Mrs. Fitzgerald of Dover will occupy the pulpit at the Pearl street church Sunday forenoon; she will also address the Sunday school at noon, and deliver a temperance lecture in the evening at seven o'clock. Preaching by the pastor at 2:45 P. M.

Bethel meeting at Bow mission rooms at 4:15 P. M.; reform club meeting at 7:30.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado's lecture in the Methodist church, Sunday evening, will be given at quarter past six o'clock; subject "Little cups."

The subject of Rev. Dr. Alden's lecture on Sunday evening will be, "What will satisfy us?"

JOE JEFFERSON AS RIP VAN WINKLE.

Mr. Jefferson's "Rip Van Winkle" is thus spoken of by the dramatic critic of the New York Tribune, who is acknowledged to be the most accomplished critic in the country:

The charm of the impersonation remains unbroken, and it was again seen to scatter merriment and light up in many faces the tenderness that shines through joy—the tear that sparkles through the smile; that charm is compacted of the most various qualities, for many of the extremes and contrasts of human life are crowded into Rip Van Winkle's experience, making him a representative and almost universal type, and many of the loftiest spiritual attributes that are possible to man are combined in his nature. The spectator sees but half the meaning of this marvellous performance, who discerns in it nothing more than the portraiture of an eccentric, rustic character, in an old Dutch settlement. That, indeed, is all that the ordinary representative of the part is able to reach. Jefferson goes much further, for he takes us away from the region of the passionate, he lifts us above the storm, and we rest on Nature's bosom, children once more, and for a moment happy. The cool rain beats upon our faces; the sweet, strange odors of the night and the woods are around us; the winds whisper in the trees; and, whether with gleams of remembrance of some past existence or premonitions of some nobler life to come, we are borne into a better world of freedom and power. This is the awakening of the soul under the stress of the imagination. In the forest scenes and with the spectres this actor reaches an ideal height which it would be very difficult to match in any form of art or to admire adequately in any form of words.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mr. Charles W. Fernald of Boston, formerly of Kittery, has presented the new Methodist church in Kittery with two handsome chairs for the pulpit.

The York County savings bank, of Biddeford, has just declared a semi-annual dividend of four and a half per cent. This is an increase over recent dividends and shows that the business of the bank is on the advance.

Carrying American Coals to Newcastle.

For more than four score years the excess of imports over exports has kept drawing out a long balance of our national account against us, until in 1875 the total reached $1,728,637,547. Within the last three years the tide has turned, and the balance is now $488,582,539 in our favor. It would seem from this, that, with the return of prosperous times at home, we have entered on a new era in our export trade.

It is a well-known fact that American cutlery is sold in Sheffield ten per cent cheaper than it can be manufactured there. Our cotton goods are sold in Manchester, a city which has held the supremacy of the world in cottons, for half a cent a pound cheaper than the same quality can be produced in that city. Our coals are sold in Newcastle, and one enterprising American gives away a stove with every ton of American coal. American street cars are sold in New Zealand, and our locomotives find a ready market in Italy. The English war-office uses American locks, while continental postoffices have introduced the Yale lock-box. Russia has declared American scales the standard scales of the Empire. We have invaded the German markets with our nickel plating, and the Prince of Wales, in purchasing American plate for his own use, reminded the British dealer that in at least one "high industrial art" he had found a new competitor. Bottled products of St. Louis and Milwaukee distilleries triumphed over Bass, McGuinness, and one hundred brewers of Austria and Bavaria at Paris, while a Philadelphia firm captured the grand prize for lager beer in casks. All these statements are supported by the best authorities, and may afford some explanation of the enormous increase in our export trade.

The total amount of domestic merchandise exported during the year ending June 30, 1878, was $380,683,798; the amount of foreign merchandise exported for the same period was $14,154,698; This shows an increase since the year 1875 of $594,838,496. This shows an increase $488,582,539. The domestic exports consist of about eighty per cent of raw materials and agricultural products and about twenty per cent ($136,000,000 worth) of manufactured goods.

With these facts before them, well may those in high official position publicly declare that for the first time our manufactures are assuming international proportions. At a time of universal depression we have met those nations which held a monopoly of the world's markets, met them in their strongholds, and established the fact that the American manufactures are second to the manufactures of no other nation; and that, with a proper and patriotic understanding between capitalists and laborers, we can command a fair share of the buying world's patronage, and command that patronage with larger profits to the capitalist and higher wages to the laborer that can be made or paid in any other country. It is the improved methods, increase of capital, and greater resources that will give the United States the advantage over foreign competitors.—International Review.

—A good story is told at the expense of a well-known Westfield bank cashier. An out of town man walked into the bank, and slapping down $500 on the counter, said, "I want to put this $500 where no man can't get it. Where I can't get it myself. Here, put it in your savings bank."

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $433.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four cotton hoistons, and others have done equally as well. See explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

See a Woman!

In another column, picking grapes for SPEER'S WINE. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first-class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to European or California Wines; excellent for Ladies and invalids.

Why Not Try It?

The papers teem with examples of wealth thrust suddenly upon simple-minded people in the workshop or on the farm, who have quietly, without proclaiming the fact to every one knew, gone to the post or express office and sent a dollar or two to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at 319 Broadway, New York city, N. Y., and received a whole or half-ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the next drawing of which takes place Nov. 11th; and the reader who heeds this may be the one who comes next as the fortunate winner of $30,000.

STOP THE ROBBER!

Do you ask what robber? Why, Father Time, of course, who is stealing the color from millions of heads of hair. Alas!

HE CAN'T BE STOPPED.

IN LESS THAN TEN MINUTES.

It is soon done. No trouble; no danger of injuring the fibres. Not a stain.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the ehin, ear, and side of the head. It must have pained and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface a time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be restored soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS,

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 31: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sore. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Torrid Climate.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, especially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Bayard and Prof. Merrick, accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 35 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many impossible failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable said it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which have been offered by friends or friends of friends in the people of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country only because its superiority over any other method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but admin the publication of a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write to you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and we are once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incredible, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a peaceable old age.

If the statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast, where it is much needed, my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying as widely from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000).

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of the Company, (25,000 shares of stock, of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30th.

It requires a very rapid pen to keep pace with all the political gossip nowadays, and especially that touching the presidential race. I have been amused at the efforts of the tale bearers in their desire to create jealousy and hostility among the republican candidates for President. One story, which serves as a sample for all, is to the effect that when Senator Blaine went west, a plan was agreed upon by the friends of other candidates to keep his light under a bushel, so to speak. At first blush this seems plausible, for in Ohio the senator was placed in small towns, and the same programme was arranged to some extent in New York. But the little picture of these gossips is somewhat damaged by the fact that Senator Blaine was also placed at mass meetings in the rural districts in Iowa, and in Iowa it is unquestionable that the republicans are largely Blaine men, and certainly bear no hostility to him. The fact that the senator is placed at these rural mass meetings is explained by a friend of his who was down in Maine during the canvass there. The rural plan was the senator's own. He conceived the idea of drawing together the country population, at fair grounds and other popular places of resort. It worked well. Among those who were with him at several of those meetings were Senator Allison, of Iowa, and Gen. Garfield and others of Ohio; and when they went home they suggested a repetition of the plan as the best way to draw the masses to meetings which they seldom had had the privilege of attending, and named Senator Blaine as the best man to "draw." It can be authoratively stated that nobody—neither Sherman, Foster, Conkling nor any other man—placed the senator in rural towns to keep him in the back ground, for they must have known that such a scheme would have reacted and had the contrary effect. The immense meetings which went wherever Mr. Blaine went, go to prove this. It has been alleged that Mr. Blaine's enthusiastic reception at the Evarts meeting in New York, and his invitation to speak there this week, were outgrowths of a desire to rebuke those who have, as above suspected, tried to belittle the senator; but this is also a mistake; Mr. Blaine and Mr. Cornell are stalwarts together, cordially working for success, and it will not do for our democratic friends to count upon the so-called quarrels and jealousies as aids to them.

While upon this subject, perhaps I may give the republicans a similar "hint. The reported democratic quarrels and throat-cuttings among candidates are mostly delusions. The democrats, like the republicans, are not throwing away any chances by destroying their leaders in wrangles. I have no confidence in the reported efforts of Bayard and Tilden to "cut each other's throats," for if they had the disposition the party would not let them. Since I wrote last upon these matters, it is impossible to ignore the fact that both Tilden and Bayard have been advanced in the presidential race by their friends in the south, Tilden apparently being a little ahead, but inspiring the bitterest hostility in some good democratic headquarters. It is said that Speaker Randall has his hands full of the struggle to keep the "Hancock boom" in Pennsylvania from overwhelming his candidate, Mr. Tilden, but his good nature never allows itself to be disturbed, and he predicts that the delegation will be solid for the diphering sage of Gramercy park. KNOX.

As caloric, electricity and phosphorus are induced and supplied by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, it only requires the administration of this successful invention to fortify the feeble, give sprightliness and motion to the torpid, and bring about a condition which not only secures tenaciousness of life but makes life really enjoyable.

Sacramental Wine.

Speer's Port Grape Wine is a pure, unintoxicating wine, made from the finest native grown Port Grapes. It is especially adapted to the use of Christian Churches, and guaranteed to retain its grateful flavor and essential qualities unimpaired for any period. Much used by invalids. The principal churches in New York and Brooklyn have adopted its use. For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

Death of Hon. Zachariah Chandler.

Senator Zachariah Chandler, of Michigan, was found dead in his bed at the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago, Saturday morning. He addressed an immense meeting in Chicago on the previous evening, and was apparently in his usual health on retiring, except that he complained of indigestion. He had been dead several hours when found, his face wearing a tranquil expression, indicating that his death was painless.

He was born at Bedford, in this State, Dec. 10th, 1813, and moved to Michigan when a young man. He was chosen mayor of Detroit in 1851, and United States senator from Michigan in 1857, serving contiduously as senator thenceafter until March 3d, 1875, when he was succeeded by Mr. I. P. Christiancy. From Oct. 19th, 1875, to March 3d, 1877, he was secretary of the interior, under President Grant. In the latter part of 1878, he was again elected senator, and held the office at the time of his death.

Mr. Chandler was one of the little band of northern men—Fessenden, Hamlin, Sumner, Wilson, John P. Hale, Salmon P. Chase, Seward, Anthony of Rhode Island, Collamer of Vermont, and a few others—who fought the earliest battles of freedom in the United States Senate; his dauntless courage and unswerving loyalty made him a power on the side of the Union during the rebellion, and ever since up to the day of his death; he was never carried away by any popular clamor, and when the republicans of the west were trembling before the inflation-repudiation craze, he was outspoken for honest money and the honest payment of all debts, public and private; he hated trimmers and hypocrites, and made them his enemies; he never supported a corrupt measure, nor used his office to promote his personal ends; he was an honest, fearless, outspoken man, and in his death the republican party loses one of its ablest leaders, and the nation one of its most faithful servants.

Mr. Chandler was a man of great wealth, principally gained by judicious investments in real estate in Detroit when the city was yet undeveloped. He leaves a widow and one daughter, the wife of Hon. Eugene Hale, of Maine.

News and Notes.

General Joseph Hooker—"Fighting Joe"—died suddenly and unexpectedly at Garden City, New Jersey, Friday.

Rev. Mr. Johns of Monson, Me., gave his parish a surprise by finishing up in three weeks a courtship, a marriage and a wedding trip of two weeks, his people knowing nothing of the matter until after the marriage. The bride was a young lady of the village, and not a stranger.

Despatches from Colorado state that the Utes are again professing a desire to treat for peace. The redskins assert that the Mormons abetted them in their hostilities, and that they expected open aid from them. The people of Colorado are greatly excited, and demand that the Indians be exterminated and all the lands thrown open to miners and settlers.

The Memphis committee of safety adjourned sine die on Friday. During their organization they expended $40,000 in maintaining people in camp, and providing for the indigent poor in the city.

It is said that Lieut. Carey, of the British army, who was with Prince Napoleon when he was killed, is to leave the army and enter the church.

Levi T. Heilbron, twenty-three years old, shot Cora N. Shaw, seventeen years old, to whom he has been paying addresses, in a store in Boston on Saturday, wounding her in the head, and then shot himself twice. Neither will die. Jealousy.

The trial of Mrs. Mary E. Lounsbury for the murder of her husband at Stratford, Conn., was concluded at Bridgeport on Friday, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity. The unfortunate woman will be committed to the State asylum, as the laws of the State provide that where prisoners are acquitted on the ground of insanity they shall be sentenced to confinement in the insane asylum until discharged therefrom as cured.

The supreme court at Hartford, Conn., has decided in favor of the motion for a new trial in the case of William Allen, convicted last May of murder in the first degree, for killing a watchman at the State prison. A new trial was not granted in the case of Hamlin and Davis, his accomplices, the former sentenced last May to death, and the latter to imprisonment for life. Allen will have another trial at the December term of court.

Chief Justice Appleton and Judge Peters, of the supreme court of Maine, have fixed upon a new table for the fees in the insolvency court of Maine.

Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, aged seventy-eight years, wife of B. G. Parker of Sanford, Me., to whom she was married about three years ago, died suddenly about two weeks ago, and Parker and his nephew are now charged with murdering the old lady, in order to get control of $5,000 in the bank.

The Engineer describes, under the title, "A Floating Fighting Island," a new armor-clad vessel, for the construction of which a Scotch ship-building firm has received an order. This vessel is to be 500 feet long, have a displacement of 17,000 tons, and to be propelled by engines indicating 10,000 horse-power. With an average draught of twenty-two feet, this craft will have a beam not much less than seventy-five feet to get the stated displacement. She will be like no other ship. She will show no side to the sea, as her upper deck, rising from the water's edge to the middle, flatly curved, will form both side and deck and resemble the upper shell of a tortoise. She will, in a word, resemble a floating island, up whose sloping beach the waves will wash, rather than a ship.

The gale on Tuesday night and Wednesday of last week was very destructive in the harbors and along the coast of the British provinces. Many vessels, principally schooners, were wrecked or injured, and much damage was done on land.

Mr. Eben Davis of Pittsfield, Me., is the latest victim of the lightning saw swindlers. Not reading the newspapers is likely to cost him $280.

Joseph A. Lamb of Lewiston, Me., convicted two years ago of aiding and abetting in an abortion resulting in the death of Miss Lizzie Holmes of Auburn, has been pardoned by the governor and council. No reason for this action is assigned.

A palsied old man, nearly eighty years of age, is confined in jail at Belfast, Me., for a debt of $10 due a Belfast lawyer for advice, and the lawyer was one whose advice he never asked, as he says. He employed another lawyer, and that other lawyer asked the advice.

Lieut. Gorringe, U. S. N., now in Egypt on leave of absence, in charge of the removal of Cleopatra's Needle to New York, sends word from Alexandria that all matters in relation to the obelisk have been satisfactorily arranged. He says: "There is a good deal of antagonism here on the part of foreign residents to the removal of the obelisk to the United States, and threats are made of an attempt to seize the obelisk and sell it in Europe for account of the European creditors of Egypt. The obelisk is now American property, and the American ownership of it will be maintained. The work of preparing for removal is going on satisfactorily."

The New York Telegram prints the details of horrible treatment of lunatics at Blackwell's island. In one case a woman was allowed to die from rat poison without medical attendance, another woman starved to death and another was shockingly treated while sick.

F. B. Van Dusen, a merchant of Housatonic, Mass., was arrested Friday for stealing goods by means of a false key from the store of Houghtaling & Ponseroys. He was previously one of the most highly respected young men in the town.

Fall River turns out more calicoes and defaulters than any other city.

We exported of merchandise in September $20,620,087 more than our imports. Of gold and silver we imported an excess in September of $27,130,567. In September, 1878, the excess was $921,197.

A dispatch from Phœnix, Arizona, states that the Apaches have captured a station near Fort Crsig, and killed thirteen persons. The Navajos have broken out, and troops at Fort Wingate have been dispatched against them.

Naval Affairs.

Lieutenant Ass. Walker is ordered to duty at the naval academy on the 8th of November.

Lieutent Comdr. Thomas M. Gardner, detached from command of the Montauk on the 1st of November, is ordered to proceed to Callao, Peru, by steamer of Nov. 20th, and assume command of the Onward.

Cadet Engr. Wm. B. Boggs is detached from the Speedwell, and placed on waiting orders.

Lieut. D. G. McRitchie, commanding the Tallapoosa, is granted leave of absence for one month.

Boatswain Isaac T. Choate, attached to the training ship Saratoga, is granted leave of absence for fifteen days.

Commodore Thomas H. Stevens is promoted to be a rear-admiral in the navy from October 27th, 1879.

Lieutenant Jabob E. Noell is promoted to be a lieutenant-commander in the navy from August 2d, 1879.

The Army and Navy Journal announces Commo. Temple as likely to succeed Commodore Febiger in command of the Washington navy yard.

Capt. T. Scott Fillebrown, recently relieved from command of the Powhatan, has been employed more than any officer of his grade in the navy, having been unemployed only one year in thirty-eight years of service.

The engines of the Marion not having been tested recently, it was arranged that that vessel, with the Powhatan and Kearsarge, should proceed under full steam power from Yorktown to Norfolk, after the recent celebration at the former place. The Marion made the trip in five hours, leaving the other vessels hull down astern, averaging twelve knots, and making twelve knots under steam alone, with inferior fuel.

Political.

The Biddeford Journal gives publicity to a rumor that the returns of the Maine election, belonging in the office of the secretary of State, have been in the possession of Editor Eben F. Pillsbury at Augusta nearly all the time since reaching the State capital.

A novel case was decided in the United States district court at Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 30th. Miller Hurst, an ex-federal soldier, was convicted by Morgan county circuit court ten months ago for the murder of Thomas Staples, in 1865, and he was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment. He was taken from the penitentiary on a writ of habeas corpus and brought before the national tribunal, where it was proved that when the act alleged to have been done was committed Hurst was a member of Capt. Dave Bently's company, which was recognized as belonging to the United States army; that it was not known that he killed Staples; and that Staples was a captain in the confederate army. Hurst was discharged. Other instances have been reported in which Union soldiers in the south have been sent to prison by ex-rebel judges and jurors, as murderers, for killing confederate soldiers during the war; but Hurst is the first to escape from prison.

Why Not Try It?

The papers teem with examples of wealth thrust suddenly upon simple-minded people in the woods—men on the farm, who have quietly, without proclaiming the fact to every one knew, gone to the post or express office and sent a dollar or two to M. A. Dauplin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at 319 Broadway, New York city, N. Y., and received a whole or half ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the next drawing of which takes place Nov. 11th; and the reader who heeds this may be the one who comes next as the fortunate winner of $16,000.

AROUND HOME.

There was more need of the street sprinklers on Saturday, than on any day for the past six months.

A fishing smack from Gloucester, Mass., was at Newmarket all last week, selling corned and salt fish of all kinds. She drove quite a brisk trade.

Why not have a beet-sugar factory in Portsmouth? We have plenty of one kind of beets, though we think the product is generally of the kind spelled with an "a."

Among the new photograph albums is one which has twelve exquisite pictures of birds, with backgrounds representing landscapes as seen in different months. These are ordered for holiday goods.

Rev. James DeNormandie has been secured by the managers of a course of entertainments at Newmarket, to deliver his very interesting and scholarly lecture on "Thomas Jefferson," on the evening of the 19th inst.

Fred Page, of North Hampton, who has been running a blacksmith shop at Greenland depot, recently left for parts unknown, without taking much trouble to let people know he was going. George A. Page, formerly of Hampton but recently of Rye, also cleared out a short time ago, leaving a disconsolate wife, children and creditors. The two runawways are related by name and nature, if not by blood.

Mr. Daniel W. Sanborn, of Portland, who for many years has been connected with the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth and Eastern railroads, has been appointed to the position of master of transportation on the Eastern railroad, in place of Mr. John Hornby. Mr. Sanborn has been very popular as a conductor on the through Portland trains of the Eastern road since the consolidation, and is no doubt fully qualified to fill his new position.

Mr. Wyman B. Junkins, who has been telegraph operator and train despatcher on the Eastern railroad for several years, and stationed at the depot in this city, has been transferred to the chief train despatcher's office in Boston. Mr. Junkins' host of friends, who loose his pleasant companionship, congratulate him and wish him success in his new position. Mr. George Wallace, recently night operator, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Junkins at this station, and Mr. George Starkey takes Mr. Wallace's late position.

"The Exiles" had a very fair audience Saturday night—much better than can usually be counted on for that night, in this city; the play is good, (though a little bit on the "yellow-covered" order,) was well played, and gave satisfaction, though the "realistic effects" which took so well in Boston were not all visible on this occasion. The dog-team consisted of four big dogs which looked suspiciously familiar to the audience, though the curtain dropped so quickly after they appeared that the recognition had to be instantaneous; the people took this remarkable team as a big joke, and the mirthful and good-humored applause with which they attempted—but in vain—to lift the curtain again on the dog-sledge scene, was continued for several minutes.

The Times of Saturday evening says: "Certain parties have, we understand, been in consultation with legal authorities relative to the arrest of persons in this city for subornation in connection with the perjury case of the liquor spotter Drake." If "certain parties" possess any common sense at all they will not attack anybody with any such weapon as is hinted at, for it would "kick" the very worst kind, and knock over whoever stood behind it without in the slightest degree imperilling the ones it was aimed at. The idea of arresting any of the temperance men because a liquor spotter lied is simply absurd, and we venture to say that if "certain parties" have entertained it they are not liquor dealers, for the keeping up of an excitement concerning the liquor question is precisely what they do not desire.

People all along the eastern coast complain of the unreliable character of the weather signals. What we want is an observation for the New England weather, which though often abused, is far better than the Washington observers predict it.

The court house needs better ventilation. In fact, if the criminal business is to attract such numbers upon the floor as were present last week, more space and better air must be provided.

The cigar manufactory of David W. Quimby, at Great Falls, was seized on Friday by Aaron Young, deputy collector of internal revenue, for alleged violation of the internal revenue laws.

Mr. Albert E. Salter of this city was a passenger in the South Carolina, which arrived at San Francisco Oct. 21st. Mr. Salter took back to California the three Chinese servants who attracted so much attention in Rye the past season.

At the seventy-ninth annual convention of the Episcopal church in the diocese of New Hampshire, held in Concord last week, Lyman D. Spalding, Esq., of this city, was elected a member of the finance committee; Hon. Albert R. Hatch one of the committee of the diocese, and also a delegate to the general convention of 1880, in New York; and John Hatch, Esq., of Greenland, a member of the board of diocesan missions. The whole convention was hospitably entertained at the Phenix hotel by James R. Hill, Esq., of Concord.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado, of this city, delivered the opening lecture in the "Baker Memorial Course" at Concord on Thursday evening of last week. The Monitor says: "His effort was interesting and scholarly, and in the more humorous parts drew out much laughter. The subject, 'Wanted,' touched upon the wants of the present day—not the least of which was true, honest, kingly, Christian men, characterizing at length what goes to make such a character. He held the attention of his audience throughout, and in closing was applauded."

A Rye correspondent of the Exeter Gazette tells that paper that on a recent night "there were three tramps in town, two of which were lodged in the town house, and the other, who was a hard-looking specimen of humanity, found lodging in some barn. He had a novel way of trying to dodge the law by having his wants written on the first page of a book which he hands you, saying that there is a notice on the first page which he would like to have you read and consider. The notice is dated at Great Falls, N. H., and describes him as a German, and a shoe-maker by trade, on his way from Nova Scotia trying to get to his home in Boston, and anything given him such as old clothes, food, or money, would be thankfully received, etc. The next day he was seen in North Hampton and said he wanted to go through Stratham and Exeter, which proves he is a genuine tramp, and in no great rush to return to his home. We have as many if not more tramps here now as we did before the law was passed." Let the Rye people enforce the law in a single instance, and then see if they will have so many tramps about.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

SATURDAY, Nov. 1st.

The case assigned for this day, State vs. John Barrett, for keeping a disorderly house in this city, was postponed on account of the absence of defendant's counsel.

Curtis B. Edgerly, one of the persons concerned in the robbery of Benjamin F. Haley's store in Newmarket last August, was sentenced to thirty months in State prison.

Charles Winkler, a marine, for stealing from the dwelling of William Sladen, was sentenced to eight months in the county jail, and to pay the costs of prosecution.

George W. Wilson, indicted for horse stealing, retracted his plea of not guilty, and pleaded nolo contendere. Sentenced to State prison for three years.

Benjamin F. Walker and his wife, Amanda C. Walker, for keeping a disorderly house, were sentenced—Amanda C. Walker to pay a fine of $50, and costs of prosecution; Benjamin F. Walker was let off on his own recognizance, with a warning not to engage in such business again.

Daniel J. Burden and Thomas Clark, tramps, retracted their former plea of not guilty, and pleaded nolo contendere. They were let off on their own recognizance, and were warned that if caught again engaging in the same business they would be brought into court and sentenced.

Hiram Gove, of Seabrook, indicted for an assault on an officer, retracted his former plea, and pleaded guilty of a simple assault; sentenced to pay a fine of $20, and costs of prosecution.

Charles Stilson, indicted for assault on an officer, pleaded guilty of a simple assault, and was sentenced to ten days in jail.

JEFFERSON'S ITEMIZED SCHEDULE.

Joe Jefferson, it is well known, receives a very high salary,—one of the highest, in fact, ever commanded by any actor. On one occasion a western manager, who loooked at his acting with only an eye to the practical, desired to secure the great comedian's services to play Rip Van Winkle. He was answered that an engagement might be effected at a salary of $800 a night. The manager was thunderstruck, and wrote back to enquire why the actor demanded so large a sum; whereupon Mr. Jefferson coolly penned the following schedule of price for the several incidents of the drama:

Sleeping twenty years on a cold mountain, at $30 per year	$600.00
Going out in the rain, with thin clothes	100.00
Advice to children	50.00
Taking care of unsigned deed	20.00
Drinking "property" whiskey	20.00
Simulating drunkenness in use of same	8.35
Keeping score on shutter	1.00
Making up with Gretchen	.50
Song	.10
Dance	.05

HARTZ, THE WIZARD.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, and Saturday afternoon, Hartz, the great sleight-of-hand performer, will entertain audiences—and we presume very large ones—at Music hall. The Spy, of Worcester, Mass., thus alludes to his performance in that city:

The stage of Mechanics' hall was turned into a bower of magic last evening, and the vast auditorium was filled with people desirous of seeing the great magician, Hartz. We say "great" advisedly, for none have yet appeared here who can be even remotely compared to Prof. Hartz. The best of his tricks, last evening, was the water trick,—a pail filled with water being suspended in the air, when lo! the pail fell and a ball of water remained in its place. What held the water, or where it went when the wizard requested it to disappear, is beyond our comprehension. He is wonderful.

The Baltimore American says of his entertainments in that place that he "kept the multitude in a state of bewildering surprise by the continuous display of a series of the most astounding tricks ever beheld in Baltimore. The artist, as a conjurer, is far superior to any and all whom we have yet seen, and his grand success is certainly well deserved."

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

There are two hundred and twenty-eight persons, firms and corporations in Biddeford that pay a tax of $50 or upward this year. The Pepperell Manufacturing Co. pays $25,858.40; Laconia Manufacturing Co., $20,090.20; Saco Water Power Co., $9,676.80; Luther Bryant, $1855.50—the largest personal tax paid in the city.

Theodore and Newbury Welch were out in York woods, near Mt. Agamenticus, one day last week, when they saw a large wild-cat in a tree; one of them climbed the tree and knocked the cat off a limb, the other clubbing the animal as soon as it struck the ground. The creature weighed twenty-eight pounds, and had it shown fight as vigorously as cats sometimes do, would have made things uncommonly lively for the man in the tree. Another good-sized wild-cat is reported as being seen in the woods in the northeastern part of Kittery.

HON. JOHN H. BAILEY.

Thursday evening of last week we were startled by the announcement that Hon. John H. Bailey had just died at his residence after a brief hour's illness. To many of his townsmen the tidings came through the morning paper of Friday, or from the lips of those they met upon the street. After the first moment of surprise, a feeling of sadness settled down upon the wide circle of his friends and acquaintances. All felt that a leading man had fallen, and one who would be sadly missed.

Mr. Bailey was born in Portsmouth, Nov. 12, 1823. He obtained his education in our public schools, and in 1839 entered the store of his uncle, Thomas D. Bailey, who was in the hardware business at the stand on Congress street, now occupied by Mr. E. S. Fay. January 1, 1845, he was received into partnership by his uncle, and in November of the same year was married. In May, 1869, he moved to the store on Market street, where he could be found up to the very evening of of his death. As a business man he was very successful, and has left an honorable record. His customers came not only from the city, but from all the adjoining towns; and for years of business life had gained for him a long list of acquaintances, many of whom were warm personal friends.

Mr. Bailey was prominent as a public man, and held many positions of honor and responsibility. He was moderator in the first ward from 1860 to 1865, and represented the ward in 1862 and 1863; he was mayor in 1865-6; State senator in 1869, and declined a re-election, to accept the position of collector of customs, to which he was twice appointed, and resigned Dec. 31, 1873. As a public officer he was capable, decided and patriotic, evading no responsibility and leaving no duty unperformed. In July, 1865, as mayor of the city, he attended the exhibition of the girls' high school, and when the Haven medals were awarded expressed regret that there were not enough for the entire class, asked that one should be given to each graduate, and himself paid for the number necessary to carry out this request. In July, 1866, while the great fire at Portland was still raging, he gave his check for $1000, to relieve the sufferers, and subsequently raised the money through his personal efforts. He was ever a liberal friend to the poor, and since his death we have learned of many who in a quiet way received aid at his hands. As warden of the North parish, he was prompt and liberal in his endeavors to render efficient service.

It is now known that for some time he had been subject to less frequent attacks, similar to those which occurred near the end of his life. He kept this to himself, so far as he was able, perhaps not wishing to cause anxiety on the part of his friends. In conversation with a friend, some five hours before his death, he spoke in a manner indicating that he understood the nature of these attacks, yet stating that he was feeling well and evidently not thinking another so near. In the same conversation he spoke in a manner indicating that he placed a true estimate upon life. How seriously he had pondered the great problem, no one can tell; but few, if called away so suddenly, would leave a better record.

The simple and impressive funeral services were held at his late residence on Monday last, and were conducted by Rev. James DeNormandie. Many prominent persons joined in paying tribute to his memory. The pall-bearers represented the city, the church and the banks, also the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Pythian fraternities. Flags were displayed at half-mast, and many stores were closed; the custom house also closed at twelve o'clock, in token of respect to the memory of the ex-collector. The solemn and fitting services,—the floral tributes from fraternities and friends—the mourning procession,—the last look,—the declining sun as we laid him to rest in yonder city of the dead, we shall not soon forget. Outside the family circle there are many who sincerely mourn his death, and who feel that he has not left behind him a better citzen, a truer friend or more honest man.—Cor. Ports. Journal.

Daniel Berry of Strafford, an aged man, and father of Rev. E. Berry, is missing. Nothing has been heard from him for about six weeks, at which time he said he was going into the woods to gather roots.

Friday night an incendiary set fire to the stable of W. T. Green of Hopkinton. A party of rangers returning home about midnight discovered the fire and put it out.

Five children were lying dead from diphtheria in the village of Franklin on Friday. The disease has prevailed there continually for more than two years in varying fatality.

The authorities of Newport have caught nine alleged burglars, suspected of being concerned in recent operations in Newport and its vicinity. Two are said to have turned State's evidence.

Ever Since 1780,

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all ever; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $433.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four combinations; and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

MODEL RANGE

Manufactured by Spicer & Peckham, of Providence, R. I. The Portable Cooking Range is the best adapted to do work surely and quickly, of any device yet made. There are many sizes. They do all work evenly and steadily, with a great saving of fuel. No expense has been spared to make the Model Range first-class in every particular, and it is presented to the public as one that is admitted even by competing manufacturers to be the most neatly ornamented and perfectly proportioned Range yet made.

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and curve flue will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. We believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered. Week after week, in favor of a proprietary remedy, has that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it has not been at a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known, in the radical cure of the disease, but shun the publicity incident to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following most solicited testimonial from HIRAM WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass. Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. I had fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a short residence of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire recovery, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this will be fully obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canada.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 90 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $65.00 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "Metcracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company), and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be economical in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for the (10) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

Fainting.

Fainting is so common with some persons, particularly women, and the cause of it is so little understood by non-professional people, that some knowledge on the subject often proves valuable. Faintness consists in a temporary failure of the activity of the heart, the blood not being properly circulated in consequence. Although it does not reach the head, the sufferer loses all clearness of vision, and, if not prevented, may fall, the fall not infrequently restoring the normal condition. There is no convulsion, and though he—more properly she—can hardly be called conscious, he is not so profoundly unconscious as to be incapable of arousal, as happens in epilepsy. There are all degrees of faintness, from merely feeling faint and looking somewhat pale, to positive and complete swooning. In some cases one faint is no sooner cured than another and another succeeds, hour after hour, even day after day. It is scarcely necessary to say that such cases are serious, and need prompt treatment. The causes are various. Some persons are so easily affected that they swoon if they cut their finger or see one bleed. Their defect is over-sensitive nerves, and weak muscular fibre.

The heart is essentially a muscle, which is feeble in some, strong in others—feeble generally in women and strong in man. Whatever weakens the heart commonly produces faintness; close, foul air being an active cause. Whatever greatly affects the nerves, such as bad news, or the sight of the disagreeable or horribly, may induce a swoon; and loss of blood is another and a serious excitement. Sound health, naturally accompanied by firm nerves and muscles, is the best preventive of faintness. The majority of vigorous men go through all kinds of severe experiences without any fainting, while delicate men and many women swoon at trifles. American women, who used to faint continually—in crowds, at bad news, at scenes of distress—now faint comparatively seldom; and the fact is ascribed to their relinquishment, for the most part, of the habit of lacing, to their increased exercise in the open air, and their better physical conditions. Not one American woman faints to-day where, thirty years ago, twenty-five women fainted; and the diminution of the disorder, always the result of the direct causes, is an unmistaken evidence, which other things corroborate, of the marked amelioration of the health of the highly organized, extremely sensitive, but flexible and enduring, women of our complex race.—Exchange.

How to Conquer a Balky Horse.

I would prepare myself with a good strap—I want no whip; perhaps he has got a taste of that already, and he is still master. But some fine day when I was at peace with myself and all around I would hitch him to the buggy, turning his head to the village. He goes half the way very well indeed; then he begins to consider he has gone far enough in that direction and stops. I step down; he expects to feel the whip. He is mistaken. As a criminal I treat him on the silent system. I push him back a little out of way. I show him the strap, putting it to his nose. I go to the off side and buckle it to his off fore leg, close up to the breast, throwing the other end over his shoulder; I then raise his near fore foot, fix it with the hoof nearly touching the belly. This done, I say to him, "Now, old chap, you stand there." I don't smoke, so I take a book, and finding a place where I can sit down and he see me, I begin to read. This is something he did not bargain for, and the novelty of standing on three legs somewhat diverts his mind from the cause that stopped him. I think this is the chief point to be gained, and the more humane. He now shows signs of a wish to go, but that does not suit at the time, as I have yet to look over "John Caligiate." When the strap is taken off I show it to him, caress him a little, and we move on without irritation. The strap will now become part of the harness for a month or two, till at last the sight of it will act as a talisman.—Cor. Toronto Globe.

Sacramental Wine.

Speer's Port Grape Wine is a pure, unintoxicating wine, made from the finest native grown Port Grapes. It is especially adapted to the use of Christian Churches, and guaranteed to retain its grateful flavor and essential qualities unimpaired for any period. Much used by invalids. The principal churches in New York and Brooklyn have adopted its use. For sale by W. R. Preston, D. Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists, and H. F. Gerrish, grocer.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

—A western paper asserts that Governor Sprague was out with his gun merely to shoot a mess of clams for breakfast. That shows the ignorance of those western papers—not to know that clams are caught with hook and line.

—The worst case of selfishness on record is that of a youth who complained because his mother put a larger mustard plaster on his younger brother than she did on him.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1879.

News and Notes.

A mob at Farmersville, La., Thursday night, took W. J. Overstreet, a wife murderer, from jail and hanged him.

Henry Ely and J. Atkinson had a pistol discussion at Leota, Mississippi, Thursday night. Ely is dead and Atkinson seriously wounded.

In a political affray at Petersburg, Va., Saturday night, George Hinton, readjuster, struck James M. Young, debt-payer, with a pistol, and was shot dead by Young, who was arrested.

A gang of seven counterfeiters was arrested Thursday in Andrew county, Missouri, and a large amount of spurious dollars and half dollars, and a number of moulds and other implements captured.

The grand jury at San Francisco have found a true bill of assault to commit murder against Chas. De Young for the assault on Kalloch.

The vicinity of Pittsfield, Mass., had a chapter of accidents Saturday. Jesse Howard, cider manufacturer, got caught in the gearing of some machinery and had his clothing nearly off, and on the right arm the flesh was badly bruised (though no bones were broken) nearly the entire length. John Corcoran, Jr., a brakeman on the Boston & Albany railroad, got under the cars at Hindale, having his right arm cut off at the shoulder and his back broken, and receiving other internal injuries, from which he died during the night. John Donovan, a brakeman, fell between the cars at Chester in the evening, by which the flesh was torn from one leg, below the knee, and he was injured also about the thigh. James Kirby, another brakeman, on a local freight, was struck while passing under a bridge, receiving a serious scalp wound.

A Buenos Ayres despatch, dated October 10th, says the hostile armies on the southern border of Peru were then advancing to meet each other, and a great battle was believed to be imminent.

Further disastrous floods are reported in Spain, mainly in the Ebro valley and upper Arragon. Sixty persons were drowned by the overflowing of the river Almanzora.

J. O. Pollard, of Woburn, Mass., was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun in his own hands, Saturday afternoon.

An attempt was made to rob the United States mail, between Sargentville and North Penobscot, Me., a few days since. A man stopped the stage in the woods and demanded of the driver, Freeman Grindle, to give up the mail bag, and on his refusal to comply with this demand the robber sent a bullet through his hat. The driver returned the fire, which frightened the horse so that he broke away, leaving the would-be robber standing in the road.

The five Italian assassins of Joseph F. Frye were put on trial in Boston on Monday.

Dr. Philip Edelin of Prince George county, Md., about a dozen miles from Washington, D. C., recently shot at a negro named George Edelin, but killed his grandchild and wounded another child. All efforts to obtain an indictment against the murderer by the grand jury have failed.

Paul Meckworth, of Cincinnati, quarrelled with his wife, Sunday, and to scare her made believe hang himself to a bedpost. He succeeded so well that he was dead when found.

Many stores have been broken into, in Whitefield, Dresden, Damariscotta and other places in the vicinity of Gardiner, Me., within two weeks past. Saturday night four stores in Damariscotta were entered by J. W. Lake and Charles Coombs, who came from Richmond in a wagon. They were found in a store kept by a man named Wyman, by the proprietor, who with his son attempted their capture; the elder Wyman was shot in the breast by Coombs, but the thief was knocked over with a club by Wyman, and captured, with the team. Young Wyman exchanged several shots with Lake, but the latter got away, and was seen in Richmond on Sunday.

Caleb Woodcock, aged seventy-one years, was sent to jail at Bennington, Vt., Saturday, for stealing chickens. Sunday morning he committed suicide by hanging. He is supposed to have been insane.

The steamer City of Bristol went to sea from New Orleans on the 31st ult., through the jetties, drawing twenty-five feet of water—the heaviest draught that ever went to sea from that port.

By an explosion of fire damp in the Delaware and Hudson mines, at Mill Creek, Pa., Sunday, five men were killed.

Hon. Zach. Chandler's death was occasioned by congestion of the brain, resulting from overwork and severe cold.

Concerning the removal of Cleopatra's Needle, a despatch from Alexandria, Egypt, says "the creditors of the Egyptian government have not seized the obelisk, but threaten to do so. There is no court in Egypt of competent jurisdiction to issue a writ for the seizure. Murat Pasha, who has charge of the Egyptian monuments, opposes the removal, and urges the French consul to protest to the Khedive, on the ground that the removal will be a violation of the convention between Egypt and the European powers, by which it was provided that no Egyptian monument or work of art shall leave the country. Lieut. Comdr. Gorringe hoisted the American flag over the obelisk, and surrounded it with a squad of policemen from the consulate. He declares that he will resist with force any attempt to interfere with him."

Indian Affairs.

A telegram from Agent Whitemann, at the Ponca Indian agency, states that Chief Big Snake, who had been ordered arrested, in consequence of threatening the life of the agent, was on the 1st inst. shot dead while resisting arrest. The Indians were excited, but all difficulty was soon over.

A letter from Rosebud agency states that Henry Young was killed by an Indian after the former had given the Indian a good meal. On Sunday, the 19th ult., Spotted Tail and other head men brought the murderer to the agent to be dealt with under "white man's law." The agent, however, got scared and released the murderer, on the ground that he (the agent) was afraid to do anything for fear of another Meeker slaughter, and, as he stated, because the government did not want any more Indian complications. The Indians again brought the murderer to the agent, but he again released him, saying he "would send him to school for three years at Carlisle barracks." The Indians appeared willing to abide by the treaty in such cases, but the agent held to his fears, and the murderer is still at large.

Ale, Beer and Porter.

For eight months up to the first of September last, we imported into this country 579,843 gallons of these liquors, against 524,654 for the corresponding period in 1878. The value of these brews at the custom house was, in 1879, $489,428; in 1878, $408,504. During the same term in 1879 we exported of beer, ale and porter 79,400 dozen bottles, and 67,620 casks, valued at $163,861; and in 1878 we shipped 65,956 dozen bottles and 82,643 casks, valued at $121,355; showing a gain in dollars and cents, if the values are properly given, of $21,082 in favor of our producers. The American ales and lager are drank abroad, and the English and German beer finds a strong productive competition from the nation that has been a good customer.

A Mighty Pump.

The Cape Ann Advertiser gives an account of a pump for wreckers, which has been used on the wrecked steamer Leopard on Londoner shoals. It says "the wreckers have obtained 200 tons of iron of the wrecked steamer Leopard, on the Londoner. Last Saturday experiments were made in our harbor on a new patent steam pump, which threw a solid stream of water as large as a flour barrel, bringing up not only water, but sand, stones, and all such material. On trial it sucked up a ton of coal as easily as sand. It will be used to excavate the sand and loose material from sunken ships and wrecks."

New Publications.

Littell's Living Age. The opening chapters of Mrs. Oliphant's new story, "He who will not when he may," printed from advance sheets, appear in the number for November 1st. Now is the time to subscribe for the new year. To all new subscribers for 1880, the numbers of 1879 containing Mrs. Oliphant's new story will be sent without extra charge. For fifty-two such numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low, while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with the Living Age for a year, both postpaid.

"The Twins of Table Mountain, and other sketches, by Bret Harte," Boston; Houghton, Osgood & Co.; "Little Classic" style, 18 mo., price $1.25. The sketches include, besides the title story, "Tn Heiress of Red Dog," "The Great Deadwood Mystery," "A Legend of Sammstadt," and "Views from a German Spion," making a book of two hundred and fifty pages. Bret Harte is one of the most widely-read writers in our country. The announcement of one of his sketches or poems by any magazine is always a sure guaranty that it will be read everywhere between the Atlantic and the Pacific. With a writer who achieved fame in so short a period, the question occurs, "Does he maintain his reputation derived from his earliest productions?" He is noted for keen observation for trenchant satire, and for broad charity and bold peculiarities in composition, which have attracted such a host of readers. The present volume is none the less attractive than those of earlier appearance, and will be sure to gratify, amuse and interest many a flexible reader or traveller, during the coming winter. It is for sale at W. G. Myers' bookstore.

"An Earnest Trifler." This is a new novel, published by Houghton, Osgood & Co., and for sale by Willis G. Myers, at $1.25. We can only say it is written by the author of The Earnest Trifler. It is the initial volume of a gifted writer whose name we do not give for the best reason, we do not know it. But, "what's in a name?" At present this is in the "no name series." The debut of the new candidate is, it must be acknowledged, a success. The book has already attracted much attention, and the best evidence that it is appreciated is seen in the abundant orders upon the publishers, who have exhausted its first edition. The story gives us the account of two young men, warm friends, civil engineers, who fall in love with the same girl, the daughter of the man with whom they are staying while building a railroad in Massachusetts. They are men of cultivation and not a little experience of the world, one of them being the heir to some wealth. The girl, although she had lived nearly all her life of twenty-two years in this rustic neighborhood, is neither rustic nor uncultured. Of the great outside worlds of fashion and pleasure she knows indeed by hearsay only, and she has the natural curiosity of her sex and age to know more about them, but without any vulgar craving. The young men by no means fall in love suddenly with the well-drawn heroine. The progress of their affection is depicted with a fine and rather subtle hand, and the story-teller holds the scales so evenly that the reader is kept in a state of fascinated uncertainty until almost the last page as to which of the young men will win. Not that the heroine is anyway a coquette. On the contrary she has a nature much too sincere and solid for anything of the kind. The delay in the termination grows out of the modesty of the elder of the two men and the desire of each not to take an unkind or unfriendly advantage of the other. We shall not spoil the interest of the reader by telling which of the two is successful. That will be one of the best reasons, to many, for at once buying the book. We think there are few readers of refinement on whose sympathies the two suitors and the object of their affection will not take a strong hold. The dialogue is in general vivacious, though occasionally lacking in ease and naturalness. And with excellent art the characters are allowed to depict themselves by what they say and do, rather than by description. As the first production of the fair author the Trifler must be regarded as a decided success. And now the book has already attained a reputation among readers and writers, the interesting question will for a while be the topic of conversation — Who is she?

—Soled again—Old shoes.

—Hawks are the kind of birds that raise chickens.

—The Oil City Derrick says: "An exchange has an article on 'How to run a newspaper.' This should be read only by editors, as every other person in the world knows just how a newspaper ought to be run."

—"It is useless to argue with a man who wears a number five hat and number eleven boot," was the remark of a disgusted debater who had been holding a session with a remarkably obtuse and contrary individual.

See a Woman!

In another column, picking grapes for SPEER'S WINE. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first-class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to European or California Wines; excellent for Ladies and invalids.

Why Not Try It?

The papers teem with examples of wealth thrust suddenly upon simple-minded people in the workshop or on the farm, who have quietly, without proclaiming the fact to every one knew, gone to the post or express office and sent a dollar or two to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 922, New Orleans, La., or same person at 319 Broadway, New York city, N. Y., and received a whole or half-ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the next drawing of which takes place Nov. 11th; and the reader who heeds this may be the one who comes next as the fortunate winner of $10,000.

Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., preached a memorial sermon in the Middle street church Sunday morning, suggested by the death of Mrs. Charles Brewster of this city. The text was from Phillippians 1:21, "To die is gain." The sermon was very impressive and affecting.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, of Dover, gave a temperance lecture in the Pearl street church, Sunday evening, at which time the church was well filled, and the discourse listened to with the closest attention. The book of Esther was taken for a text, and comparisons drawn between the license given to Haman, to destroy the Jewish nation, and the license given to dealers in spirituous liquors to carry on their trade. The speaker's illustrations were in many instances very pointed, and a fine vein of sarcasm was apparent whenever the subject of woman's right or ability to cope with the great questions of political economy was touched upon.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

MONDAY, Nov. 3d.

Court came in at ten o'clock, and case State vs. John Barrett and Julia Barrett, for keeping a disorderly house, was tried. The evidence for the State, from a number of witnesses of the highest respectability, was to the effect that on several occasions loud noises and profane language, as of persons quarreling, had been heard issuing from the place kept by the Barretts, and that the house was a resort for rough-looking men and known bad characters. The defence called two witnesses, who testified that the noise made at the house one Sunday in September was occasioned by Julia Barrett being struck on the nose with a piece of board in the hands of Andrew Callahan, who went into the cellar to bring it up. Short arguments were made by Solicitor Harriman for the State, and John Hatch, Esq., for the defence; the jury took the case, and shortly returned a verdict of guilty. Barrett was sentenced to three months in the county jail, and to pay costs of prosecution; Julia Barrett was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs—if not paid within twenty-four hours, then her sentence to be three months in jail, and to pay costs.

State vs John Sullivan, for cruelty to a horse, was heard. The evidence was all one way, and the case was submitted without argument to the jury, who returned a verdict of guilty. Sullivan was sentenced to ten days in the county jail, and to pay a fine of $10, with costs—a very lenient sentence, as some who heard the evidence consider.

The court in the early part of the afternoon was engaged in calling the civil docket.

State vs, Charles A. C. Gray, for aggravated assault, was taken up in the afternoon. Defendant is an assistant marshall of Portsmouth, and the assault is alleged to have been committed on the 4th of July last, at the time of the trial of steam fire engines and the running of hose-carriages, on Market square. Several witnesses were examined, but the case was not finished at the time court adjourned.

TEMPERANCE IN OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Now-a-days, when the question of temperance is such a prominent one, and while it is, as it has ever been, such a vexing problem how best to bring about the total extinction of drunkenness, any help in this direction that is reasonable is acceptable. It has always seemed to us that the most effectual way to promote total abstinence is to teach the children to let liquor alone, by instilling into their young minds daily lessons concerning the consequences of tampering with alcohol. This could easily be done in our public schools by adopting for reading matter that which contains information regarding intemperance. There has recently been published a little work called the "Temperance Lesson Book," that seems to meet the want that we have alluded to. It consists of easy lessons upon the nature and effect of alcoholic drinks upon the human system, designed for reading in the grammar schools. While it is elementary in its character, it still contains enough instruction in regard to the subject of strong drink to deter any child from falling into the baneful habit of drinking, if he gives it that thought which will naturally be drawn out toward it. Of course, all will not be thus kept from the habit, but if it will save a minority of those who are inclined to habits of intemperance, it will prove of great value. We would recommend it to the carful attention of school superintendents and supervisors everywhere, believing that if adopted as a handbook for the teacher in our public schools it will prove a check to a vice that is already acknowledged by the better portion of every communiy as a serious hindrance to the general welfare.

A JOKE OF AN EX-COMPTROLLER.

While Mrs. Brodhead, wife of Ex-comptroller Dr. J. M. Brodhead, was lying severly injured in the house of Elder James Pike, at South Newmarket, Mr. Brodhead, her husband, was also quite sick. Indeed at one time Mr. Brodhead's life was despaired of, and he was told he probably would not live forty-eight hours, whereupon, with that humor which seems never to forsake him, he apologized to his brother-in-law, Mr. Pike, remarking that he "was sorry to be so impolite as to leave a corpse in his house, but he promised not to repeat the offense." Mr. and Mrs. Brodhead are receiving the best medical attendance and the most careful nursing from Mr. and Mrs. Pike.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The carpenters in the shipyard of the Boston Trust Co., at Kennebunk, struck on Saturday on account of a reduction of twenty per cent in their wages, to agree with a corresponding shortening of the time of labor.

Farmers in some parts of York county are complaining loudly of potato rot. One man in Hollis took twenty bushels of potatoes out of his cellar, picked them over, and put back four bushels of good ones. In York, Kittery and Eliot but little rot is reported, the potatoes being unusually fair and sound, and of extra quality.

Smelts are reported as running up Spruce creek, Kittery, in large numbers, and the boys have a fine time catching them. Hardly any smelts have appeared in the upper part of York river, two fine-meshed seines stretched nearly across the river at Scotland bridge stopping them pretty effectually, to the intense disgust of the farmers living higher up.

Mr. George P. Thompson, of York, foreman of laborers in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard, had a paralytic shock early Sunday forenoon. For about an hour he had no use of his right arm and leg, but prompt and energetic attention soon restored him, and on Monday he seemed to have entirely regained the use of his limbs and was progressing favorably, though still suffering from general prostration.

Elder Edwin B. Wells, of this city, now fills the pulpit of the Christian church at Beech ridge, York. A sewing circle was held at the house of Mr. Asa McIntire at Beech ridge, one night last week, to raise funds for a carpet for the church, and for music, singing, etc. A donation party for the preacher's benefit was announced to be held in the church this week, under the management of Mr. Samuel Carter, of Spruce creek, Kittery.

At Kennebunkport, on the 31st ult., a ship of about two thousand tons was launched from the yard of Capt. Nathaniel L. Thompson. She has three decks, is 228 feet keel, forty-one feet beam and 28 1-2 feet depth of hold; is rated in French Lloyds for twelve years, and is one of the finest ships ever built in Maine. Capt. Thompson has on the stocks a 1200-ton barque, nearly finished; and a small schooner all ready for launching, awaiting a purchaser.

A great mortality is announced among the turkeys in York and Kittery this fall, they being carried off by a new disease which baffles the farmers to cure, the prominent symptoms of the disorder being the falling off of the feathers from the birds' heads and the nails from their toes. A lady residing near "Castle hill," Kittery, has lost over one hundred turkeys that she intended for the Thanksgiving market, and Mr. Gunnison, of Spruce creek, has lost one hundred and twenty-five, all by the new disease.

Cabbages are reported as plentiful, and very large and fine, in York this fall. Charles W. Junkins this season raised an enormous crop of the stonemason variety. Lyman Moulton is said to have raised one cabbage that weighed forty-seven and a half pounds, and Albert Junkins one that weighed sixty pounds! The latter gentleman is also credited with raising three marrowfat squashes that together weighed one hundred and ten pounds. We fear that the inflation idea which was so prominent in York county politics a year or so ago, has gotten into these stories of inflated cabbages, etc.

Naval Affairs.

The school-ship Portsmouth, which struck a rock off York beach some months ago "in seven fathoms of water," it is now said had a portion of her keel then torn off, and is to go into the dry dock at Norfolk navy yard this week, for repairs.

Assistant Surgeon J. C. Byrnes is detached from the Kearsarge, and ordered to the naval hospital at Chelsea, Mass., Nov. 10th. Passed Asst. Surgeon R. Swan is detached from the naval academy, and ordered to the Kearsarge.

New Hampshire Items.

From five to twelve inches of snow fell in the interior of the State up to noon on Monday.

The house and outbuildings of Luther W. Hall, at Manchester, with all their contents, were burned Sunday morning, the fire taking from a defective chimney. Loss $10,000, with no insurance, the policy having expired on the first of last week and not been renewed, the delay being caused by the death of an only son, who was buried Tuesday.

At Lyme, Saturday afternoon, a house and barn owned by Susan M. Fogg, and a house and storehouse owned by Edward Howard, were burned. Total loss $2100; insurance $800. The wind was blowing a gale, and at one time thirteen other buildings were on fire.

In the case of Mary Ann Dee vs. the Cheshire railroad company, for damages for the loss of a leg some thirteen years ago, the jury at Keene found a verdict for the plaintiff in $2500.

Political.

Election to-day in several States, including Massachusetts and New York. Butler and Long will be elected governor in Massachusetts; and Cornell and Robinson, and possibly also John Kelly, will each carry New York. This information is gathered from the papers supporting the several candidates; we may know more about it before to-morrow morning.

Just Your Time

To make money safely, easily and rapidly, is now, while the stock market offers so many splendid opportunities. The combination system has had unprecedented success, and brings good fortune to thousands of shareholders in this and other countries. Investments of from $25 to $10,000 are thus consolidated into one vast capital, and operated by the best skill and experience, result in heavy profits, which are divided among shareholders every month. A New Orleans cotton dealer made $27,649.18 in two months. A Baltimore merchant received an aggregate profit of $9,642.04 from three combinations. A San Francisco mining agent made $22,438.16 from four combinations, his first investment being $100. Others have been equally fortunate. Every day there are new and grand opportunities. CHEAP

SWEETSER'S.

A Hard Man to Catch.

The had a dime supper in the neighborhood of Pawtucket, conceived and carried out by the ladies. The conditions of this novel supper were these: For every word spoken by any gentleman at the supper table a forfeit of ten cents was imposed; but on the other hand, as duties are always compensated with rights and restrictions with privileges, it was agreed that whoever could weather the whole supper, submitting to all queries, surprises and ingenious questions, without replying, should be entitled to it gratuitously. Many and frequent were the artifices and subterfuges resorted to by the ladies and gentlemen in attendance to entrap the unguarded, and one after another stout and discreet man went down before the constant volley of artful interrogations. At last all fell out and paid the dime penalty save one individual—a queer chap—whom nobody seemed to know. He attended strictly to business and passed unheeded their jokes, jibes and challenges. They quizzed him, but all in vain. He wrestled with the turkey and grappled with the goose. He bailed out the cranberry sauce with an unswerving hand, and he ate celery as the Scriptural vegetarian ate grass, and finally when he had finished his fifth piece of pie he whipped out a pocket slate, wiped it with his napkin, and wrote on it in a large, legible hand, "I am deaf and dumb."

Set back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of forty, although I am seventy-two, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial.—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

As caloric, electricity and phosphorous are induced and supplied by Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, it only requires the administration of this successful invention to fortify the feeble, give sprightliness and motion to the torpid, and bring about a condition which not only secures tenaciousness of life but makes life really enjoyable.

THE New Hampshire Gazette

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

Contains more original matter

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach persons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOES SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered. Everybody suffers! is in favor of any remedy that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are tendered by friends or friends in the favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from Henry Wells, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from it daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring the remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AUBURN, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAYORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100, or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

Rice.

We compile the following from the Annual Review of Messrs. Dan Talmage's Sons & Co., dated at New Orleans, November 1st, 1879. In regard to rice culture in Louisiana, they say:

The Crop of 1878-79.

Quantity.—The total yield was 164,000 bbls., of which 150,000 bbls. were marketed, the remainder being used for seed and home consumption.

Quality.—Planters having been more careful in seeding and cultivation, and on account of fair harvest weather, the average grade was fully up to previous seasons.

Prices.—Louisiana being the base of supply for the United States, during the first three months of the crop year, all the surplus was disposed of as early as November. Speculations in "Rough" (unmilled rice) then forced prices unduly high, and the market ruled quiet and steady until spring demand set in and prices advanced half a cent per pound. Altogether the season was a profitable one to the rice interests of this State.

The Crop of 1879-80.

The remunerative prices obtained for the previous crop induced a much extended cultivation, and about 50,000 acres were planted, from which a yield of 250,000 to 300,000 bbls. was reasonably expected. In May, the water in the Mississippi river fell so low that it was impossible to flood the fields, and the customary "June rise" failing, together with a long period of drouth, all combined to seriously injure the growth of the rice. Artificial means of raising the water were resorted to, and pumps were kept running night and day, with indifferent success, by those who could command them. September 1st, a heavy gale supplemented the disasters of the year, and instead of the large yield expected, the most reliable estimates show only about 75,000 bbls. as total crop for the season. The quality was somewhat injured by the want of water, yet the parcels offering are of fair character. Preparations are being made for a large planting next season.

A Flowery Toothist.

A dentist's advertisement of a new plugging machine says: "Its operations are swift, easy, and beautiful, pleasant to the patient, like the humming-bird as it moves from flower to flower to absorb the sweet nectar." Like the operation of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, of which equally sweet things may be said.

Chemical Purity of Speer's Wine for the Sick.

Laboratory of James R. Chilton & Co., New York, March 11th.

We have recently made a careful analysis of the Sambuci Wine prepared by Mr. Alfred Speer, and do not hesitate in pronouncing it pure; and for medicinal uses it is superior to other wines.

Its principal effects upon the system are mildly stimulating, diuretic, sudorific and tonic. It will prove beneficial in affections of the Kidneys and Chronic Diseases, with general debility of the Constitution.

Physicians may safely recommend it to their patients, in the place of the many doubtful mixtures too often sold as pure wine. JAMES R. CHILTON & CO.

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

Things Worth Knowing.

That fish may be scaled much easier by first dipping them into boiling water about a minute.

That fish may as well be scaled, if desired, before packing down in salt, tho' in this case do not scald them.

That milk which is turned or changed may be sweetened and rendered fit for use again by stirring in a little salt.

That salt will curdle new milk; hence in preparing milk porridge, gravies, etc., the salt should not be added until the dish is prepared.

That fresh meat, after beginning to sour, will sweeten if pinced out of doors in the cool air over night.

That clear boiling water will remove tea stains and many fruit stains. Pour the water through the stain and thus prevent its spreading over the fabric.

That ripe tomatoes will remove ink and other stains from white cloth, also from the hands.

That a teaspoonful of turpentine boiled with your white clothes will aid the whitening process.

That boiled starch is much improved by the addition of a little spermaciti or salt, or both, or a little gum arabic dissolved.

That beeswax and salt will make your rusty flat-irons as clean and smooth as glass. Tie a lump of wax in a rag and keep for that purpose. When the irons are hot rub them first with paper or cloth sprinkled with salt.

That blue ointment and kerosene mixed in equal proportions and applied to bedsteads, is an unfailing bed-bug remedy, and that a coat of whitewash is dilto for the walls of a log house.

That kerosene will soften boots and shoes which have been hardened by water, and render them as pliable as new.

That kerosene will make tin tea kettles as bright as new. Saturate a woolen rag and rub with it. It will also remove stains from and clean varnished furniture.

That cold rain-water and soap will remove machine grease from washable fabrics.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1879.

THE ELECTIONS!

Elections were held in eleven States on Tuesday. In five of them, viz.: New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, Minnesota and Wisconsin, governors and other State officers, and legislatures, were chosen; in Nebraska a judge of the supreme court, and regents of the State university, were voted for; Connecticut, New Jersey, Mississippi and Virginia elected legislatures.

Interest in the elections was mainly centered on New York and Massachusetts, there being several gubernatorial tickets in the field in each of the States named; at one time the election in Mississippi promised to be interesting, but the Yazoo plan of securing unanimity for the "regular" democratic ticket by the murder of all opposing candidates worked so well that interest in that State some time ago ceased.

In Massachusetts the candidates for governor were as follows: John D. Long, republican; John Quincy Adams, democrat; Benjamin F. Butler, conglomerate; D. C. Eddy, prohibitionist; and one or two others, nominated by side-show parties, probably in Butler's interest. The vote of Massachusetts in 1878 was as follows: Republican, 134,725; democratic, 10,162; conglomerate, 109,435; prohibition, 1913; republican majority, 13,215; republican plurality over Butler, 25,290.

In New York the contest was of more importance than in any other State, the fight being between Samuel J. Tilden, represented by Lucius Robinson as a candidate for governor; Tammany hall, represented by John Kelly for governor; and the republican party, whose candidate was Alonzo B. Cornell. This three-cornered fight was further complicated by the action of a few "independent" republicans, otherwise known as "Young scratchers," who proposed to smash the republican machine and hand the State over to "Tilden and reform" because their pet ideas and candidates were not adopted at the republican State convention. Then the "Jeffersonian democracy" nominated a full ticket, with John Kelly at the head; the greenbackers nominated Harris Lewis; the "workingmen" headed their ticket with John Kelly's name, taking the rest of the greenback ticket; and the prohibitionists nominated John W. Meers. In 1876 Lucius Robinson was elected governor by over 30,000 majority, he having 519,831, to 489,031 for the republican candidate. In 1878, on the vote for judge of appeals, the vote was: Republican, 390,932; democratic, 352,959; greenback, 75,128; republican plurality over the next highest, 38,023; republican minority, 37,105.

Butler Defeated!

TILDEN PROBABLY TRIUMPHANT.

BOSTON, Nov. 4; 11:30 P. M.

Long's plurality will be about 15,000. Butler's total vote will be 10,000 less than last year. Two hundred and fifty-eight towns and cities give Long 109,079, Butler 95,112, Adams 8679; eighty-five towns yet to hear from, all from republican quarters. Legislature republican as usual. Full republican State ticket elected. Vote generally lighter than last year.

Nothing certain about New York in the advices received here, so far. Robinson is leading in New York city, but the republicans look for such a vote from the interior as to ensure Cornell's election. Kelly is not polling such a vote as was promised.

Several private despatches were received by parties in this city before midnight, saying that the State of New York has gone democratic.

News and Notes.

Stettaner Brothers, dry goods dealers of Chicago, have suspended, with liabilities of $1,500,000.

A train on the Newark, N. J., railroad backed into the draw of Hackensack bridge Tuesday morning; one man was killed, one fatally injured, and a number seriously hurt.

An unknown schooner of about a hundred tons was wrecked at Broad cove, near Cape Elizabeth, Me., Monday night, and all hands lost. She was plainly seen from the shore, but the sea was so heavy that no help could be rendered.

It is now considered certain that the three-years-old daughter of Michael Ploof, who has been missing from West Jay, Vt., for several weeks, was stolen by a man and woman, probably tramps.

Wm. Weatheral, of London, Ont., has lost three sons and two daughters by a disease which the people of that region call the black tongue, but which is thought probable is a violent type of diphtheria, and has two other daughters sick with the same disease. The symptoms are at first a severe pain in the stomach, gradually ascending to the throat, accompanied by vomiting, and before death, which is attended with great agony, the tongue assumes a black color. Much fear is felt in that section of the country regarding it, and the medical men are in consultation.

Mr. Walter Hastings, of Boston, deceased, has left the bulk of his fortune to Harvard college after the death of his wife. It is estimated that it will amount to $500,000, which is the noblest donation ever made to the college.

The First national bank of Dexter, Me., has resolved to have nothing to do with the notes obtained by pruning shears, lightning saw and other swindlers, or any such suspicious characters, even when they can take the notes in perfect safety, with responsible endorsers.

President Hayes has appointed Thursday, Nov. 27th, as a day of national thanksgiving.

The United States government has prohibited the introduction of neat cattle into this country from Canada,—probably to pay the Canadians for prohibiting the introduction into that country of cattle from the United States.

A room in the Clarendon hotel at Providence, R. I., which had been assigned to Jeremiah Smith of Pawtucket, Monday evening, was found soon afterwards to be on fire. The door was burst open and Smith was dragged out nearly suffocated. The fire was soon extinguished. The man probably fell asleep in bed with a pipe in his mouth.

Mr. Brogard Weeks, of Kittery, does a good business by driving a trading team through Kittery, Eliot, York, North Berwick, South Berwick and Wells, supplying with groceries and small wares the farmers who live at a distance from stores. Mr. Weeks buys all his goods in this city, except molasses, which he procures from Boston.

At Mt. Vernon, Ohio, Stephen Zook, owner of Green Valley Mills, Knox county, was attacked Sunday night on a bridge by two men armed with knives. Zook drew a pocket knife and defended himself, killing one of the men, John Parrott.

Alfred N. Robinson, ex-treasurer of Clermont county, Ohio, was arrested Monday at Miamiville, Ohio, charged with embezzling $23,000 from the county treasury two years ago.

Steamer Enrique, at New Orleans from Matanzas, picked up in the Gulf two men from the wreck of the brig Sally, which had capsized. Six others of the crew were lost.

John Taylor English, a carpenter aged sixty years, was thrown from a carriage on Sunday at Lewiston, Me., and killed instantly. John Dinan of Bangor, seventy years old, fell down stairs Sunday night and was killed. His wife found him at the bottom of the stairs Monday morning, and it is supposed he got up in the night and accidentally fell.

A Cairo (Egypt) despatch says the opposition to the removal of the obelisk ceased on Lieut. Cousdr. Gorringe paying a small sum for the use of the ground for his machinery. The Khedive and the American consul ridicule the idea of the obelisk being seized by anybody.

Andrew Cowles of Westfield, Mass., fell ten feet and broke his neck at Southampton, Sunday, by the bursting open of a door in a cider mill, against which he was leaning.

Willie Swim, thirteen years old, son of Capt. Cornelius Swim of Gloucester, Mass., was accidentally shot by a revolver Monday, the ball piercing the temple and entering the brain. There is no hope for his life. His companion, Fred Burnham, had the weapon, and they were playing with it when it was discharged.

New Hampshire Items.

There was sleighing at Wolfeboro' on Tuesday.

Two shocks of earthquake were felt at Contoocook on Tuesday morning.

Eight inches of snow fell at Dover on Monday, eight inches at New Ipswich, and fifteen inches at Keene.

Roland D. Pollard, who was arrested October 11th at Bradford for procuring an abortion upon Nellie T. Bomford, from which she died, was arraigned at Concord, on Saturday, pleaded not guilty, and furnished $2,500 bail.

National Thanksgiving Proclamation.

As no recurrence of the season which the devout habit of a religious people has made the occasion for giving thanks to Almighty God, and humbly invoke His continued favor, has the national prosperity, enjoyed by our whole country, been more conspicuous, more manifold or more universal than during the past year; also, unbroken peace with all foreign nations; the general prevalence of domestic tranquility; the supremacy and security of the great institutions of civil and religious freedom, have gladdened the hearts of our people and confirmed their attachment to their Government, which the wisdom and courage of our ancestors so fitly framed, and the wisdom and courage of their descendants have so firmly maintained, to be the habitation of liberty and justice to successive generations. Now, therefore; I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 27th day of November, instant, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular cares and labors the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of worship, there to give thanks and praise to Almighty God for His mercies and to devoutly beseech their continuance. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 3d day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and fourth.

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

By the President,
WM. M. EVARTS, Sec'y of State.

—Although kerosene has proved a failure in the kitchen stove, petroleum is successfully used as fuel for locomotives on the Lake Shore railroad.

—When General Grant was on board the Richmond a consul one day asked him whether the firing of the guns disturbed him. Said he, "Not half so much as a piano does."

—A new anecdote is told of Bishop Peck of Syracuse. The bishop's weight is between 350 and 400 pounds, and when, in the dead waist and middle of the night, recently, his bed crushed under him, the gentleman at whose house he was visiting ran up stairs in great alarm. "What is the matter, bishop?" anxiously inquired the host. "Nothing at all, groaned the clergyman; "just tell your wife if I'm not here in the morning to look for me in the cellar."

The Alliance sailed from Villefranche for Boston on the 16th, with the sick and court-martialled cases from the European squadron. The Wyoming was at Villefranche, making repairs to her boilers. The Ticonderoga arrived at Aden from Zanzibar, all well, and would leave for the Persian gulf and Bombay in a few days. The health of the squadron continued excellent.

AROUND HOME.

The fruit trees in gardens in this city suffered much from the breaking down of limbs owing to the snow of Monday lodging upon them. The shade trees were but little harmed, most of them being nearly bare of leaves.

This evening, at Music hall, the great actor Joe Jefferson will appear as Rip Van Winkle, a character in which he has never been approached, and which he has made famous wherever the English language is spoken. A large audience is already assured, and we expect to see the house filled.

There was a football match in Exeter on Saturday between the Phillips academy boys of that town and the Phillips academy boys of Andover, Mass., in which the Exeter academy boys were victors. The Exeter boys have now beaten, this season, the Harvard freshmen, the Quincy club and the Phillips Andover club, and consider themselves entitled to the championship.

At the World's Conference of Young Men's Christian Associations, held at Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 20th, 1878, it was recommended that the second Sunday in November, with the week following—Nov. 9th to 15th—should be set apart as a season of especial prayer for young men, and young men's Christian associations. The International Convention at Baltimore, Md., May 23d, 1879, endorsed the recommendation. Agreeably to this advice, special services as suggested will be held in this city throughout the coming week, the first meeting taking place at Bow mission hall on Sunday morning, Nov. 9th, at nine o'clock.

Hartz, the illusionist, who will give the first of his series of entertainments in this city at Music hall on Thursday evening, has been performing in Manchester to large audiences, and the Union of Monday thus speaks of him: "Hartz, the wonderful magician, has, after a week's stay, gone to cultivate other fields. At the seven entertainments that he gave none of his audience went away dissatisfied, but many have been made the richer by his generosity in giving away presents. He and those connected with him are a model company, and win the respect and good will of all with whom they come in contact. He gives a good show which speaks for itself, and may the best of success attend him on his travels."

The sale of tickets to the Rockingham Course of Entertainments commences at Dr. Preston's store this morning at nine o'clock; and the high character of the different events promised, with the very reasonable prices at which the tickets are placed, will no doubt cause them to be eagerly taken up. Helen Potter's Pleiades, the Boston Opera Co., in the "Chimes of Normandy,"—which has held its own in Providence all summer, despite the attractions of "Pinafore,"—and a grand concert by the Bernhard Listemann Co., with a lecture by Hon. S. S. Cox and readings by Miss Nella F. Brown, make up a most attractive list; and the manager's liberality in furnishing such a course will be appreciated by our citizens, and that appreciation shown by a generous bestowal of patronage.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

TUESDAY, Nov. 4th.

State vs. Charles A. C. Gray was continued. The hearing of testimony, and the pleas of counsel on both sides, occupied the forenoon, the case going to the jury in the middle of the afternoon.

Alphonzo Caswell, indicted on four counts for selling liquor, pleaded nolo contendere, and was fined $50 on one count, with costs of prosecution, the other three cases being placed on file.

George Varrell pleaded nolo contendere to an indictment for selling liquor, and was released on his own recognizance.

State vs. Ingalls, formerly treasurer of the town of Candia, for embezzlement, was called, and continued to the January term, respondent to furnish new bonds, and in the meantime to reimburse the town in such an amount as may be agreed upon. This case finished the criminal docket. The civil cases as assigned will be called in order.

In the case State vs. Gray the jury came in at eight o'clock P. M., and being unable to agree were discharged from their consideration of the case. It was understood that the jury stood nine to three.

George B. Griffin vs. town of Auburn, action for damages arising from a defective highway in that town on July 27th, 1873, to the plff., while going from Auburn to Chester with a span of horses in a wagon. It was in the evening and he passed over some hills on the way till he came to the east end of Massabesic pond, the road lying near the pond, and then near Stephen Emery's house on his right, he came to a place where the tracks diverged near some pine trees. The left-hand track was the commonly-travelled road, and was about thirty or forty feet wide. Reaching this his hub hit a pine tree standing in or near the travelled part of the road, one of his lengthening chains became unhooked and the jar started the horses. Griffin held his horses with all his might, but they ran eighty rods and came upon some rocks, the forward wheels were separated from the wagon, Griffin thrown out and his leg injured. The question is as to this happening in a public highway. It was stated that the track was changed soon after the accident by the town authorities. A plan was shown to the jury by Judge Cross of Manchester who opened the case to the jury, showing the location of the roads, etc. The case was once before tried, this being a review of the action. The jury, accompanied by one counsel on each side, proceed this morning to view the premises in charge of Deputies Smart and Brown. Cross and Frink for plff.; Hatch and Marston for deft.

MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.

The 77th annual meeting of the "Associated Mechanics and Manufacturers of the State of New Hampshire" was held in their reading room Tuesday evening, Nov. 4th. The secretary's and treasurer's reports show the association to be in a most flourishing condition. The debt has been reduced $500, and about $1400 expended in improvements to the building during the past year. The following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year:

President, T. E. O. Marvin;
Vice President, Wm. A. Hodgdon;
Treasurer, John Knowlton;
Secretary, Joseph R. Curtis;
Deputy Secretary, John M. Davis;
Marshal, F. W. Miller;
Deputy Marshal, George W. Pendexter;
Standard Bearer, James H. Crombie;
Auditors, F. W. Miller, John W. Moses;
Trustees, J. M. Vaughan, Wm. B. Billings, Charles E. Leavitt, Charles H. Downs, M. J. Vaughan, John Pender.

MISSIONARY VISIT TO AGAMENTICUS.

Mr. Editor: On Sunday, Nov. 2nd, by arrangement and invitation of Rev. Mr. Short, pastor of the Christian church at York, I assisted in the morning service in his church; at the close a friend kindly conveyed me to the mountain in season to announce, at the afternoon service, that a service would be held in the schoolhouse in the evening.

After the service in the afternoon, I visited the families in the vicinity of the mountain, and with the exception of one family (the father of which has been sick for a number of weeks) found them in as good condition as when they were visited and reported in the month of January. The family alluded to have been the recipients of a barrel of flour and other gifts through the kindness of Mrs. Francis Plaisted of Agamenticus and Dr. Hazen of York, who interested Mrs. Williamson, a lady residing at York, in their behalf.

In the evening the "red school-house" was filled with a very respectable audience, about seventy persons being present.

Monday morning was spent in visiting the families in the neighborhood of the school-house, and I am free to say that the stories often told about the families in this place are greatly exaggerated in many instances; and if a few of them are unworthy of aid, which may be the case, it is no good reason why the industrious poor should be left to suffer. Surely this is a good field for the well disposed and those able to give, and any help afforded them will be distributed with care and economy.

Early in the forenoon the snow began to fall, and by seven o'clock in the evening at least eight inches lay on the ground. This was a great surprise to the people here, as many of them were not prepared for winter. W. A. L.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Miss Sarah Shackley, of Kennebunk depot, fell into a swoon on Thursday of last week, remaining insensible until Friday night, when she died.

Of the members of the first legislature of Maine, in 1820-21, fifty-nine years ago, there are but two survivors—Hon. Peleg Sprague, of Hallowell, (now of Boston) and Hon. Mark Dennett of Kittery.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe is announced to give a public reading of selections from Uncle Tom's Cabin and other writings of her own, in the vestry of the Congregational church in Biddeford, Thursday evening, Nov. 6th, for the benefit of the Sunday school of that church.

Mr. James Blaisdell, of Beech ridge, York, has a native apple tree on one limb of which—the limb being but two feet and a half long, with three branches—there grew this year 167 apples by actual count.

Mr. William Adams of Kittery has a big hog of the Chester white breed, and expects to brings its weight up to 1000 pounds, its present weight being about 800 pounds. Mr. Thomas Langley of Eliot has a hog of about the same weight as Mr. Adams', and also proposes to have half a ton of pork in his pig-pen before he stops putting swill in the trough.

While Mrs. Louisa Hovey was riding in the town of Buxton, some time ago, she was thrown out and quite severely injured, her shoulder being broken badly. Mrs. Hovey is a lady sixty-five years of age, and her recovery from the injury seems quite doubtful. The matter has been placed in the hands of an attorney, who will, it is reported, sue the town for damages to the amount of $10,000 for defective highway.

The case of suspected poisoning of Mrs. Parker, in Sanford, will probably turn out a case of death from natural causes. Investigation shows that the prevailing opinion among the people of Sanford is against the poisoning theory. There are some suspicious circumstances, but it is probable that they can all be explained by the fact that it is alleged Mrs. Parker's household felt no grief at her demise, and were guilty of very unbecoming conduct.

Some of the York county farmers are very skeptical as to the correctness of the returns made to the judges in the Allen corn-prize contest, alleging the impossibility of growing the amounts returned by some of the competitors, on the quantity of ground to which the contestants were limited. The largest amount returned as raised on one-eighth of an acre of land was 1400 lbs. of ears, in round numbers, or at the rate of 11,200 lbs. to the acre; and allowing fifty lbs. of ears to the bushel—a very liberal allowance—would make the yield for an acre 224 bushels of ears. That it is possible to raise such a crop as this, under any circumstances and with whatever expenditure of labor and dressing, the old farmers do not believe, and they consider the assertion that it has been done as apocryphal in the extreme.

See a Woman!

In another column, picking grapes for SPEER'S WINE. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first-class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to European or California Wines; excellent for Ladies and invalids.

Why Not Try It?

The papers teem with examples of wealth thrust suddenly upon simple-minded people in the workshop or on the farm, who have quietly, without proclaiming the fact to every one knew, gone to the post or express office and sent a dollar or two to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at 319 Broadway, New York city, N. Y., and received a whole or half-ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the next drawing of which takes place Nov. 15th; and the reader who heeds this may be the one who comes next as the fortunate winner of $30,000.

Who Is the Next?

Daniel Wright, an invalid soldier, about fifty-six years of age, who served two years in Company C, 12th regiment New York volunteers, the Army of the Potomac—living at No. 75 Oakland street, Greenpoint, Brooklyn, L. I., and a pensioner, has received $15,000 for one dollar.

William H. Hoogs, for over twenty years the collector of "THE BOSTON POST," sent one dollar, and also received $15,000. The occasion was the September drawing, Louisiana State Lottery. For further information apply by mail or express to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York city.

Memoir of Judge Curtis.

A Memoir of Benjamin R. Curtis, LL. D., with some of his professional and miscellaneous writings, edited by his son, Benjamin R. Curtis; two volumes, 8vo.; Boston: Little, Brown & Co., 1879.

Judge Curtis was the great lawyer of his day. His reputation was bounded by no State lines, but as the leading practitioner before the supreme court of the United States, both before and after his six years serving upon the bench of that court, he took the highest rank in his profession. He added to great knowledge of the law, a power of utterance to argument almost, if not quite unparalleled. His language seemed always the most fitting and well chosen, and his efforts were always of a character to receive the closest attention from bench and bar, and every other listener. The delicate task of the memorialist has been well performed by his brother. Judge Curtis was a man not thoroughly known by the many. He was of that type of men that not every one comprehended to a sufficient degree of appreciation. But in this volume "his works follow him." For example, take the very just and discriminating description of his judicial character, by Camden Brown, Esq., an eminent lawyer of Boston, whose constant practice in the federal courts had given him the amplest opportunity for observation of the judge's traits. He speaks of his patience as a judge, and remarks that "whatever encouragement a young advocate might miss in the frigid, reserved and distant manner which was maintained by the bench, was more than made up by the steadiness conferred upon the speaker and by the quiet and courteous attention with which he was listened to from the beginning to the end of what he might have to say."

Mr. George T. Curtis, as his memorialist, better than any other man could do this great work, and well has it been done. It sometimes happens that a memoir of a man who may be a public man, and yet not the property of the public to the extent of every one knowing him beyond a professional or political sphere, is written by a friend, or some one selected for the purpose, who does not in any extensive sense possess the ability to do sufficient justice to the subject, but fails to satisfy many of those who know what should be the measure of the description of their departed friend or fellow citizen. Not so in this memoir. Mr. Curtis knew he wrote of a man concerning whom the judgment of his friends and acquaintances had long before been made up. The task was to so present his work that strangers and coming generations should understand him as well as did his contemporaries.

The editor has also done his part of the work satisfactorily, and the world gains by having the opportunity to study the life and enjoy the writings of one who has filled so eminent a place in the legal history of the United States. The life and works are contained in two volumes, admirably printed, with two fine steel engravings of the distinguished American jurist. It is published at $6.00.

The book is full of narratives of great events of the times when Curtis and Webster were friends; when political events occurred, great political questions arose, were discussed and disposed of, and important legal matters received the attention of the ablest legal minds of the country.

The second volume has several addresses, legal arguments, opinions, jury charges, and papers of that character, interesting not only to the young men of our day, but to those who now can go back in memory to the times when the case against Robert Morris was tried before the circuit court in Massachusetts in 1851, when John P. Hale was of counsel for the defendant; or later, to the time when the question as to the constitutional validity of an anti-liquor law was heard in Rhode Island, or to that of the Dred Scott case. These are all a part not only of the history of the jurisprudence of the country, but of the country itself, and can be read by lawyer and layman with interest and profit.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

Just Your Time

To make money safely, easily and rapidly, is now, while the stock market offers so many splendid opportunities. The combination system has had unprecedented success, and brings good fortune to thousands of shareholders in this and other countries. Investments of from $25 to $10,000 are thus consolidated into one vast capital, and operated by the best skill and experience, result in heavy profits, which are divided among shareholders every month. A New Orleans cotton dealer made $27,649 18 in two months. A Baltimore merchant received an aggregate profit of $9,642.04 from three combinations. A San Francisco mining agent made $22,438.16 from four combinations, his first investment being $100. Others have been equally fortunate. Every day there are new and grand opportunities. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have specially and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe purgative blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the chin, ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface at all the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS,

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "am well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

F. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28, '79, works in a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Torrid Climate.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, cup ically in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is ably assisted in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is pecuiarly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Ellis and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 60 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many unsatisfactory remedies, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Dose SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which every one, moved by the goodness of his heart, to the peoples of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily send in. Its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those entitled to the place mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was astonishingly benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those suffering as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast, where it is much needed, I see no object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Range" and "Export" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the sum of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which rolled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at six hundred and seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of the Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Daily Chronicle.

An Expert Forger.

A detective with whom a reporter of the New York Times recently went fishing at Norwich, Ct., and who did not know the profession of his companion, unburdened himself of some interesting reminiscences concerning criminals, of which Massachusetts furnished the following:

One of the most expert forgers that ever appeared in this country was caught in Massachusetts lately, convicted, and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. He had not been in prison more than three months when, to the astonishment of the jailer, a pardon came for him, in due form, all signed by the governor, and properly countersigned. There was nothing to be done but liberate the prisoner, and he walked out. But he had not been gone long before the jailer discovered that the prisoner had managed, through his friends, to get a blank pardon from the governor's office, had filled it out himself, and cleverly forged the signatures, and had then passed it out to his friends again, to be mailed to the jailer in proper shape. The clever forger had not got far enough away to escape, and he was arrested and sent back to prison. He employed a young New York lawyer, whose name is familiar through the fame of his father, and told him the story. "They have no right to lock you up again," said the lawyer, "having once liberated you, without legal proof that the pardon is a forgery. I can get you out, but it will cost you $1500." "Go ahead," said the forger. The lawyer went ahead, gained his case, and liberated the prisoner. "I am going out west immediately," said the forger, as soon as he was free. "My father, who is a wealthy man, owns a thirty-thousand-dollar farm in Kansas, and he has just sent me this letter, begging me to come home and lead an honest life, and telling me to draw on him for $2000 to pay my bills. I am his only son, and I have almost broken his heart; but this life is coming to an end; I shall settle down on my father's farm and be an honest man," and he showed the letter, a pathetic production from an afflicted parent. "I shall need $1000 of the money to pay some little bills," continued the forger, "and here is a draft I have made on my father for the $2000. If you can give me a check for $1000, I will give you the draft, and will send you the other $500 as soon as I get home." The lawyer read the letter carefully, drew a check for $1000 and handed it to his client, and received the draft for $2000. About ten days after the draft was deposited in a bank for collection it came back, with the message that the man on whom it was drawn had been dead for eight years, and wasn't worth a cent when he was alive.

Fellows' Hypophosphites make an old person look years younger. "This witness is true." Would that I could more widely make it known for its many virtues. Long may its inventor live to see the happy fruits of his invention.

ALEXANDER CLARKE, D. D.,
Amherst, N. S.

A Flowery Toothist.

A dentist's advertisement of a new plugging machine says: "Its operations are swift, easy, and beautiful, pleasant to the patient, like the humming-bird as it moves from flower to flower to absorb the sweet nectar." Like the operation of SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, of which equally sweet things may be said.

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

Rich Speculations.

A brakeman on a Western railroad placed $20 in a combination, which turned a profit of 3 7-8 per cent., equal to $387.50 per one hundred shares, netting a profit of $193.75 in addition to the $50 he invested. A conductor made $1,276.24 in two combinations. The superintendent of an Eastern railway made $16,310.13 in three combinations. Others have also made large profits. This system of stock speculations consolidates the interests of thousands into one whole, dividing the profits pro rata every thirty day. The combinations handled with the best skill and experience, attain great success in the stock market. From $25 to $10,000 can thus be invested with vast advantage. The new explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Good Care of Stock Pays.

It will not do to suppose that an animal which has been well cared for—not pampered or forced into an abnormal condition by high feeding, but furnished with a sufficiency of healthy, nutritous food, and protected from inclement weather—will thrive or even retain its vigorous condition under carelessness or neglect. To a man who fully appreciates the fact and takes an interest in his business, it will be no task, but a pleasure to give all necessary attention to his stock. In the first place there is a strong motive or incentive to do this, for any man of intelligence understands and appreciates the fact that he is sacrificing his own interests every time his animals lose anything by his semi-sness, or failure to give them th ecare they require.—American Stockman.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1879.

Very Like a Deluge.

The result of the late elections it would seem must convince the State Supremacy democrats that their "Solid South"—made solid by an unparallelled system of murder, terrorism and fraud—will be confronted as once before by a "Solid North," and that the secession leaders can not yet hope to secure full control of the national councils by means of the shot-gun and tissue ballot. From end to end of the north wherever elections were held on the 4th inst., stalwart republicanism triumphed, and nowhere were there any important democratic gains.

Massachusetts did well; not so well as she might and should have done, but still well enough to kill Ben Butler once more. That persistent office-seeker, however, has such a perverse habit of coming to life again after being killed, that we have no hope he will stay dead this time. And really he isn't any deader than is the democratic party of Massachusetts, just now.

New York took its place in the solid republican column for 1880. The first returns announced the election of Cornell by 20,000 plurality, and a republican legislature, but left the rest of the State ticket in doubt. On Wednesday night, however, the New York city papers of republican proclivities claimed Cornell's election by from 32,000 to 40,000, and of the whole republican State ticket by 5,000 to 10,000 majority.

In Connecticut, where eleven senators (ten members of the last senate—seven republicans and three democrats—holding over) and a house of representatives were elected, the republicans had expected to lose a large part of their majority, and feared they might lose the whole of it, which would enable the democrats to repeal the registration laws and remove other barriers to fraudulent voting, and go a long way toward giving the State to the next democratic presidential candidate, and aid greatly in the election of a democratic legislature next year, when a United States senator is to be chosen. Instead of losing, the republicans have gained in both branches of the legislature.

New Jersey returns a republican majority in both baanches of the legislature, with an encouraging gain.

Pennsylvania reports republican gains throughout the whole State, the majority in Philadelphia being the largest ever given in a State election. And yet only a treasurer was to be chosen.

Wisconsin elects republican State officers and legislature, with extraordinary gains in old democratic strongholds.

Minnesota does likewise, showing republican gains even in the midst of dissatisfaction with the head of the ticket.

Nebraska, which at last election gave less than 7000 republican majority, now sends her greeting with 12,000 majority for a republican supreme court judge.

In Illinois the republicans were of course successful,—unexpectedly so, for they carried Chicago city and county by a majority of 7000, again of 10,000 from the last election.

In Virginia the contest was between total and partial repudiation of the honest obligations of the State—the "readjusters" favoring the former, and the "funders" the latter. There are not enough honest people in the State to make a show as a party in favor of absolute honesty. Whether the big thief or little thief parties triumphed at the late election is not known at the time we write this.

Maryland and Mississippi are democratic of course; but in Mississippi one county (Hinds) elected nearly or quite all the greenback candidates, showing that the Yazoo plan was not put in force there; Yazoo was democratic.

Massachusetts.

Massachusetts again repudiates Butler. John D. Long is elected by a plurality o 12,967 over Butler, and 1806 majority over all other candidates. Legislature republican; and full republican State ticket elected, except one democratic councilman. Butler's plurality in Boston was 5122.

Connecticut.

In Connecticut the republicans astonished themselves by carrying the legislature by an increased majority, gaining four members of the senate and eighteen representatives, making the republican majority on joint ballot ninety-three, and possibly ninety-five.

New Jersey.

The republicans gained one State senator and five or six assemblymen; they retain the legislature by three majority, and the assembly by fourteen or sixteen.

Wisconsin.

Wisconsin, which has been claimed by the democrats as one of the "doubtful" States for 1880, elects Smith, rep., by 20,000 majority. Milwaukee gives 2100 majority for Smith, a gain of 3000 from two years ago. Madison, always hitherto democratic, gives Smith thirty-one majority. The latest despatches claim a republican majority of 28,000 in the State.

Cornell Elect d.

In New York, Cornell, rep., has 35,000 to 30,000 plurality for governor. Legislature republican. State ticket in doubt, but indications favoring republicans. New York city was carried by Robinson, Tilden's man; Kelly had 40,000 votes in the city.

Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania is republican by a majority larger than any since the death of Lincoln, except that in the Grant-Greeley contest of '72, when the democrats made no fight. Philadelphia gave the republicans 30,000 majority; and the total majority in the State is claimed at 50,000.

News and Notes.

Three hundred and twelve thousand dollars worth of stamps were sold at the New York post office in October.

During October the treasury department redeemed $6,593,600 of called bonds, the net proceeds of which were $6,703,794.47. Of this amount $5,173,289.76 were paid by check, and $1,530,504.70 credited on loan account to depository banks.

Thomas Edwards, a shopkeeper of Alford, Mass., had occasion to enter his store about ten o'clock, Sunday night, the 2d inst., but as he opened the door was grabbed by a thief. In the struggle Edwards went down, and the robber, exclaiming that he would kill him, drew a revolver and fired twice. The first shot missed, but the second ball went through Edwards' cap, a woolen scarf and two coats, lodging next his shirt. The scamp then made his escape.

Fishing schooner Emma S. Osier, Capt. Andrew J. Hall, of Gloucester, Mass., arrived at Newport, R. I., on the 1st inst. On board were three men, Benjamin C. Baxter, Joseph L. Baxter and Allen Bragg, belonging to Hyannis. While the captain was away they took five and a half barrells of mackerel, claiming that their agreement was that they were to have forty-five per cent. of the catch. When the captain discovered this he caused the three men to be arrested on a charge of larceny, declaring at the time that the men were entitled to nothing until the fish were sold. The defendants were tried in the justice court, and upon the captain testifying that the agreement was that they were to have so much of the catch, not a proportion of the proceeds, the judge discharged them. Capt. Hall was immediately arrested for malicious prosecution at the suit of Joseph Baxter, who claims $1000 damages.

The schooner wrecked at Cape Elizabeth, Me., on the night of the 3d inst., was the Leesburg, of Brookline, Me., from Bangor for Boston with sawdust.

Gen. Sherman, in officially announcing to the army the death of Gen. Hooker, refers to the gallant veteran honored with the thanks of Congress for "skill, energy and endurance," and recalls to the memory of the army the distinguished services rendered by Gen. Hooker through the war with Mexico, as well as in the late war. His gallantry in the former gave promise of that superior courage, vigor and skill in action which has since characterized him. His achievements are matters of familiar history, and his soldierly deeds may well excite the admiration and emulation of his surviving comrades.

British brig Gen. S. Berry, from Pensacola for Montevideo, has arrived at Key West with the crew in mutiny. The captain was badly cut by the mutineers. His life was saved and the muting quelled by his daughter.

Despatches from south-western Missouri report the killing of Jesse James, of the notorious James brothers, supposed to be one of the gang who robbed the train at Glendale, Mo., recently, by George Shepherd, formerly a member of the same gang. Shepherd joined James, who, with a party, was on the road to Texas. After riding some distance he suddenly shot James in the head, wheeled his horse and fled, escaping with a shot in the thigh from one of James' companions.

Charles Haughton, of Stamford, Conn., is under arrest in New York for stealing $4000 worth of jewelry from a lady at the hotel Bristol last July. He fled to England, and returned a few days ago, when the detectives arrested him.

New Hampshire News.

There was a municipal election in Nashua on the 4th inst., when there was a very light vote. Hon. Charles Holman, republican, and present mayor, was re-elected by an increased majority. Aldermen and councilmen have a republican majority. The contest seems to have been lager or no lager, and the vote of the city gives lager a majority of about three hundred.

The game laws are being tested in Coos county, the first case to find its way into court being that against Joshua Roberts, of Stark, who was indicted for catching trout during the close season from a pond situated wholly on his land, which ownership he claimed, entitled him to fish in it when he pleased. The case goes up to the full bench.

Some Old Statistics.

Allowing two square feet to each person, the entire population of Boston could stand on the public garden, with a lot of room to spare. The entire population of the United States could stand in Boston proper (not including Brighton, Dorchester and West Roxbury). The entire population of the world (now estimated at 1,444,000,000) could stand on the island of Martha's Vineyard, or in the space occupied by the towns of Boston, Brookline, Newton, Dedham, Hyde Park, and Milton. The State of Massachusetts would in this way accommodate seventy times the present population of the world. The entire population of the world, placed side-by-side, and allowing two feet to each person, would encircle the earth twenty times. The States of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, taken together, are as large as England. Any one of the States of Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, or North Carolina is as large as England. Kansas is as large as England and Scotland together. Ireland is about the size of Maine. France is more than twice as large as England, Wales and Scotland together. Texas is thirty-five times as large as Massachusetts; as large as Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio and Indiana combined. The entire population of the United States could be provided for in the State of Texas, allowing each man, woman and child four acres of land. The entire population of the world could be provided for in the United States, allowing each person one and a half acres of land. The continent of Australia will just come within the limits of the United States.

Wooing With Walnut Furniture.

A handsome black walnut chamber set was exhibited at the Hoboken, N. J., fair. It was much admired, and in a group of admirers were a young man and the young woman he had taken to the fair. He had been courting her for a long time, but he had never succeeded in getting his courage up to the point of asking her to be his. While admiring the walnut set he inquired, doubtless without any ulterior motive, "How would you like such a set as that?" The young woman promptly answered that she would be almost willing to be married if she could begin housekeeping with such furniture.

"I'll buy it if you'll marry me," the young man said, with the air of one who had found a long sought opportunity. The answer was decisive and business like:

"You can't close the bargain any too soon."

Why Not Try It?

The papers teem with examples of wealth thrust suddenly upon simple-minded people in the workshop or on the farm, who have quietly, without publicity, put the fact to every one knew, gone to the post or express office and sent a dollar or two to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at 319 Broadway, New York city, N. Y., and received a whole or half-ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the next drawing of which takes place Nov. 11th; and the reader who heeds this may be the one who comes next as the fortunate winner of $30,000.

Who is the Next?

Daniel Wright, an invalid soldier, about fifty-five years of age, who served two years in Company C, 44th regiment New York volunteers—the Army of the Potomac—living at No. 75 Oakland street, Greenpoint, Brooklyn, L. I., and a pensioner, has received $15,000 for one dollar.

William H. Hodges, for over twenty years the collector of "THE BOSTON POST," sent one dollar, and also received $15,000. The occasion was the September drawing, Louisiana State Lottery. For further information apply by mail or express to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York city.

AROUND HOME.

Two wild ducks were shot on the north millpond, Tuesday morning of this week.

Schumaker of Portland is at work frescoing the new Odd Fellow's hall, in National block.

Escaped from the deluge. Howe Call, Esq., arrived home on the 5th inst. by the three o'clock afternoon train.

The force of workmen on the new Franklin block has been increased, and the work will be pushed forward with the utmost vigor.

Parties who were in the woods nutting on Saturday, the 1st inst., say that many of the forest trees were then budded out, and some were putting forth new leaves.

The first snow of the season last year that had to be shovelled from the walks arrived December 10th, a month and six days later than a storm of like magnitude the present season.

As was anticipated, a large audience assembled in Music hall on Wednesday evening to see Mr. Joe Jefferson as "Rip Van Winkle." That the audience was delighted need not be said.

In our report of the annual meeting of the Mechanic's Association, the name of Isaac Dow was inadvertently left out of the list of auditors. Charles E. Leach is one of the trustees, instead of Charles E. Leavitt.

Rev. Mr. Pitblado lectured in Saccarappa, Me., Wednesday evening, and will lecture to-night in Lewiston, and to-morrow night in Mechanics Falls. The reverend gentleman manages to bring up in Portsmouth on Saturday evenings.

Mr. Charles M. Lord, who has been absent from the city all summer, fulfilling an engagement to play with the band of a circus exhibiting throughout the west, arrived home on the 5th inst., the travelling season of the show having ended.

The schooner Velocipede arrived at Doane's wharf on Monday of this week, with fifty barrels of mackerel, and on the same day the schooner Anna M. Nash brought in two hundred and ten barrels of mackerel. Some of the fish caught by the Velocipede will average from eighty to ninety to a barrel; they are called the Block Island mackerel, and when fished for in that vicinity are caught by handlines only. Both vessels are now laid up for the winter.

Mr. Benjamin F. Webster is building a large and very elegant house on Broad street. It has a frontage of seventy-two feet and a depth of fifty-four feet. It is built of the best materials; has a hall twenty-two feet wide, which runs through the centre; lofty, spacious rooms; all of the modern improvements now in vogue; and a tower from which can be obtained as fine a view as from any site in the city. The lot on which it stands is about six hundred feet frontage and two hundred feet wide. When the building is finished it will be one of finest residences in the city. Mr. Webster's ability and taste in architecture has shown itself in other fine buildings which he has erected, but we think this one ahead of all the others.

Hartz, the magician, commences his series of entertainments at Music hall this evening. Of him the New York Times says: "Without doubt Mr. Hartz is the most wonderful prestidigitadeur, his tricks being so neatly and so gracefully performed as to defy detection. We may mention a peculiar bit of magic, where the performer, after washing his hands in a large basin of water, throws the contents of the vessel over the audience, and to the amazement of the spectators, they are smothered with flowers instead of being deluged with water. The Bower of Flora is a beautiful trick, in which Mr. Hartz causes to grow from common flower pots filled with earth, beautiful plants laden with flowers, the flower pots all the time being in sight of the audience. The Aerostat Spirituel is a marvelous feat which has required twelve years work for Mr. Hartz to complete. It consists of a young lady, who is mesmerized and who is merely supported by her elbow on top of a pole resting on a four-legged stool, appearing actually to float about in space. The conjurer never touches her. She ascend and descends at the will of the operator, and there are no wires or cords by which she could be affected. It is wonderful and grand."

The National Mechanics & Traders' bank pays a dividend of three and a half per cent on the 15th inst.

The flags on the city building and custom-house were at half-mast on the 5th inst., as a mark of respect to the late Senator Chandler and Gen. Hooker, whose obsequies took place that day.

Mr. Levi Downs, living at the Isles of Shoals, caught one day last week about four barrels of the largest mackerel ever brought into this port. They were bought by C. Sullivan & Co., and some of them were sold as high as seventy-five cents each.

A large number of tickets for the Rockingham Course of Entertainments were bought on Wednesday. The choice sittings will soon be taken up, and parties desiring good places had best secure their tickets at once. The dollar tickets to the course will secure to every holder a seat in the gallery, contrary to the general impression that they will only entitle to standing room.

WILLIAM RANTOUL PRESTON.

The community was pained and startled Wednesday evening, to learn of the sudden death of a fellow citizen known in this community perhaps more generally than any other of our business men. For some time Mr. Preston has suffered from an organic disease of the heart, and the sudden termination of his earthly career at some period was not unexpected either by himself or his friends.

With an untiring zeal which had resulted, with other traits, in his successful career as a business man, an unceasing industry, and a most lively interest in mercantile affairs, Mr. Preston adhered to his business, and was removed almost without warning save as we have indicated. Born in Salem, Mass., he early learned the business of an apothecary in that city, and when quite a young man came to Portsmouth and established himself as a druggist in a store in what was then Broad (now State) street, opposite the stone church, of which his relative and intimate friend A. P. Peabody, D. D., was then pastor. Here by strict attention to business, affable manners and a certain tact which never deserted him, he laid the foundation for a long and successful business career, and the accumulation of a handsome competence. He afterward removed to the store in Treadwell's building, corner of State and Pleasant streets, which locality he afterwards left on the completion of Congress block to occupy a tasteful and attractive store on Congress street. Here, save when burned out many years ago, (until the completion of the new building,) he mained in constant, active business until the hour of his death. He always had a taste for music, and on all suitable occasions encouraged in every proper way the enjoyment of this art, both socially, in church, and in concert room.

He never sought public office, though he faithfully served for some time upon the school committee and in like positions where his service was sought by his fellow citizens. For many years, up to his death, he was a warden of the South Parish. He for a long period has been a director in the New Hampshire National bank, and was the third in seniority of trustees of the Portsmouth Savings bank.

He married Maria, the second daughter of the late Capt. Henry Salter, and leaves besides his widow, three sons and one daughter, the wife of Commander Mortimer L. Johnson of the United States navy.

It is a peculiarly striking event—the sudden death of one genial and kind-hearted fellow citizen, to whose good taste Portsmouth has been in the past largely indebted, whose readiness to encourage local business enterprise has done so much for the common weal, and who in so many ways will be regretfully missed by our people; and somewhat singular that within two weeks two such prominently known men as the subject of this notice and his friend and neighbor, for so many years in active business pursuits in the same street, and living near each other on the same side of another, and both directors of the same banking institution, should be suddenly removed by the same disease. Their departure is a loss of no little moment to our whole community, while to their families and large circle of friends the shock is of the most painful nature.

NOT SO SLOW.

In the marine reports of the press, on the 5th inst., we noticed the following concering a Portsmouth built ship:

Ship Paul Jones, Gerrish, arrived at Samarang Sept. 10th from Cheribou, to load for Boston.

If this information is correct the Paul Jones must have made quick despatch with her outward cargo, and secured a freight for home promptly, for she only arrived at Batavia, Java, on the 21st of August. Owing to the long delay in hearing from the ship after she sailed from New York, some people got the idea that she made a very long passage, and that her sailing qualities are but second rate, at the best. If she is a slow sailer she shockingly belies her looks, for a handsomer vessel, or one giving better promise of high speed, we never saw; and a comparison of the time she made on her late outward voyage, with the time taken by other vessels making the same trip at about the same time, shows that she can sail some, at any rate.

The Paul Jones left New York May 1st, and arrived at Batavia Aug. 21st, a passage of 112 days. The ship Importer sailed from New York on the same day as the Paul Jones, and arrived at Anjier on the 20th of August—111 days passage, one day less than the Paul Jones took to reach Batavia; but the latter port is eighty miles (we believe) from Anjier, and eighty miles means considerable time in that region, where all sorts of winds except favorable ones can be confidently counted on. The following named barques also all sailed from New York, arriving at Anjier on the date set against their names:

Theo. Catherince, sld. May 4, arr. Oct. 8—155 days
Antioch..... " " 5, " " " 4—154 "
Granite City..... " April 25, " Aug. 23—120 "
Gertrude..... " " 30, " Sept. 8—131 "

It thus appears that the Paul Jones made at least as good a passage as the Importer, and beat the time of the others by from eight days to forty-five days. Guess she will do to keep up the reputation of Portsmouth built ships.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 5th.

Thomas P. Drake, convictdd of perjury in swearing that he bought a glass of whiskey of Samuel Tibbetts of Newmarket, was brought into court and sentenced to four years in the State prison, at hard labor.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mr. George P. Thompson, of York, foreman of laborers in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard, who was stricken with paralysis Sunday, the 2d inst., as previou ly reported, but was apparently recovering on Monday, had another slight shock on Monday night, and on the 4th inst. was very low, though hope of his recovery was still entertained.

Kennebunk has had four shipyards, which in times past have afforded work for a large number of mechanics. The master builders have kept on in the hope that prices for ships would advance, but each ship of late built would not sell for her cost, and failures ensued. Some of these builders, a few years since, were men of handsome estates. The workmen desired the master builders to keep on, but the result has been disastrous, and their affairs are being wound up and their estates are in the insolvency court. It looks as if this was the last of ship-building in this place, for the present at least. In the meantime, the citizens have organized a joint company and put up a building at a cost of ten thousand dollars, and leased it for a shoe factory. This venture is thought to be a success. Thus the decline in ship-building compels the people of the seaport towns to seek other means of earning a livelihood. One of the recently launched ships at Kennebunk has been finished under the direction of the Boston Loan and Trust Co., creditors of the builders for large sums loaned them towards the construction of this and other ships.

ANOTHER CORN PRIZE.

Stillman B. Allen, Esq., of Boston, who gave the $100 corn prize to the boys of York county this year, offers a series of prizes for next year, to the boys of the whole State of Maine, the terms being as follows:

To the boy who shall raise the most Indian corn on one-eighth of an acre of land, in the year 1880, two hundred dollars. To the boy who shall raise the next largest quantity, fifty dollars; and to the five boys who shall raise the next largest quantity, ten dollars each. The awards will be made subject to the following conditions:

1st. Every contestant must have resided in Maine at least two years, and be under eighteen years of age on June 1st, 1880.

2d. All entries must must be made and communicated to the president of the Maine State Agricultural society on or before May 1st, 1880.

3d. The land shall be measured by some person appointed for that purpose by the president of said society during the summer of 1880. The corn may grow to the edge of the line, but in no case beyond it.

4. The land may be of any shape, not less than two rods wide.

5. The contestant must do all the work in raising the corn except that he may have some one to drive the oxen or horses in ploughing and cultivating.

6th. The contestant may use as much, and any kind of manure, as he pleases; and may hoe the corn as many times as, and when he chooses.

7th. The corn is to be measured under the direction of the president of said society.

8th. At the end of the season each contestant shall make land sign a full report, giving shape, description and location of land, when and how manured, when planted, when and how many times hoed, when stalks were topped, if at all, when harvested, and how much is raised, and as nearly as can be estimated the value of manure, and number of days' labor spent upon the crop, excluding the husking, when he may have all the the wants from the boys and girls in help he neighborhood.

9. All awards to be made by the president of said society at the end of the season, and his decision shall be final.

Each contestant will send by mail his name and age, and post-office address, and his father's name in Mr. Allen, and also to the president of the Maine State Agricultural society.

Political.

It will be a Long time before Butler reaches the governship of Massachusetts.

In Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 1st inst., Mike Dady, a republican, was removed from the office of superintendent of sewers for opposing the democratic ring candidate for State senator. On the night of the 3d inst., Dady was in a barroom when he was assaulted by one Massey, the "ring" president of the board of city works, who received a serious beating from Dady. The police had hard work to quell the disturbance.

A fellow went before the Washington county grand jury, composed of eleven democrats and seven republicans, and swore that Mr. Pope of East Machias bribed him. On cross-examination he broke down and admitted that he offered to sell his vote to both political parties, and finally voted democratic. The grand jury were so disgusted with the worthless character of the fellow, and so fully convinced that he could not be believed, that they voted seventeen to one not to find a bill, and then refused to hear others. To show that County Attorney Rounds did his duty the jury unanimously thanked him for the manner in which he had discharged his duty.—Louisville (Ky.) Journal.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent the pleasantest part of the presents which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but still do so publicly incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 65—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained. HENRY WELLS,

AUGUSTA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Export" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company,) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all the bullion produced is to be purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside from the proceeds of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. Daily Chronicle.

Gazette Correspondence.

BOSTON, Nov. 5th, 1879.

"Did you hear Talmage?" has been the stereotyped question since the evening last week when that noted—or notorious—divine honored the people of the Hub by lecturing at Music hall. His opinion of our "culture" cannot be very high, for he began by saying that he once thought a lecturer should give his listeners something of consequence for their mental digestion, but that his present idea of a lecture is a familiar, informal talk on every day subjects. In accordance with which, he talked for nearly two hours without saying anything, in his own peculiar, acrobatic manner, however, which undoubtedly "takes" with many people, and which roused even his Music hall audience to applause at certain points of his discourse, so great is his personal magnetism. But Boston is unquestionably disappointed in the great preacher. And perhaps even something more than disappointed — possibly a little shocked. The speaker and his discourse came up the following morning for discussion at the rhetoric class of a certain college which holds its sessions not far from the shadow of the gilded dome of the State house, and both were served up in a manner which might have astonished the reverend gentleman and his Brooklyn and New York admirers a little, could they have had the opportunity of profiting by it. Of course, there are lovers of the sensational in Boston, as elsewhere, who would have been better pleased had he stood on his head a few times literally, as well as figuratively; but there are others, to please whom a manner somewhat more dignified, a style more refined, language approaching less closely to blasphemy, and a lecture containing something of substance, would be necessary, even from the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage.

For if Bostonians desire amusement they go for it, not to clergymen, whether in the pulpit or on the platform, but to the theatres, of which our eight principle ones, and several minor ones, certainly give ample opportunity. There seems to be a mania for this class of entertainments of late years. Why—only five years ago, there were but three theatres in the city; the Boston, the Museum, and the Howard Athenæum. Of the present eight, the Park, which was opened last spring by Mr. Abbey of the New York Park, is undoubtedly the handsomest, but it is small, and there is always a demand for more seats than there are in the house. The inimitable Sothern is giving "Lord Dundreary" this week to delighted audiences. He is Boston's pet actor, and has not been here for three years, so the people rush to him at night, and scan the newspapers by day, to see if he has been playing off any more of his pranks. Some of his best jokes have been cracked in Boston. The thought just occurs to me—can it be possible that his practical jokes are perpetrated just to catch free advertising? If so, it is a brilliant idea, and not half as dangerous as the salamander propensity which has done so much for Kate Claxton!

"My Partner," which seems likely to bear off the palm as the great American drama, is in its last week at the Boston Theatre, with crowded houses every night, and the Museum is filled to repletion at every performance of "Pippins," the delightful musical extravaganza. Where do all the people that fill our theatres come from? is often wondered, but the secret is, that they come in from the suburbs and neighboring cities and towns in far greater numbers than formerly.

There have been some notable musical events of late. Prominent among them have been the two Remenyi concerts, at the Siege of Paris opera house. Edward Remenyi is called the greatest living violinist, not without cause, for he has the rare power of so manipulating the little wooden box with its four taut strings, and the slender horse-hair bow, as to hold his audience completely spellbound in breathless, speechless delight, whether that audience be composed of the most cultured musical people, or of those most ignorant of the divine art. Pray do not fail to hear this wizard of sweet sounds, if the opportunity should occur to you. The other artists of the company are each fine in their way, and encores were abundant during the concerts. Mrs. Emma Thurston has a sweet and powerful voice; Sig. Rosnati sings well, and Sig. Ferranti is too comical for anything in some of his selections.

I read somewhere lately a futile attempt at a definition of the word "Fashion." It is an impossible task to put it in words, but we see its definition in facts, every day of our lives. But when has such a striking illustration of it been shown in any twelvemonth as during that just past! One short year ago, women wore the sheath-like costume, trimmed all over in patchwork style, with long, close-fitting basques, and not a rail about the whole craft that was not tightly furled. And now—but let me describe a beautiful lady who rode up town in a horse-car opposite me the other day, and who stopped at the Commonwealth hotel. She was tall and graceful, and a blonde. The skirt of her dress was of fine, soft, gray corduroy, with silvery gleams in it. It was perfectly plain, without a sign of trimming of any sort, and was hemmed at the bottom instead of being braided. There was an overdress of some black material, in points at the sides, and bunched-up drapery behind, but it only showed when she rose to leave the car. As she sat, only the plain gray skirt was seen below the black silk mantle, trimmed with rich fringe. She wore a broad-brimmed, black felt hat, set back on the head enough to show the high hair parted on the forehead, and waved away from the face in the style of five years ago, and trimmed with a long black ostrich plume, drooping over the right side of the hat-brim its entire length, the end curling upon the looped braids of back hair. Long-wristed gloves of black, undressed kid, and the tiniest of diamond studs in her ears, completed this simple costume. But beneath it was worn an unquestionable hoop-skirt! Now what are we to believe in this matter? One authority says positively that hoops are not to be worn. Another, just as reliable (!) says that they are—and not so slowly, either,—being adopted by fashionable ladies on both sides of the Atlantic. Certainly the revival of plain skirts would give some color to the latter statement, for untrimmed dresses are not apt to hang very well unaided. But there is time enough. One need not hasten to adopt such an innovation in dress; and especially those who remember by experience the last reign of that despotic monarch, the hoop-skirt, will not be too ready to bend the knee to his yoke a second time.

Now that there is so much interest in Capt. Boyton's feat on the Connecticut river is an excellent time for the appearance of the latest work of that other solitary traveller upon the water, Mr. Nathaniel H. Bishop, whose "Voyage in a Paper Canoe" was so generally read when it was issued eighteen months ago. The same house, Messrs. Lee & Shepard, publish the present volume, "Four Months in a Sneak-Box," (a boat used for duck-shooting,) which is an account of a boat voyage of the author, of 2600 miles down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and the Gulf of Mexico, to the Suwanee river. It is a remarkable history of a still more remarkable voyage, and is written in that same bright, chatty, yet statistically complete style of the author's other works, and is profusely illustrated. From the same publishers comes a charming story for young people by Mary Thacher Higginson, entitled "Room for One More," one of those happy conceptions of home life which are alike interesting to old and young. Also a fine translation from the French of Jules Verne's latest work, "The Tribulations of a Chinaman in China." Everybody knows Jules Verne, and it only need be said that "The Chinaman" is another quaint, odd story, full of quirks and notions that nobody else ever could think of, and that keep the reader in a chronic state of wonder from the first page to the last.

Two new books just issued by Messrs. Houghton & Osgood deserve special mention. One is a volume in the "Little Classic" style, containing five of Bret Harte's last stories, of which "The Twins of Table Mountain" gives its title to the book. Bret Harte's stories are strange mixtures of fact and fancy, strangely told, and they have taken a strong hold upon the reading public of the day. The other volume of which I spoke above, is an anonymous story, called "The Earnest Trifler." It is a novel of decidedly the better class, dealing with modern people in modern times and our own country, and showing an insight into the hearts and motives of people of to-day which scarcely betokens an author to whom the pen is a stranger, while there is a fresh, breezy originality of style throughout the whole story which does not seem to remind one of any of the known writers. Many speculations are already afloat as to its authorship. ROBIN.

News and Notes.

Alfred D. Cary, of Fort Plain, N. Y., blew his brains out on the 5th inst.; cause unknown. He was to have been married next day to an estimable lady of the place.

Three of the four men composing the crew of the schooner Leesburg, wrecked near Cape Elizabeth, Me., on the night of the 3d inst., were saved by steamer Star of the East, which took them off a floating piece of the wreck on the morning of the 4th. When the schooner went to pieces the cabin floated off with four of the crew, and one of them attempted to swim ashore with a rope so as to draw the others to land, but was drowned. His body was drawn back to the raft, and with the survivors was taken on board the steamer.

A young man named Lester Barrett, bearing a good name, sold out a business at Randolph, N. Y., and then claimed to have been robbed. Suspicion resting upon him he was searched, and the money found on him. He then shot himself through the head, dying soon afterwards.

Joseph E. Bowman, a fish dealer, of San Francisco, on the 5th inst. shot Mrs. J. H. Hayes and her niece, Annie Carr, inflicting slight wounds, and then blew his own brains out. The cause was the refusal of Miss Carr to marry him.

Gen. Grant and his wife arrived at their home in Galena, Ill., on the 5th inst., and were given a very cordial and enthusiastic reception by their neighbors.

The obsequies of Gen. Joseph Hooker in New York on the 5th inst. were imposing, and many distinguished citizens and soldiers were in attendance. The remains, after the service, were taken to the depot for transportation to Cincinnati under an escort of United States troops.

The Fisk University Jubilee Singers have become interested in the story of the wrongs of the Ponca Indians, and have proposed a concert in Boston for the benefit of the aggrieved Poncas and their brethren. Mayor Prince, for the committee, has accepted their generous offer, and as soon as arrangements can be made, the time and place of the concert will be announced. It is hoped that some church can be secured without expence.

Another lightning-saw swindle is reported in Unity, Me., in which O. B. Ulmer is the victim. He gave his note for $180.93 to one of the lightning-saw fellows, without consideration, as he says, and now he is called on to pay the note by some one who claims to be an innocent purchaser.

Charles B. Gilman, tried at the October term in 1877, on an indictment for an assault with a loaded gun on Edwin Noyes, at Waterville, Me., with intent to kill, was on the 5th inst. sentenced to three years at hard labor in State prison.

The Ohio river, which is a mile wide at Louisville, Ky., in ordinary stages of water, is now reduced to the width of a stone throw, and is in fact but little more than a succession of great puddles. Where the river usually stretches out broad and rough, nothing but bare white rock is to be seen, and the novelty of the thing is so great that the people of Louisville throng the empty river bed seeking for shells or pretty stones, or simply to enjoy the unprecedented spectacle, and one day lately it was estimated that 10,000 persons were rambling over the dry bottom of the once mighty stream.

Returns from all but three towns and cities in Massachusetts give the State's vote as follows: Long, 122,287; Butler, 108,785; Adams, 9,798; Eddy, 1,485; making Long's plurality 13,502, and his majority 1,219.

New Hampshire Items.

Detective C. B. Hildreth, of Manchester, on the 4th inst. arrested in Worcester, Mass., a notorious horse-thief, Joe Deville, alias Joe Brooks, and placed him in safe custody to await examination for stealing the Stoddard team in Hopkinton, the Joe Ingalls team at Hooksett, and several others that he is known to have taken. He is a thoroughbred horse-thief.

Sheriff Kent has recovered between $2,000 and $3,000 in notes, a watch and other property, stolen from the house of Oliver Swain of Strafford. He has also found the remainder of the silverware taken from the residence of James C. Taylor of Derry.

W. L. Gilchrist, livery stable proprietor at Franklin Falls, has assigned his property for the benefit of his creditors.

At Contoocook, on the night of the 4th inst., Mrs. Story, an elderly widow living alone, was found out of doors in the snow with her clothes on fire, by two young men who extinguished the flames. It is doubtful if she recovers.

Mrs. Jane Studley of North Guilford, Conn., considered an important witness for the prosecution in the Hayden trial, as Mary Stannard worked for her as a domestic two weeks before the murder, died on the 4th inst., at New Haven, where she was awaiting examination, and where she had an apoplectic fit ten days before.

The thermometer marked three below zero at Claremont on the 5th, four below at Contoocook, and nine below at Keene.

On Friday, 24th ult., a large number of the members of Drake Post, G. A. R., of Lake Village, armed with shovels and picks, and with horses and dump-carts, proceeded in a body to the Bayside cemetery, and graded a new lot recently purchased by the post.

Rev. William E. Spear, who for three years occupied the pulpit of the Congregational society at Dunbarton, was married to a Russian lady a few weeks ago, and is to make his future home in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He went to Europe, and while there met the lady to whom he was united in marriage. While across the water he changed his religious faith to the Unitarian, and soon afterwards commenced the study of law, which profession he will enter upon at his home in the west.

On Thursday morning, the 30th ult., a burglar entered the farm-house of E. N. Merrill, in Enfield, through a back window. He ransacked the sleeping room of Mr. Merrill's two oldest daughters, taking a watch, which he afterward dropped on the floor. He then went into Mrs. Merrill's sleeping room, and was feeling over some clothing on the foot of the bed, when she awoke and ordered him from the house. He snapped a pistol at her as she spoke, and backed out of the room. She arose and followed him, when he snapped the pistol at her twice more, and then rushed headlong out of the window by which he entered. Mr. Merrill is a live-stock buyer and went to market on the previous Monday, and it is supposed the burglar intended to rob him, as he usually gets home Wednesday and has considerable money, but that week he did not get back till Thursday. A young man about twenty years old, and son of a respectable family, was arrested for the crime, and identified.

Naval Affairs.

Rear Admiral Rodgers, commanding the squadron on the Pacific station, reports to the department his arrival at Coquimbo in the flagship Pensacola, Sept. 21st. It was his intention to go to Valparaiso early in October.

Rear Admiral William Reynolds, U. S. N., on the retired list, died at his residence in Washington, D. C., November 5th.

An Actor's Plea for the Stage, and What It Needs.

The twenty-third annual congress of the National Association for the Promotion of Social Science was held in Manchester, England, during the early part of last month. One of the topics discussed was "The Stage as a Moral Teacher," and Hermann Vezin, the eminent London actor, was present and took an active part in the discussion, reading a well considered, logical, and interesting paper. It is published at length in the English journals, and the following extract is made from this manly and spirited plea: "The Church is the cause of all the persecution to which actors have been subjected. It has refused Christian burial to actors. A preacher in Scotland once declared the theatre literally the pit of hell, and that the devil and his imps held high revelry there; and his congregation burned the only theatre they could get at, which act was not only wicked but stupid, for fire would not have inconvenienced the supposed occupants of the house. Even in our own time disastrous accidents in theatres are pointed at as manifestations of divine wrath. A strange connection has been suggested between the facts of the centre of London containing the largest number of theatres and also the largest number of haunts of vice; although the same district contained also the largest number of churches. It is refreshing to turn to the utterances of the more enlightened preachers of the present day. One sermon by the Rev. Mr. Hawies was not a defence of the stage—the stage needs no defence—but a scathing indictment against his brethren who thanked God that they had never been inside a theatre nor known an actor, and then vilified both without a scruple. What strikes one most in this prejudice is not its wickedness, but its utter foolishness. The theatre is neither moral nor immoral. A play may be moral or immoral; but is therefore the dramatic art to be abolished? Admit such an argument, and what shall we have left? Some naughty boy says "damn;" abolish the art of speech! A wicked correspondence is being carried on; down with the post-office and telegraph! An artist paints an indecent picture; let no man paint! To call the theatre immoral is a logical as to call the telegraph wire immoral. It is a means of expression, and the strongest we have. As to the plays of the present day, no serious charge could be upheld against their moral tone. No immoral play could be successful in a moral age. The very publicity of stage representation will always prevent the worst play from being as bad as the worst book, or the worst anything which can be studied in the privacy of one's chamber. As to the players, it is a piece of unpardonable impertinence to inquire into their private characters. The public interest in the actor should be confined to his performance on the stage. Actors are as good and as bad as other people. But even if they were worse, it would have to be proved that they were so on account of their calling. Now no calling ever creates either good or evil qualities; but every calling may give a coloring to these qualities. If an actor's character were affected by his profession, actors would be all alike; but there are all shades and varieties of men and women amongst us. We have educated ladies and gentlemen, and uneducated; we have broad free-thinkers, regular church-goers, high and low; and a few narrow-minded bigots. We are an epitome of the world at large. Why, then, this outcry for dramatic reform? Amongst those who cry out for reform are honest, disinterested men of high culture, who recognize in the theatre a powerful engine of education. With such men the actor will gladly labor. And it is hoped that from actors such men will not disdain to learn. A child, stunted by unwholesome food, air, and by cruelty, does not want to be recreated; he wants free scope allowed to his natural development by plenty of food, air, and by kindness. This is just what we want. Let your preachers teach their congregations to respect the actor's art as the painter's or the musician's; to read the works of the best dramatic authors; let them wash out of their brains the notion that anything unworthy necessarily attaches to the theatre. Let them go to the theatre themselves, and speak of it as they find it."

—Just what a snow storm means we don't know, but we shall soon see its drift.

—An ivy leaf of delicately tinted gold, on which a diamond has fallen like a dew-drop, is a lovely new design for a set of jewelry, pin and ear-rings, recently seen in a Boston shop window.

—It is many years since beaver has divided the honors with velvet as a material for winter bonnets, but this season it is decidedly the fact, and its furry surface presents not only a novel and striking appearance, but is very becoming to the delicate complexions of the majority of American ladies.

—"That passage in your novel doesn't seem particularly new, you know." "Well, maybe it isn't, but then what does Solomon say? Nothing new under the sun, you know. Take up any book you like, and I defy you to find in it a single word, a single syllable, a single letter even, that hasn't been used over and over again."

Fellows' Hypophosphites make an old person look years younger. "This witness is true." Would that I could more widely make it known for its many virtues. Long may its inventor live to see the happy fruits of his invention.

Why Not Try It?

The papers teem with examples of wealth thrust suddenly upon simple-minded people in the workshop or on the farm, who have quietly, without proclaiming the fact to every one knew, gone to the post or express office and sent a dollar or two to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or some person at 319 Broadway, New York city, N. Y., and received a whole or half ticket in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the next drawing of which takes place Nov. 11th; and the reader who needs this may be the one who comes next as the fortunate winner of $ 0,000.

Who is the Next?

Daniel Wright, an invalid soldier, about fifty-six years of age, who served two years in Company C, 124th regiment New York volunteers—the Army of the Potomac—living at No. 75 Oakland street, Greenpoint, Brooklyn, L. I., and a pensioner, has received $15,000 for one dollar.

William H. Rogers, for over twenty years the collector of "THE BOSTON POST," sent one dollar, and also received $15,000. The occasion was the September drawing, Louisiana State Lottery. For further information apply by mail or express to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York city.

AROUND HOME.

Atwood Adams, of Greenland, has two acres of potatoes that have not yet been dug.

Schooner John Bracewell, Chatfield master, was towed down the river from Dover on the 4th inst., bound for New York. She has a large quantity of apples on board, shipped in Dover for the New York market.

An elevator, operated by the portable engine, is one of the conveniencies used in the construction of Franklin block; barrows filled with bricks, and men with hods on their shoulders, are taken from one story to another, thus lessening the expense, showing good judgment on the part of the enterprising builders.

The Dover Democrat reports between forty and fifty hands employed at the Great Falls foundry, a larger number than for seven years past; the managers reporting large orders for stoves, drain and gas pipes, etc. At the Salmon Falls cotton mill the operatives are compelled to work over time to fill orders for the increasing demand for the company's cloth.

Mr. C. P. Hodgdon, a native of Epping but now a resident of Lynn, Mass., will speak at Bow mission hall on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. He has lived in Chicago for twenty years, and knows by sad experience the effects of indulging in "light" as well as strong drinks, but for five years past, as a reformed man, has had pleasant experience of the benefits of total abstinence. All are invited.

The Weekly says "Mr. Audrew Wiggin, of Stratham, finding the excellent old well on his homestead ran dry in summer, blasted and dug] it ten feet deeper, and the result is a mineral spring or supply of water, which analyzes just about like Sharon springs, New York, or the White Sulphur springs of Virginia, and though very satisfactory for medicinal puposes, is not exactly the thing for household use."

A schoolboy, son of Mr, Charles Bean, of Epping, had his leg broken while playing at recess on the 30th ult. At the same school and on the same day, a son of Haven Witham, and brother of the young Witham who was recently torn to atoms in the wheel-pit of a tannery, fell in the act of getting over a wall, and broke his arm in two places. The little fellow went into the schoolroom and sat two hours before the accident was made known to the teacher.

The Boston Globe of the 6th inst. contains the following item, of local interest to many, Capt. Hutchings being a native of Kittery, and well known in this city: "While Capt. Hutchings, of Hutchings & Pryor, the City Point boat-builders, was walking on Broadway, between M and N streets, last evening, he was saluted by a man who asked him what time it was. As Mr. Hutchings took out his watch to inform him, the man snatched it and attempted to escape, but Mr. Hutchings struck him with his left hand, felling him to the ground. The man made good his escape before the police could be notified."

Hon. William T. Hamilton, who married a daughter of the late Richard Jenness of this city, and who has just been elected governor of "My Maryland," is one of the wealthiest and most successful farmers of that State; one of his farms, near Hagerstown, was the scene of a brilliant cavalry fight during the late war. His election as governor will necessitate the changing of his residence to Annapolis, the capital, where the State in accordance with its constitution provides a "Governor's mansion," furnishings, servants, etc., pretty much after the manner of the general government of the United States.

The box-sheet of Music hall can be found at W. G. Myers' bookstore on Congress street, where tickets to the Rockingham course of entertainments may be procured. The course this season will require an outlay by the manager of something more than a hundred dollars in excess of the expenditures last year, owing to the very superior character of the entertainments to be given. The cheapest amusements offered in this city for years are afforded by the gallery tickets to this course, which are only $1 each, securing to the holder a good seat at five first-class performances—twenty cents per evening!

Mr. Charles H. Hayes of this city is shipping from Raymond station to Portsmouth 1500 barrels of apples, all of which were raised in Deerfield.

Mr. Charles M. Stevens of Manchester, late mail agent on the trains running between that city and Portsmouth, died in Manchester Nov. 4th, of Bright's disease.

The bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church held their annual meeting at Norfolk, Va., a few days since, and arranged the plan of the Episcopal visitation for 1880, under which Bishop Andrews will visit Great Falls, and Bishop Bowman will be at Saco, Me., both on April 14th.

The caisson of the floating dock at the navy yard, which for fifteen or twenty years past has stood alongside of the timber dock when not in use to close the outer end of the floating dock, was taken between two scows on Tuesday of this week, towed to Seavey's island, and there beached, probably for repairs.

Parties owning the New York city aquarium have signified to Major Urch a desire to take his seal and keep it through the winter, returning it in the spring. The major, however, will not part with his pet, and has it safely housed in his barn, the seal making journeys to the water only three times a week. His sealship has a nice bed of dried eelgrass, and will lie for hours completely buried up in it except his nose, which is generally protruding in the direction of the door, evidently expecting visitors, of whom he is exceedingly fond; and if he can manage to get some one to scratch him, then he is in good humor as much as any fish will ever be.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

Alderman Sanborn, to whom was referred the bill of Charles H. Tucker, for rent, reported recommending that the bill be not paid. Report accepted and adopted.

The usual monthly bills, to the amount of $2393 91, as approved by the committee on accounts, were presented and ordered to be paid.

Engine company No. 1, and Extinguisher company No. 5, asked for one month's advance pay for the purpose of buying fire hats. Granted.

Adjourned for two weeks.

THURSDAY, Nov. 6th.

The court was engaged in hearing the case Griffin vs. Town of Auburn, action to recover damages for an accident caused as is alleged by a defect in the highway.

HARTZ, THE WIZARD.

On Thursday evening Prof. Hartz gave the first of his series of entertainments at Music hall, to an enthusiastic audience; and though the inclement weather no doubt kept many away, the audience made up in applause what they lacked in numbers. The great magician has augmented his former excellent show by a number of new and wonder-exciting tricks, including the suspension feat and supernatural vision. The "second-sight" of Miss Mitchell, who correctly answered all questions asked by the professor as he walked among the audience, was astonishing. Lawton, the comedian, was introduced from a hat borrowed from a spectator, and was loudly applauded for his whistling, dances and songs. The show is really a good one, and Prof. Hartz, as formerly, distributes valuable gifts at each exhibition; on Thursday evening C. S. Frye of this city received a marble-top table, Edw. Jervis of 119 Market street, a clothes-basket full of provisions, Geo. Collum, of No. 2 Commercial alley, a large parlor lamp, and many other useful articles were passed around.

Prof. Hartz will remain only this and to-morrow evenings, giving a matinee to-morrow afternoon; evening tickets to all parts of the house, 25 cents; reserved seats at W. G. Myers' store, without extra charge. Change of programme, and new tricks at each performance.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mrs. Olive Dyer, of Saco, recently deceased, left $30,000 to found a public library in that city.

E. W. Wedgwood, Horace Smith and John M. C. Batchelder, of Biddeford, and Joseph H. Maddox of Saco, left this week for the southern section of North Carolina, to engage in the lumber business.

The York Manufacturing Co., of Saco, is to put in a 500-horse-power engine to run a portion of its mills. The engine is to be built at Salem, Ohio, and is to be delivered in February next. The foundation of the engine house is now being laid.

Mr. Decatur of Kittery point, accompanied by Mr. Richard Philbrick of Kittery foreside and Capt. Thos. S. Eastman, U. S. N., of this city, started on a gunning trip along the eastern shore on Tuesday of this week, in Mr. Decatur's new yacht.

The quarterly meeting of the Free Baptist society of York county began at Lyman on Wednesday morning, the 5th inst., for a two days' session. The bad condition of the roads, owing to the snow, prevented the attendance of many who would otherwise have been present.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, nearly opposite Grand Central Depot. 350 elegant rooms reduced to $1 and upwards per day. JOSEPH S. PFEIFFER.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 1, 1879.

Major Robert Anderson's Patriotism.

In the "Diary of a Public Man," which the North American Review is publishing, it is said that Major Anderson, just before the outbreak of the rebellion, told a friend that he had no expectation of the re-establishment of the government over the seceded States, and that he intended to be governed in his own future course by the course of his own State of Kentucky. In reply to this Mrs. Anderson said the other day to a newspaper correspondent:

So long as my husband lived nobody dared to express a doubt about his loyalty; and now that the charge is tardily made, I desire to answer it with all the force that his wife's word ought to carry. Major Robert Anderson never had it in his heart to go with the secessionists in any possible contingency; but under the strongest pressure from the south, never for an instant faltered in his obedience to the government at Washington.

—Now the aged liar is happy again. He can sit around in the corner grocery, whittle sugar and salt barrels and lie about the heavy snow storms they used to have early in August when he was a boy.—Oil City Derrick.

—An anti-fat spring has been discovered at Anaheim, California. Obese people who drink of the waters immediately begin to lose flesh, and that without any violent action of the water. Samples are to be sent to the Smithsonian Institue at Washington for analysis.

—A little New Haven boy, not a professor's son, was seriously disturbed in his devotions the other evening by his little brother. Sense of duty and inclination warred for a time, but a compromise was finally determined upon, and the little saint observed: "Please Lord, excuse me while I punch brother Johnnie's head." The job having been judiciously performed, our hero resumed his devotions at the point of interruption.

—W. E. Davies, the greatest "bookmaker" the English sporting world ever knew, died recently in London. He was called "the Leviathan," and has been known to lay as much as £100,000 on a single Derby. About a quarter of a century ago his enormous "books" on every important race were the talk of the town. He use! to stand at a desk in a public house in an alley off Fleet street, and take deposits of money for bets against cards that he issued. His word was his bond, and he was thoroughly upright in his dealings.

—How Colorow, the Ute chief leading in the present war, came to be deposed and superseded is thus explained: Colorow, enraged at something, came to Gov. McCook's office, presented a revolver, and said, "McCook liar!" The governor went on writing: "McCook d—— liar!" said Colorow; McCook continued to write. "McCook hell d—— liar!" shouted the big chief. McCook would not look at him. By this time Colorow had concluded there was no fight in the governor, and allowed the hand containing the revolver to drop. The move was a fatal one. In an instant McCook seized his wrist, knocked the weapon away from him, and, catching the astonished Indian by the neck, kicked him down stairs and out into the street, where there were a number of Utes standing about. With great tact McCook pointed to the prostrate and humiliated form of Colorow, and, turning to the Utes, said: "No man to lead braves. Colorow an old woman. Get a man for a chief." Then, turning on his heel, he walked up stairs. The next day the mortified Utes deposed Colorow.

—HAVING THE—

Patent Reflex Coal-Grate and Ash-Sifter,
New Patent Automatic Oven Shelf,
New Patent Extension Leg,
New Patent Double Top,
(No more cracked tops.)

And many other improvements. As perfected, we sincerely believe that the most durable and beautiful range in the world is the

MODEL RANGE

Manufactured by Spicer & Peckham, of Providence, R. I. The Portable Cooking Range is the best adapted to do work surely and quickly, of any device yet made. There are many sizes. They do all work evenly and steadily, with a great saving of fuel. No expense has been spared to make the Model Range first-class in every particular, and it is presented to the public as one that is admitted even by competing manufacturers to be the most neatly ornamented and perfectly proportioned Range yet made.

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and curve flue will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

This Range, with a large variety of other

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOES SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And probably in this, it is not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day freely tendered by grateful people in favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, because the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and last, not least, a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this letter will be obviated.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which organize 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCullin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company) and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.00 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Daily Chronicle.

Reunited.

The front door of a neat house, of moderate pretensions, just outside of an Indiana town, was hastily opened as night was coming on and a man was thrust violently into the street, or rather the road.

The man who was ejected was young, and might have been handsome had it not been for the dissipated appearance of his features and untidiness of his dress. At the moment he was evidently intoxicated.

The man who ejected him was an elderly gentleman, whose face was red with honest indignation, which also showed itself in his voice and in his language.

Albert Wakely was a lawyer of ability and promise when he married John Byrd's daughter Mary, although he had already contracted a fondness for drink.

This passion did not abate after his marriage, but grew upon him, and at the birth of his boy he had become no better than a loafer, sheltering himself with his wife in the house of his father-in-law, to whom his family looked for all the necessaries of life.

John Byrd was not the man to patiently endure his son-in-law's worthlessness and ill-treatment of his wife, and at last, when Wakely came crawling into the house after a prolonged absence and debauch, he opened the door and expelled him forcibly.

'Go off!' he exclaimed with his voice full of anger. 'Go off, Albert Wakely, and never darken my doors again! You have no longer a home here, and you shall never set your foot in my house after this.'

Wakely murmured something about wanting to see his wife.

'She don't want to see you. She is no longer your wife. Go off, I say! Nobody here cares what becomes of you.'

The old man went back into the house and closed and locked the door, while the young one stumbled up the road, his hat over his eyes, and his faculties apparently dazed.

He thus wandered on, never looking up, nor glancing to the right or left, stupid and purposeless, until he reached the bank of a stream.

Ignoring the bridge, he would have walked into the water if he had not been seized and forcibly restrained by a man who had noticed his strange movements.

'What, Wakely, is this you? Where are you going?'

'I don't know,' was the sleepy reply.

'Where am I?'

'You would now be in the water if I had not stopped you. You have been drinking, Wakely. Come, let me take you home.'

At this word Wakely suddenly straightened himself up, raised his hat and pushed the hair from his face.

'Home?' he exclaimed. 'I have no home.'

In response to the wondering questions of the other he related, more lucidly than might have been expected, the story of his expulsion from John Byrd's house.

'That's nothing,' said his friend. 'Come to town with me, and straighten up, and it will be all right in the morning.'

'It will never be right, Mr. Henderson,' replied Wakely. 'This is the end of it. I have been driven out and I deserve it, and I will never set foot in John Byrd's house again. That is not all. I will never drink another drop of liquor as long as I live, so help me heaven!'

'Don't be rash. It is a good thing to quit, but you will have to ease off, you know.'

'Never! I will not touch another drop if I die for it. I mean to leave here and to lead a new life under a new name.'

'If you really mean that, Wakely, I can put you in the way to make a man of yourself. I am going to Colorado. Go with me and I will pay your way and help you to make your own start in life.'

'If you will do that, Mr. Henderson, you will earn my life-long gratitude.'

When John Byrd re-entered his house he found his daughter Mary sobbing as if her heart would break.

'What have you done, father?' she asked. 'What have you done?'

'I have driven away that worthless vagabond,' he roughly replied, 'and have ordered him never to darken my doors again.'

'You might have given him another chance. He is my husband, and he is the father of my child.'

'He has had chance enough. He shall not be your husband much longer. He shall torture you no more. I will get a divorce for you.'

'I want no divorce,' said Mary.

'You don't know what you want. You need a divorce and you shall have it. I have taken this matter into my own hands. Worsham is ready and anxious to marry you.'

* * * * * *

Six years have passed since Albert Wakely was summarily ejected from the house of his father-in-law.

At the mouth of a canon in southern Colorado, where the tortured torrent that has passed through the cleft in the mountains becomes a placid stream as it debouches on a broad and fertile valley, a single "prarie schooner" has stopped, and its driver, a rude, red-shirted fellow, is seen in conversation with an old man, who is evidently expostulating with him in vain.

'It's no use,' said the driver at last; 'I've gone as far as your money will justify, and further, and here I mean to quit. If you ever expect to stop anywhere this is as good a place as you will find. If you want either work or help General Chance is likely to give it to you.'

'Does he own this valley?' asked the old man.

'He owns ever so many acres of land, the San Benito silver mine and more horses, cattle and sheep than you can count. But here comes one of his ranchmen, and I will turn you over to him.'

The driver explained the circumstances of his 'freight' to the ranchman, who requested the old man to accompany him to 'the house,' and the latter patiently complied with the request, leading by the hand a bright little boy.

They soon reached 'the house,' a low and straggling collection of buildings, and were ushered into the presence of its owner, a tall and fine looking man, with his face covered with a heavy beard and his eyes shaded by a wide slouched hat, who was seated in a rawhide chair reading a newspaper and smoking a long pipe. He listened in silence and with apparent indifference to the story the ranchman told him.

'What is your name?' he asked, addressing the old man.

'John Byrd, sir.'

'Where are you from?'

'From Indiana.'

'Ah! Any family with you?'

'My daughter, Mrs. Worsham and her child.'

'Widow, I suppose?'

'Her husband is dead, sir,' patiently replied Byrd, although he resented the tone of these inquiries.

'First husband, or second?'

'Mr. Worsham was her second. She had been married to a drunken, worthless vagabond whom I was compelled to drive away.'

'Quite right, Mr. Byrd—exactly right. What become of the vagabond?'

'I don't know.'

'Died, I suppose. It is of no consequence what became of him. Then a divorce followed?'

"Yes sir. I insisted upon a divorce against my daughter's wish, and she married Mr. Worsham, a well-to-do man. But bad luck fastened upon us and never let go. Mr. Worsham died insolvent, and one reverse after another swept away my little property and I was forced to come out here to try to begin life again. It is a hard task, sir, for an old man."

'I should say so. You ought to have remained among your friends. What boy is that?'

'My grandson,' faintly replied Byrd, who was weary of this style of questioning.

'Son of the vagabond or of Worsham?'

'Albert is the son of my daughter's first husband.'

'I have taken a fancy to him. You want a home and I will tell you what I will do. Give me that boy and I will give you a fine ranch, well stocked, with everything you need to make you comfortable. Is it a bargain?'

'Do you expect me trade off my daughter's child?' indignantly demanded Byrd.

'I forgot about her. Of course she has an interest in him. Suppose you ask her. She ought to be willing to accept a comfortable home for life, when she knows that the boy will be well provided for.'

'I will bring her here if you wish.'

'No; I don't want to see any woman folks. Ask her and bring me word.'

'I will ask her,' replied the old man; 'but I know well what her answer will be.'

John Byrd soon returned and informed Gen. Chance that Mrs. Worsham had refused to accept his offer, declaring that she would rather die than be parted from her boy.

'Very well,' said that gentleman. 'That is all I have to say to you. You may go.'

John Byrd sadly left the house, and its owner signed to the ranchman to remain.

'Mr. Whipps,' said he, 'I wish you would follow that old man. Take him and his family down to Hiller's ranch, which is vacant, and settle them there, supply them with stock, provisions and everything they need to make them comfortable, and let me know if money is needed.'

So John Byrd and his little family, greatly to their surprise, were settled and made more than comfortable.

There was nothing to trouble them but the uncertainty of their tenure and the fear that a new direction might be taken by the peculiar disposition of their strange benefactor, who would not allow Mrs. Worsham to come near his house, saying that he 'didn't want to see any woman folks.'

He only endured her father, but was very friendly to the boy, whom he presented with a fine pony and a saddle. For his own part, he seemed determined not to show his face at the Hiller ranch.

Providence, however, was disposed to set aside this determination.

As he was returning one day from a distant stock farm his horse shied and threw him near the Hiller ranch, dragging him for some distance by the stirrup. He was carried into Mr. Byrd's house, where it was discovered that his head and face were so badly cut and bruised that it would be necessary to remove his hair and beard.

When this operation had been performed Mrs. Worsham came into the room for the purpose of helping to dress his wounds, and fairly shrieked as she saw him.

'Albert Wakely!' she exclaimed. 'Is it really you?'

'Yes, Mary, it is I,' quietly replied Gen. Chance. 'If you are going to do anything for me, please do it without a fuss.'

Mary Worsham took care of him, and he encouraged her attendance. When he was stronger he spoke to her more freely.

'Mary, did you really object to a divorce and your second marriage?'

'Yes, Albert, I never loved my man but the father of my child, in spite of his great fault, and I objected to everything that could injure you. But you ought not to blame father. He meant to act for the best.'

'I do not blame him. It was for the best. It made a man of me, and I am, as I ought to be, deeply grateful to him. Mary, that is a fine boy of ours.'

Within a month there was a wedding on the San Benito estate which was made such an occasion of rejoicing as to be long remembered in that region. The contracting parties were Walter Chance, as he was still determined to be known, and Mary, widow of Abram Worsham.

Better and Better.

The latest returns of the New York election up to daylight on Friday, from the sixty counties in the State, show that all the republican State ticket, with perhaps the exception of Soule for State engineer, is elected. The Times says that Hoskins' majority over Potter is 1100 for lieutenant-governor; Wadsworth has 5000 majority over Olcott for controller; Carr nearly the same majority over Beach for secretary of State. The Senate by amended returns will stand twenty-five republicans to seven democrats, and the Assembly ninety-four republicans to thirty-four democrats.

News and Notes.

Mrs. George Hall of Bath, Me., recently took up a pistol which she supposed was not loaded, and fired the contents, which proved to be powder and wadding, into the face of her little six-year-old girl. It is thought the child's eyes are injured permanently.

On the 1st inst. three Indian murderers, confined in the jail at Yakima, Washington Territory, assaulted the jailor with a slungshot, improvised with a stone. He escaped into an adjoining room used as an armory. The Indians seized muskets, and bayoneted him, when the jailor got a revolver and shot all three. One was mortally wounded; the others will probably live to be hanged on the 22d inst. The jailor will recover.

Phillipart, the French financier who failed in 1874 with liabilities of 28,000,000 francs, has just failed again with very moderate liabilities—only 6,800,000 francs.

The contest in Ireland with the tenant farmers is growing more serious each day. Few Irish landlords can get any rent at all, and matters are evidently approaching a crisis. The Irish Land League calls on the farmers for practical assistance toward securing the soil of Ireland for those who cultivate it.

A San Francisco despatch tells of a gigantic scheme by Mexicans and citizens of the United States to capture the Mexican government and establish a new one modeled after a plan advised by bankers and railroad magnates.

The house and outbuildings of Isaac F. Spofford in Brownfield, Me., were burned last Thursday, and Spofford perished in the flames.

There is great excitement at Corinna, Me., over the gold mines recently discovered in that town.

The New York Stock Exchange has voted to receive forty new members, who are to pay an initiation fee of $10,000 each. The fee will then be increased to $20,000.

Maj. Reno, who was tried in Chicago last winter for cowardice in the Custer fight, and who had previously been suspended on account of his conduct toward Mrs. Bell, wife of one of the officers of his regiment, is again in trouble. Gen. Sturgis charges him with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Frederick B. Webster, who it is alleged committed the murderous assault on Chester Goodale, in Sheffield, Mass., two months ago, was found hidden in a haystack at Charinville, Conn., and arrested, Thursday afternoon. He is suspected of arson committed in Charinville a few nights ago.

Edward S. Stokes, that once dashing young swell, who used to pay a Union-square tailor $1500 a year to keep him respectably clothed, and who created a sensation by shooting James Fisk Jr., has just returned from San Francisco to New York. He is said to be but the shadow of his former self; his hair and moustache are white, and he looks like an old man.

Henry Kelley, Esq., president of the First national bank in Fairfield, Me., and whose age is upwards of sixty years, was a few days since presented by his wife with a bouncing baby daughter. His last previous child was born some twenty years ago.

Political.

It is now no longer a concealed fact that the entire democracy of Massachusetts was sold out to Ben Butler, and he has a receipted bill for the same on file for future reference. At the same time it was arranged that Charles L. Woodbury and a few "national stagers" should, as the men passed by and were counted, stand in the doorway of the Boston Post (moriem) office, and utter the cry, "Oh, my, what a pity." The Faneuil hall resolutions were made for future national campaign vouchers, but the property was sold out unblushingly, and that none of the rank and file should revolt, the total ballots to be cast by the unterrified had attached a certificate reading "This ballot contains only the regular democratic nominees and is issued by authority of the Boston democratic city committee" with a fac simile of the sign manual of John F. Dever, secretary, attached. A contract for the sale and delivery of a political party was never more thoroughly carried out than was the trade between Butler, who knew his men, and the managers of the conveniently small democratic party in Massachusetts, and while they are berated by their brethren in other States for this breach of good faith to the party principles, the sellers of the Irish vote sit in their club rooms and "smile."

It is evident from the voting at the late elections that Senator Kernan of New York, Eaton of Connecticut, Thurman of Ohio and Randolph of New Jersey, democrats, will be succeeded by republicans.

The "readjusters" in Virginia, who propose to steal all the property of the State's creditors, at the recent election triumphed over the "funders," who only wanted to steal half of it. So far as honesty is concerned there is no great difference between the two parties; and the leaders of both are high-toned "gentlemen, sah!"

Denis Kearney has created another sensation in California by organizing a secret society to be called "The Jacobins," whose object is to hang every man who shall employ Chinese, or in any way encourage Chinese labor.

The democratic Courier-Journal, of Louisville, Ky., says of the late Senator Chandler: "There is no stain upon his private honor. He never betrayed a friend. He never struck an enemy in the back."

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying millions to each shareholder. AROUND HOME.

Mr. C. G. Tappan, of Hampton, gathered sixty bushels of apples from one tree this season. Mr. Daniel M. Weare of the same town has this year raised 555 bushels of merchantable potatoes.

Potatoes are reported as rotting badly in Stratham, Andrew W. Smith losing about three hundred bushels by this disease, out of a total crop of about fifteen hundred bushels.

Francis P. Harvey, of Stratham, who was injured by the fall of a derrick at Franklin block in this city some days ago, has recovered from his injuries, and resumed work on Monday morning, the 3d inst.

Charles Main, Esq., of the firm of Main & Winchester in San Francisco, is not the Charles Main who was one of the bondsmen of Mayor Kalloch, recently elected in that city, as has been stated by the eastern press.

Editor Chronicle: — Some of our citizens who received complimentary tickets to the entertainment by Prof. Hartz, were refused admission to the hall on them. Such action shows a lack of courtesy which must act to the prejudice of the professor. ONE OF THEM.

Rev. E. J. Smith was ordained pastor of the Advent church at Rye a few days ago. Elder Charles E. Hurd gave the opening prayer, Elder Joseph White the right hand of fellowship, Rev. Mr. Sunderland the charge to the pastor and a prayer, and Rev. Mr. Smith an address; benediction by Elder Hurd. A select choir from this city furnished the singing, the congregation joining in some parts of the service.

On Thursday evening the schooner Gav. Goodwin arrived at Doane's wharf with thirty-five barrels of mackerel, and on Friday afternoon the schooner Daniel Marcy brought in forty-six barrels. The Daniel Marcy has been head line of the fleet this season, having caught twenty-three hundred barrels of mackerel. The Gov. Goodwin's total fare will rise fifteen hundred barrels. Both vessels have gone into winter quarters.

It is proposed to have in Boston a society for the beautifying and adorning the city, and at a recent meeting of persons interested a committee was formed with Hon. M. Parry Kennard, a native of this city, as chairman, to arrange a proper plan of organization. Perhaps we shall see Boston preserve and protect her remaining relics of past days, and adorn her public places with appropriate statues, if the projected ideas of the society are acted upon properly.

Eber Eastman, Esq., of Haverhill in this State, is possessed of remarkable eyesight for a man seventy-nine years old. He has recently sent to Hon. John R. Reding, of this city, the Lord's prayer, written without the aid of spectacles or magnifying-glass, upon a piece of paper three-eighths of an inch square; the letters are elegantly and correctly formed, and when seen through a magnifying-glass, (and that is the only way we can see them) looks like the work of an engraver on parchment.

Several days ago we were informed that a gentleman in this city had received a letter from his son, who is on board the barque Furness Abbey, commanded by Capt. Henry Libby, giving an account of the attempted firing of the vessel by one of the officers; but we were earnestly requested by the young man's family not to mention the affair, and should not now do so but for the fact that an account of it has since then been published, and in such a manner as to leave it a reasonable inference that the guilty officer was Mr. Richard T. Call of this city, second mate of the barque, though we have no idea such an inference was intended to be conveyed. It appears that the first mate and carpenter of the barque had some trouble while at sea, on the passage from New York to Hioga, Japan; and a few evenings afterward, as Mr. Call and the carpenter were talking, the former noticed a flash of fire at his feet, which he instantly extinguished. Investigation showed that it came from a fuse which led to the hold; and had the fire reached the cargo (petroleum) an explosion would have taken place and the ship have been destroyed, as a large amount of gas escapes from petroleum. The affair was kept quiet and the mate closely watched until the Furness Abbey arrived at Hioga, when the suspected officer was arrested and taken on shore for trial.

When any party talks of rum policemen we think he must have reference to the force as it was twenty years ago, when an officer would go on night duty and then go home to deal out liquors to customers. Certainly, now the times are changed as well as the class of officers. We don't know of any of them who drink, nor do we know of any of them preaching temperance who give an order occasionally for a couple cases of lager to be sent to their homes. There are no rum policemen on the city force just now. —Dover Democrat.

Governor-elect Hamilton of Maryland, who is a "Son of Portsmouth" by brevet, being (as has before been stated) a son-in-law to Mrs. Richard Jenness, is in many points rather above the average man selected as a candidate for governor. He was born in Washington county, Maryland, Sept. 8th, 1820; and after receiving an academic education and spending some time at Jefferson college, Pa., studied law and began its practice at Hagerstown. In politics he has been prominent and successful for more than thirty years. He was a member of the Maryland legislature in 1846; served in Congress as a democrat for three terms, ending March 4th, 1855, and was elected to the United States Senate for the term ending March 4th, 1875. In 1875 he was defeated for the democratic nomination for governor by Mr. John Lee Carroll, but he was more successful at the convention in August last, and at the late election triumphed over his republican competitor by a majority of from 17,000 to 22,000.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

FRIDAY, Nov. 7th.

In the case of Griffin vs. Auburn, the plaintiff rested the case on Friday forenoon, and on the coming in of the court in the afternoon the opening of the case upon the part of the defendant was made by Mr. Hatch, who claimed that the surveyor of highways, and not the town, was at fault if there was any defect in the highway, and this plaintiff was at the time of the alleged accident the surveyor of highways and responsible to the town. Cross, Stevens of Nashua, and Frink for plff.; Hatch, Marston, and Fellows of Manchester, for the deft.

All jurors save those engaged upon the present trial were discharged on Wednesday. Ezra M. Currier of East Kingston is foreman of the jury on this case.

The following are the petit jurors to serve from the 12th inst. to the close of the term: Benjamin Plumer, Stephen L. Marston, Stacey Hall, Nathaniel Foster, Charles W. Holmes, Portsmouth; John H. Kimball, Edward K. Walker, Exeter; Rufus Yeaton, Chandler Martin, Newcastle; Clark M. Coleman, Amos Dame, Newington; Simeon Rowell, Thomas C. Ingalls, Newton; Pepperell Frost, James W. Barton, North Hampton; Charles O. Brown, Ezra Tasker, Northwood; Elbridge G. Marston, Arthur M. Chase, Nottingham; Daniel Flanders, John B. Bryant, Plaistow; James T. Dudley, Horace G. Whittier, Raymond; Supply F. Trefethen, Joseph W. Seavey, Rye; Horace B. Silver, Benning Sanborn, Sandown; John N. Chase, Seabrook; Moses J. Eaton, South Hampton; William E. Gilson, South Newmarket; Samuel J. Sinclair, Stratham.

HARTZ, THE WIZARD.

The audience on Friday evening was very much larger than at the first entertainment, many of those present at the first performance again attending. New tricks in legerdemain, astonishing, amusing and inexplicable, were introduced, and the interest was kept up throughout the evening. Lawton, the comedian, again appeared, and again was heartily applauded. Useful and valuable presents were distributed among the audience in liberal numbers, the principal gift, a gold watch, being awarded to D. McGrath, of No. 52 Bow street.

This afternoon at two o'clock Prof. Hartz will give a matinee, at a reduced price of admission—twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for children; and this evening the closing entertainment of the series will be given. The leading gift this evening will be a set of furniture.

A JUDICIOUS SELECTION.

The managers of the Eastern railroad have done well in taking from among the active, practical and trained men in their service Mr. Daniel W. Sanborn, to fill the office of master of transportation. Mr. Sanborn began years ago as brakeman, and was subsequently baggage master on the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad between this city and Portland before the present mode of running the line was in vogue; and he has advanced by long schooling to the present position, with a constant familiarity of the capacities of the Eastern road, and an acquaintance of an almost unlimited extent with the patrons of the railway lines between Boston and Bangor and the remote east.

Mr. Sanborn is a New Hampshire born man,—a native of Wakefield; and though not loud in his own praises, and modest rather than prominent, yet is a solid and substantial man, of clear head, good judgment and sound practical ideas. His record as a conductor is of the highest order. If any of the trains he was running should break down from any cause, his judgment, prudence and skill were at once seen. He knew his business, and did his duty without making a fuss about it. To the patrons as well as the owners and bondholders of the Eastern, it is a gain to have a man taken from among the experienced employees of the road for this position. He knows everybody connected with the road, and all the wants and capacities of the property, and will not, as in the case of an appointee selected from some distant service, have to spend time to learn all these preliminary matters. Besides, he will have the good will and hearty co-operation of all the subordinate force upon the road, without which a man is necessarily weak as an executive.

In the recent selection of president and master of transportation the corporation has been exceedingly fortunate. There have been errors in this respect in the past, at no little cost to the "old line," but now it is hoped a new era of prosperity is in store for this long depressed, yet buoyant property.

CHOICE, THOUGH CHEAP.

Stoddart & Co., of Philadelphia, the eminent music-publishers, are now issuing four series of musical works which are at least equal to anything we have ever seen in that line. Each series is in monthly parts, beautifully printed with clear, handsome type, on paper fully equal to that on which the best sheet-music is printed; and each number is illustrated with two very handsome pictures, in themselves worth half the subscription price. There have been plenty of musical compilations issued in monthly parts, but always consisting largely of pieces already pretty well worn out; but the works we now speak of are filled with the latest productions of the European composers, selected and arranged by Sep Winner, so that the subscribers will receive each month the choicest musical gems from over the sea, long before they become generally familiar. Mr. Standish J. Sullivan, Stoddart & Co.'s agent, is canvassing this city for these meritorious publications; from what we have seen of him, we believe him to be a gentleman; and we know that the works he is canvassing for are well worth the inspection of all persons of musical taste.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Assistant Engineer O. P. Remick, U. S. R. M., of Kittery, has been ordered to the United States revenue cutter "Dexter," at Newport, R. I.

Over 40,000 cucumbers for pickling were grown by Mr. Burlingt on Paul, of York, the past season. Had it not been for the early frost in September he would have had 10,000 more.

A New York despatch of the 6th inst. says: "The large fortune of William L. Cogswell, who died here yesterday, will go to relatives in South Berwick, Me., there being no relatives here."

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

—At an inquest on the body of a child drowned in the Dearne, at Darfield, in England, it was stated that a person described as a "second-hand" gentleman, had passed the child struggling in the water, and meeting the father told him that if he made haste he might be in time to save the child. It was, however, too late. The person, whose name did not transpire, gave as his reason for not rescuing the child that he was going a long way, and did not want to get his feet wet.

The Reformer and Vitalizer of the Blood

The Producer and Invigorator of Nerve and Muscle.

The Builder and Supporter of Brain Power.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since Birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the disease; skin (or cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face, since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the chin, ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface at the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,

With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS,

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works like a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Texas Climate.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a five-box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, esp cially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am noising it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.

MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and keeps the scalp clean and the hair soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is duly assisted in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is Toilet as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the tender skin. Infants evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 170 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing three and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. It never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the responses and testimony so to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily assert its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but all are publicly grateful to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that stage that I must have relief or die. The soft membranes of my system had become so inflamed and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 60—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring place their risks in the above companies, some of which have been represented in this vicinity for nearly fifty years.

All losses will be promptly adjusted and paid by the undersigned.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCrackin Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company), and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be reserved until the certificate of stock is promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

Daily Chronicle.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6th.

Politicians here say that Tuesday's elections do not make or mar the chances of any aspirant in any section for the honors of a presidential nomination by either party. Among those candidates who have positive support, but who, neither by themselves nor through their friends, attempt to keep themselves before the people as candidates—for which Senator Windom of Minnesota is a fair representative on the republican side—there was probably some rejoicing, not only at the reported withdrawal of Grant, but at the general result of yesterday's voting. But I have assurances from high sources that in case Gen. Grant receives a unanimous nomination, or one nearly approaching it, he will become the republican candidate.

The movement to have Messrs. Conkling, Evarts, Blaine and other republican leaders go to Louisiana to speak for their party, originated here. Secretary Evarts expressed a willingness to go. It was said last night by a friend of his, he being then out of town, that the secretary had determined to go, and had made his arrangements.

Secretary Sherman says that in ten years we shall double our exports.

We have before mentioned the impropriety of having two heads of departments held responsible for the management of the Indians. Gen. Sherman in a report just made calls attention to the same absurdity. The blame for mistakes, however apparent, and however terrible the results may be, can never be properly placed. For the troubles which led to the slaughter of Custer, Thornburgh, and other valuable officers, and hundreds of enlisted men, each department holds the other responsible. Many object to a transfer of the whole Indian bureau to the war department, and it is not clear that army officers generally desire such transfer; but it is reasonably certain that the people will demand of Congress, at its next session, action of some kind on the subject.

I think the coming meeting here of the Army of the Cumberland Society, at which the statue of Gen. Geo. H. Thomas will be unveiled, will be the largest ever held in the district. There seems to be a determination among ex-soldiers of that army, and soldiers of other organizations of the federal army, to do honor to the memory of this gallant and able officer, and I can assure every one that the citizens of Washington will perform their part on the occasion. KNOX.

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

Portsmouth Chronicle

Startling Marine Disaster.

Ship Lady Octavia, from Delaware breakwater for New York, on Friday morning, when about thirty-five miles off the capes, ran down and sunk the steamer Champion, from New York for Charleston. Thirty-five lives are reported lost, twenty-five being saved. The steamer was struck amidships, and went down in five minutes.

News and Notes.

Carle & Sons' cracker and candy factory at Kansas City, Mo., comprising four three-story brick buildings, was blown down on Saturday, probably by a starch explosion, and all the buildings destroyed, the ruins taking fire immediately. Three girls were killed, and four men; 107 persons were at work in the factory when the explosion occurred.

James Norris was found dead in a mill at Bradly, Me., Saturday morning, with his throat cut. Murder is suspected.

The returns of the Hartford insurance companies show that wherever a tramp law has been enforced there has been a wonderful decrease of incendiary fires.

In a fight at Carondelet, Mo., Thursday night, Pat Gallagher split Henry Freund's head open, killing him instantly, with a shovel. Gallagher was fatally injured.

The wife of S. D. Phillips, at Buffalo City, Ark., chopped her husband to pieces with an axe while he was asleep, on Monday night, the 3d inst., dragged the remains into the front yard, and then went to bed, where she was arrested.

Mr. James Alexander, formerly agent of the Cunard line in Boston, is dead.

There is no clue to the little girl lost in West Jay, Vt., last month. People who believed she was lost in the woods have abandoned the idea, and now think she has been kidnapped.

An important piece of testimony in the Hayden murder case has just come to light, and is to the effect that there have been found on Mary Stannard's right cheek, which has been preserved at the Yale medical school, seventeen indentations which correspond exactly to seventeen nails in the heel of Mr. Hayden's left brogan, which he wore on the day of the murder. It is claimed by the State that Hayden put his foot on the girl's face when he cut her throat, and the indentations were made by the nails on the boot heel at that time. This is considered a vital point in the case, as it sends to fix to a certainty the personality of the murderer.

A monster chain, one of the largest ever made in this country, was on exhibition in Boston last Thursday. It was made at South Boston, and is 450 feet long and weighs 28,000 pounds, each link weighing about sixty pounds. It was made for Mr. Robert Palmer of Noank, Conn., for a marine railway, and will be used for hauling up on the ways the largest Sound steamers.

A surprising improvement has taken place in the mental condition of the Empress Carlotta, widow of the Emperor Maximilian, who was slain in Mexico. Her mental faculties, which have been so long deranged, appear to have been almost miraculously restored. She converses with perfect lucidity, her memory has returned, and the long night of oblivion and insanity which has overshadowed her seems to have given way to the return of reason and memory.

Miss Stanton, the only surviving child of Edwin M. Stanton, the great war secretary, is engaged to be married to Lieut. Bush of the 5th United States artillery. She was once engaged for twenty-four hours to the Turkish minister at Washington, but upon being informed by him that she would be one of many wives in Turkey, she gave His Excellency one of the very largest-sized mittens that could be procured on an instant's notice.

The working of some of our recent Congressional legislation was illustrated on the occasion of General Hooker's funeral. Twenty men had been despatched from Governor's Island to Long Island City, to serve as a guard of honor, when it was remembered that it was election day in New York. As the soldiers could not appear near the polls with arms in their hands on that day a messenger was posted after them, a portion of the guard ordered back to Governor's Island and the rest disarmed. The imagination is appalled at the thought of the dangers which the liberties of this great people have so narrowly escaped. The infinitesimal fraction of a federal bayonet, which might have been distributed to each one of the election districts in New York city, would, no doubt, on homeopathic principles have operated all the mere powerfully because of its tenuity.—Army & Navy Journal.

New Publications.

We have received from the publishing house of Arthur P. Schidt, No. 146 Tremont street, Boston, the following pieces of music: "Under the willows," waltz, by Ernest Leslie; "Gavotte Favori," by H. H. Strachauer; "Bismarck, march militaire," by Dr. H. Perabeau; "Lullaby," a song, by J. H. Wilson; and Litolff's Musical World for November, containing five pieces of music.

We advise our readers, whether they own a foot of land or not, to supply themselves with that treasure of useful, practical, reliable information, the American Agriculturist, so named because started thirty-eight years ago as a rural journal, but now enlarged to embrace a great variety of most useful reading for the household, children included; for the garden, as well as the farm—for all classes. Each volume gives some 800 original engravings, with descriptions of labor-saving and labor-helping contrivances, of plants, fruits, flowers, animals, etc., including many large and pleasing, as well as instructive, pictures for young and old. The constant, systematic exposures of humbugs and swindling schemes by the Agriculturist are of great value to every one, and will save to most persons many times its cost. Altogether, it is one of the most valuable, as well as cheapest, journals anywhere to be found. The cost is only $1.50 a year, or four copies for $5; single numbers fifteen cents. Subscribe at once for 1880, and receive the rest of this year free, or send three-cent stamp for postage on a specimen copy. Address Orange Judd Company, publishers, 245 Broadway, New York.

Harper's "Young People." Harper & Brothers of New York have at last supplied the young people with what they have much wanted, a weekly paper, the contents of which are lively and interesting, and at the same time of a tone that cannot be objected to. Young people prefer reading of a good character, if it is bright and amusing, and this paper will do much to root out the pernicious stuff that has been so much perused by the juveniles, because the only obtainable "good" papers were mortally tedious. It contains continued and short stories, brief articles in regard to matters of interest, poems, puzzle and humorous departments and a "letter box." A feature of the paper is its illustrations, which are handsomely executed and are of noticeable excellence of design. A new serial is promised soon from the pen of George Macdonald.

Naval Affairs.

Chief Eng. B. F. Isherwood was senior member, and Asst. Naval Contructor J. F. Hanscom a member, of a board appointed to witness the trial, at Bristol, R. I., November 5th, of steam launches fitted with Herreschoff's improved boilers.

Pay Director U. H. Eldredge was senoir member of the board convened at the New York navy yard Nov. 5th, to inspect the stores of clothing on hand at that yard.

Capt. Daniel L. Braine is ordered to hold himself in readiness to command the Powhatan.

Comdr. Henry Erben is ordered for examination for promotion.

First Lieut. B. R. Russell, commanding the marine guard of the Minnesota, is granted leave of absence for thirty days from Nov. 10th.

The Alliance, Comdr. Yates, sailed from Madeira for Boston Oct. 30th.

Rear Admiral Howell reports to the navy department, under date of October 20th, that the Quinnebaug that day sailed for the western coast of Italy. The Enterprise had been ordered to visit Tripoli, Alexandria, Smyrna, Constantinople and Athens. The Trenton was to proceed to Gibraltar, to meet the Constellation with a relief crew for the former vessel.

The commandant of the Asiatic squadron, under date of Oct. 6th, reports the Richmond at Yokohama, Japan, to sail next day for Shanghai, China, thence to Hook Kong and Manila. The Ashuelot, Monocacy and Palos had proceeded to Shanghai, and the Alert would do so. The Palos would winter at Tien Tsin. The Ranger would remain at Yokohama until her departure for San Francisco.

New Hampshire Items.

The New Hampshire congressional delegation will live on Capitol hill in Washington the coming winter. Senator Blaine boards where he did last year, on East Capitol street; Senator Blair keeps house near by; Representative Hall boards in the neighborhood, and Representatives Briggs and Farr will each keep house not far away.

A cider manufacturer at Tuftonboro' recently found furs valued at $2,000 in a cask purchased of a liquor dealer in Boston.

Stebbins' block at Hinsdale was burned Saturday morning, ten stores and three families being burned out. Loss $19,500; partially insured.

George B. Fiske, a prominent saloon keeper of Nashua, was on Friday consigned to Manchester jail in want of sureties in $500 to appear at the January term. His offense was obtaining money under false pretenses from Mrs. Ives, to cancel a mortgage on his saloon property, which he failed to do.

Benjamin Loud of Littleton, seventy-five years old and highly respected, cut his throat in his barn with a razor, Friday morning, and was dead when found. He was the fifth member of his family to commit suicide. He appeared rational in the morning, but would not eat breakfast, saying he should not live long and would not need any. He was shortly afterward found dead in the barn.

Dudley H. Lewis, stage driver between Alstead and Marlow, was instantly killed Saturday morning by the overturning of the stage.

The official majority for the republican ticket in Pennsylvania is 58,675. The prohibition and greenback parties seem to have got lost in the woods on election day. Pennsylvania can hardly be reckoned as a "doubtful" State.

Wealth Easily Obtained.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying millions to each shareholder. The new combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $10,000. The money of thousands of customers thus massed in one mighty sum, and operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant successes. A hotel keeper in Ohio invested $100 in a combination, which netted $478. Three reinvestments resulted in a total profit of $13,801.18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a combination, which yielded a profit of $2,817.04; two reinvestments netted him $8,644.31. A Chicago merchant made $43,510.41 in four months of combination investments. New explanatory circular with "rules for unerring success." Apply to Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. AROUND HOME.

Seaside Lodge, on Pocahontas point, was open and had its flag flying on Sunday.

Mr. James Janvrin has sold one of his houses on Wibird street to Mr. Moses Garland.

We shall publish to-morrow a sketch of the Portsmouth Lyceum as it existed forty years ago.

St. Mary's Benevolent Society have engaged Congress hall for a ball on Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 26th.

About one o'clock in the morning on the 13th inst., it is said, will occur the most brilliant meteoric shower since 1863.

Samuel Stringer secured the chamberset at Music hall, Saturday night, in the distribution of gifts at the entertainment by Prof. Hartz.

Messrs. N. F. Mathes and Charles H. Hayes have recently purchased between ten and twelve hundred barrels of apples, and now have agents out, buying more.

Lemuel McIntire and Eugene Foote, who have for some time been employed at the Eastern railroad station in this city and have the name of being capable young men, have been dropped from the pay roll of the corporation, and their places taken by parties from Dover, under the regime of the newly-appointed station-master, Mr. Winslow T. Perkins.

A team loaded with empty barrels, bound for Stratham, was an hour and forty minutes making the distance from the North church to the Kearsarge house, Saturday afternoon; the driver could not make his barrels stay on, one barrel distinguishing itself by rolling off six times, causing much merriment among the spectators, but disgust and ill temper to the driver.

Rev. Matthew Hale Smith died at his residence in South Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday, of pneumonia. Mr. Smith was the son of Rev. Elias Smith, formerly of this city; and when the Sons of Portsmouth came home for the first time, in 1853, he attended the great meetings of the Sons in Boston held in Cochituate hall, (he then residing in that city,) and took an active part in the "Portsmouth Jubilee." He was at first a Universalist minister, then a Presbyterian, then an Episcopolian and finally a Baptist; but his greatest reputation has been gained as a journalist, lecturer and author, and as "Burleigh," of the Boston Journal, he has been widely known for twenty years. One of his latest books, which consists of anecdotes of various people, is called "Successful Folks," and is in some respects rather a singular production. He also at one time practised law; but since his removal to New York, some years ago, he has been engaged principally as a professional correspondent for several newspapers in different parts of the country. His age was sixty-three years.

The funeral of the late William R. Preston took place from his late residence on Middle street, at noon on Saturday. The services were conducted by Rev. James DeNormandie, assisted by Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., of Cambridge, Mass.; suitable selections, by a quartette of voices, added to the impressiveness of the occasion. The floral tributes were varied and beautifully appropriate; they evinced the kindly remembrance for one whose floral tastes were so widely known. There was other evidence of the respect and esteem in which our deceased fellow citizen was held in this community, seen in the attendance of so many of his friends and neighbors at his obsequies; while throughout the city was the moist eye and the heavy heart of many a beneficiary of his kindness and liberality, bestowed always with no other receipt than that of the gratitude of the needy recipient of his timely charity. Dr. Peabody in his prayer referred touchingly to the happy home of the departed, and his allusions reminded one of the inscriptions displayed by the deceased when the Sons of Portsmouth returned in '53, one of which read—"I came here a stranger, and with your kindred I found a happy home."

Edward Cocking, after a connection of forty-five years as an engraver with the Cocheco Print Works of Dover, has concluded to retire from active labor, and with his wife will soon leave for a winter's sojourn in Florida.

Mr. Charles M. Rand, leader of the Rye cornet band, is getting up a singing school to be held in Rye town hall during the winter.

Mr. S. W. Cole of this city is making arrangements for the organization of a chorus class in Newmarket, for instruction by him in vocal music.

A new hay-scale is being set up at Albert Locke's store at Seabrook depot. John Locke, who has for some years kept store on the Walton road, has removed to Seabrook village, having rented his house and store on Walton road.

Schooner Loelle, Capt. Amee, arrived at Dover on Friday from Bangor, with a half-million of shingles for Converse & Hobbs—the third full cargo for that firm which the schooner has landed there this season.

Mr. Eben Berry, of Dover, while at work in the wood-shop of the Cocheco Manu. Co., Friday morning, had his left hand caught in a planing machine, three fingers taken off and the hand badly mangled.

Among those present at the funeral of Mr. William R. Preston on Saturday was Rev. Wm. A. Rand of Seabrook, who many years ago was a clerk in Dr. Preston's store, leaving it to go to the war in the early days of the great struggle, and whose recollection of the innumerable good qualities of that genial, just, kind-hearted and charitable gentleman is and always will be bright.

Sch Hattie Lewis, Capt. Garland, arrived at Dover on Thursday evening of last week from Rockland, with a load of lime for Daniel Trefethen & Co., and on Saturday evening she sailed from this port for Rockland, to take on board another cargo of lime for the same parties. The Hattie Lewis is a good boat, and if the grass grows on her bottom it is not because her enterprising skipper doesn't keep her moving.

Augustus Fowler of Seabrook, who fell from a tree in which he was gathering nuts several weeks ago, striking on the ground thirty feet below and receiving injuries which it was at the time supposed must prove fatal, is rapidly recovering from his hurts; his right arm is still very lame, but his sight is entirly restored. Mr. Fowler is said to be one of the best shoemakers in Seabrook,—or was, before the accident.

The Boston Advertiser, one of the most cautious and conservative of papers, says the entertainments given by Helen Potter's Pleiades are of a high order of merit, and are exceedingly varied. They include singing by the Swedish ladies' quartette, cornet playing by Anna Teresa Berger, drawing of cartoons by Felix Regamy, and excellent readings and impersonations by Miss Potter. This company appears at Music hall next Wednesday evening, giving the first entertainment in the very attractive Rockingham Course.

Concerning Daniel W. Quimby, the Great Falls cigar maker whose manufactory was recently seized by Deputy Collector Aaron Young for infraction of the internal revenue laws, the Great Falls Journal of last Friday says: "Mr. Quimby, two weeks since, mysteriously disappeared, and his whereabouts is unknown. His stock in trade is reported to be worth more than double the amount of his liabilities. It is believed that his absence is without any intention of fraud. He left home with the expressed intention of going to Boston to have his side, which had troubled him for some time, examined by physicians there; and on their advice, he was going to visit his daughter in Connecticut, to secure a week's rest. From some cause he never reached the home of his daughter, and all inquiries have failed to trace him beyond Boston."

Speaking of the recent affair on board the barque Furness Abbey, the CHRONICLE says "an account of it has since been published, and in such a manner as to leave it a reasonable inference that the guilty officer was Mr. Richard T. Call of this city, second mate of the barque, though we have no idea that such an inference was intended to be conveyed." Most assuredly not by the Times, where the account first appeared. We are sorry the CHRONICLE gives publicity in its rather unreasonable inference.—Times.

The CHRONICLE, having been informed concerning the letters from the Furness Abbey twenty-four hours before the item appeared in the Times, drew no inference whatever from said item; but others did, for we were somewhat anxiously enquired of concerning it by several friends of Mr. Call, who not unreasonably thought the vague allusion to "one of the mates" as the guilty party referred to him, and was purposely made vague because of his being a Portsmouth man. And it was at the special request of one of Mr. Call's friends that we published the item, as an act of justice to that gentleman.

The Dover Democrat of the 6th inst. says: "John Dame, while out 'gunning' yesterday, espied a pretty good sized seal on a piece of an old sunken boat, (which is half exposed at low water,) took aim and fired, killing him instantly. He secured his prize. He also shot three wild ducks. Not a bad day's fowling, was it?" We think it was. Killing the ducks was all very well, for they are worth something when dead; but of what good was it to kill the seal, that is of no use whatever when killed? The gunner would have done a better day's fowling had he allowed the poor creature to live, even though his shooting exploits had not made so good a newspaper item.

A Rye correspondent of the Newmarket Advertiser says: "The meeting at the Christian church on a recent Sunday evening was disturbed by the ill behavior of three thoughtless young girls, who were sharply reprimanded by the pastor, telling them that no matter how much paint they put on their faces or how much jewelry they adorned themselves with, or how nice clothes they wore, that did not make ladies of them. It is needless to say they remained quiet during the remainder of the services, and they will probably be more circumspect in their behavior in the future."

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

Meeting this (Monday) evening at Bow Mission hall. Topic: "A moral young man weighed and found wanting." Mark 10th, 17th to 22d.

SATURDAY, Nov. 8th.

The court was occupied in hearing testimony for the defence in case Griffin vs. the town of Auburn, up to the hour of adjournment, eleven o'clock A. M., at which time the evidence was not all in. Adjournment was had to Monday forenoon.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The South Eliot schools began last week, with Mr. Oren F. Staples teacher of the grammar school, and Miss Myrta M. Jones, of Wilton, N. H., teacher of the primary school.

Manning P. Tobey, C. W. Stimson and W. H. Gerrish, of Kittery, Miss Lavina E. Welch of Eliot, and Fred McIntire of York, are among the students at the New Hampton Literary Institution.

The following items we clip from the Kennebunk Star of last week: "Report says that Charles H. Thompson has sold his fishing boat, nearly completed, to W. B. Keen of Salem, Mass., to whom he sold one last April.——The carpenters and joiners in the N. L. Thompson yard have been cut down from $1.00 to eighty cents per day, which resulted in their all leaving last Saturday, the 1st inst., excepting two joiners who thought eighty cents a fair compensation for their labor."

Joseph Burgoyne, a Frenchman of Biddeford, conceived the idea that he could make a gun cheaper than he could buy one. Accordingly he procured a piece of gas pipe of the desired length, plugged one end with moistened clay, put it in the fire and then proceeded to turn molten lead into the other end, intending that it should run against the clay, cool and form a plug. In a moment the heat converted the moisture in the clay into steam, forcing out the mass of lead, which struck the Frenchman between the ball of the right eye and the outer rim of the socket, and passed through to just behind the ear, where an irregular shaped piece of lead an inch and a half long, and as big round as the little finger, was taken out. His ingenuity nearly cost him his life.

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Diseases of the pulmonary organs are so prevalent and fatal, that a safe and reliable remedy for them is invaluable to every community. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy, and no other so eminently merits the confidence of the public. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results, which enables physicians as well as invalids to use it with confidence. It is the most reliable remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs that science has produced. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt and certain relief, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it without difficulty. In the treatment of ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household, for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

The marvellous cures which AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has effected all over the world are a sufficient guarantee to use it will continue to produce the best results. An impartial trial will convince the most sceptical of its wonderful curative powers, as well as of its superiority over all other preparations for pulmonary complaints.

Eminent physicians in all parts of the country, knowing its composition, recommend AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL to invalids, and prescribe it in their practice. The test of half a century has proved its absolute certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

CATARRH
THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.
SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOSE SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The credence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of proprietary medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of this country daily attest its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but from the publicity inclined to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outpouring of which we are justly proud.
INVALUABLE.
MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranes of my system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a painful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at least arrive at a respectable old age.
If this statement in my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.
HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Secretary and Treasurer.—ROBERT J. S. WHITE
The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $87.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.
The mines are the natural extension of the "Mecklenburg Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000. Four times as much as this Company, and which milled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, has shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)
For the ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have setaside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.00 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economical and economical manner.
Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received and forwarded to the General Agent, promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, if subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to

New Publications.

Brentano's Monthly for October is No. 1 of the second volume, new series. The frontispiece of this number is a representation of the twenty prizes competed for at the late annual meeting of the National Rifle Association at Creedmoor, of which meeting a full report is also given. This number also contains full reports of the archery tournament at Boston, regattas, lacrosse and base ball matches, horse-races, and all other important sporting events of the previous month, as usual; book notices; editorial notes, and readable sketches of matters bearing upon sporting affairs. It is the best and most reliable sporting magazine in the country, if not indeed the only one worthy of that name. Brentano's Literary Emporium, No. 39 Union square, New York city; $3 per year; single number twenty-five cents.

New Hampshire Items.

The schoolhouse in District No. 9, in Swanzey, was burned Friday night, together with the scholars' books. Cause, defective stove-pipe.

On Saturday morning, the 1st inst., Mrs. Benjamin Marshall of Newport, while putting some wood into her stove, caught her foot under the zinc and was thrown upon the floor. Being in a very feeble state of health, the injuries received by the fall proved fatal, and she died on the following Tuesday.

Ex-Gov. Straw, who has been seriously ill for some time, had a very severe attack Saturday night, and no hope is entertained of his recovery.

Money Rapidly Made.

Small and large investments (from $25 to $10,000), in the combinations of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., pay large profits. This new and successful system unites thousands of orders from customers into one immense capital, and is managed with the best skill and experience in the stock market. Profits are shared pro rata by customers every month. Shareholders thus obtain all the advantages of large capitalists. Thousands are rapidly making money, and many have acquired handsome fortunes by this safe and legitimate method, which has been among the most successful of the movements of the Stock Exchange. $25 will make $125, or 5 per cent.; $100 will return $500, $400 will net $8,000, etc., according to the state of the market. Now explanatory circular with "unerring rules for success," mailed to all applicants by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city.

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

State and County Fairs.

The Manchester Mirror, in discussing the private criticism concerning the management of agricultural fairs, comes to the conclusion that the horse-trot is an indispensable feature of a successful fair; that Manchester is the only place in the State where it will pay to hold the Sate fair, because it has such a local crowd to swell the receipts; that officers of fairs do much labor and are honest; and that a simple Grange show, without the stimulating accompaniment of a horse-trot, though well advertised and well managed, will not attract visitors to any considerable extent. The Mirror concludes that "the scores of men who have had the direction of the fairs in New Hampshire, and who have given to the work a great deal of time and money, are deserving of a little more decent treatment than they are getting in some quarters."

News and Notes.

Elmer E Glidden of Carmel, Me., has been arrested for fraudulently procuring a license of marriage with Alice M. Brawn of the same town, by falsely representing her to be twenty years of age, when she is but fifteen. Glidden gave bonds in $200 to answer the charge.

Stephen Burt committed suicide in Woonsocket, R. I., Saturday afternoon. He was drugged and robbed in Quinsigamond last July, and never fully recovered.

William Gibbon has been arrested at Woonsocket, R. I., on the charge of aiding others in the theft of $12,000 worth of United States bonds from a gentleman in Providence.

Steam tug Dauntless exploded her boiler while towing a vessel on the St. Lawrence river, near Montreal on Saturday, and one of her firemen was scalded to death.

Near Fairburn, Ga., a drunken man named Adams drove his horse into a ditch and killed himself and little son.

Robert Randall, bookkeeper and manager for R. Diamond at Pine Hill, Ky., shot and instantly killed Price, a miner, Saturday evening. Randall escaped.

Peter Little and his two-years-old son, and his sister, Mrs. James Brown, were drowned Sunday afternoon by the upsetting of a boat in the river near Lowell. Mrs. Brown's husband swam ashore. Mrs. Little and a child clung to the boat, and were rescued.

A clerk of the United States court in Ohio has been detected in stealing money belonging to the people. The thefts amount to over $70,000.

Eight hundred cows in a "swill-milkery" at Cincinnati were burned to death on Saturday. The establishment was owned by a firm of distillers, and the cows were insured to the amount of $24,000.

A French Canadian named Fo leau has been arrested for the murder of James J. Norris of Bradley, Me., foreman of a large mill in that place, and treasurer of the town, who was found dead Saturday morning with his head crushed in by blows from an axe, and his throat cut. Bouleau had been discharged from the mill two days before the murder, and the evidence of his guilt is conclusive. The mill safe was robbed of $1000, through the means of keys taken from Mr. Norris' pocket; and it is belived that Bouleau was aided in the murder by several other Frenchmen, who left for Quebec on Friday.

Steamship Arizona put into St. Johns, Newfoundland, on the 9th inst., with her bows badly damaged, having hit an iceberg on the night of the 7th. No person was hurt.

Mrs. Mary Sincere of Brooklyn, and her eight-years-old son, were suffocated by foul air in a cistern on Saturday. The boy was first overcome, and the mother jumped in to rescue him.

In Lynn, Saturday night, a young man named Charles Kent stabbed Fred Annis twice, and C. W. Parrott five times; the latter will probably die. Kent was arrested.

Capt. Henry Hamlin, U. S. R. M., late commander of the revenue cutter Grant, died on the 8th inst.

Chilians have taken Pisagua, Peru, by a combined land and naval attack. The Peruvians made a desperate resistance, and the Chilians lost three hundred men.

Hon. Richard Schell of New York, a prominent banker and democratic politician, died on Monday.

The whaling schooner Petrel, of New Bedford, was capsized in the Atlantic Ocean on the 29th of October, four days after leaving New Bedford for Fayal, having previously been dismasted in a gale, and fifteen persons were lost. From the 29th of October until the 3d of November, six survivors clung to the wreck, exposed to the cold and storm, and kept continually wet by the seas that swept over them. They had some food, but little water, and were barely alive when picked up by the Austrian barque Rebus, which landed them in New York on Saturday.

Paul Lyman, a farmer residing near Patterson, N. J., was shockingly murdered in his barn, Friday night. His son Homer, who was recently married, after giving his evidence before the coroner's jury, Saturday, broke down, drew a knife on the constable and dashed away from the room. He was pursued and captured, and committed to jail on suspicion of the crime. The son and father frequently quarrelled about property.

Thomas Check was on Friday night arrested at Jacktown, Penn., for setting fire to Bethany college last month, and taken to Wellsburg on Saturday morning. On the way the people who had suffered from the frequent incendiarisms recently, turned out and threatened to lynch Check, so the sheriff was compelled to remove the prisoner to Wheeling, W. Va., for safety. Dr. Parkinson, a prominent dentist at Wellsburg, W. Va., was also arrested as accessory.

Miss Salina Coles, daughter of Peyton S. Coles of Albermarle, Va., a beautiful young lady, and connected with the leading families of the State, accidentally shot and killed herself at her father's residence, Saturday.

Political.

Ex-Marshal Usher of Massachusetts, having had enough of politics in fighting for Butler since his official term expired, now "seeks the seclusion which the cabin grants" in a trip to Europe in the steamer Brittannic, from New York.

There are 100 men in the Iowa House of Representatives, and all but ninety-nine are greenbackers.

Naval Affairs.

The Constellation sailed from New York for Europe on Saturday.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family.—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

The Swampscott Machine Co., of South Newmarket, have contracted to put in a twenty-five horse-power engine at Burt & Strong's shoe factory in Dover.

The three o'clock train from the eastward was an hour behind time, Saturday afternoon, the cause of which was the breaking down of an engine at Cumberland junction on the Maine Central road.

The schooner Sallie M. Evans, Capt. Willetts, arrived at Exeter last week from Philadelphia with three hundred tons of coal for a local dealer. This schooner is the largest vessel that ever went up that river so far.

This (Tuesday) morning a large force of carpenters will commence erecting the frame of the extension of the Wentworth house at Newcastle. Carpenter work is just "booming" now; in fact, all of our active mechanics are at work.

There were three freight trains from the east and three from the west over the Eastern railroad on Sunday. The yard at the Portland station is filled with cars containing freight to go west, and there is talk of putting on an extra freight train.

D. F. Borthwick, being in Boston one day of each week, is constantly finding something new to show his customers. He will open this morning ladies' cloaks, cloakings for children's wear, black brocade stripes for trimmings, etc., at the lowest prices.

On Saturday, in Dover, Nellie Reagan was taken before a United States commissioner and held in $200 for appearance at the May term of the United States circuit court in this city, on a charge of selling liquor without having an internal revenue license.

A large and experienced sidewalk committee superintended the hoisting of the heavy wooden and iron beams into position on Franklin block, Monday; the magnificent weather and warm sunlight seem to largely augment this useful body of interested citizens.

The Eastern railroad is negotiating with the Portland Machine company to build several locomotives. Some fifty or one hundred freight cars and twenty new passenger cars are also to be added to the rolling stock of the Eastern road, and it is said a majority of these will also be built by the Portland company.

Hon. Frank Jones took a trip to Dover point on Thursday and "scooped in" all the brick in all the brick yards in that neighborhood, and also contracted for another million to be made in early spring. Mr. Jones has the past season put over two millions of brick into new buildings he has erected in Portsmouth, and now it seems he is planning to use as many more the next season.—Dover Democrat.

A horse belonging to Henry L. Garrett & Son, attached to a buggy, became frightened while standing in front of the store of H. M. Clark, Monday morning, and running up Congress street, collided with a heavy team in front of the Franklin block; the buggy was badly smashed and did not go any farther just then, while the horse continued up Islington street at full speed, but was soon stopped without further injury, save the breaking of his harness.

At the reform club meeting at Bow mission hall, Sunday evening, Mr. C. P. Hodgdon of Lynn, Mass., gave an interesting account of his life, twenty-two years of which were spent in a very intemperate manner. He spoke very earnestly, but many will object to his statement that "Chicago is a rum-polluted city; but no worse than New York, or Boston, or Buffalo,—certainly no worse, if as bad, as Portsmouth;" and his guess that there are about two hundred liquor shops in this city will seem somewhat wide of the mark to a majority of our citizens.

As a team belonging to Woodbury Locke was going down Market street, Sunday, one of the bolts connecting the shafts with the forward axle came out, letting the shaft on that side drop, which so frightened the horse that he gave a sudden spring, breaking the other bolt and disengaging the shafts from the carriage. The frightened animal ran up Congress street, and around by the Creek road, Christian shore and Vaughan street to the vicinity of Franklin block, where he was caught by Mr. Harvey Lear. The carriage was not injured, but the horse's legs were somewhat cut by the dangling shafts, and he was completely tired out when stopped.

THE LYCEUM OF FORTY YEARS AGO.

During the long winter evenings in the years gone by, after the theatre, which stood in a court on the south side of Vaughan street, ceased to be occupied for dramatic representations, the internal arrangement remained undisturbed. The building was occupied by the Portsmouth Lyceum, an organization dating from 1832, and incorporated in 1834. Among the presidents of this body were Charles Burroughs, D. D., Samuel E. Cones, Ichabod Goodwin and other prominent citizens. The late Charles W. Brewster was for a long time secretary, as was the late W. H. Y. Hackett; and Geo. Manent, who kept a broker's office on Congress street, near where Mr. Myers' book store stands, was for a long while treasurer. It was an organization that embraced most of the professional men of Portsmouth, many of whom by turns gave lectures before it.

There was usually a course of weekly lectures given during several months in the year. This was in the era when professional lecturing was comparatively rare, and competent gentlemen gave lectures not for a large fee, but as a contribution to the common education and enlightenment of the people who listened to them.

The old lyceum was an attractive spot. The building was first erected in 1784 for a meeting house for the Universalist society, and was used as such, until that society dedicated their present church edifice in 1808. It was afterwards converted into a theatre, and was periodically occupied for dramatic entertainments. The lyceum lectures were well attended. The tickets for some of the courses were sold for two dollars, and admitted a gentleman and two ladies. This was in the days before reserved seats were secured, and many a winter's night a long procession of ladies and gentlemen stood in the "Lyceum Avenue," their numbers extending far into Vaughan street, patiently or otherwise waiting until James Thompson and Ivan N. Rugg, the regular door-keepers, should hear the North church clock strike seven and open the doors.

It is said that in London and Paris the diving hours have year by year been growing later, and in consequence the places of amusement have been obliged to postpone the hours of commencement. In the Lyceum days, the doors were opened at seven o'clock and the lectures began at half-past seven, and at the ringing of the nine o'clock bell most of the lecture-goers were safely at home. The Portsmouth boy of that day sometimes essayed an entrance to the lyceum without the requisite piece of pasteboard. The boys of that period were experts in the process of effecting an entrance to a circus tent pitched on Mason hill, beneath the canvass, but at the door of the box and pit entrances of the whilom theatre stood that terror to evil disposed urchins, Rugg, who could at once detect a boy endeavoring to steal in under cover of a crowd, and never failed to seize the offending intruder; while at the more capacious entrance to the boxes and gallery stood Thompson on one side, and if a youthful interloper, in endeavoring to enter the haven of comfort and delight upon some boisterous winter night, should escape the Charybdis of the regular door-keeper upon the one side, he could hardly evade the lynx-eyed scrutiny of the Scylla in the shape of the regular treasurer, who on such occasions stood at the gate, but did not welcome them in without a ticket.

But we are keeping our readers too long standing out in the cold. Let us enter. Here we are in the vestibule of the old theatre; entrance to the right, to the gallery; to the left, the pit; and straight up stairs, to the boxes. Behind the latter was the lobby, in the door lounged the gay young men of the day, while the fortunate occupants of the boxes looked down upon the pit and stage and here had ample opportunity to display their toilets and be seen of men.

The rules of the lyceum prohibited "talking, whispering and unnecessary walking during the lectures." In all lectures, sentiments calculated to give offence in religion or politics were to be avoided. The subject of the lectures had to be first known to and approved by the board of directors. No member's ticket could be transferred, excepting in the family of the member, and then only to admit one gentleman and two ladies. Strangers were admitted by any member of the board of directors. The number of tickets was limited, and at times the tickets sold so rapidly that it was difficult to procure them after the course began, save by a re-sale between ticket holders. The hours for opening varied. In some months the doors opened at half-past six and closed at seven; and in other months (and most of the time) a half hour later; but no person was admitted during the delivery of the lecture.

The lecturers were principally residents of Portsmouth, some of whom not only lectured annually, but, during a long course, appeared two or three times in a winter. Such residents of the town as Dr. Charles Burroughs, who gave the valedictory in 1836, and several other lectures, Charles B. Goodrich, Samuel E. Cones (who frequently lectured), J. G. Clasby, Charles W. Brewster (one of whose lectures was on the changes of fashion), Drs. C. A. Cheever, J. H. Boardman, J. H. Pierrepont, Messrs. W. H. Shackford, Ichabod Bartlett, Chas. March, Andrew Halliburton, W. H. Y. Hackett, Charles W. Cutler, Ebenezer Wheelwright—were more or less frequently before the lyceum. Levi Woodbury gave two lectures, one of which was published. Among those in neighboring towns and from other places who were in the habit of lecturing and came here were Dr. Jonathan Brown of Greenland, afterwards of Kensington, (who lectured on Scottish poetry, and whose humorous lectures upon Burns and Tam O'Shanter will be remembered by some of our older residents), Thornton Betton, a lawyer of Derry, Moses P. Parish, a teacher, Dr. Henry B. C. Greene of Saco, Francis Vinton of Boston, John P. Hale of Dover, Jeremiah Smith of Exeter, T. B. Fox of Newburyport, O. W. B. Peabody of Boston, Prof. Crosby of Dartmouth, Rev. Edwin Holt, former pastor of the North church, and Rev. William Ladd, the peace advocate. Dr. William Treat and Dr. Enoch B. Barnes, and Alexander H. Everett of Boston, also lectured during this period.

Among the earlier lecturers who are now known among us were George Wallis Haven, A. P. Peabody, Charles H. Ladd, John L. Hayes, Ralph Waldo Emerson, who gave the introductory lecture in the fall of 1838, Fernando C. Putnam, now an Episcopal clergyman near New York city, then a teacher in Portsmouth, Henry F. French, now Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, formerly a lawyer in Chester and afterwards in this city and Exeter.

Later, as means of communication increased, came Robert Rantoul of Beverly, Rev. L. Withington of Newburyport, Rev. Jonathan Clement of Chester, Rev. John Parkman, then of Dover, and others. The late Samuel P. Long gave several interesting lectures upon painting at different periods; and Rev. Jason Whitman, formerly of Portland, also lectured more than once, and was a favorite before the lyceum.

Still later were lectures given by Revs. E. N. Harris, Rufus W. Clark, George W. Montgomery and F. G. Brown, resident clergymen, and by James W. Emery, upon British India, Albert R. Hatch, upon Sir Edward Coke, Daniel Kimball, of Ipswich, on whaling, Dr. Charles T. Jackson, the geologist, Rev. Dr. William Ware of Cambridge, Rev. James W. Thompson of Salem, Prof. Goodwin of Bowdoin college, Rev. Moses Ballou, Prof. S. G. Brown of Dartmouth college, Prof. Peirce of Cambridge, Rev. James F. Stearns of Newburyport, and many others whose names we do not now recall.

It will be seen that the draft was largely upon local talent, and yet the interest in these lectures, we venture to assert, was far greater in proportion to the numbers of the audience than is the effort of the highly-remunerated professional lecturer, who, after the general introduction of railways, went up and down the land upon a tour of lecturing. But the lyceum as one of our institutions has long since ceased to be an established feature in our winter enjoyments.

There was much to be enjoyed not only in the listening to sensible and interesting lectures, but in the weekly opportunity for the people of the town to see each other and pass the half hour before the lecture in social conversation. We had no daily paper in those days, nor did the telegraph bring us tidings from the four quarters of the globe at every moment. Then, too, the large number of entertainments now enjoyed every week were comparatively unknown in our town. We relied principally upon local talent for our amusements as well as our lectures, and we encouraged these in a liberal degree. Now we have the best entertainments of other cities periodically before us, and with our means of enjoying such representations, foreign, instead of local attractions are constantly claiming our attention.

The coming winter we are to have a series of entertainments provided for us, combining musical and literally excellence. The platform of the lecturer is almost entirely superceded by the stage performance of the concert and opera. It is so everywhere. The world changes, and if we would keep abreast of the times we must as liberally second the efforts of the manager of the Rockingham Course of entertainments to provide for our amusement, as did the fathers in times past sustain by their patronage and constant attendance the "Portsmouth Lyceum."

GOOD.

A gentleman from Lynn, Mass., well known in the shoe business of that city, was in town on Monday and interviewed several of our leading men relative to the establishment of a shoe manufactory in this city, on a firm and permanent basis, the business to be carried on in all its branches. We understand that the gentlemen consulted with are much in favor of the movement, and offer to aid the project pecuniarily. Hon. Frank Jones saying that he would be one of four to furnish means for the accomplishment of the purpose. We sincerely hope to be able to chronicle shortly the establishment of such a business in our city. It would seem that with our facilities for transportation both by rail and water, the well known skill of our mechanics, and the shrewdness of our capitalists, that such a business might pay well; it does in Dover, Great Falls, Rochester, Farmington and Kennebunk,—why not in old Portsmouth? Success to the enterprise.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

Meeting this (Tuesday) evening at Bow Mission hall, at 9 P. M. Topic, "The son of a godly father, who went astray;" 2d Chron., 32:33, and 33: 1—13.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

In Emma Gannett vs. Albert Gannett, libel for divorce, a divorce was decreed.

MONDAY, Nov. 10th.

The court re-assembled Monday morning, when the trial of Griffin vs. the town of Auburn was resumed, and the testimony closed.

The case will be argued this (Tuesday) morning by Gen. Marston for the town, followed by Gen. Stevens for the plff.

It is stated that the action of Wilbur F. Crawford vs. the Eastern railroad, to recover for injuries received by Crawford at Seabrook while upon a Pullman train which was thrown from the track at that place some time ago, the plaintiff being a malignant upon the train, has been adjusted.

BANK DIRECTORS.

The directors of the New Hampshire national bank have elected Messrs. Thomas A. Harris and Washington Freeman directors of the bank, to fill vacancies caused by the recent death of two prominent citizens.

"WHERE WAS MOSES WHEN THE LIGHT WENT OUT?"

Our New York correspondent writes: "Howe Call, Esq., a prominent New Hampshire politician, was interviewed by the reporter of a leading daily paper in the Fifth avenue hotel just previous to his departure for the Granite State. Mr. Call thinks that notwithstanding the greenback party have a theory that brings hope to the debtor interest of the country, and the democracy are, in States where they are in the minority, profuse in promises and professions of reform, the temper and tone of the people is unmistakably republican; and he believes with Speaker Randall that there will be no checking the tide of republicanism now sweeping over the land. It is barely possible that the silver-tongued orator himself may be drifted from his moorings in this great wave of political activity which surges over the community, and find himself landed in some new haven of party refuge."

THE SEAMEN'S HOME.

At a general meeting of the Seamen's Society, held at the Seaman's Home last week, the proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. C. A. Holbrook. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. John M. Handy, for his long term of service (since 1844) as one of the trustees of the fund. The report of the Home, which was read and accepted, is as follows:

The Seamen's Home enters upon its 5th year with encouraging tokens. From April 18th to Oct. 18th, 6284 meals were served at the restaurant, a great increase over the same period last year; still greater gain is made in the quantity of cooked food taken away, amounting to $1073.03.

There have been boarders for weeks at a time, and 317 lodgers, many of whom were sailors and marines from the government ships at the navy yard.

The reading room has been kept open; one weekly and one daily paper are furnished by thoughtful friends. The Home remains in charge of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stevens.

Our city missionary, Mr. Loyne, has visited 300 vessels and distributed 2400 papers and other reading matter, besides seventy-five testaments, the gift of Mr. Myers. A bethel flag has been raised over the Bow mission, where services are held on the Sabbath by Mr. Loyne.

During the year 1101 vessels, with a tonnage of 137,173 and carrying 5943 sailors, were entered at our custom house; seventy-seven are owned here. Many of these are engaged in the fishing business. Our society dates from 1823, three years after the formation of the Howard society, when, even then, we find fishing one of our chief sources of wealth. The record of 1824 shows sixty-eight vessels and 581 men employed in it; 46,309 quintals of pollock and cod, 1216 barrels of fish oil, besides fresh mackerel for our markets and 5575 barrels sent elsewhere, indicate the lively times of that day. Thus the class of hardy and self-reliant men who have and are contributing to the prosperity of our city, yet who find here many temptations to rob them of their earnings, have not been without faithful friends to guard their interests. While there is always room for doing more, a good temperance house, where they can eat and lodge, is furnishing them with safe anchorage from many evils which are certain to dog their steps ashore. Used to toil or hardship, the sailor is not often in need of aid but when shipwreck and sickness overtakes him. Since the Home was established the society has from time to time befriended such cases, on one occasion sheltering an entire crew of shipwrecked men and furnishing them with warm clothing. More than this, to many working men and working women our restaurant is a friendly inn, whose cheap and excellent food is, at once, labor-saving and life giving. The difficulty of sustaining similar institutions in other places leads us to rejoice in the increasing favor which this finds in our community.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, SELF-PRESERVATION. Lost manhood, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the language, written in English by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical association. It contains 300 pages and very expensive engravings. CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most responsible people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which were tendered by friends to remedies in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily testify to its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outpoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating that I feel so much benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I never knew relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of the medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at least arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to the cause of truth and fair dealing, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Yours, truly, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Experiment" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case MILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.60 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company), and which sold, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670 000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all that is needed is a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $3.30 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in an economical and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward, will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. The dog took in the situation instantly, and bounded away towards the field where Mr. French was at work. Arrived there he made a terrible uproar, and persisted in his wild actions until Mr. French, fearing that something dire had happened, followed him to the well and saved his wife from drowning.

Money Rapidly Made.

Small and large investments (from $25 to $10,000), in the combinations of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., pay large profits. This new and successful system unites thousands of dollars from customers into one immense capital, and is managed with the best skill and experience in the stock market. Profits are shared pro rata by customers every month. Shareholders thus obtain all the advantages of large capitalists. Thousands are rapidly making money, and many have acquired handsome fortunes by this safe and legitimate method, which has been among the most successful of the movements of the Stock Exchange. $25 will make $125, or 5 per cent., $100 will return $500, $400 will net $3,000, etc., according to the state of the market. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1879.

Gov. Head's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Following the example of my predecessors, and in accordance with the custom of our early New England ancestors, of joyfully recognizing the Supreme Being in the affairs of nations and individuals, by setting apart one day of the closing year for devout and hearty acknowledgment of Divine mercies, I do, with the advice and consent of the Council, appoint Thursday, November 27, as a day of public Thanksgiving and Praise throughout the State of New Hampshire.

On this occasion, abstaining from all pursuits inconsistent with the spirit of the day, in their customary places of worship, and in all homes where the Divine Being is revered, let all our people return thanks for the blessings that have crowned the year; for restored activity in all channels of business; for the lifted clouds of distress and doubt that for years have rested upon many homes; for the sure rewards that once more wait upon industry and frugality, for the re-establishment of sound business undertakings on a stable currency; for improved recognition everywhere in our land, of the duties, rights and obligations of all classes of our citizens; for the gradual obliteration of the scars of civil war; for peace and health and bountiful harvests, and for the unnumbered blessings that have visited our people. On this day let the spirit of devout thanksgiving render and strengthen the ties of family and of friendship, and let its overflow, from homes of plenty, bless and cheer the households of want.

Let us honor the Giver of all good by succoring the poor, and let no home within our borders be without the means and suggestions for thankful rejoicing in Divine mercies.

Given at the Executive Council Chamber in Concord, this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and fourth. NATT HEAD.

By His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Council.

A. B. THOMPSON, Sec'y of State.

News and Notes.

Eli Carpenter, a Greenwich, Conn., colored boy, has been arrested for criminal negligence in shooting Amos June in July, 1878, and committed to Bridgeport jail to await the action of the superior court. The case is remarkable in that June lived fifty-four days with the bullet in his heart, and that he was in the field at work at the time of his death, which was instantaneous.

Two or three days ago a young man appeared at the store of Parsons, Cady & Washburn, in Providence, R. I., and inquired the prices of sugar and other groceries. He then asked permission to write a letter to a friend at Newport, giving the prices as given him. It now appears that while he was pretending to write to a friend he was using the letter-heads of the firm for his own purposes. Late that same day a gentleman visited Mr. Parsons, and showed him an order on himself, written on a Parsons, Cady & Washburn letter-head, and signed Henry L. Parsons. It was a forgery. The order was for five ounces of morphine and five ounces of quinine, and the fellow had received the goods and left. It afterward transpired that the fellow played the same game, in exactly the same way, for the same amount of the same articles, at George L. Claflin & Co.'s, and at Chambers, Calder & Co.'s,—getting in all fifteen ounces of each article, valued at $106.50.

Interest in the Stortevant murder at Halifax, Mass., is revived by the discovery in the woods near the scene of the tragedy of a suit of clothes discolored with blood. It may be remembered that the nephew, William E. Sturtevant, who was hanged a year or two since for the murder of his two uncles and their aged housekeeper, admitted the killing of the two brothers, but denied to the last any participation in the murder of Mary Bradley, the housekeeper. The clothes have been identified as belonging to a man by the name of Dow, brother-in-law of the murderer. Dow disappeared somewhat mysteriously, and is said to have gone west. The matter is now undergoing investigation.

In Todd county, Minnesota, some time ago, the house of John and Michael Moede was burned, and a neighbor named Coldall was charged with setting it on fire in revenge for the enticing away of his wife by John Moede. Soon after Coldall and his hired men were missed, and the Moedes were arrested on suspicion of foul play; and John, becoming frightened at the menaces of a mob, confessed that he and his brother murdered the two missing men. Last Saturday night John Moede was lynched, and it is expected that his brother will share the same fate.

There was a desperate fight on Sunday at Candelaria mountain, fifty miles south of El Paso, Texas, in Chihuahua, Mexico, between a band of about 200 Indians and fifty men from Cariza, New Mexico, thirty-two of whom were killed and eighteen escaped wounded. The Indians were the same party Major Morrow was after.

A. D. Hazen, third assistant postmaster general, has completed his annual report. It exhibits the operations of the post-office department during the last fiscal year in the divisions of finance, postage stamps, etc., dead letters and registration. The total receipts of the department for twelve months ending June 30th, 1878, were $764,466 more than the preceding year, and about $1,000,000 more than it was estimated it would be, a result attributed to the revival of business and a consequent demand for postage stamps and stamped envelopes, the actual sales of which amounted to $768,482 more than the total for the preceding year, and $2,387,539 more than the sales of the fiscal year of 1877. It is estimated that a greatly increased number of stamps, etc., will be required for next year, but the reduction in rates of the new contract for the manufacture of stamped envelopes has enabled the third assistant postmaster general to reduce the amount of his estimates of the total needs of his office for that period several thousand dollars.

Terrible suffering and destitution seem inevitable among the people of Ireland. The potato crop is everywhere deficient and inferior, and there is a scarcity of peat fuel, owing to rain. These are the leading causes of the distress expected to culminate during the winter and spring, and pauperism is greatly increasing. An appeal for aid is made to the people of America.

The recent collision of the steamship Arizona with an iceberg was due to negligence in keeping a lookout. When the huge ship struck she was going at full speed, and her bow was smashed into scrap iron, several seamen in the forecastle being badly hurt while lying in their bunks, though none were killed. The collision bulkhead prevented the water which filled the bow compartment from reaching the hold, and enabled the crippled vessel to reach port.

One-third of the thriving village of Napoleon, Ohio, was burned Sunday, and it is stated that but for the rain the whole northern part of the town would have been destroyed.

In Lancaster county, North Carolina, a white woman, Mrs. James Adams, cut the throats of her five children, and then set fire to her own clothing and was burned to death. It is supposed she was was insane.

We advise our readers to have nothing to do with the brilliant offers of the Denver Land Company; the public have been warned against the concern.

Louis Melzac, a Frenchman, living five miles from Midland, Mich., was killed early Sunday morning by Moses B. Marsh, a neighbor. Melzac had a quarrel with his wife, who called on Marsh for protection. Melzac turned on Marsh and chased him to his house, where he stobbed a Mrs. Legrew eight times. Marsh went to her assistance and was dangerously stabbed by the crazed Frenchman. He then seized an axe and struck Malzac on the head, killing him instantly. Marsh fell from loss of blood. Both his and Mrs. Legrew's injuries are pronounced fatal.

A letter from Barnstable, Mass., has the following allusion to the mother of the victim of the Pocasset filicide: "Mrs. Freeman has gone to Pocasset, but will soon return and resume the business of dressmaking. Three days after she got to Pocasset they held an Advent meeting, at which Mrs. Freeman expressed herself as being very happy in her mind."

The statements of the earnings of leading railroads for October, show a comparative gain of almost one-quarter over the same month in 1878.

There is only one woman at present in the Maine State prison. Her name is Iantha A. E. Morgan, of Oxford county, and she is serving out a life sentence, which commenced April 20th, 1877. She was then eighteen years of age. The crime for which she was convicted was murder in the first degree. Her own illegitimate child was the victim.

On Wednesday of last week a Mrs. St. Clair was arrested at Portland, Me., and Saturday her husband, R. St. Clair, was also arrested, for obtaining notes fraudulently. They had been engaged in patent frauds.

Nathan Gray of Penobscot, Me., committed suicide Sunday evening by placing the muzzle of a gun in his mouth and discharging the same. He was twenty-five years old, and no cause is assigned for the rash act.

Political.

The Lowell Courier says: "There is no better republican paper in Massachusetts to-day than the Boston Daily Traveller." And it might have added, "And never has been."

Iowa gives the republican candidate for governor a plurality of 72,000. Considering that the plurality last year was 8400, this is doing tolerably well.

The secretary of the treasury has succeeded in buying $10,000,000 of government bonds, on government account, at 106, after considerable trouble to find people willing to sell their bonds at that price, for gold. Something of a change in the Nation's credit since the time when, under the last democratic administration, government six per cent bonds were sold at ten per cent below par, with mighty few takers at that.

The democratic Chicago Times headed its news of the late elections as follows: Havoc—A Dynamite Explosion among the Democracy of Half a Dozen States—Scarcely a Fragment to be Found of Cipher Sam of Gramercy Park.

The World's Child-Magazine.

John Greenleaf Whittier, the most child-hearted as he is among the foremost of American Authors, writes of St. Nicholas; "It is little to say of this magazine that it is the best child's periodical in the world." Prof. Procter, the astronomer, wrote from London: "What a wonderful magazine it is for young folks, and ours are quite as much delighted with it as American children can be!" That it is calculated to delight the little folk everywhere is indicated by the fact that it is to be issued in French by Delegrave of Paris, and that even the far-away little Moslems are now to have a volume made up of translations from St. Nicholas into Arabic by Rev. H. H. Jessup.

Beginning with the November number (ready Oct. 25th) the magazine is to be printed on heavier paper with wider margins, and is to be so much enlarged that the new volume will contain nearly two hundred more pages than any former volume, while the price will remain the same. The publishers announce many brilliant novelties, including a new serial by Miss Louisa M. Alcott, entitled "Jack and Jill;" "The Treasure-Box of English Literature," in which will be given gems from standard English and American authors; an Acting-Play for Sunday Schools, by Rev. Edward Eggleston, which will be printed in time for the holidays, with full directions for its representation in school exhibitions; and a beautiful Fairy Operetta for children entitled "The Sleeping Beauty in the Wood."

The November number has two beautiful frontispieces and a red-line title-page, and contains over sixty illustrations. In it, begins a new serial story for boys, "Among the Lakes," by the author of "Dab Kinzer."

Another splendid serial for boys has been secured for this volume,—"The Fairport Nine," a story of a base-ball club, by Noah Brooks. In short, St. Nicholas, which has no rival on either continent, is to be better than ever.

A superb Christmas number is in preparation, to appear early in December. Subscriptions should begin with November. Buy it of your book-seller, or send the subscription to the publishers. Price, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Scribner & Co., 743 Broadway, New York.

GINGER AS A TONIC.—The agreeable warming properties of JAMAICA GINGER render it especially desirable to those who are troubled with flatulency and the frequent stomachic difficulties which attend on dyspepsia; and its use not only relieves the immediate difficulty but prevents more serious troubles from obtaining the mastery. To have this genial and invigorating remedy at hand, in time of internal distress, should be the duty of all, especially of those having young children whose liability to colics and childish disarrangements gives parents the greatest anxiety. The best preparation for family purposes is undoubtedly SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, which is constantly proving its claims as the best remedy extant for the relief of cramps and pains and ailments peculiar to change of season, climate, food or water.

Pure Grape Wine.

A committee from the Farmer's club of the American Institute have visited Speer's vineyards and wine cellars and they report that the port grape wine of Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, is generally pronounced the most reliable wine to be obtained, and is now being used by physicians who are the most choice in the selection of wines for convalescent patients. The principal hospitals in New York have adopted this wine.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is compounded of the best natural healing extracts of bark, roots and gums in the world. It is a safe and reliable medicine, pleasant to the taste, and cures coughs, colds, asthma, and croup. Price, 35 and 75 cents.

For impaired digestion, and in fact, for debility from any cause, I know of nothing equal to Fellows' Hypophosphites. Its direct effect in strengthening the nervous system renders it suitable for the majority of diseases.

WM. S. HOWE, M. D., Pittsfield, Me.

—The man who keeps a handsome cook can get a plumber up to his house within twenty minutes after the order for one is left. We have tried to make our wife appreciate the advantage of this, but some things are beyond woman's comprehension.—Boston Post.

—It is not perhaps wholly a sinecure—the position of minister of the Gospel in Leadville. The big brothers of a young lady having compelled her lover to fulfill his promise of marriage, this lively episode is reported: "During the ceremony the bridegroom, being dissatisfied with some performance of the clergyman, fired his revolver at the divine, but as he missed his shot, the bullet only whizzing past the reverend gentleman's ear, the latter continued the discharge of his functions until the twain were one flesh. Thereupon, in order that all things might be done in the best style, and according to old-fashioned rule, he stepped forward and kissed the bride. At this the jealous bridegroom was wroth and smote him. Whereupon the reverend church militant, he being a brawny priest of some six feet in height, sprang over the chancel railing and seizing the newly-made husband by the back of the neck, gave him, under the cover of the pistols of the newly-made brothers-in-law, such a dreadful drubbing that he will remember it as long as he lives. This closed the marriage solemnities."

An Event to Occur in New Orleans.

It is well known to everybody that the foremost warriors in the Confederate Army, Generals G.T. Beauregard and Jubal A. Early, are called to meet in that city at an early date to arrange the tickets, etc., for the extraordinary grand distribution of the Louisiana State Lottery, which occurs on December 16th, under the sole supervision of these men who deservedly enjoy the popular confidence. Over half a million of dollars will be distributed, and any one anxious to try their luck should write to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. AROUND HOME.

A large number of farm teams, loaded with apples, were in town on Tuesday.

Mr. S. W. Cole is arranging for a musical convention to be held in this city shortly.

Mr. Albert S. Trafton, of Christian shore, rejoices in a blood beet raised by himself this year weighing eighteen pounds.

A salute of minute guns was fired at the navy yard, at noon on Tuesday, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Rear Admiral Reynolds.

The plate glass for the store windows in the National block has arrived, and the sheets are mammoth in proportions—ten feet nine inches in length, and four feet six inches in width.

The new council of the Legion of Honor recently instituted in Greenland has received its number, "45," from the sovereign authority. The membership of the council has already increased to thirty.

Vick, the well-known florist, says in his monthly that the trailing arbutus will grow almost anywhere if transplanted at the proper time, which is from October to the beginning of December, when the flower buds are formed. In the green house or fernery it will bloom, of course, earlier than out of doors.

Nehemiah Porter Cram, Esq., a well-known citizen of Hampton Falls, died in that town on Sunday, of Bright's disease, at the age of eighty years. Mr. Cram was a pioneer in the free soil movement in New Hampshire with John P. Hale, Amos Tuck, Geo. G. Fogg and others, and unlike many of that party was always a firm republican after the free soil party ceased to exist as a distinct organization. He represented his town in the legislature of 1837 and in the constitutional convention of 1876. Mr. Cram was a member of the Unitarian church in Hampton Falls, and was highly respected for his integrity and uprightness. He leaves a wife, son and daughter.

The following has been furnished by the signal office: "A few days ago the signal service was violently attacked, because at a port on the New England coast the warning flag was flying, while the sky was bright and clear, with what on shore seemed only a brisk wind. The reports are now in, and show that at the very time the signal was complained of a steamer on its way to the port referred to and near it was being wrecked at sea, and after a narrow escape crept into a neighboring port, disabled and in distress. The recent Nova Scotian hurricane was sweeping near the place. To keep vessels out of storms it is necessary to show signals outside of their track. The sun may be shining, while a tornado is raging within fifty miles. The signal says only 'be careful.'"

A report of the Faith Home has been published, giving the financial accounts of three years, from Sept. 15th, 1876, to Sept. 15th, 1879; lists of all the articles, sums of money, etc., contributed for the support of the institution; a description of the home and accounts of its inception and dedication, with a statement of how the work is carried on; lists of inmates, and of deaths at the home, with other information of interest to all who are interested in the institution. The home was dedicated Oct. 31st, 1876; and in July, 1877, the trustees were regularly incorporated by an act of the legislature. The officers are as follows: William Simes, president and treasurer; Edward B. Goodall, secretary; William A. Loyne, manager. The inmates number fifteen, of whom fourteen are women, the oldest being eighty-nine and the youngest fifty-two years of age. Mr. John Willey, a native of New Durham, eighty-two years old and a pensioner of the Mexican war, is also a resident of the home. The report can be procured at Myers' book-store, at twenty-five cents per copy.

Among the prominent merchants of New York who have joined in a public welcome to Mr. Thos. Bayley Potter, a member of the British Parliament, now in New York, we notice the name of Jacob Wendell, Esq., a native of this city, and formerly of the well known house of J. C. Howe & Co. Mr. Wendell's mercantile life commenced in the counting room of Ex-Gov. Goodwin in this city.

Ex-Gov. Prescott was in town on business, Tuesday.

Viola Clifton's female minstrels at Music hall to-morrow evening.

The High street Methodist church at Great Falls, which has been undergoing extensive repairs and improvements during the summer months, was re-dedicated on Sunday last, Rev. C. B. Pitblado of this city delivering the sermon.

Rev. J. B. Hamilton, of Lewiston, Me., lectured in the Methodist course Monday evening, on "Every-day heroism." The subject was eloquently treated, and received the heartiest commendations from the large audience in attendance.

A three-hours go-as-you-please race at Barrington, last Saturday evening, was won by Frank Bean of Newmarket, who went twenty-three miles. On the same night, in American hall, Dover, there was a five-hours race, in which there were ten starters, the winner of the first prize ($12) covering thirty-one miles; the attendance of spectators was very thin, indicating Dover's recovery from the ridiculous leg mania which raged there with such virulence for many months.

This evening, at Music hall, Helen Potter's Pleiades will give the first entertainment in the Rockingham course. This company appeared in Portland Monday evening, and the Press of Tuesday says "the various features of the programme were well received, and some of them enthusiastically encored. Miss Helen Potter's readings were excellent, her humorous selections giving especial satisfaction; that from the Burlington Hawkeye brought down the house. Her impersonations were just as strong as ever, and that of John B. Gough in his lecture, 'A man's a man,' was encored. The cornet solos by Miss Berger appeared to please the audience better than anything else, and the lady was forced twice to respond to the imperative calls of her listeners. The Swedish Ladies' Quartette possess excellent, well-trained voices, which harmonize beautifully, and in response to an encore gave 'Way down upon the Swanee river.' The quintette in costume, with Mr. Schmeiser, proved one of the best features of the evening. M. Schmeiser has a capital voice, and the audience would have liked to have heard more of him. Mr. Regamey's cartoons were very good, especially his Celestial Music and Little German Band. Altogether it was a very pleasant entertainment."

Harry Howe, Esq., of Fall River, Mass., has been appointed agent for the Pepperell and Laconia companies at Biddeford.

Naval Affairs.

An effort is to be made to prevent the confirmation of the appointment of Medical Inspector Wales of the navy to be surgeon general, he having been "jumped" by Secretary Thompson over seventeen senior officers on the medical list.

Rear Admiral A. H. Kilby, on the retired list of the navy, died in Philadelphia on Monday, at the age of seventy-three years.

New Hampshire Items.

The Manchester Union passed into the hands of Stilson Hutchins & Co., proprietors of the Washington Post, on Tuesday. Mr. Hutchins is a native of this State, and although comparatively a young man, has had much newspaper experience, having established in 1866 the St. Louis Times, and two years ago the Washington Post, the latter paper being the only successful democratic organ the capital has had in recent times. The transfer of the Union to its new proprietors is said to foreshadow the nomination of Hon. Frank Jones for governor, on the democratic ticket.

O. S. Hill's house and adjoining buildings, four miles from Manchester, were totally consumed by fire last Saturday. The inmates would have perished in the flames but for the timely barking of a watchdog, which aroused them in season to escape with their lives. The fire was the work of an incendiary, as a bottle of kerosene oil was found hard by, indicating conclusively the mischievous intent of the perpetrators. Loss $2,200.

The inauguration of the city government of Nashua occurred Monday. Mayor Charles Holman, after receiving the oath of office, delivered his second inaugural address. A brief summary of the city debt shows $393,648, less $119,108 cash in the treasury and uncollected taxes. The city owns 2,000 shares of the Nashua & Rochester railroad.

The apple crop exported this year from New Hampshire will exceed 60,000 barrels. Last year it was 300,000 barrels.

The Baptist church in Laconia, repaired and refurnished at great expense in 1873, was burned in 1876, at great loss to the society and leaving it in debt, as there was no insurance thereon. A new church was begun in 1877, which was finished at a cost of $8000; organ, furnishings, bell, furnaces, and other necessary expenses swelled the debt to $23,000, the last dollar of which has recently been paid.

—When little Bob asked his sister's beau for a cigar, his future brother-in-law snubbed him with the remark, "Young man, a strap would do you more good." Next night Bob's sister and her young man got their hands, chins and clothes smeared with coal tar while lingering at the front gate, and little Bob, when questioned on the subject, said he couldn't tell a lie, and "it must have been a tramp."—Puck.

New Publications.

Harper's Magazine for December 14 a very beautiful and interesting number. It opens with an entertaining article entitled "The fortunes of the Bonapartes"—the writer of which prefers to remain anonymous—illustrated with sixteen fine portraits of the most prominent members of the Bonaparte family. "Sea-Drift from a New England port," by Lizzie W. Champney, illustrated by Howard Pyle, contains some very novel and curious information respecting New London society a hundred years ago. Miss J. L. Cloud continues her description of Irish scenery and character in the Connemara hills, accompanied by some quaint pencil sketches. Ernest Ingersoll contributes a paper on Atlanta, Georgia, with some excellent pictures. "The Palestines of to-day," by Dr. J. F. Hurst, is illustrated with engravings from the Harper's new edition of Dr. Thomson's "The land and the book." Miss F. Fryatt describes the "New York cooking school," Miss Curtis contributing six beautiful illustrations. "Blossoms" is the title of a little poem by Philip O. Sullivan, illustrated by Miss M. R. Oakey. The ballad of Whittington—a fac-simile of the British Museum MS.—is given, with five illustrations. Longfellow contributes a poem of curious interest, the subject of which is an iron pen (presented to the poet by a lady in Maine) made from a letter of Bonnivard, the prisoner of Chillon—the handle of wood from the frigate Constitution, and bound with a circlet of gold, inset with three precious stones from Siberia, Ceylon and Maine. James T. Fields contributes a poem entitled "A new and true ghost story." In fiction, besides the three serial novels by Black, Blackmore and Miss Mulock, there is a fine short story by Rose Terry Cooke. Without reference to the contents of the Easy Chair, the critisms of new books, or the humors of the Drawer, we may safely pronounce this December number of Harper the most varied as well as the most beautiful number of the year. Now ready at the stores of W. G. Myers and Moses Bros.

—Back yards—The trains of the ladies' dresses.

—The other evening, just before sundown, a gentleman, who was sitting by his window on the street, casually remarked, "There goes the woman that George Brown's dead gone on." His wife, who was in the back room getting supper ready, dropped a plate on the floor, stumbled over the baby and ran like a quarter-horse to the window with, "Where? Where? Show her to me." "There—that woman in the long cloak—just at the corner." Then the women at the window said in disgust, "Why, that's Brown's wife." "Yes, exactly," remarked the brutal husband, quietly. Then the disappointed woman went back and got supper ready, but her usually sweet disposition was soured for the entire evening.—Virginia City Chronicle.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have specifically and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the chin, ear, and side of the head. It must have pained and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface a i the time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS.

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "am as well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works to a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sore. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Plant has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried almost everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Texan Climate.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received some time ago has been very efficacious, esp cially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am using it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1878.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when scarred by scald diseases, removes dandruff and heals the many diseases of the scalp and roots. Its success is as it is effective, and is fully established in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is particularly recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is both in and out, as well as Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, on this behalf, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that that the possessor of the secret of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S CATARRH CURE FROM FARM. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is so undeniable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained. HENRY WELLS,
Very truly yours, of Wells, Fargo & Co.

The property of this Company consists of the "Mountain Ranger" and "Expert" Mines, which are over 2000 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in every case BILLING ORE, varying in width from 6" to 30 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $67.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a solid mass of PAY ORE.

The mines are the natural extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10 000,000, (three times as much as this Company,) and which rolled, with a twenty-stamp mill during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco, as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670,000.)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all it is need of is a mill. Therefore and for good faith, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $2.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a twenty-stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The business will be conducted in a prudent, energetic and economical manner.

Subscriptions for five (5) shares or upward will be received, and the certificates of stock promptly mailed. Drafts or checks should be made to the order of ROBERT J. S. WHITE, Treasurer, and forwarded to the General Agent. Amounts of $100 or less may be remitted, by subscribers prefer, by Post Office money order or registered letter. Subscriptions exceeding $100 may be sent by express, C. O. D., to GEO. W. WESTON, Gen. Agent,
Room 2, 161 Broadway, N. Y. City.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10th.

There will be no distinction of party in Gen. Grant's reception in Washington. A committee of one hundred citizens appointed to make the preparations, is about equally divided between the two parties. Indeed, parties, so far as local affairs here are concerned, are rather a tradition than a living fact, for we have not voted, even for a common councilman, in the last five years. It is hoped the general will be here in time to attend the meeting of the Army of the Cumberland on the 20th inst., when the statue of Gen. Thomas will be unveiled. An enormous crowd is expected.

Not long since Ex-Governor Shepard of this city, representing heavy capitalists, visited Mexico,—for the purpose, it was announced, of examining into the value of mining property. It was not believed by those who know the governor that this was his only purpose, or that he acted without concert with others. It has been observed here that money is plenty among the not inconsiderable class of adventurers and speculators, and others, including the holders of thirty or forty millions of dollars worth of "claims" against Mexico, who in 1877 made an attempt to provoke a war between the two republics. The fact that efforts are being made to provoke a war in Mexico, as shown in recent despatches, and that heavy capitalists in this country are alleged to be engaged in the movement, comes as a possible confirmation of the suspicion entertained here when Shepherd made his tour through Mexico.

It is now found that the expense of taking the next census will be greater than at first supposed. This is in part because of a desire to make this the most perfect census ever taken anywhere, and in part because Superintendent Walker, though a very careful man and one who has had experience, failed to take into account all the necessary items of cost.

The latest presidential combinations talked of in this city are as follows: Democratic, Bayard and McDonald; republican, Blaine and Windom. Both tickets would be strong, both in the east and in the west.

The post-office department finds that it makes little progress in its fight against the lottery companies. Further legislation will be asked when Congress meets.

Everybody needs

after the exhaustion of the day a stimulant that is nourishing as well as warming. Nothing is so well suited for this purpose as cocoa or chocolate. That prepared by Walter Baker & Co. has the highest reputation of any in the market.

Pure Grape Wine.

A committee from the Farmer's club of the American Institute have visited Speer's vineyards and wine cellars and they report that the port grape wine of Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, is generally pronounced the most reliable wine to be obtained, and is now being used by physicians who are the most choice in the selection of wines for convalescent patients. The principal hospitals in New York have adopted this wine.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

GINGER AS A TONIC.—The agreeable warming properties of JAMAICA GINGER render it especially desirable to those who are troubled with flatulency and the frequent stomachic difficulties which attend on dyspepsia; and its use not only relieves the immediate difficulty but prevents more serious troubles from obtaining the mastery. To have this genial and invigorating remedy at hand, in time of internal distress, should be the duty of all, especially of those having young children whose liability to colics and childish disarrangements gives parents the greatest anxiety. The best preparation for family purposes is undoubtedly ANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, which is constantly proving its claims as the best remedy extant for the relief of cramps and pains and ailments peculiar to change of season, climate, food or water.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is compounded of the best natural healing extracts of bark, roots and gums in the world. It is a safe and reliable medicine, pleasant to the taste, and cures coughs, colds, asthma, and croup. Price, 35 and 75 cents.

Concerning Hats.

It is the inalienable right of woman to wear a hat; she formerly wore a bonnet, as ugly as ill becoming, and even as loud as possible. The man or woman who in the high French roof in a transatlantic city decrees the size, shape, color and construction of the modern female hat, must produce periodically something new, strange and startling; but that man, who has emerged from beneath the order of the stove-pipe and revelled in the comfort of the soft hat, should little by little adopt the hard, unyielding, compressing stiff hat of to-day, is really too bad. When these hats were made with rounded tops, there was at least a symmetry in the style; but of late, the angular black hat, resembling an inverted cooking utensil, is the farthest thing from either beauty or comfort that for a long time man has been compelled to endure. Let us hope that the next style will be produced with regard alike for comfort and beauty.

N. P. Willis in his College Days.

Willis, in his early manhood, when associated with Gen. George P. Morris in conducting the old quarto New York Mirror, (the finest publication of its day in this country, as many will remember,) could occasionally recall in social life reminiscences of his college days at old Yale, one of which was in substance as follows:

Amateur cooking in the rooms of the students, although against the college rules, had been at one time practiced to a considerable extent, until it was prohibited when a load of poultry disappeared very mysteriously from the wagon of a farmer, who had stopped overnight at a tavern not far from the institution. A week subsequent to the issue of an edict to that effect, one of the students whom we will call Tom, made a bet that he would cook a goose or turkey, without being detected, in the room occupied by himself and chums, the forfeit being an oyster supper, with whiskey-punch, for a party of six. True to his word, on the evening following, he made his appearance with a fine fat goose he had procured at a grocers, and set about preparing it for cooking. When that was accomplished, not forgetting a good supply of dressing, it was suspended by a string from a nail within the chimney before a bright wood fire; a small tin pail being placed beneath to catch the drops of fat that followed each other in quick succession. It was not long ere the savory odor from the feathered biped filled not only the room but the hall outside, and then a well-known step was heard and the familiar voice of one of the faculty, as he proceeded from door to door on a tour of investigation to learn who was violating the recently pronounced ukase. A knock at that of Tom was instantly followed by his opening it, book in hand, and a "good evening, sir," with self-possessed coolness that would have been truely refreshing on an August day. In its usual place before the fire was the study table covered with the books of Tom and his companion, and on the side next the windows the latter was to be seen busied over a Greek exercise, while the vacant chair at the opposite side gave evidence that the former had just arisen from it. The learned professor, after a look about the room, seemed to feel that he was either on a wild-goose chase, (how much so in reality he did not dream,) or else that he was being outwitted, but soon found words to say, "It must be very evident, Mr. ——, to you both as well as to myself, that some one in this vicinity is violating the rule with regard to amateur cooking, and nowhere else is the odor so distinct as in this room." "There is certainly," Tom answered, "a very appetising smell in the line of poultry, as Mr. Brown and myself have been conscious for some time, but so far as our premises are concerned; you will please satisfy yourself by investigation." Acting on the suggestion the grave gentleman addressed looked into every place where the object of his pursuit would be likely to be concealed, but all in vain, when he took his leave with a reluctant acknowledgement that although circumstances were greatly against it, he could find nothing to justify suspicion that the odor of cooking had its origin there. Half an hour afterwards, when the same footsteps and voice were again heard a repetition of the knock produced from Tom the same result as before, but this time with a seeming look of surprise at a second visit from the worthy gentleman, who said, on entering, "It is very strange that the odor of cooking, which is stronger than ever, should proceed from this room, as it seems, unmistakably to do, and from nowhere else, unless something of the kind has been going on here within the last half hour, and I regard it my duty to make a second inspection." Nothing resulted from it however, but when another hour had passed, and the stillness around was broken alone by the occasional bark of a dog, or the voice of Chanticleer in announcing the hour of midnight, half a dozen young gentlemen were enjoying a repast from a finely cooked goose, that Tom as host had provided for their entertainment. The way the thing had been so successfully accomplished, by which he had won his bet, was simply this. On the approach of the professor, the contraband article had in both instances been deposited in the pail that held its drippings, and when a window was opened for the purpose, both were suspended from a nail around an angle of the building until they could be restored to their place upon the hearth.

Nothing of the kind could be more happy than the harmony that existed between Morris and Willis during the long years they were connected in various publications. Their love for each other may truly be said to have been like that of David and Jonathan. To those who can remember them well, it is sad to think that both have passed away; that "Undercliff," the home of the former, and "Idlewild," that of the latter, rural paradises as they seemed to others, amid the picturesque scenery of the Hudson, know them no more. News and Notes.

A Santa Rosa, Cal., despatch says J. G. Hill was killed on Saturday night at Forrestville, and Hamilton Liton wounded. There was a disturbance between Hill and a family named Travis, growing out of the alleged slanderous remarks made by Hill about Miss Travis. The Travis boys are in jail.

William H. Farrington, recently elected county commissioner of Wicomico county, Md., was killed on the 11th inst. by J. Wesley Turpin, during a quarrel. Both were farmers, residing about nine miles from Salisbury. There is said to have been an old feud between them. Turpin has not yet been arrested.

Mrs. Carlton Phillips died Monday night, the 10th inst., at Providence, R. I., of injuries caused by the explosion of an oil lamp filled with what was bought for astral oil, but proved to be some explosive fluid.

Alexander Ross, the keeper of a fruit and confectionery store at Providence, R. I., has been missing since Thursday night, the 6th inst. He left his store that night with the intention of going to a party, and has not been seen since. He is about thirty-five years old.

The funeral of Capt. H. P. Hamlin of the United States revenue marine service was solemnized at Newport, R. I., on the 11th inst., from the residence of his father-in-law, and was largely attended. The bearers were Capt. Baker, Lieuts. Barstow and Dennett, and Second Engineer Remick, of the revenue cutter Samuel Dexter; Capt. Gardner and Capt. Waters of the marine society; and James Fladder and Nicholas Underwood. Rev. E. M. Smith of the Methodist church officiated.

At Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 11th, Benjamin Brewster, son of J. P. Brewster, a prominent hatter of Chicago, shot and probably fatally wounded a woman, formerly a servant in the elder Brewster's family, claiming to be her murderer's wife. Brewster says the shooting was accidental. The girl refuses to make a statement. Brewster was arrested.

The Fitchburg railroad has ordered 500 new freight cars, to be delivered as soon as possible. Two hundred freight cars will be immediately built at the Hartford shops of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, owing to the increase of business.

Edward C. Palmer, late president of the Louisiana savings bank, has been arrested upon two indictments, one charging him with embezzlement in June, 1879, of $47,000 of money belonging to the bank or depositors therein, and the other with publishing false reports and wilfully concealing facts as to the condition of the bank to deceive the public, on May 6th, 1879. Palmer was imprisoned in default of $40,000 bail. He declares his arrest an outrage, caused by hatred and jealousy, and is glad that it is now impossible to prevent an impartial investigation, whereby the other side will be shown up.

During the last year 9,333,353 acres of public lands were disposed of, and 9,484,996 acres were surveyed, in addition to 734,591,286 acres previously surveyed. The total number of acres of the public domain still unsurveyed is about 1,081,000,000 acres.

Numerous instances are reported where farmers in New England have been victimized recently by sharpers, whose method is to secure signatures of responsible men to papers which subsequently prove to be negotiable promises to pay.

A special from Arkadelphia, Clark county, Ark., reports the cold-blooded murder of a negro named Bill White by a desperado named James T. Hicks, at Hope. Hicks entered a restaurant where White was playing cards, and deliberately shot him through one of his lungs. Hicks escaped, but was pursued by the sheriff.

Roswon Beardsley of North Lansing, a little village in Tompkins county, N. Y., is thought to be the oldest postmaster in the United States. In replying to a circular letter of inquiry sent out by the department the other day, Mr. Beardsly incidentally mentioned the fact that he had been postmaster at North Lansing for for more than fifty-one years. Curiosity led to an examination of the records, from which it was learned that the bond of Mr. Beardsley was dated June 28th, 1828.

The anonymous author of "An Earnest Trifler" is Miss Mary A. Sprague, daughter of a well-known lawyer of Newark, Ohio. The scene of the story is near Charlemont, Mass., where the writer passed a summer recently. It is her first book, and she is described as a handsome woman of only twenty.

Political and social circles in Great Britian are profoundly agitated on the movement against the law of entail. Lord Carington, a young English nobleman belonging to what is called the Prince of Wales' set, has openly declared himself in favor of the plans of the reformers; and his declaration, coming from the heir to one of the greatest properties in England, has startled all the land owners of the country.

—Every lady who goes to the theatre has a perfect right to wear a high hat. The people behind her should have secured the seat in front. If they did not she is not to blame.

—"I wish you would pay a little attention to what I am saying, sir," roared a lawyer to an exasperating witness. "I am paying as little attention as I can," was the calm reply.

—"Parian marble busts," repeated old 'Squire Folsom, looking up at the placard in the art gallery; "wall, naow, I dew declar! That must be quer sorter stuff; I shouldn't care to sculp much on that 'ere, I reckon, ef I wus a sculper."

AROUND HOME.

Viola Clifton's Mastodon Female Minstrels will this evening present the Parisian burlesque, the "Female Forty Thieves," at Music hall.

Mr. Timothy Crowley of this city, who was recently appointed telegraph operator at the Seabrook station on the Eastern railroad, has since been appointed station agent as well.

At the sale of autographs of distinguished men of different ages and countries, in Boston on the 10th inst., that of John Hanson went for $5.50, while that of Charles Carroll of Carrollton sold for ten cents.

David Webster, the well-known assistant of Thomas E. Drakr, the liquor spotter, has been released from the jail in this city on his own recognizance. Webster is said to be afflicted with a disease which may end fatally.

A freight train on the Eastern railroad ran off the track at Revere, Mass., early in the forenoon on the 12th inst., and blocked up both tracks, forcing all other trains to go around by the Saugus branch, delaying them about an hour.

The ornamental work over the front entrance to the National block was put up on Wednesday of this week. The words "National Block," in heavy iron block letters, graces the plain surface over the arch of the entrance to the new Odd Fellows' hall.

The second dance of the course of assemblies of the Granite State base ball club, comes off this evening at Mechanics' hall. Besides the usual attractions, a gold ring and a pair of ear-drops will be given to the holder of the number corresponding to those on the prizes.

Josiah B. Wiggin of Stratham has the champion apple tree of that town, it having this year borne thirty-three bushels of apples, not one of which exceeded an inch and a half in diameter. Mr. Wiggin has not been out of apples for forty years, and now has in his cellar some that were picked in 1878.

Hon. Albert Currier, the contractor for building the Franklin block, has a large gang of masons at work laying brick. He has been delayed in the work for several weeks by reason of the iron beams not being received. He heard by telegraph on the 12th inst., that they had been shipped, and ere long they will be received.

The Portsmouth Brewing Co. are demolishing the house No. 62 Bow street, and will place their counting-room upon the site of the old house. A large cellar is to be constructed for storage purposes, in the rear. A fine spring of water on the land of the company is being utilized, the flow being sufficient for use in cooling ale, etc.

On Tuesday night of this week, at about ten o'clock, Edward Riley, steward of the schooner H. R. Tilton, of Philadelphia, lying at Concord railroad wharf, in crossing the deck of schooner A. H. Waite to reach his own vessel fell through her main hatch to the bottom of the hold, a distance of about fifteen feet, striking upon his hip on the keelson; he was a good deal jarred, but very fortunately escaped serious injury, and was able to attend to his duties next day. On Wednesday, at about ten o'clock in the forenoon, the second mate of the H. R. Tilton fell from her 'tween decks to the hold, a distance of about ten feet, and was badly bruised about his hips and back, and on one side of his face.

The Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads have purchased a controlling interest in the Portland & Rochester railroads, at $270,000 for the joint purchase. The through business between Portland and Boston, which has been carried on for some time via the Rochester & Nashua road at ruinous rates, will now be transacted by the Boston & Maine and Eastern roads at remunerative rates. In regard to the business which comes from the new avenue out of Portland, the two roads have a pooling arrangement, the line doing the work having fifty per cent of the earnings, and the balance going into a common fund, to be divided equally between the roads. This new negotiation solidifies the business arrangements between the Boston & Maine and Eastern lines, and looks toward a still closer union of those routes at no distant day.

Capt. David F. Nudd of Hampton one day recently killed eighty-four sea-fowl, said to be the best day's shooting on record in that region.

Messrs. Charles H. Hayes and N. F. Mathes have purchased up to date 10,000 barrels of apples, with the prospect of obtaining 5000 barrels more.

Rev. Sullivan Holman, chaplain of the New Hampshire State prison, and formerly pastor of the Methodist church in this city, is in town visiting friends.

A handsome new sign, bearing the inscription "Organized 1802. Col. Sise 2," was put up on the house of No. 2 steam fire engine, on Wednesday forenoon of this week.

Thomas Appleton of Dover has been appointed to a position on the staff of civil engineers on Col. T. W. Pierce's Sunset railroad route in Texas, at a salary of $2,000 a year.

The heavy stone work forming the front entrance to the Franklin theatre was hoisted into position on Wednesday, the 12th inst.; the carving is exceedingly handsome and attracts much attention.

There is a credible report, says the Boston Traveller, that the American Union Telegraph Co. is to operate the wires on the Eastern railroad, between Boston and Portland, as well as the branches, and it is not improbable that other railroad companies will come into the arrangement.

The final examinations of Dartmouth medical college were concluded Tuesday afternoon, the 11th inst. Dr. S. C. Whittier of this city was one of the examining board, and among those who passed satisfactory examinations and received diplomas was John W. Stimson, also of this city. The graduation exercises took place in the college church in the evening, Dr. Whittier delivering the address.

Arrived at her wharf on the 11th inst., the three-masted schooner Sallie M. Evans, Capt. John Willetts, from Philadelphia, after a passage of about eight days on the river, towed to Exeter from Portsmouth by the steam tug Ann, with a cargo of coal to J. M. Clark & Co. Her length was the cause of some delay in consequence of the crookedness of the river. Her extreme length over all is 114 feet, width 26 1-2 feet, depth of hold eight feet, drawing when loaded nine feet. Her register is 191 34-100 tons, landing at the wharf 266 tons of coal as per bill of loading—capable of carrying 300 tons. One thing more. The civility of the officers and crew cannot be surpassed. We should judge from appearances that they all were very abstemious. Not the slightest appearance of intoxication. The vessel is a perfect picture of neatness.—Exeter Gazette.

Walter F. Stearns, son of Joseph B. Stearns of this city, recently arrived in Boston by steamer from Europe, and has proceeded to Duxbury, Mass., to duplex the Duxbury and St. Pierre cable. The very delicate and expensive instruments that will be used for this work Mr. Stearns brought with him from Europe. J. B. Stearns, the father, is now engaged in duplexing the British & North Sea and Australian cables. The instruments for duplexing an ocean cable cost upwards of $7000, and are made of the greatest accuracy, as a variation of one-tenth of an ohm in the balance between the ocean cable and the artificial cable will spoil the working. Mr. Stearns has spent some five or six years in perfecting these instruments, and has succeed beyond his own anticipation. The Anglo-American Cable Company allow a gain of eighty per cent in the transmission of messages, but it averages ninety per cent, and under favorable circumstances the gain is 100. Taking into account the great cost of an ocean cable, the increase of ninety per cent is certainly a most valuable invention.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

In connection with the week of prayer, there will be a meeting at the Bow mission hall this (Thursday) evening, Nov. 13th, at seven o'clock, for the purpose of more thoroughly organizing and receiving membership to the Young Christian Association which was started here last spring. A cordial invitation is extended to all Christian believers, irrespective of sect, sex or age.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 12th.

The court was occupied during the entire day on Tuesday with the respective arguments of the counsel in Griffin vs. the town of Auburn, which after a charge of some length was given to the jury late in the afternoon.

The jury were out all of Tuesday night, came into court on Wednesday, and again returned to their room, whence they came in during the afternoon, and rendered a verdict in favor of Griffin of $495. This is a reduction of $2005 from the former verdict in the case.

No. 167, Eustace C. Fitz vs. John W. Getchell, action of account for rent of certain real estate in Exeter, occupied the court on Wednesday. Wiggin and Fernald for plaintiff; Marston and Eastman for deft.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

An Eliot man was caught purloining rope at the navy yard on the 11th inst., for which he was black-listed, and will receive no further employment there, at least not under the present commandant.

Lieut. John Dennett and Second Engineer Remick, U. S. R. M., the former of York and the latter of Kittery, were among the bearers at the funeral of Capt. H. P. Hamlin, late commander of the revenue cutter Samuel Dexter, to which the officers named are attached.

The strike of ship carpenters at Kennebunkport related only to part of those who built the large ship that was launched some ten days since. Nineteen men are still at work on her, and Chas. H. Thompson's crew are at work also at old rates. But men refuse to go to work for the Massachusetts Loan & Trust Co., on a barque partly done, in Thompson's yard, at eighty cents a day—a dollar is asked.—Biddeford Times.

At an early hour on Tuesday evening, the 10th inst., the schoolhouse in district No. 3 of Eliot was totally destroyed by fire, with most of its coptents; a few of the benches were caved, but nearly all the scholars' books were burned. The school had opened only two days previously. Various opinions are advanced as to how the fire caught, but the people generally agree that it was accidental. The building was a modern one, having been erected somewhere about 1873, and was fitted with patent seats, etc. Insurance $1000, which will nearly cover the loss to the town. After the building was completely destroyed a carpenter who was employed in its erection commenced to turn over the ashes in a particular spot, saying that he lost a pair of compasses just about there when at work on the building, and now meant to find them if possible; and sure enough he quickly discovered them in the hot ashes, black and devoid of temper, but still in a condition to be of some use.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Portsmouth sailed from Hampton roads on Saturday, the 8th inst., for Washington.

The Powhatan sailed from Norfolk on the 11th inst. for New York.

The Kearsarge is ordered to Charleston, Savannah and Port Royal.

The Marion is to be detached from the North Atlantic station and prepared for service on the Pacific station.

A case of considerable interest was decided this week by the supreme court of the United States. Upon the petition of Alvin R. Read for writs of habeas corpus it appeared that the petitioner Read was paymaster's clerk on the United States ship Essex. On the 25th of June, 1878, he was tried by a naval court-martial for malfeasance in office, found guilty and duly sentenced. The admiral declined to approve the judgment, and sent the proceedings back to the court that the sentence might be reviewed. The court thereupon imposed another severer sentence—two years' imprisonment, with loss of pay, except $10 monthly, $500—and dishonorable discharge. The petitioner brought his case upon a writ of habeas corpus, alleging first, that the naval court-martial could have no jurisdiction over a paymaster's clerk; second, that the first sentence exhausted the power of the court, and that the second was therefore a nullity, and third, that the court could revise its former decision only on the ground of mistake, and that there was no mistake and consequently no power of revision. The court holds that none of the prisoner's points are well taken; that the naval court-martial had jurisdiction over the person and the case; that the exercise of its discretion within authorized limits cannot be assigned for error and made the subject of review even by an appellate court, and finally that a writ of habeas corpus cannot be made to perform the functions of a writ of error. The petition is therefore denied. This will add a safeguard to the office of paymaster, as these officers cannot get on without clerks who are faithful in their office. The idea that the naval authorities had less power to punish a clerk than a seaman seems to have been untenable, and a different view would have opened a door for insecurity which would have been disastrous to the service.

—Two parts tallow and one of resin melted together and applied to the soles of new boots or shoes—as much as the leather will absorb—will double their wear. A farmer in this vicinity says the recipe has saved him more than the cost of five years subscription to the paper in which he saw it.

The First National bank of Concord is, in proportion its capital, the richest institution of its kind in the State. It has a capital of $150,000, and on the 2d day of October its surplus fund and undivided profits amounted to over $87,000.

E. H. Cheney, a well known newspaper man, has sold his printing house at Lebanon and will return to Florida, where he goes in the cold season for his health. He is a brother of Ex-Governor Cheney of this State, and of President Cheney of Bates college.

Rev. Father Lambert of Laconia, it is stated, is to convert his house into a nunnery and to start a Catholic school under the direction of the Sisters of Mercy.

It is estimated that 80,000,000 feet of lumber will be put into the upper Connecticut river this season. One thousand men and 800 horses will be required to do the work.

The authority to establish a national bank at Franklin has been granted to Warren F. Daniell, John Taylor, Daniel Barnard, Alexis Proctor, Walter Aiken, Milton Gerrish and A.W. Sulloway. The capital, $100,000, is mostly taken. The bank will be immediately put into operation.

Political.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the nephew of Gen. Robert E. Lee, was a prominent debtpayers' candidate for the Virginia legislature, and most earnest in his denunciation of repudiation. He was defeated, and on the Thursday night after the election — the readjusters (repudiators) of Falmouth made an effigy of him and rode it round on a rail. They were about to burn it, but were persuaded not to do so by a party of men from Fredericksburg.

Congressman Voorhis, of New Jersey, was arrested on the 11th inst. at Patterson, N. J., on a charge of larceny of collat rals from a bank of which he is president.

At Louisville, Ky., on the evening of the 11th inst., the Southern Historical Society, representing Ex-Confederates, resolved to extend a cordial reception to Gen. Grant when he visits the city. They expect to turn out in a body.

For impaired digestion, and in fact, for debility from any cause, I know of nothing equal to Fellows' Hypophosphites. Its direct effect in strengthening the nervous system renders it suitable for the majority of diseases.

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they got out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments, (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,892.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months, all through the combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest successes in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanation how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

MODEL RANGE
Manufactured by Spicer & Peckham, of Providence, R. I. The Portable Cooking Range is the best adapted to do work surely and quickly, of any device yet made. There are many sizes. They do all work evenly and steadily, with a great saving of fuel. No expense has been spared to make the Model Range first-class in every particular, and it is presented to the public as one that is admitted even by competing manufacturers to be the most neatly ornamented and perfectly proportioned Range yet made.
The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and curve flue will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

Ranges, Cooking and Parlor Stoves,

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOES SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to be offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily testify its superiority over any other catarrh cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a public advertisement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those which for the reason mentioned, the following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write to you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must use a remedy or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a painful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was astonished at its benefit by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 60—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is so manifestly great, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to humanity, you have my leave to use it, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast, where it is much needed; my subject in writing this note will be obtained.

Yours truly, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canada, and WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The property of this Company consists of the "Monitor and Ranger" and "Express" Mines, which aggregate 2500 feet in length and 600 feet in width. Work done on them in several localities, shows in several cases BILLING ORE, varying in width from 40 to 80 feet. Average assays taken promiscuously from these openings show a value of $17.50 per ton. The three shafts already down show a splendid body of PAY ORE.

The mine, near the Colorado extension of the "McCracken Lode," capitalized at the rate of $10,000,000, (four times as much as this Company) and which mills, with a Company's mill, yielded during eight months of 1878, and shipped to San Francisco as shown by the books of Wells, Fargo & Co., bullion valued at Six Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars ($670 000)

FOR THE ARIZONA CONSOLIDATED to pay regular dividends, all it has to do, is to build a mill. To purchase and erect this, the Trustees have set aside One Quarter of the whole capital stock of this Company, ten thousand (10,000) shares of which are now offered at the subscription price of $5.50 per share. This will be sufficient to erect a steam stamp mill and set it in complete operation. The management will be conducted in the economical and economical manner.

Daily Chronicle.

An "Agricultural Number" of Scribner's Monthly.

In addition to the usual variety in the contents of Scribner, the November issue contains a half dozen papers of the highest interest to farmers, and others interested in rural life: "The Agricultural Distress in Great Britain," by P. T. Quinn; "Farming in Kansas," by Henry King; an article on "Success with Small Fruits," by E. P. Roe; "Rare Lawn-Trees," by Samuel Parsons, Jr.; "The Mississippi Jetties," and their effect on the prices of agricultural products, and "How Animals Get Home," by Ernest Ingersoll.

There are two fine portraits of Bayard Taylor—one engraved by Cole, from the best photograph, and the other a reproduction by Juengling, of O'Donovan's bronze bass-relief. These portraits accompany a discriminating critique of Taylor, by Stedman. Clarence Cook has a paper on "Morris Moore's Old Masters," with a reproduction, by Cole, of Raphael's "Apollo and Marsyas." There are poems, stories and sketches; "The French Quarter of New York;" "Extracts from the Journal of Henry J. Raymond," with interesting reminiscences of Daniel Webster; a beautiful story by Boyesen; an ingenious story, "A Sigh;" the fourth part of "Confidence," by Henry James, Jr., begun in August; and the first part of a new American novel of Creole life, "The Grandissimes," by George W. Cable, of New Orleans, the author of "Old Creole Days," which has created such an excellent impression in the literary world. "The reign of Peter the Great," by Eugene Schuyler, is noted editorially. This splendid series of illustrated historical papers, the greatest work of the sort yet undertaken by any popular magazine, will begin in the January issue, and will cost me for two years.

All that enterprize and skill can do will be done to maintain the position of Scribner as the leading popular periodical of America. With the revival of the agricultural and business interests of the country, increased attention will be paid to papers on great public enterprises and interests, already a notable feature of the magazine.

Price, $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. Buy it of your bookseller or send the subscription price to the publishers, Scribner & Co., No. 743 Broadway, New York.

GINGER AS A TONIC.—The agreeable warming properties of JAMAICA GINGER render it especially desirable to those who are troubled with flatulency and the frequent stomachic difficulties which attend on dyspepsia; and its use not only relieves the immediate difficulty but prevents more serious troubles from obtaining the mastery. To have this genial and invigorating remedy at hand, in time of internal distress, should be the duty of all, especially of those having young children whose liability to colics and childish disarrangements gives parents the greatest anxiety. The best preparation for family purposes is undoubtedly SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER, which is constantly proving its claims as the best remedy extant for the relief of cramps and pains and ailments peculiar to change of season, climate, food or water.

Pure Grape Wine.

A committee from the Farmer's club of the American Institute have visited Speer's vineyards and wine cellars and they report that the port grape wine of Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, is generally pronounced the most reliable wine to be obtained, and is now being used by physicians who are the most choice in the selection of wines for convalescent patients. The principal hospitals in New York have adopted this wine.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect, that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is compounded of the best natural healing extracts of bark, roots and herbs in the world. It is a safe and reliable medicine, pleasant to the taste, and cures coughs, colds, asthma, and croup. Price, 35 and 75 cents.

Fattening Cattle and Swine.

November is emphatically the month for fattening beef and pork, especially the latter. A bushel of corn will make more meat now than in July or January, as in July much carbon passes off in eating and perspiration, and in January much is used in keeping up the animal heat. Flies, also, which have tormented cattle in the summer and early autumn are now gone. Fighting flies wears off most as much flesh as does moderate work, as a fly bite is so irritating to the nerves, but in these November days fattening stock have nothing to do but eat, sleep and take their comfort. Feed them regularly and liberally, but not profusely so as to get their stomachs cloyed and disordered, and they will put on fat rapidly. It should always be remembered that an animal, just as does his master, takes a little variety in his food. The extires of meal just as man tires of roast beef. A few apples or beets will prove a good appetizer and keep the stomach from being dyspeptic.—Ploughman.

Affairs in Maine.

It is reported from Augusta, Me., that the State authorities have certificates prepared to send out giving seats to seventeen democratic senators and eighty-four democratic representatives, giving them a majority, and also a quorum in case the republicans should all retire. This plan of securing a democratic majority of course necessitates the rejection of a large number of republicans who were elected, and the giving of certificates to the same number of democrats who were beyond question defeated. This plan has worked well in many of the southern States, but if it is attempted in Maine it will occasion much talk; and we are not yet convinced that Gov. Garcelon is an unscrupulous scoundrel, as he must be to attempt it.

News and Notes.

At Philadelphia, on the 12th inst., a court of inquiry was held by British Consul Crump into the cause of the late collision between the British ship Lady Octavia and the steamer Champion. Capt. Johnson of the former vessel reiterated the statement in his official log that the cause of the collision was negligence on the part of the steamer Champion in having no lookout; also, that if the Champion had struck the Lady Octavia ten feet further aft than she did, the latter would have gone to the bottom at once.

Robert Barkley, James Kelly, Edward Devens and Michael Bulger, young lads whose ages vary from twelve to sixteen years, were arrested at North Adams, Mass., on the 11th inst., for disturbing the peace and stoning the windows in the Congregational chapel on the previous night. They were fined $25, $10, $10 and $5 respectively, and costs.

The store of Litchfield Bros., at North Attleborough, Mass., was broken into on the night of the 11th inst., the safe drilled and pried open, and $400 stolen. The post-office was also entered and two safes robbed of $300. The entrance in each case was by a rear window, and there is no clew to the robbers, who were evidently professionals.

It is reported that W. G. Bennett, a prominent druggist of Fall River, Mass., will sue for divorce, alleging long-continued criminal intimacy of his wife with Capt. L. V. Tilton, former proprietor of the Narragansett house. The Bennetts are among the wealthiest and most refined families of the county, and the affair has caused a big sensation.

A $500 team (horse and phaeton) belonging to William B. Richards of Haverhill, Mass., was stolen from the Kenosha house at the trotting park on the night of the 11th inst.

Morrison Johnson of Brooks, Me., committed suicide by hanging on the 9th inst. He was about seventy years of age, had lived alone for several years, and has been in poor health all the past season.

The dealers in slate at Boston, Lowell, Portland and other places purpose to build a narrow-gauge road from Monson to Dexter, Me., to connect with the Maine Central railroad, which they think will lease at six per cent of the cost of grading and laying down the rails.

The beet-sugar company of Portland has expended $50,000 in machinery, $50,000 more is being disbursed among the farmers, and nearly $400 per day is given out in wages. The State bounty for these investments is one cent per pound for the first 700,000 pounds of beet sugar made each season.

An epidemic among cats has appeared in some parts of Bangor, Me., and several pets have been lost by it, one family having lost two and now have a third similarly affected. The animals bleed at the nose and mouth, refuse food, lie around dumpishly and in a short time die of the disease if not relieved of their sufferings by merciful owners.

Two young women were to travel without a male escort from Aurelius, N. Y., to San Francisco. Fearful of annoyance, they thought it would be a safeguard if one had her hair cropped and wore men's clothes. This plan was carried out, but the deception was imperfect, and in Chicago they were arrested as suspicious characters.

Young Seward placed a pistol at his head, in the presence of the girl who had rejected his suit, at Houston, Minn., and said he was going to commit suicide. He counted, "One, two——," and she covered her eyes with her hands. "Look at me," he said; she obeyed; "three!" and into his brain went the fatal bullet.

Since the arrest of Webster recently the officers at Pittsfield, Mass., have accumulated a good deal of evidence connecting him with the assault on Chester Goodale in Egremont; and they have also a clear case against him for breaking into a store at Alford and attempting to murder the clerk, who caught him gathering up the goods to take away. It seems that he succeeded in carrying off in the wagon in which he fled, thirty-one pairs of shoes. These shoes have been found concealed in the church sheds at Egremont, and in the chapel where Webster was hidden were found papers and a bundle stolen from the post-office. It is believed with the evidence already secured, and with promised revelations from some of Webster's confidants, he can be convicted of the Goodale assault, and the robbery, burglary, and attempt at murder in Alford, robbery of the Stockbridge postoffice, and burglary at a house in Egremont, where a large amount of jewelry, plate and clothing was taken. Webster is thirty years old, and at sixteen was in jail for an assault. In 1865 he was imprisoned for cruelty to a horse, and in 1877 he was sentenced to eighteen months for stealing wool in Sheffield. He served the latter sentence and returned to his old haunts in South Berkshire, thence moving his family to Hillsdale, N. Y., where he was arrested for breaking into a house. He escaped from the officers, and was on his way back to South Berkshire, when he stopped at Egremont and assaulted and robbed Mr. Goodale.

Abd-el-Kader, whose death occurred recently at Damascus, was a noted man early in the present century, and according to his lights, this Arab chief was a patriot and a noble soldier. His name signifies "Servant of God," and he was a man of marked strength of character. Born in 1807 of a noble Algerian family, he headed his countrymen against the first French invasion in 1830. Compelled to surrender in the end by the desertion of some of the tribes, he twice again led a revolt against the invaders, only to succumb in the end to superior arms and military training. In his last surrender, it was agreed he should be allowed to live in exile in Egypt or Syria, but to the shame of Marshal Bugeaud the pledge was violated and he was taken prisoner to Paris, and exhibited by Louis Philippe as a trophy of war. Thackery, who saw him there, speaks of him as a caged hawk, still as full of fight as ever. Louis Napoleon, however, released him after he had sworn peace on the Koran, and, after travelling considerably in Europe, he settled in Damascus, where he lived a quiet and respected life. He had twenty-four children, and one of his daughters became a Christian.

Two unknown persons in a row-boat went over Wood's falls, on Black river, two miles below Watertown, N. Y., on the 12th inst., and from their appearance and actions it is thought they intended suicide.

Henry E. Dood, proprietor of the flour mills at Turin, N. Y., was killed Wednesday by being caught in a shaft.

John M. Slater was shot dead by his father-in-law, J. W. Keen, near Magaz, in Logan county, Ark., during a quarrel.

The customs officers at North Troy, Vt., on the 12th inst. seized a good team and a quantity of butter, the property of Mark Bannister, who has been doing an extensive smuggling business.

In Washington county, R. I., common pleas court, Asa S. Coon has been convicted of an assault with a pistol, with intent to kill his wife, and sent to the State prison for five years.

Everett Davis, aged eighteen years, was killed on the 11th inst. by the discharge of a gun which he was using as a paddle while in a boat on Pawtucket river, near Westerly, R. I.

Since the Wallingford, Conn., community of socialists abandoned their peculiar system its members are being legally married to each other as fast as possible.

The Powhatan arrived at New York on the 11th inst., from Norfolk.

New Hampshire Items.

The Haviland mine, of Lisbon, is owned largely by Portland parties, who have been prosecuting the work vigorously for the past two years. They have a very rich vein, have a shaft of 250 feet, a westerly drift 160 feet and an easterly one of sixty feet. Rich ore is being taken from the 160 feet drift. The capital of the Haviland is $200,000; par value $100; no stock on the market.

Mr. G. W. Worthen denies the report from Plymouth that he has been indicted for an aggravated assault upon Asa Barron. He asserts that he had nothing to do with the case and has never been indicted.

The reunion of the veterans of the 12th Regt. N. H. Volunteers was held at Tilton on the 12th inst., Gov. Head being one of the guests. One hundred and twenty-five veterans were present. In the afternoon the corner stone of a new town hall was laid, and in the evening there was a social dance.

Political.

The Boston Journal expects to see Grant and Hancock the two Presidential candidates, and thinks "the olive branch business is played out."

Whose head, in any State, is higher above the democratic wreck than Tilden's? Whose devoted poll can be distinguished above the the debris in Ohio? Has any democratic nose been seen pointing out of the heap of States which went undeniably republican on Tuesday last? These be questions to solemnly consider before the writing of the political epitaph of Samuel Jones Tilden.—Cincinnati Enquirer (dem.)

How the Captain's Patents Worked.

Having piped all hands to splice the main-brace, the Cap'n had the first mate of the farm tow out the horse and wagon, and ascending the quarter deck of the craft, he took possession of the tiller-ropes (as he styled the reins,) and said:

"Now boys, my invention is very simple—I might make a million dollars out of it, mebbe, but I ain't going to patent it; you can use it if you want to. I've simply fastened a twenty-fathom line on to the mizzen axle of the craft, and put on a stout grapnel. I shall bring this here hoss along the road under double-reefed topsails, and then one of you cusses scare him—open an umbrella at him, or something; then, when he goes tearing along about twenty-five knots an hour, and won't answer to his helm, I'll just drop the anchor and ride out the gale. Git up!"

The horse came jogging gently down the road, when, according to the programme, the first mate pushed out and hit him a belt over the nose with a blanket. The terrified animal stood on his hind legs for a moment and then struck a course northwest by north with great celerity. The interested spectators beheld the fearless Cap'n sitting unmoved, bow bent and careened by the breeze, then with a triumphant smile they saw him heave out the anchor with a merry, "Yo, heave, ho!" The grapnel slid for a few moments in the treacherous sands of the road, then caught in a rock. Cap'n Cornwell rose into the air like a bird on the wing, and sailed majestically forward, alighting on his car. The horse stood on his head a second, and then resumed his onward course at the rate of at least seventy miles an hour, and, amid a frightful crashing, ripping, tearing and smashing, all the wagon vanished into thin air, except a piece of the mizzen axle, to which the anchor had been fastened.

Captain Cornwell can't precisely understand why, when the tackle held, he wasn't able to ride out the gale, but is not discouraged and will repeat the experiment as soon as he has a new buggy built upon lines of his own designing. Life insurance canvassers are bearing down upon him from all quarters, and the liveliest interest is manifested in the neighborhood. We wish the gallant captain all success.—Chicago Tribune.

The audience at Music hall, at the first entertainment in the Rockingham course, Wednesday evening, would have been considered a very good audience indeed in point of numbers under ordinary circumstances; but for the first night of the excellent course provided by the manager, and with the high reputation of Helen Potter's Pleiades, the number present was not so large as we had anticipated, and not what was merited. The entertainment was of a high order, and much enjoyed.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

THURSDAY, Nov. 13th.

Savings Bank for County of Strafford vs. Getchell. At the coming in of the court Thursday morning, Judge Bingham charged the jury. The action was to recover rent of certain premises. Amount claimed was for rent of foreclosed estate while the owner was in possession for ten months and twenty-three days, at $750 per year, amounting to $670.34.

Joshua Getchell mortgaged the premises for about $20,000 loaned to him by the Savings Bank for the County of Strafford. The bank foreclosed, and between the time the mortgage was given and the foreclosure thereof, the senior Getchell gave his son (John, the defendant in this case,) a lease of the premises. John W. Getchell was in possession when the possession was taken by the bank, and he claimed to hold under lease. The bank claimed a prior possession under their mortgage, and the court so instructed the jury,—that the lease of the tenant was subject to the bank's right under the mortgage. The tenant then attorned to the bank, and acknowledged himself as tenant of the bank, saving the right to bring a bill in equity, and the rights of landlord and tenant were by this process established, but it was claimed that there was a private understanding as to payment of rent, (the writing did not mention rent,) the pltf. contending that rent should be paid, on calling for it, from time of entry, May 1st, 1876. The deft. claims that he did not so understand it, but was not to pay until the bank told him he must pay, when he had the option to pay such rent as was then demanded, or vacate the premises. The question was as to this contract for rent,—where should the rental begin, and what was the understanding of the parties. The claim has been assigned by the bank to the plaintiff, Eustace C. Fitz, who was entitled to maintain this suit. Wiggin for pltf.; Marston and Eastman for deft. The case was given to the jury about 10:30 A. M., and at five P. M. the jury returned a verdict for the deft.

The suit Fitz vs. Getchell, an action between these parties, was continued.

No. 130, Valentine Smith vs. Simeon S. Brackett. Action to determine a question as to the boundary of certain land near Newmarket. Writ dated Feb. 21, 1878. Charles O. Brown, of Northwood, foreman of the jury. Action brought to recover amount of a note payable on or before Jan. 1st, 1878, for $1050, with interest, given by the deft. to Smith. The note was read, and was dated Oct. 22d, 1877. The defendant contended that the note was not all due; admitted something due, but claims that a part of the consideration had failed. It was given for some standing timber on land in Durham, which it appeared was claimed in part by Wm. P. Channell, and that Smith did not own all the wood and timber sold, but falsely represented as to the boundary line which was owned by another party. A proper deduction from the amount of the note was claimed by Brackett. Brackett put a steam saw-mill on the lot and began cutting off the timber, but soon ran against Channell, a claimant of part of the land which was sold to Brackett; and it was contended by the deft. that Channell did own part of the land inside the line which Smith sold to Brackett. Smith and Keep for pltf.; Frank for deft. The case continued all day until 6:30 P. M., when the evidence was closed. It will be argued the first thing on the coming in of the court in the morning.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Mr. Decatur's new yacht made the run from this port to Ogunquit in an hour and twenty minutes. She towed a small boat all the way, and hove-to three times to pick up birds that were shot by the gunners on board.

An otter about five feet long was shot in Chase's pond at York by two young men a few days since. Mr. Horace McIntire, the well known trapper of York, has been after this animal for two years past, but the cunning creature constantly avoided the traps set to capture it. An otter has not before been killed in that town for forty years or more.

This morning about eight o'clock two French boys named Frank Lapointe and Biddo Laforme, the latter about fifteen years old, started in a boat, the tide being high, to go up the river between the York and Laconia mills. This is no uncommon occurrence, when the tide is high, but rarely if ever attempted when the tide is out. The two boys had gone above the first race way on the Laconia side and were turning, when by some means Laforme fell overboard. He was a pretty good swimmer and struck out for the east side, the men on that side throwing him boards, etc. He nearly reached the shore when from some unexplained cause he turned about and commenced to swim back, when he sank. His body had not been recovered up to noon to-day.—Biddeford Times, 12th inst.

A. J. Peterson of Biddeford was on Saturday night, the 8th inst., visited by a young man, formerly a friend, whom he invited to remain over night and help winnow beans next day. The men worked hard all day Sunday, and at night occupied the same bed. At about four o'clock Monday morning Peterson arose, procured a revolver, and pointing it at his bed-fellow threatened to shoot him. The latter disarmed Peterson, left the house as quickly as possible, and swore out a warrant against Peterson for assault with intent to kill. Peterson's trial was assigned for Monday, the 17th inst.

—"Hoops are coming round again."—It would be inconvenient if they came square.

—In the city of Modina, Italy, and for a distance of four miles around it, workmen digging in the earth find at a depth of fourteen feet the ruins of an ancient city—paved streets, houses, and various pieces of masonry work. Beneath the ruins exists a soft, oozy earth, made up of vegetables, and at 26 feet depth large trees are discovered, with leaves, branches, and fruit in a perfect state of preservation. At 58 feet a soft chalk is brought out mixed with a vast quantity of shells, the bed being 11 feet in thickness; under this bed vegetables are again found. When 63 depth is reached, another bed of chalk is struck. On penetrating the chalk five feet with an auger, water rushes in with great violence, quickly filling the new made well, which continues full and unaffected by drought or freshets.

Pious Marines.

The "prayer for the President of the United States" was read without interruption the whole of the war, in the little Episcopal church at Key West. In 1861, things were equally there, and the chaplain's position was anything but a bed of roses. When he came to the prayer, the bowed heads were jerked up, and in place of the "amen" was contemptuous silence, always, attended by the most unchristian scowls. Finally, he was told that he would be dragged by his vestry and congregation from the chancel on the following Sunday, if he persisted in reading that prayer. Replying that he should certainly do so, he waited the next Sunday without pleasurable feelings. On Saturday came the United States ship Pawnee to anchor in the harbor, and the captain called on the chaplain.

"Well, parson, how are you?" was his cheery greeting.

"I am not well, Capt. Rowan," was the reply. "I am to be dragged from the church to-morrow, for persisting in reading the prayer."

Captain Rowan asked a few questions, and then remarked, with the deliberate manner which his friends knew so well:

"Parson, I have on my ship a set of as pious marines as you ever saw. The poor fellows have been longing for a chance to go to church, and they shall have it to-morrow. Have you any vacant front pews?"

The next day, just as the belligerent congregation, with full purpose in every look, had taken their seats, in marched the entire marine guard of the Pawnee, stacked their arms beside the chancel, and took their seats in front. To the prayer for the President, succeeded an "Amen" from thirty stalwart throats which almost lifted off the roof, and that was the last time the rector had any trouble.

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

—Witch burning is not recognized as a crime in Russia, although this is the nineteenth century and the age of holy missions. Seventeen peasants of Nijni-Novgorod met the other day, and solemnly cremated an elderly female resident in their neighborhood, who was suspected of black cat and broom-stick tendencies. The court acquitted them all, but directed three of them to make their peace by penance with the church.

—A pierless structure—A suspension bridge.

—The eruption from which the sun was lately reported to be suffering would appear to be contagious, for the astronomers now announce that Jupiter is afflicted by a pimple. It is as large as the continent of Europe, and of a splendid vermilion color. It is situated on his "uppermost extremity," a deferential mode, probably, of saying the top of his majesty's head, and is of an oval form, appearing "attached to the planet itself."

For impaired digestion, and in fact, for debility from any cause, I know of nothing equal to Fellows' Hypophosphites. Its direct effect in strengthening the nervous system renders it suitable for the majority of diseases.

Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments, (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,892.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months, all through the combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest successes in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanation how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

The top is double, and very large, with extension shelf and towel rack attached at either end. The fire box is arranged with express reference to economy, and easily repaired; the grate can be taken out without moving the brick lining. The ash sifter is perfect in its operation, and free from dust. The oven is very large, ventilated properly, and bakes thoroughly. The ash-pan is especially convenient. The ventilated broiler doors make perfect combustion and economy of fuel. Durability, cleanliness, ease of management, great working capacity, rapid and perfect in operation. Pipe collar adjustable for either top or back of range. Patent check draft and curve flue will save one-third of the fuel that is usually wasted. The door-knobs and name plate are nickel plated, making it very attractive for the home. The top is less likely to crack, being double.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered in proof of merit, for any offered remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily address the proprietors over any period of time known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I was in fear of death. The entire membrane of my system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was almost benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and that I may yet live to a venerable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

AN OLD MAID'S ROMANCE.

The announcement of my father's intended second marriage had proved a great shock to me; but the fact that I was engaged myself, and soon about to leave the home nest, softened it, so that I could almost rejoice for him in his new found happiness—the more so that, spite of all prejudices, I soon grew to dearly love the sweet winsome young wife (her years scarce outnumbered mine), who seemed to have brought back his lost youth—loved her so well that when, one short year after their wedding, the idolized husband and father was brought home cold and dead, having been seized with apoplexy in his office, I forgot my own grief in my effort to comfort her.

My wedding-day had been fixed for the month following the terrible calamity. Everything for weeks past had been bustle and preparation. Roy Rollins, my betrothed, intended making his return in a new country, and I had loved him too well to let him go alone.

I thought so little of myself that, springing from my bed one bright spring morning, and glancing at the calendar hanging in my room, I started to see it was the date for my marriage—a date by me never to be forgotten—a day when instead of festive mirth, reigned bitter sorrow; instead of the bride's joy the mother's anguish; instead of life's cup of bliss, the dregs of death; and at its close with the sun sinking to its rest, I had pressed to my heart the little stranger, my two sister, who looked at my dead father's eyes, and who, poor, little, helpless thing, was mine now—mine only—since the young mother had time but for one fleeting glance of love, one whispered prayer.

"Do for my child, Beatrice—for his sake and mine! She is yours; I give her to you. Remember, we sacrifice all things, nor call it sacrifice, for our own!"

This was all; there was a short sigh, and the soul upon which my father had regained his wife; but I—oh, how changed everything was for me!

Heart and hands were so busy in the days that followed that I scarcely realized it, until, when baby was two months old, Roy told me he could no longer defer his going; that he must have the ceremony quietly performed at home, and be married without further delay.

What was to be done with baby? It was this thought which flashed lightning-like through my brain. She was a delicate child, who required constant care. Already Roy was complaining of the drain upon my time and health. The long, fatiguing journey, the hardships to which we would probably be exposed, would prove fatal. The physicians had said she could only live if guarded as the rarest hot-house plant, and here by me my lover sat, unconscious of the chaos which reigned in my thoughts.

How strength was given me to unfold my resolve I know not, nor how and when that resolve took place; but at last I made Roy understand that he must go without me—that I must stay at home and wait.

He pleaded, he prayed, alternately in love and anger, but I stood firm.

"God grant it may not be many years," I said, "ere you can come back, with this wonderful fortune made. Ethel will be a big girl then (so I had named my baby), and she and I will both be waiting on you."

So I spoke as bravely as I could; though when the time came, when my own bursting sobs mingled with his agony, and the heart upon which I leaned I could feel was throbbing so slowly and so heavily beneath my head; when hot, burning kisses fell like rain upon my face and hair; when I stretched out my arms for one more embrace, to find only emptiness; called aloud, and only the echo of my own voice returned to me—then my bravery forsook me; then on my knees I wrestled with my anguish; then I cried aloud that the cup was too bitter—I could not, could not, drink it.

A child's wailing cry aroused me. Was it heavens voice? A child's needs demanded my attention. The little one laughed into my face. I stooped and kissed it, and the first drop of comfort stole into my heart.

Baby Ethel! How I grew to love her, as the weary, weary months which followed lengthened into years, until my baby was no longer baby, except to me!

My care had been rewarded. The delicacy which characterized her infancy no one would have suspected in the after years; and as one by one the bud unfolded its perfect leaves, and burst into bloom, I could well be proud of the one flower in my otherwise barren garden.

I had been but twenty when my lover folded me for the last time to his heart, and Ethel now wanted but four years of my age then. Sixteen long years since I had bidden Roy good-by! His letters had never failed me. Disappointment had been his lot; return seemed impossible.

Ah, had I known how long would have been the waiting, could I have seen him go? I was but thirty-six, but I looked full ten years older. Threads of gray hair; weeping and wakeful nights had stolen the brilliancy from my eyes, the flush from my cheek; sorrow had laid its mark upon me—said, one bright, blessed morning, my youth came again.

A letter from Roy lay at my breakfast-plate. It lay untouched until I could feast on it alone; and what a feast was every word, since it told me at last, at last, success had crowned his efforts! He was coming home—would, in fact, be home within a fortnight from the date of its receipt.

I had never told my child, my little sister, who seemed more child than sister, of my relationship with Roy. Something kept me silent now. A strange, new diffidence crept upon me as the days went by. I grew to studying my face in the glass—a habit new to me—to wonder if I were not sadly changed; but no word escaped my lips. I would tell Ethel all, after he came. There must be no longer waiting. He had written me, "We must be married at once."

I was sitting alone in my little parlor, the gas unlighted, on the evening of the tenth day after receiving his letter, when there came a sudden peal of the bell, which thrilled me into motionless expectancy. Then I heard a deep, manly voice inquiring by name—a quick, fine thread my heart had not learned to forget. The door opened—Roy had come home!

A faint scream betrayed me. In another moment I was clasped in his arms, the sixteen long years buried in the past. We took no note of time; hours flew on wings. The servant had lighted the gas but dimly, and we had sat unheeding, living over our lost youth. Then came a sudden disturbance in the hall, a peal of silvery laughter, a cry of "Sister Beatrice, where are you?"

In another moment, Ethel burst in upon us. I had but time to whisper, "She knows nothing; do not let her suspect," ere she had turned on the gas full upon us, and stood flushed with happiness and laughter, where its brightest beams fell upon. Never had I seen my darling so beautiful, as discovering a stranger for the first time, she stood half-timid, half-amazed.

"This is an old friend, Ethel, of mine and of your father's. You will bid him welcome, will you not?"

"It is not—it cannot be—baby Ethel?" Roy answered. "Now, Beatrice, I can estimate the lapse of years."

"How young and pretty you look tonight, sister Beatrice!" Ethel said, an hour later, as I entered her room, with Roy's good-night kiss still warm upon my lips, "how handsome your new—old friend is!"

Yes, she spoke truly—how truly, only the pain which crept into my heart, in the days following, taught me.

The years which had wrought in me such change, had but told for the better with Roy. At forty he was a man calculated to win any woman's heart; and I—even Ethel, knowing nothing, called me, laughingly, an old maid!

Since that first night, Roy had not been the same. He urged our immediate marriage with greater fervor, but—What was the but? Did not his words imply an almost feverish eagerness, at variance with his natural calm?

He had been home two months, when, one morning, I ran sadly down stairs to speak a moment with Ethel, whom I thought alone.

Half-way I stood transfixed. The door of the library was open, and I could see within the room. She whom I sought stood, in her girlish grace and beauty, looking up into the face of the man beside her, her eyes all unconsciously telling the story of her heart, his devouring her loveliness, hungry with the desire to tell her of it, full of the suffering enforced silence had brought, but every feature radiant with the expression that, years agone, had dwelt there only for me.

It was a betrayal, not to each other, only to me—to me. I turned and crept—oh, so slowly, so heavily!—up the stairs, like an old woman now, until my chamber was reached.

"Remember we sacrifice all things, nor call it a sacrifice, for our own!"

These words rang in my ears, were written in fire before my eyes. Was not the dead yet satisfied? Had I not done my part? I could not—could not give him up; and yet—and yet he had ceased to love me.

He would never swerve from his word—he would struggle nobly to hide from me the change—he would not let me make the sacrifice, did I call it such; but the cruel truth stared me in the face.

His heart has gone from me. I let a week go by—a week which had added ten years to my age—before I spoke; then quietly, in a voice without even a tremor, I told Roy I wished he would release me, that I believed I was a confirmed old maid, and—well, we had both grown older, and it would scarcely break either heart.

How could he know mine had snapped when it looked upon that picture a week gone by?

He studied me narrowly, keenly; then a sudden light gleamed in his eye, of some great happiness; but he only stooped and kissed me on the forehead, as he said:

"As you will, Beatrice!"

A month after—he had waited, that I might think it a sudden growth—Ethel came into my room one night, her face inspired with new and sudden beauty, in the fleeting glimpse I caught before she hid it on my knee.

"Sister," she whispered, "he loves me—think of it—lone poor little me, and I am to be his wife!"

No need to utter the name; I knew it, but I kissed my darling and blessed her. Was it fancy that an angel from above kissed and blessed me? She never knew she was the jewel once mine. I asked Roy that it might be so.

Her woman's heart might have taught her what his missed, and I would not have one cloud dim her happiness. It is Aunt Beatrice now, with the little ones—her's and Roy's—the old maid aunt, whose hair is silvering fast. Who would dream that ever she held in her heart a grave, or in her life a romance? He only knows who gave her strength to bear and suffer.

"Hark From the Tombs."

The Society of the Army of the Tennessee gave Gen. Grant a grand reception in Chicago on the evening of the 12th inst. Gens. Grant, Logan, Pope, Sherman, Sheridan and Oglesby, and Mark Twain, made speeches. The Chicago News having invited the governors of various States, and prominent southern men, to send in its care congratulations on Gen. Grant's return, received a number of such congratulations, including one from Alexander H. Stephens, another from Gen. Longstreet, and the following from Robert Toombs:

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 12th.

I decline to answer, except to say, present my personal congratulations to Gen. Grant on his safe arrival in this country. He fought for his country honorably, and won. I fought for mine, and lost. I am ready to try it over again. Death to the Union.

R. TOOMBS.

Women on School Boards.

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees for the District of Columbia the question of the application of certain women for placing a woman on the school board was determined. The board adopted a report admitting that there is no legal obstacle to women serving as members of the District school board, but taking the ground that there are grave objections as a "matter of policy," and that the application should be refused. The decision was listened to by Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood and several lady friends, and the former expressed herself very tartly in regard to it.—N. Y. World.

All wrong. The presence of ladies upon a school board is of great value to the cause of education. Take our own city for illustration. We have upon the school board two ladies of acknowledged ability, both teachers of experience, and especially gifted in the knowledge alike of the requisite qualifications of teachers and of the wants of the taught. It would be a positive loss to our community to be deprived of the services of these members, whose labors are constant, and whose duties are performed well, because their heart is in the work. When any question arises they are not obliged to consider any political or personal result depending upon their action, but bring to the determination the single purpose of a practical effort to properly serve the interests they are designated to care for. The school trustees of the Federal city are behind the times, and the sooner they place a few energetic, practical, educated women upon the school board the better it will be for both teachers and pupils. This allowing a "matter of policy" to stop the way in matters of progress is unworthy of the age in which we live.

News and Notes.

Boston—puritan, cultured Boston—has gone mad over the revived Black Crook. There is hope for New York yet.

The pilot regulations of New York have for years been unsatisfactory to merchants, ship-owners and master mariners. Recently one of the oldest and best pilots of that port, Capt. Noble, had a steamer (the Hercules) built for a pilot boat, encountering great opposition from the pilots who own parts of schooners, and from the pilot commissioners, the latter undertaking to say that a steamer shall not be used as a pilot boat. But on Thursday the Hercules sailed, and took position at Sandy Hook. The pilot commissioners state that they will revoke the license of any pilot from her who brings in a vessel. Capt. Noble will then take the case to court, in the meanwhile continuing to take vessels into port. His pilots are all veterans, and ship owners heartily favor their enterprise.

Postmaster General Key has decided that all lottery companies and lottery agents are doing "fraudulent business," and has issued orders forbidding postmasters to pay any postal money order, or to deliver any registered letter addressed to any persons engaged in the business.

There are three persons in the Augusta, Me., jail for debt. One is a well educated young man, whose father died twenty years ago leaving him an estate worth a million dollars. One is confined by the town of Mt. Vernon for non-payment of taxes. The third refuses to pay for a newspaper which he had subscribed for and read; and in contemplating his case the Maine Farmer is inclined to give over its opposition to the system of imprisonment for debt.

At Thomaston, Me., on the 12th inst., two lads, sons of Mr. Robert Snow, were scuffling in their father's house, when a pistol in the pocket of one of them was accidentally discharged, the ball entering the body of a three-year-old child of Capt. W. R. Harrington, who was in care of the family during the absence of its parents. The ball entered between the fifth and sixth ribs, on the right side, coming out on the left of the spine. There are fears that the wound will prove fatal.

The British steamship Joseph Pease sailed from New York Oct. 1st for Marseilles, with a full cargo of wheat and corn on French account, and has not been heard from since. Steamer Telford sailed from New York Oct. 4th for Antwerp, with wheat and corn, and has not been heard from since. It is believed that both have been lost. Both were English-built iron steamers, of about 1,700 tons each, and had crews aggregating forty-seven souls.

Burglars entered the house of Joseph Hinsley on DeKalb street in Chicago, Thursday, and when cornered by him fired three shots, from the effects of which he died. There is no clue to the robbers.

It is announced from Rochester, N. Y., under date of Nov. 13th, that "after a nine hours' conference Courtney and Hanlan have agreed to row a five mile race on the Potomac river, near Washington, Tuesday, December 9th. Each man is to put up $500 forfeit, as a guarantee to start in the race. Mr. Blaikee will be referee. Both Hanley and Courtney expect to start for Washington next week."

J. H. Coombs, a store-keeper of Hopkinsville, Ky., ruined a Miss Ferguson and then refused to marry her. Thursday evening the girl's brother, J. P. Ferguson, shot Coombs dead with a double-barrelled shot-gun, in his own store.

The large t cotton crop ever gathered in Texas in one year, before the war, was 200,000 bales. The crop this year will reach 1,000,000 bales; and the increase is due to white labor.

Martin Calpin dashed into a Louisville house, where a funeral service was going on, and declared that he could whip any relative of the corpse. Peter O'Connell accepted the challenge and was quickly killed with a knife.

Isaac Eranks' pawn shop in Boston was broken into Thursday night, the safe blown open and robbed, and the place set on fire.

Francis Pfeifer, of Otterville, Canada, complained to the New York police on Friday that he had been swindled out of $150 by a man known to him as Charles O. Brooks. Pfeifer had been corresponding with a man who signed himself as C. O. Brooks, with a view to purchasing counterfeit money, and he was induced to visit New York, and in a room, the location of which Pfeifer says he cannot give, he was handed a package which he supposed contained $1000 in counterfeit money, for which he paid $156. He subsequently discovered that the package contained a wad of paper. Pfeifer was recommended to pocket his loss and make his peace with his intended victims at Otterville.

Prudent Stock Speculations.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro rata among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $25 to $10,000 can be safely invested with splendid opportunities for quick profits. An Illinois grain dealer made $13,220.41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $433.14. He made by three reinvestments over $3000. A Wisconsin country merchant made $4,249.16 in four combinations; and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

AROUND HOME.

Viola violated few if any of the rules of propriety, Thursday evening, we hear.

Smelters are having fine sport in the north millpond. Some parties catch ten dozen or more on one tide.

We are sorry to learn that the Kate Thayer concert troupe, one of the finest musical combinations that ever visited our city, are meeting with no better success in other places than here.

One hundred shares of Eastern railroad stock were sold at the brokers' board in Boston on Friday at $29 per share. At the second call quotations were $28.50, $28.25, and $28, the closing transaction being the transfer of one hundred shares at the latter figure.

At the Granite State assembly in Mechanics, hall, Thursday evening, Miss Nellie Carey drew the gold ear drops, and Mr. John Shugrue the ring. These assemblies are very popular and well conducted. Sixty couples were in attendance on Thursday evening.

A young lad by the named of Black, living near the Creek, on Friday fell into the water from the bridge which leads into the Eldredge brewery yard, and barely escaped being drowned. He was rescued by a young man named Mason as he was sinking the last time.

Mr. Henry C. Barnabee has dropped his inimitable character of the admiral in "Pinafore," (though it is possible we may see him in that role at the dedication of the new Franklin theatre,) and has formed a concert company consisting of Misses Beebe and Holbrook, and Messrs. Fessenden, Emerson, Dow and himself.

The opening lecture in the Salem (Mass.) lyceum course was delivered on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., by Hon. S. S. Cox, who will appear at Music hall in this city on the evening of the 26th, in the Rockingham course. The Newburyport Herald says "The lecture was a powerful and elegant discourse on the 'Poetry of mechanism.'"

Steamer Allentown, Capt. Mills, arrived at the Concord railroad wharf Friday noon, with sixteen hundred and fifty tons of coal, consigned to Walker & Co. for the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of Manchester. In half an hour after the vessel had moored to the wharf she commenced discharging, employing fifty men; and in about twenty hours she will be ready to start on her return trip.

John Stover, a young man about eighteen years of age, was coming up the inner harbor Friday morning in a boat loaded with eelgrass, and had got within hailing distance of his home when through some cause the boat partly capsized, and Stover went into the water. The boat soon righted herself, and its only passenger straddled the eelgrass and commenced to "holler" lustily for help, when boats were soon manned, and the youth was rescued from his uncomfortable position and taken to the arms of his happy family.

Viola Clifton's "Mastodon Female Minstrels" had a very large and enthusiastic audience, at Music hall on Thursday evening. As a matter of course the masculine element largely predominated in the congregation, there being only seven white women and one colored lady present. We are informed that the show was a good one of its kind, and that there were not half so many "rough" points in it as were expected—and possibly hoped for—by some of the audience.——There has not been such a remarkably full an attendance of married men at "the lodge" for a year past as there was on Thursday evening last.

Mr. Henry Downing, of Newington, has three turkeys which together weigh ninety-nine pounds, live weight, the heaviest one weighing thirty-five pounds. These birds are all of one brood, and Mr. Downing intends to bring them up to thirty-five pounds each, dressed, by Christmas. They are all engaged by a party in this city. "Shadow," of Stratham, the sturdy champion who insists that his town produces the longest parsnips, biggest potatoes and pumpkins, most remarkable cats, etc., of any place in the known world, is respectfully questioned by the Newington farmers as to how he thinks these turkeys will "do for high."

Manchester gave Lingard a $37.50 house Wednesday evening. Portsmouth could do better than that.

The unsightly stump in front of the National block has been cut down, and the final clearing up around this fine structure commenced.

The schooner Addie and Hattie, Capt. R. J. Davis, was on Friday at Walker & Co.'s wharf, Water street, loading with apples and cabbages for Eastport, Me.

The barn of Willard Tobey, on Poplar street, Dover, on Friday fell into a deep ravine in its rear, caused by the washing away of a bank. Mr. Tobey's house is in a dangerous position.

Mr. Joslah W. Hussey, who had his arm broken several weeks ago while at work on the Franklin block, resumed work on that building Friday. His arm is yet in a sling, and the contractors favor him accordingly.

Mr. David Webster, a reformed man, who has been engaged in the liquor detective business with Thomas E. Drake, is expected to speak at a temperance meeting in this city Sunday evening, in defence of himself and the cause, at some hall to be announced.

On Wednesday afternoon, the 12th inst., Mr. Daniel W. Lynch, engineer at the foundry at South Newmarket, had his right hand caught in the blower while he was engaged in oiling it, and lost the fore and middle fingers down to the first joint of each.

A literary entertainment and festival was held in the Methodist vestry on Daniel street, Friday evening. The vestry was elegantly trimmed with bunting and evergreen, and presented a beautiful appearance. The literary services were very fine, especially so the readings of Miss Giddings. The entertainment was pecuniarily successful, and was enjoyed by a large audience.

Harper's Weekly has a likeness of the late Gen. Hooker. When a slim young beau, stationed in this city, "Fighting Joe" (as he was afterwards called) was engaged to a wealthy heiress—it is said for three-quarters of an hour, until her mother discovered and terminated one of the briefest engagements in the life of the future general. The then young lieutenant "loved and lost," and doubtless in after life agreed

"There's nothing half so sweet in life
As love's young dream."

During the first week in November there were deposited in the Dover post-office (exclusive of mail matter received from other places, for distribution, or to be forwarded to other offices,) 6,159 letters; and a total of 28,059 letters, papers and packages. In Exeter the number of packages of first-class matter mailed during the same week was 2650; of transient printed matter, merchandise, etc., 411; total, 3061. The number of papers, and packages of other second-class mail matter posted at Exeter, is not at hand.

The iron work for the front of the Franklin block arrived and was placed in position on Friday, and the laying of brick on the Congress street walls was commenced. The gallery front of the theatre was raised the same day; the roof of the theatre will be supported by eight heavy trusses, each seventy-five feet long and twelve feet in depth. The dance-hall in the Vaughan street wing will be the largest in the city, and will have two galleries; the roof will be supported by seven trusses. The smaller halls, on Congress street, will be used by various organizations, and are to have all the modern conveniences required by the lessees; the roofs of these halls will be upheld by ten trusses.

SUPREME COURT--BINGHAM, J.

FRIDAY, Nov. 14th.

The case of Smith vs. Brackett was argued on the convening of the court in the morning, by Mr. Frink for the deft., and Charles Smith of Newmarket for the pltf. Judge Bingham's charge occupied upwards of an hour, and the case was given to the jury at about noon. The jury stayed out till five o'clock in the afternoon, when they returned a verdict for the pltf. for $955 11.

Saunders vs. Smith. This is an action brought by John R. Saunders, a trader in Newmarket, to recover the sum of $200 from the deft., under the following circumstances: The pltf. had a brother living in Lowell, Mass., by the name of James Saunders. Some time in October, 1877, the pltf. received a telegram from Lowell, signed "James Saunders," asking him to send $200 to Lowell, as he (James Saunders) had just bought a place and wanted that amount to complete his purchase money. The pltf. thereupon went to the deft., who is an expressman, and gave him $200 to take to Lowell and deliver to James Saunders. The package contained a blank note for $200, to be signed and returned to the sender at Newmarket. The package was addressed to No. 112 Market street, Lowell, which the pltf. believed to be his brother's residence. The money was sent to Boston by Smith's express, and thence delivered to Lovejoy's express, which took the package to Lowell. The delivery clerk at Lowell took the package to the place of address, which was a boarding house, and enquired there for James Saunders; the boarding house keeper informed the clerk that such a man lived there, but was not in; and the clerk left word for him to call at the office.

During the evening a man called at the express office, gave his name as James Saunders, and asked for a package which he said he expected from his brother in Newmarket, to contain $200. Lovejoy's express thereupon delivered the package to the man, who opened it, took out the note and signed it "James Saunders," and gave it back to the express people, who returned it to John R. Saunders at Newmarket. About a month later the pltf. discovered that his brother never sent for the money, never received it, and that the transaction was a forgery of one Sheehan, who was subsequently arrested and convicted of that crime and sentenced to the Massachusetts State prison. The pltf. now seeks to recover the amount of Mr. Smith, the Newmarket expressman, on account of having delivered the money to the wrong person. The evidence occupied all the time up to the hour of adjournment. A. R. Hatch and John Hatch for pltf.; Marston and Eastman for deft.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 14th; Batchelder, J.

Burleigh Tuttle and Jeremiah Marden were before the court, charged with breaking and entering the granery of John C. Weeks in Greenland on the night of Oct. 16th, and stealing therefrom a harness, whip and other articles. At his own request, Tuttle was sworn, and made a statement in which he divulged the whole affair. The accused sold a horse to one McCone of Newington, and threw the harness into the bargain. Marden waived examination. The two men were held in $300 each for their appearance at the April term of the supreme court; Marden procured bail, but Tuttle went to jail.

Certain iron and other work at the new State prison, contracted to be done for $3,500, will now cost over $5,000, such has been the advance in the price of materials and labor.

Political.

The governor of Michigan has appointed Fernando C. Beaman United States senator, to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Chandler.

Investigation into the election at Long Island city shows a most outrageous tampering with the returns, and testimony was given showing a reign of terror and brutal beating visited upon voters on election day, by a gang of repeaters from New York city, headed by a murderer seldom heard of during late years.

There is being circulated in France a pamphlet entitled: "Napoleon is not dead." Lots of democrats in New Hampshire believe the name of Jackson.

The democrats who are setting up the absurd cry that returns are being withheld in the republican counties in the interior of this State in order to "count in" the republican candidates, will please take notice that the counties from which no satisfactory returns have been obtained are, almost without exception, democratic. There is only one strongly republican county from which full returns have not been received, and that is the northern county of Essex. But Schobarie, where the democratic majority is put by intelligent guess-work at 1,600; Sullivan, where it is said to be 600; Rensselaer, where it is called in round numbers 700; Seneca, of which we know very little, and Greene, of which we know absolutely nothing—all these are democratic. The cry of fraud is an ugly one to raise, and invariably hurts that element or that party most which raises it without reasonable cause. The republican party will not cry fraud until it sees fraud, when it will make itself heard very plainly. But meanwhile, inasmuch as the democrats have sounded the alarm, it seems proper to show that, on the very ground on which they accuse others, they are themselves alone open to suspicion.—N. Y. Tribune, 11th inst.

Coal and Flour.

The great interchangeable flour and coal trade between Halifax and Toronto has ended for the season, and probably forever. The last of the fire vessels chartered by Howland & Co. to carry flour down and coal back has arrived here. The total amount of Nova Scotia coal brought into Toronto was 1,600 tons. We are assured by the tory press that Ontario millers have complete possession of the eastern markets. It follows that the quantity of coal brought up this year cannot be increased in future years. For the sake of bringing up that coal, worth to the coal-owner at the outside price $2,000, every ton of the 800,000 tons of American coal brought into Canada has been taxed fifty cents, and the government has promised it shall be taxed seventy-five cents. This year we have been taxed $400,000, and in future years, if the tory government should last, we shall have to pay $600,000, and all in order that Nova Scotia miners may do $2,000 worth of business. If there could be any greater instance of suicidal tomfoolery than the coal tax, we do hope that some other country than ours is answerable for it.—Toronto Globe.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Have speedily and permanently cured Humors of the Skin and Scalp of Children and Infants afflicted since birth.

The treatment prescribed in such cases is mild doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a perfectly safe yet powerful blood purifier, and the external use of CUTICURA, the great skin cure. The CUTICURA SOAP should be the only soap applied to the diseased skin for cleansing purposes.

HUMORS ON A CHILD

Since Birth Cured, after faithful Medical Treatment had failed.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—My little son, two years of age, has had a humor on one side of his face since he was born, which during the last four months has spread over the entire side of the face, the chin, ear, and side of the head. It must have itched and irritated him a great deal, as he scratched the surface a little time, no matter what was applied. I used many remedies by advice of friends and my physician without benefit until I found CUTICURA, which immediately allayed the itching and inflammation, and entirely cured him. Respectfully,

JOHN L. SURRY,
With Walworth Manufacturing Co.

NOTE. Once cured, the skin may be rendered soft and fair by using the Cuticura Soap exclusively for toilet or nursery purposes.

CHILDREN AND INFANTS.

More Cures of Skin and Scalp Affections by the Cuticura Remedies.

Fred. Rohrer, Esq., Cashier Stock Growers' National Bank, Pueblo, Colorado, writes: "am so well pleased with its effects on my baby, that I cannot afford to be without it in my house. It is a wonderful cure, and is bound to become very popular as soon as its virtues are known to the masses."

J. S. Weeks, Esq., Town Treasurer, St. Albans, Vt., says in a letter dated May 28: "It works as a charm on my baby's face and head. Cured the head entirely, and has nearly cleaned the face of sores. I have recommended it to several, and Dr. Thompson has ordered it for them."

M. M. Chick, Esq., 41 Franklin street, Boston, says: "My little daughter, eighteen months old, has what the doctors call Eczema. We have tried 'most everything, and at last have used CUTICURA, and she is almost a new child, and we feel very happy."

PRICKLY HEAT.

Incidental to the Texas Climate.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—Enclosed please find one dollar for a large box of CUTICURA. The small one that I received a time ago has been very efficacious, esp cially in Prickly Heat or Rash, as some people call it. I am solain it about. Yours truly,

THOMAS W. BUCKLEY.
MASON, TEXAS, Sept. 22, 1-78.

CUTICURA is a most valuable external application. It heals all cuts, bruises, and abrasions of the skin, restores the hair when destroyed by scalp diseases, removes dandruff and the red and scaly scales and the air soft and pliable. It is as agreeable as it is effective, and is only assistant in every case by the CUTICURA SOAP, which is pre-tiemary recommended to mothers for cleansing the skin and scalp of infants and children. It is both as well as a Medicinal, and is the most fragrant and refreshing Soap for the nursery and bath of any yet prepared.

Parents have our assurance that these remedies contain nothing injurious to the youngest infant, evidence of which may be found in the certificates of Dr. Hayes and Prof. Merrick accompanying each remedy.

THE CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

CATARRH
THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT
Successfully Treated with
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, causes confidence in a specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People weak and weary and refreshed in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but assume the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outpoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston. Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring the remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The Model Railway.

There is no link in the chain of railway across the American continent, from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, that has played so directly an important part in that great continental railroad, as the link of five hundred miles composing the Chicago & North-Western Railway from the inter-continental metropolis—Chicago—to the Missouri river at Omaha.

In starting westward from Chicago, it was the pioneer to connect with the Union Pacific railway; it virtually made that road practicable, and was substantially the father of it. It thus earned its well deserved title, "The Old Pioneer." That it in a measure exhausted itself financially in its rapid and forced construction across the then unsettled but rich prairies of Illinois and Iowa, accounts for the fact that it was for some time, as its later day and world-be-rivaled smilingly put it, "a streak of rust." Yet its history, on a review, shows it to have ever been, as to time and to absence of accidents, a "Cunard line" for safety, speed and regularity at terminal arrivals. This may be accounted for from its having less gradients and curvature than its new competitors to Council Bluffs, at the same time being the shorter or inside line. It started its trains last from termini and arrived first. It has ever been the most accommodating for the through passenger. This much for its past history.

This last two or three years, in its roadway, its rail, its equipment, has witnessed the most wonderful change of any road in the east or west. It is now the first-class railroad; second to none, the equal, we think the superior, of any, which justly entitles it to the appellation, The Model Railroad. Gravel ballast, white oak ties, steel rails, stone culverts, iron bridges, first-class engines, coaches that are airy and elegant for comfort, having Miller couplings and the Westinghouse steam brakes, and attached to each train is one or more of those marvels of splender, the Pullman Palace Hotel cars, in which the traveler eats and sleeps in more luxurious apartments than old world potentates ever dreamed of. The matchless track, the scientific equipment, has won for this road, for its ease and comfort that mead of praise, the triumph of art in railway travel. Its praises should be ever sung in the far Orient, and especially those near lands that owe so much to the continental railroad—Colorado, Nevada and California, and the distant occident—that all may know of its well deserving of the public's patronage. Quite in place will it be here to say, that that much traveled, observant and skillful officer of the United States army, Major-General Irvin McDowell, in passing over it the other day, on his way to San Francisco, was pleased to say of it: "It is the finest road I ever traveled on, either in Europe or America."

The road has additional praises to those of its excellence of construction, natural location, and perfect equipment, the esprit du corps of its employes lends a charm in their care, attention and gentlemanly deportment, which adds the cap sheaf, grace, to its material perfection.

For the year past it was a road without a terminal detention. Its greatly increasing through travel and immense way business will soon require a double track. —Republican, Dec. 7th 1878.

Pure Grape Wine.

A committee from the Farmer's club of the American Institute have visited Speer's vineyards and wine cellars and they report that the port grape wine of Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, is generally pronounced the most reliable wine to be obtained, and is now being used by physicians who are the most choice in the selection of wines for convalescent patients. The principal hospitals in New York have adopted this wine.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is compounded of the best natural healing extracts of bark, roots and gums in the world. It is a safe and reliable medicine, pleasant to the taste, and cures coughs, colds, asthma, and croup. Price, 35 and 75 cents.

A Cincinnati family were discussing at dinner one day last week some marvelous tricks which they had seen a sleight-of-hand man perform on the previous night. The feat that interested the wife was that of the beheading of the woman, which the professor is accustomed to do with a big knife in full view of his admiring audiences. To the husband, on the contrary, the trick was as plain as daylight, and he playfully proceeded to show how it could be done. A large meat knife lay on the table, and taking firmly hold of his wife's scalp, he drew the edge of the knife across her throat. It was done in the most playful way, and all for fun, but there were serious consequences. The knife was sharp, and a deep gash was made several inches in length. As soon as the family could recover from consternation at sight of the blood a messenger was sent for a physician, who with some difficulty sewed up the wound. The woman will recover, but will always have a deep scar to remind her of her morbid curiosity.

Tilden's Income Suit.

The return to the supreme court of the United States in the case of the United States agiast Samuel J. Tilden has been completed and sent to Washington. The record comprises over 370 pages of printed matter, embracing all the proceedings from the institution of the suit by a bill of discovery, which was filed May 21, 1879. The demurrer and the decision of circuit court overruling the demurrer form a portion of the record.

"The Law's Delay."

In the Merrill will contest, which has been pending for a long time in the surrogate's and supreme court of New York, motions have been made on behalf of the proponents for commissions to take the testimony of one witness in Illinois and another in Rome. A motion has also been made to stay the proceedings in the supreme court until the settlement of the case pending before the surrogate, as the same testimony will be used in both courts.

Letters From A Cat.

The last candidate in the field of child's literature is the volume entitled "Letters from a cat, published by her mistress for the benefit of all cats, and especially for the amusement of little children, by H. H., author of Nelly's silver mine." The work, which has seventeen feline illustrations by Addie Ledyard, is perfected by an introduction, which tells the little folks that the author, with that regard always cherished by true story tellers, is not quite sure that the pussy wrote the letters herself. There is no direct evidence as to their composition; still they are such letters as a "litter-ary" cat might have produced, and will be found of especial interest to the children, who at a certain period of their existence dote on cats, before their evil days come, when with less regard the process of teasing their domestic pets occurs to the boys of increasing years. The cat heroine appears to be of a well bred species, not of the kind which set upon walls and remote additions to buildings at night at a comparatively safe distance from missiles hurled by uncertain hands directed by enraged heads, but one of the highest social position, whose adventures there is a degree of propriety and a historic domesticity which makes the purchase of the book a safe investment of $1.25 by the indulgent parents.

Stocking New Hampshire Waters with Salmon.

Samuel Webber of Manchester, of the State board of fish commissioners, announces that during the past summer the following bodies of water have been stocked with land-locked salmon, in numbers as follows: Sunapee lake, 10,000; Connecticut lakes, 10,000; Squam lake, 10,000; Winnipesaukee lake, 5000; Massabesic lake, 5000; Newfound lake, 5000; Mascoma lake, 5000; Newidrewamcoe lake, Wakefield, 5000; Merrymeeting pond, New Durham, 5000; Nut's pond, Manchester, 5000; Long Pond, Bradford, 5000; Tarleton ponds, Piermont, 5000; Jones pond, Raymond, 5000; Sandwich ponds, 5000; Echo lake, Franconia, 2500; Rocky pond, Hollis, 2500; Chestnut pond, Northfield, 2000; Star pond, Springfield, 1250; Monadnock lake, Dublin, 1250; Stone pond, Marlboro', 1250; Breed pond, Nelson, 1250; South pond, Fitzwilliam, 1250; Long pond, Hunt's pond, Jack pond, Norway pond, Juggernaut pond and Half Moon pond, Hancock, 750 each, and Willard pond, 750.

Under the provisions of the laws none of these fish can be taken before June, 1884. The twentieth salmon has been captured this season at the hatchery in Plymouth, making in all eleven females and nine males safely placed in the storage ponds there. Over 30,000 eggs have been secured from the first lot of spawners at Plymouth. This is believed to be the first large lot of eggs on record taken from artificially planted fish which have returned to the waters in which they were placed to spawn. The great success thus far in the operations of the hatching house at Plymouth reflects much credit upon New Hampshire and Massachusetts, by whose joint action the establishment was secured.

News and Notes.

The Northern railroad pays a dividend of $2.50 per share, Dec. 1st.

An important case, that of Joseph Parker, a livery stable keeper at Holyoke, Mass., against Father Dufresne of the French Catholic church in that city, reached a verdict in the superior court last week. Parker having incurred the priest's displeasure, the latter not only turned him out of the church, but publicly denounced him, and forbade any of the congregation from patronizing him, even going so far as to refuse baptism to a child who was brought to the church in one of Parker's hacks. Parker thereupon sued for damages for malicious interference with his business. The ruling of the judge was strongly in Parker's favor, the court declaring most emphatically that no ecclesiastical authority had the right, under any circumstances, to interfere with a man's business. The jury after two hours' consultation returned a verdict of $3,443 damages.

During the performance of "Faust" by the Abbott English Opera Company at Montreal the other day a portion of the audience gave a novel spice to the entertainment. "Between the acts," says one of the local journals, "the students who occupied the 'cock-loft' sang their college songs in a most hearty and pleasing manner, and the audience were delighted to hear so many voices, without any training, go so well together."

A new iron steamboat which Mr. Van-Santford, of the Albany Day-boat line, has ordered, is to be called the "Peter Cooper." It will cost $225,000, and be a model craft in every respect.

San Francisco and Portland, Oregon, are complaining of the great scarcity of ships and sailors, which occasions delay in the shipment of the vast quantities of wheat and other freights at those ports.

On a capital of $200,000 the cotton mills of Augusta, Ga., pay a dividend of twenty-eight per cent.

The president of a woman's temperance society at Noblesville, Indiana, publicly horsewhipped a man for tempting the husband of a member to drink.

A Denver girl, for diversion, not only engaged herself to marry two men, but appointed the same day, hour and place for a secret wedding with each. The suitors were somewhat disconcerted by each other's presence, as well as by the girl's absence, but they finally came to an amicable understanding to despise her.

The detailed accounts of the fight between the Peruvian ram Huascar and two Chilian ironclads show it to have been a desperate affair; the Peruvian commander and his first and second officers were killed, the third officer disabled and the fourth one dangerously wounded, before the fight was given up; the Huascar was totally disabled and rendered unfit for further service by the Chilian fire, and three-fourths of her crew killed. We want to see Chili win in this war; it is a well-governed country, and has right on its side in the quarrel with turbulent Peru.

A building in New York, containing the office of the Churchman and the factory of the Celluloid Shoe Protector Co., was burned Friday night by the upsetting of a kerosene lamp. The janitor's wife jumped from a third-story window, and was killed.

Myron F. Buell was hanged at Cooperstown, N. Y., on Friday, for the outrage and murder in 1878 of a fourteen-years-old girl for whose hand he was a rejected suitor; he confessed his guilt. Charles Drews and Franklin Stichler were hanged at Lebanon, Pa., on the same day, for the murder of the old man Raber, whose life was insured in favor of his murderers. A colored man was hung at Atlanta, Ga., on Friday, for the murder of a white man.

Belfast, Me., claims to have one of the smartest women on record. She was divorced at the recent term of court, married, and gave birth to a child—all in one week.

Anna Hauck on Friday shot dead Charles Scheur of Newport, Ky., for refusing to marry her. She surrended herself, saying she killed Scheur because he ruined her under a promise of marriage.

A dwelling house at Suncook, owned by A. B. Sanborn of Concord, was set on fire Friday night and wholly destroyed, together with the adjoining house, owned and occupied by Horace Ford. Sanborn's loss is $2000; fully insured. Ford's loss $3000; insured $2000.

New Publications.

The subscribers to the Atlantic Monthly for the year 1880 will be furnished with a fine life-size portrait of Dr. O. W. Holmes on the payment of one dollar. How that modest Bostonian could have been persuaded to sit for this portrait is past comprehension.

The United Service, quarterly: October, 1879. The Messrs. L. R. Hamersley & Co., Philadelphia, announce that, beginning with the new year, their magazine is to be issued monthly, a change which will be undoubtedly as welcome to their readers as the success, of which it is an evidence, is gratifying to them. The military side of the conduct of the magazine will be under the direction of Colonel George A. Woodward, U. S. A.; the naval, under that of Lewis R. Hamersley, as heretofore. The present number of the "United Service" is especially interesting. The leading paper contains the most readable account ever published of the action between the Chesapeake and Shannon, fought in 1813. The paper was contributed by Rear-Admiral Preble, U. S. N. Among the other articles are: "Tents for Armies," by General Gibbon, U. S. A.; "Employment of Field Artillery in the American War of Secession," from the German of Stanislaus Remak; "Naval Education," by Lieut Collins, U. S. N.; "Defects of our Cavalry System," by Colonel Merritt, Fifth U. S. Cavalry; "Selection of Canton," by Commodore Simpson, U. S. N.; North Africa—Proposed Inland Sea," by Lieutenant Schroeder, U. S. N.; "Destruction of the 'Donna Maria Secunda,'" a naval reminiscence, by Medical Director Shippen, U. S. N.; "Advent of Ironclads," by J. H. Coates, and "The English in South Africa," by Lieutenant Reade, U. S. A. The editorial notes, book reviews, etc., are copious and critical, and bristle with points of interest.

To the Citizens of Portsmouth and Vicinity:

THE Undersigned hereby give notice that a MUSICAL CONVENTION will be held in this city, at a date to be hereafter mentioned, provided a sufficient guarantee can be obtained to warrant the undertaking. And it is deemed necessary that at least two hundred season tickets should be disposed of at two dollars (2) each, which shall admit the holder to a reserved seat to all the sessions of the Convention, including all the Concerts, Matinees and Rehearsals. It is intended that the best Solo talent that Boston affords will be engaged, with a chorus made up of singers from this city and other points in this State; also from adjacent towns in Maine and Massachusetts.

A paper for subscriptions can be found at Preston's Drug Store; also at Montgomery's Music Store, for the names of those who will purchase tickets, and it is hoped that all will feel an interest in this matter, and that out of this first attempt, will come a permanent organization, that will hold a Convention annually in this city.

Brackett's water-power cider-mill at Greenland parade has turned out this fall over 800 barrels of No. 1 cider, and is still grinding.

The roads in the neighboring country, after the rains of last week, are almost as bad as in early spring, when the frost is leaving the ground.

Rider & Cunningham will have the store corner of Fleet and Congress streets, in National block, with work rooms in the basement of the building.

Shooting matches are to be in vogue in the neighboring towns, Thanksgiving day; also "clubbing gingerbread matches." Possibly somebody may know what a "clubbing gingerbread match" is, we don't.

Rev. Father Drummond, pastor of St. Mary's church at Dover, had a paralytic shock on Thursday last, and was insensible for some hours. Next day he was reported as progressing favorably, and his speedy recovery was looked for.

The new Odd Fellows' hall in National block will be dedicated about the 1st of January, 1880. The committee having affairs in charge mean that it shall mark an era in the history of Odd Fellowship in Portsmouth. Past Grand Sire Nicholson, of Philadelphia, will deliver the dedicatory address.

The United States steamer Monongahela, Capt. W. E. Fitzhugh commanding, which arrived at San Francisco Nov. 7th after a thirty-five days passage under sail from Yokohama, Japan, had among her officers Ensign Charles J. Badger, Paymaster's Clerk Frank M. Varrell and Sailmaker James W. Wingate of this city.

We judge that archery will soon be out of vogue, and "jumping jacks" the reigning sensation, inasmuch as seven of our most fashionable young ladies were seen on State street Saturday afternoon laughing heartily over one of these playthings, which was being manipulated by one of the fair ones, much to the amusement of passers-by as well as themselves.

Mr. Ezra Amazeen, who has been suffering since January, 1878, from a bone tumor on his right cheek bone, went to Boston for the purpose of having an operation performed, which was done on the 9th of this month at the Massachusetts General Hospital. He lived until Friday, the 14th. Mr. Amazeen was a man of unusually quiet habits, and won the respect of all who knew him. He leaves a wife and three children.

A will was filed in the surrogate's court in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday—that of A. J. George Schultz of Concord, in this State, who died at Rye beach in September. His estate is valued at $100,000. He desired a post mortem examination, in which he requested the physician to examine his heart, left lung and stomach, and before closing the examination wished the physician to make a few incisions in his heart. He asked the above so that his children might be guarded against his diseases.

Arrangements are being made for holding a musical convention in this city, to last five days probably. To that end a subscription paper is now being circulated for the signatures of those willing to aid the object. It is proposed to give four or more concerts, in which some of the finest vocalists in the country will be invited to participate, the Germania orchestra of Boston also assisting. A musical convention has not been held here for so many years that one now would be a novelty for this city, and we hope the efforts now being so vigorously made will result successfully.

Mr. Jas. T. Furber, superintendent of the Boston & Maine railroad, denies in a letter to the Boston Journal that his road has any interest in the Portland & Rochester railroad. It is not true, he says, that the through passenger and freight business of the Portland & Rochester road has been turned upon the Boston & Maine road or any other one road, at Rochester. Mr. Westcott, the manager of the Portland & Rochester road, seems to be operating the road in the interest of the bondholders, for he is getting his local rates out of all business that comes to or goes from the Boston & Maine, the Eastern, or the Worcester & Nashua. The Worcester & Nashua has made a bargain with the Boston & Maine and Eastern, whereby rates are maintained at a reasonable and proper charge for doing the business, which is very much better for the business men than a continued breaking of rates and the giving of special rates to favored individuals. The statement which drew out the letter from Mr Furber was that the Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads had purchased a controlling interest in the Portland & Rochester railroad, at $270,000 for the joint purchase.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. Grant, of Portland, at present in charge of the contractor's work at the Newcastle breakwater, had a very narrow escape from drowning early Saturday morning. He undertook alone to get one of the scows from the breakwater to Murphy's island. The night was intensely dark, and the tide running up; he had covered about half the distance, when a violent squall struck the scow, suddenly swinging it round, causing him to lose his balance and precipitating him into the water. He was very warmly dressed, and enveloped in a heavy ulster reaching to his heels, which rendered his situation precarious in the extreme. The scow drifted from his view, and the darkness obscured the land. He called lustily for help, but none came, and he was well nigh exhausted by his exertions to keep his head out of water when he discovered immediately in his front the second bridge, and resting against the piles, the scow, which had preceded him. With a desperate effort he managed to catch the rail and hold on, but could not lift himself aboard, so handicapped and exhausted was he; again he hallooed for help, and again, no response. After remaining in this condition for nearly an hour, finding himself becoming chilled into helplessness he worked himself along to the bows of the scow, and by the aid of a cleat managed to climb on board, and soon gained the bridge, from whence he made his way to the toll-house, and awaking Major Urch found a warm welcome, change of raiment, food and stimulants for the inner man, and a a warm bed for his exhausted body. Curiosity led to the weighing of the water-soaked clothes, and they tipped the beam at ninety-three pounds.

THE APPLE CROP.

The amount of apples received in this city for shipment alone, will reach thirty-four thousand barrels, divided among the following purchasers:

Mathes & Hayes, 12,000 barrels; Cyrus L. Brown, 11,000 barrels; Samuel Dixon, 4000 barrels; William Downs, 2000 barrels; Nathaniel Wiggin, 2000 barrels; Augustus W. Peirce, 1500 barrels.

Probably two thousand barrels have been shipped aboard small vessels, besides those above mentioned; and the total shipments from this port give a sum of about $60,000 which has gone into the farmers' pockets, from one article of farm produce. Twelve thousand barrels have already been shipped, of which twelve hundred and eight barrels were sent to England by Mr. Cyrus L. Brown. All of the available store-rooms and cellars are being filled, and the apples are sent off as soon as vessels can be procured to ship them. The crop is supposed to be about all sold now.

One New Hampshire farmer has sold to a Saco firm three hundred barrels and fourteen hundred bushels of apples. The same farmer has also sold to other parties fifty barrels of apples and has five or six hundred bushels of cider apples left. These apples are the product of one farm. Evidently the farmers in New Hampshire have immense orchards. This farmer must have raised about 3500 bushels of apples.—Biddeford Times.

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

The following transfers of real estate in Rockingham county have been left for record in the office of the register of deeds:

PORTSMOUTH.

Charles W. Drown, et al., to Hartley W. Mason, land, $225.

Augustus E. Drown, of Boston, Mass., to Hartley W. Mason, land, $75.

EXETER.

Nathaniel G. Gilman, et als., to Daniel Sanborn, 2d, four lots of land on Vernon and Front streets, $1000.

SALEM.

Amos N. Webster to Gilman D. Kelley, land, $800.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Quite a large number of books have recently been added to the Rice Public Library at Kittery.

William Hill of Eliot has recently lost six sheep, Buchanan Stacey two, and Daniel Junkins one, by dogs.

There has been made at Orleans Goodwin's cider mill at York, this fall, two hundred and fifty barrels of cider.

At the adjourned inquest on the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, of Sanford, a verdict of "Death from natural causes" was returned, the medical evidence showing that the reports of foul play in the case were sensational and entirely unfounded.

Five car-loads of sugar beets have been shipped from Kittery depot to the manufactory at Portland within a fortnight.

There is to be a course of six lectures this season in the Methodist church at South Eliot, commencing some time next month.

Col. James M. Stone of Kennebunk, who has been confined to his house for the past three months, has appeared on the street again.

The school at Spruce creek, Kittery, began its winter term on Monday of last week, under the instruction of Mr. Leonard H. Foster, of Eliot.

On Wednesday night of last week the lumber and grist mill of Furlong & Richardson, of Limerick, was destroyed by fire. Loss, $1,200; insured $800.

While the recent snow was lying on the ground, two young men of Kittery started out to track down and kill a wildcat that has for several months been known to have a home in the northern and eastern part of the town. They found the creature's tracks easily enough, and the remains of several rabbits that it had recently killed and eaten, but failed to get a sight at the cat, which is supposed to be the mate of one killed in York woods, near Agamenticus, not long ago.

It is now said that Councillor E. C. Moody, of York, takes a more rational view of the counting-out business than some of his political associates and fellow committeemen, and sets his face like a flint, so to speak, against the wild and senseless scheme. Mr. Moody is chairman of the committee on counting the votes, and possessing more brains than all the rest put together, it is more than likely that things will go about as he makes up his mind to have them. The fact is, he is a smart young man who has too much at stake, politically, to make an ass of himself over the election returns, and therefore we credit the report that he is feminist the whole business. Lawyer Pillsbury included.—Biddeford Journal.

The principal occupation of the inhabitants at Ogunquit is coasting and fishing, but as the harbor is sand-barred, and the channel constantly changing, it is impossible for coasters to go in and out more than half of the time; and when it is the least rough the sea breaks with such fury at the entrance of the river that it would be fool-hardy for small boats to attempt the passage. The question naturally arises does not the large amount of business done upon the Ogunquit river demand the building of a pier by the government so that vessels and boats can pass in and out at all times without danger? We think the business of the river is sufficient to warrant such a move, and we should like to see the attention of Congress brought to the matter, and the necessary appropriation secured. The large amount of fish that are annually caught and sold here is a matter of note. The markets of Great Falls, Dover, Salmon Falls, Portsmouth, North and South Berwick, obtain the major part of their supply from this place, and teams run regularly to furnish them.—Kennebunk Star.

Ample notice has been given, and all who neglect to pay within these 20 days will be liable, without notice, to suit and injunctions, restraining them from use of such wells. WM. D. ANDREWS & BRO.,

Political.

The New York Express, Tammany democratic, says that Mr. Tilden all his life has taken fiendish delight in defeating men by treachery and trickery, and warns the public that he is "unhorsed but not dead." It thinks that he would be willing to spend half his fortune to defeat the democracy next year, and concludes that "there will be no peace to the democratic party, at least in New York, while that selfish, revengeful, treacherous, tricky old man lives and is able to wreak his revenge in mischief."

The elections which have just taken place in several States show conclusively such an augmentation of republican strength as to render if altogether probable that the republicans will be able to elect their candidate for President next year. The greatest question, the one great question now before the country, becomes who that candidate shall be.—N. Y. Sun, rabid democratic.

No man can be elected President of the United States by the democratic party in 1880 who cannot command the united support of the democrats of New York; and no man within the State of New York, unless perhaps Gov. Seymour, who, for reasons satisfactory to himself, neither can nor will accept another presidential candidacy, can command the united support of the democrats of New York in 1880.—N. Y. World, moderate democratic.

—The Chicago Tribune says that a young wife of that city who is anxious to keep her husband home evenings, flatters him about the exquisitely dainty proportions of his feet, and induces him to wear boots about two sizes too small for him. He is on his feet all day long in town, and when he comes home at night she has a nice soft chair and a pair of loose, cool slippers for him, and by the time he, with great drops of agony pearling down his brow, has got off his boots, he comes to the conclusion that there is no place like home after all, and has no desire to go down town to the lodge, or to sit up with a sick friend.

They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 20th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $25 would make $75, or 5 per cent; $50 pays $250, or 7 per cent; $100 pays $1,000, or 10 per cent on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $20 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. THE
New Hampshire Gazette
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea" it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter

THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely spread, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but from the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following uncoloured testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age. If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring the remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1878. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Writing for Charity-Fair Journals.

The following from the December Atlantic has a little of the smack of Mark Twain in its echo:

The autumn tints and the refrain of the pensive postal card admonish me that the season of charity fairs is coming. Each fair will have its little daily newspaper, edited and printed on the premises, and all men and women who earn their bread and butter by scribbling will be asked to write something for that paper,—not for pay, but as a contribution to the good cause. Nothing can more strikingly illustrate the careless esteem, if not the contempt, in which the literary trade is held than the fact that the invention of that impudent idea astonished nobody, and the added fact that it did not hide itself and die, but continues to live and flourish to this day.

The charity-fair people would not think of asking Mr. Vanderbilt to give them a railroad; they would not think of asking the Cunarders to give them a ship; but they have no delicacy about asking me to give a sketch,—whereas those other parties could easier spare a railroad or a ship that I could spare the twenty-five dollars' worth of bread and butter which my sketch represents. If the reader is a charity-fair person, he is receiving a new light at this moment; it never occurred to him before that a mere piece of manuscript was actual money in disguise; it never occurred to him that in asking a twenty-five-dollar author to contribute an article he was asking him to give a sum atrociously out of proportion to his means. In my opinion, the professional scribe who gives an article to a charity-fair journal is a goose. For one or two reasons: one is because he is contributing from a hundred to a thousand times more (according to his means) than anybody else confers on those objects; another is that he has no right to rob his family in such an extravagant way; and a third because sending his article to a charity-fair journal is barring it against adding to his reputation,—for that sort of journal is only a literary hearse. He would do much better to contribute twenty-five dollars in money, and sell his stuff to a magazine; it would be seen, then, and run a chance of advancing him in the public estimation. I always answer charity-journal requests according to my purse and my sympathies. Sometimes I send twenty-five cents, at times even a dollar, when I am strongly stirred, but I reserve my manuscript for the living press. To borrow poor Sancho's words, "I may not be a genius, but I trust in God I am not be an ass."

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family."—A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

Pure Grape Wine.

A committee from the Farmer's club of the American Institute have visited Speer's vineyards and wine cellars and they report that the port grape wine of Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, is generally pronounced the most reliable wine to be obtained, and is now being used by physicians who are the most choice in the selection of wines for convalescent patients. The principal hospitals in New York have adopted this wine.

News and Notes.

The shore end of the new French cable was landed at North Eastham, Mass., on the 15th inst. The final splice was completed on the 17th.

Edward P. Field, General Sickles' representative in New York, in a communication to the New York Star, denies the statement published that General Sickles' daughter had eloped with a man named McCarthy. Mr. Field says Miss Sickles has been very ill for the last four months in Paris, and if there had been any foundation for the rumor he would have been the first to hear it.

Colonel John Hay was on Saturday appointed assistant secretary of State in place of Mr. Frederick Seward, retired in obedience to controlling domestic considerations.

The Cuban patriots have vigorously resumed their apparently interminable war upon their Spanish oppressors. In a battle recently reported they defeated the Spanish, killing and wounding 250. The patriots have an army of 3,000, and it is stated a thousand men are in the mountains awaiting the arrival of the Cuban force. Reinforcements are being pushed forward from Havana to the Spanish troops, and arrivals from Spain are anxiously awaited.

The Kennebec, Me., Journal says: Recently Mr. Charles M. Davis of East Jefferson, one of the county commissioners of Lincoln county, eloped with another lady than his wife, of Waldoboro, and was last heard of in Portland. His term of office expires next January. He has quite a family of children.

Frank Davis, a painters was attacked by unknown parties on the road near Blueball, Butler county, Ohio, and his head crushed by six blows with rocks. His murderers escaped after robbing the person of the victim of thirty cents.

J. M. Jordan, a leading lawyer of Cincinnati, was knocked down Saturday and badly used up in the court house by E. M. Tutmiller, a witness whom he had irritated in cross-examination.

A despatch from Leadville, Col., says that a Denver coach upset and rolled down a precipice Friday night, killing Rev. W. Pickett and seriously injuring nine other passengers. Picket had just completed a church at Leadville.

Mrs. Emily Smalley of Marietta, Ohio, a soldier's widow, drew $1,500 arrears of pensions, and bought a revolver as a protection against robbers. Her ten-years-old son on Friday while carelessly handling the weapon discharged it, killing her instantly.

A schooner loaded with 24,000 bushels of wheat foundered on Lake Erie, Friday, and eight men went down with her.

At the accident on the Old Colony railroad near Portsmouth grove last August, a Fall River man by the name of Robert Wilcox was killed. He was very deaf and considered a subject of charity by his neighbors, who kindly assisted him. On Thursday his relatives broke open his trunk and found between $2,000 and $3,000 in silver therein.

Lizzie Master, of Lawrence, Mass., in jumping from a carriage, Sunday, fell in the road, receiving serious injuries. The girl is nineteen years of age, and went riding with a young man, who, it is alleged, would not allow her to leave the carriage, and she jumped while the horse was going at great speed. Since the accident she has been delirious. Her condition is critical.

A special from Sherman, Texas, says W. P. Greenlaw, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of that place suicided Friday night, by taking morphine. The cause is said to be criminal intimacy between his wife, one of the most beautiful women in Sherman, and Rev. Conrad Haney, one of the most noted and eloquent ministers in Texas. The community is said to be greatly excited over the affair, and threats against the personal safety of the alleged seducer have been made.

B. H. Hadley, secretary of the Business Men's Moderation society, reports that the organization is in a flourishing condition. Among the applicants for membership who were elected last week were two no less distinguished personages than Alonzo B. Cornell, governor-elect of New York, and Benjamin F. Butler of Massachusetts, both of whom wrote autograph letters expressing their desire to be enrolled in the ranks of the society.

It is reported that Mr. Tilden is about to declare in favor of making Chas. Francis Adams the democratic candidate for the Presidency.

Naval Affairs.

The flag-ship Hartford of the South Atlantic squadron, with Rear Admiral Nichols on board, arrived at Vineyard Haven on Saturday, forty-seven days from Rio Janeiro. She took a pilot at Vineyard Haven and sailed for Boston on Sunday morning. She has been absent over two years on her last cruise, having sailed from Norfolk Oct. 13th, 1877.

Comdr. Henry Erben has passed examination for promotion to a captaincy. He fills the vacancy occasioned by the retirement of Capt. Baker, invalided.

The Hartford, Capt. Greer, arrived at Boston on Monday; officers and crew all well.

The United States steamer Swatara, at Boston, will shortly be fitted out for the Mediterranean, and the United States steamer Galena, at Norfolk, for China.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BONNETS AND HATS.

Just think of an owl's head—not a little one either— being perched on a bonnet—the great eyes staring at you. Yet this is what I have seen at more than one fashionable milliner's. As for bugs, if I were to tell you the number I saw on one bonnet, you would never believe me. Who could believe that more than one hundred were gathered together? old and young, big and little. But there they were, not only large as life, but quite as natural, inasmuch as they were all real, genuine Brazillian bugs. Among young ladies there is such a rage for the Derby hat, that it is refreshing to see anything else. The fashionable style is in felt, having simply a band, and either with or without a wing. They are economical enough, since $1.50 will buy a nice one, with wing. Then again there are saucy looking felts having wide brims, and these when bound with some bright colored silk trimmed with the same and finished by a wing, are jaunty and coquettish as possible. Turbans are quite fashionable; sometimes being made with soft crown, and by the addition of a pair of strings may be transformed into bonnets and worn by matrons. A charming bonnet was worn the other day by Mme. Valieria as she came in from driving. It was of dark green satin antique, lightened by rich ostrich plumes shaded from dark green into gold. Drawing off her creamy white kid lace top gloves, she laid them carelessly together with the bonnet upon her Weber piano, and seated herself for some moments' repose in an easy chair, when leisure was afforded for a survey of her dress, which was a Hortensia costume of green striped velvet made with untrimmed lower skirt and panier polonaise of green and gold brocade. She has won greatly upon the New York public and is now, as we all know, a great favorite. I will add that not only Valieria, but all the other leading members of Mapleson's company, are using the Weber piano.

BRIDAL AND EVENING COSTUMES.

White satin is the leading material for a bridal costume. An elegant one recently worn by a wealthy bride, was of white satin made with long, square train, panier drapery extending from the plaited front; square necked basque and elbow sleeves. It was finished with white jet passementerie and embroidered illusion. A boquet of orange blossoms and white crushed roses was placed on the left side of the corsage, from which a spray of buds extended half way around the neck. The veil of illusion falling over the face was attached by orange blossoms and white crushed roses. The four brides-maids wore dresses of white illusion over white silk made demi-train. The corsage square necked basques, sleeves of illusion and silk reaching to the waist. Two were finished with sprays of blue flowers and two with pink. On evening toilettes in general, flowers if used are disposed in bouquets or small sprays, and this to the disadvantage of garlands. But the introduction of gayly colored brocades and embroidered silks has greatly interfered with the employment of flowers. Hand embroidered satins, silks and velvets are indeed among the choicest novelties of the season, and are combined with plain material of like character. Sometimes the embroidery covers the surface so closely that it is scarcely to be seen, and as may be supposed, opportunity is often given for a display of the richest colors. Prices run up to $50 the yard.

FASHIONS IN FURS.

Sets of tiger-cat and leopard skin in the natural colors are noticeable novelties and they are very pretty. Pretty because they are in keeping with the present abandon in the way of color, and also because they are so very different from what we have been accustomed to. Prices too are moderate, since a muff may be bought for $15. I don't say anything about boas, for as it happens, boas are not the thing just now. The rage for silk dolmans trimmed with fur has almost driven out anything around the neck, but if anything is desired it should be an echaipe, a sort of long fur scarf. Little fur bags are exceedingly cunning and of course are worn attached at the side. A pretty set of tiger-cat was worn the other day by Miss Vanderbilt; echaipe, muff and bag. Her costume was the new Clelia skirt and Romelia paletot of mixed cloth. For an indoor wear the Marquise wrapper is stylish, being three-fourths tight and having a panier effect, given by a cut-away jacket. The jacket can be omitted and the design will then be a plain Gabrielle. LUCY CARTER.

In Portsmouth.

To the Citizens of Portsmouth and Vicinity:

THE Undersigned hereby give notice that a MUSICAL CONVENTION will be held in this city, at a date to be hereafter mentioned, provided a sufficient guarantee can be obtained to warrant the undertaking. And it is deemed necessary that at least two hundred season tickets should be disposed of at two dollars ($) each, which shall admit the holder to a reserved seat to all the sessions of the Convention, including all the Concerts, Matinees and Rehearsals. It is intended that the best Solo talent that Boston affords will be engaged, with a chorus made up of singers from this city and other points in this State; also from adjacent towns in Maine and Massachusetts.

A paper for subscriptions can be found at Preston's Drug Store; also at Montgomery's Music Store, for the names of those who will purchase tickets, and it is hoped that all will feel an interest in this matter, and that out of this first attempt, will come a permanent organization, that will hold a Convention annually in this city.

AROUND HOME.

Samuel Gray, Esq., one of the original publishers and editors of the CHRONICLE, arrived in town Monday evening. Mr. Gray is apparently in fine health.

A delegation of sixteen members from Damon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of this city, go to Lowell this (Tuesday) evening by invitation of the lodge there, to work the amplified third rank.

Choate Burnham, Esq., of Boston, is to build on his farm at Gerrish's island two heneries, capable of holding five hundred hens each, though that number will not probably be kept for the present. The lumber for these heneries has arrived at Gerrish's island, per schooner on Sunday.

Dover is to have a literary association; several preliminary meetings have been held, the last one at Hon. Joshua G. Hall's office last week. At the next meeting permanent officers are to be elected. The object of the association is to promote public debates and other exercises.

On Monday evening of next week the officers and several past officers of the Masonic Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, will visit St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, of this city; and brethen from Exeter, Newmarket, Dover and Rollinsford are expected to be present, and all the past masters of lodges in this city. The third degree will be exemplified, after which a collation will be served.

Work is progressing very favorably on the Newcastle breakwater, under the direction of Mr. C. O. Grant, of Rockland, Me. Last week seven hundred and sixty-three tons of stone were dumped in the work, making about three thousand tons now in place. Mr. Grant has much experience in the transporation of stone, and is a practical stone-cutter, having been employed a number of years in the quarries of Vinal Haven, and Harricane island, on the cost of Maine.

We are glad to announce that the prospects of having a first-class band in this city are excellent. Mr. Harlow is meeting with hearty co-operation on the part of our citizens, who remember with pride the old Naval band, whose excellent playing secured it a very high name among the bands of New England, and whose efficiency was in a very great degree due to Mr. Harlow. The new organization will contain many of the best players of the old band, who will move to this city as soon as success is positively assured. The organization will probably by completed by the first of January.

A very interesting and well-attended bethel service was held at Bow Mission hall on Sabbath afternoon, nearly every seat in the hall being occupied; remarks were made by the leader, W. P. Israel, Mr. Williams, S. W. Clarke, D. H. Montgomery, Horace Frye, Eugene Sanborn and Mrs. Chase. The singing was a very pleasant feature, especially the solos by several ladies. These services are growing in interest, and many a hardy sailor finds the bethel a pleasant change from the monotonous life on board the vessel. Since the dedication of the hall over one hundred and fifty sailors have attended the bethel, and probably as many more have attended the temperance and other services held in the hall. The services are free to all, of every denomination; but are intended more particularly for the sailor, and the poor who are not able to attend any other place of worship.

Hon. B. W. Jenness, brother to the late Hon. Richard Jenness of this city, died at his residence in Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 16th. Deceased represented the State of New Hampshire in the United State Senate during the session of 1845—6, and was a delegate in the democratic national convention which nominated Franklin Pierce for president. The Boston and New York papers of Monday say: "The delegation from New Hampshire was devided between Judge Jenness and Mr. Pierce. The president of the delegation gave the casting vote for Pierce." This is incorrect; the name of Judge Jenness was not voted for or thought of in connection with the presidency. The New Hampshire delegation was a unit for Cass for president until the fourth day of the convention, when the name of Franklin Pierce was brought forward and received the solid support of New Hampshire votes. Hon. John R. Reding of this city was a member of that convention.

Dr. Donaldson has gone to Washington, D. C., on a brief visit.

Dr. W. E. Keith, of Franklin Falls, has been spending a week in this city.

Prof. M. T. Brown is to read at Greenland on Thursday evening, the 20th inst.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado lectured in Hyde Park, Mass., Monday evening, on the "Elements of manhood."

Rev. James DeNormandie gives his lecture on Thomas Jefferson at Newmarket on Wednesday evening.

Washington's birthday, Decoration day and Fourth of July, three of our legal holidays, each fall on a Sunday in 1880.

Schooner Henry R. Tilton, of Philadelphia, during her stay in this port last weeks had a new windlass put in by Mr. Warren Keen.

Rev. Edward A. Rand a son of Portsmouth, who has been a leading pastor in the Orthodox denomination, on Sunday renounced that faith and was confirmed an Episcopalian. He will speedily enter the holy orders.—Times.

Ninety-seven vessels, mostly coasting schooners seeking a shelter harbor, passed in by Whales'-back light last Friday. On Sunday sixty-seven coasters sailed out of the lower harbor, all but five of them going eastward; the vessels presented a very handsome picture as they went away with a brisk breeze under a bright sun.

Mr. Daniel W. Sanborn the new superintendent of the Eastern railroad, assumed the duties of the office on Monday. The freight business on the road has nearly doubled in the past six months, and nearly twice the number of trains are now running as compared with four months since. Matters generally are looking up with the Eastern road.

Mr. George B. Mudge, son of George A. Mudge, Esq., of this city, arrived in Portsmouth on Wednesday last after a protracted sojourn in western Texas. The personal appearance of Mr. Mudge indicates the healthfulness of that region. Mr. Mudge brings with him quite a number of interesting photographs of the scenery in the vicinity of San Antonio. The many friends of Mr. Ira A. Stevens, who has been in the company of Mr. Mudge, will be please to learn of his health and prosperity. Mr. Mudge intends returning to Texas after the holidays.

On Monday at noon a salute of minute guns was fired from the navy yard as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Rear Adm. Augustus H. Kilty, who died last week. Admiral Kilty, in June, 1862, he being then a commander, was in commoud of an expedition to White River, Ark. He attacked Fort St. Charles, about one hundred miles from the mouth of the river, and with the aid of a military force under Colonel Fitch the fort was captured. Near the close of the action a shot entered the steam-drum of the gun-boat Mound City, and escaping steam caused the death of more than a hundred officers and men. The commanding officer received a severe scald, which caused the loss of his left arm. He was made a captain July 16th, 1862, and on July 25th was commissioned as commodore. He was in command of the Norfolk navy yard from 1867 to 1870, and received his appointment as rear admiral July 13th in the latter year.

INSTALLATION.

The installation of Rev. William A. McGinley to the pastorate of the North church and parish will take place on Wednesday evening, Nov. 19th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, services being as follows:

Sermon by Rev. Joseph T. Duryea, D. D., of Boston.

Prayer of installation by Rev. Edward Robie, D. D., of Greenland.

Charge to the pastor, by Rev. George B. Spalding, D. D., of Dover.

Right hand of fellowship, by Rev. George E. Street of Exeter.

Address to the people by Rev. George M. Adams of Holliston, Mass., formerly pastor of the North church.

SATURDAY, Nov. 15th.

A motion was filed to set aside the verdict in Griffin vs. town of Auburn, the reasons assigned being an error of the jury in considering the question of costs, and improper admission of certain evidence.

The jury in the case Saunders vs. Smith returned a sealed verdict in the evening.

MONDAY, Nov. 17th.

On the coming in of the court in the morning the verdict, Saunders vs. Smith, tried last week, was declared for the defendant.

Ruland vs. town of South Newmarket. In this case Rev. Mr. Ruland, of Greenland, seeks to recover for personal injuries received from an accident caused by a defect in the public highway, the defendant town being responsible for the defect and consequently for the accident. A jury was empannelled, and left on the noon train to visit the locality of the accident. The court at noon adjourned to Tuesday morning at nine o'clock.

REFORM CLUB MEETING,

David Webster, of the firm Drake & Webster, liquor spotters, was present at the reform club meeting Sunday evening, in Bow Mission hall. Being invited to the platform to make a few remarks, he regaled the audience for about an hour with a rambling speech, in which he attempted a vindication of Thomas E. Drake, claiming that his incarceration in prison is a foul injustice and the result of the combined influence of rumsellers, lawyers, judge and jury. Mr. Webster said that when he was in jail, charged with conspiracy against certain parties in Newmarket, three gentlemen of this city stood bail for him upon condition that he would do all in his power to procure evidence against the liquor dealers of Portsmouth; and it was because of that agreement that Drake & Webster were engaged in the detective work in this city.

The speaker was listened to with remarkable patience by the audience, to the close of his remarks, when Mr. James Janvrin arose, and said that the statement made by Mr. Webster in regard to an agreement made with his bondsmen, was false, as no such conditions were made.

Mr. James Sanborn, who was also one of Mr. Webster's bondsmen, corroborated Mr. Janvrin's statement. Several members of the club being anxious to speak at the same time, there was some confusion, and it was found necessary to adjourn the meeting.

Mr. Webster's impolitic cause has evidently damaged his prospects of making friends with the temperance people of this city, as many of them are indignant because he was allowed to monopolize the whole evening in the manner he did.

RYE BEACH.

The finest looking house on the coast is John Bacheldor's new cottage at Little Boars' head.

Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick has added a third story to the "Rising Sun," and his coat of arms is fixed higher on the front of his establishment.

The great improvements which have been making this fall around the church of St. Andrew's by the Sea, were completed last week. The church yard has been graded, and wide walks prepared. The whole is surrounded by a finely built stone wall. The remains of the late John Colby Philbrick have been removed to the church yard.

In front of the Farragut house is a handsome wall of stone, just completed, replacing one of a primitive kind. This work, as was that at the church, was done by parties from Haverhill, Mass.

GETTING SUBSCRIBERS.

A case of considerable interst to Dover people was recently heard before a referee in that city. Wm. F. O'Neil sued H. H. Metcalf, late proprietor of the democratic State Press, of Dover, to recover for services in procuring subscribers for that paper, complainant swearing positively that Metcalf employed him for that purpose, and Metcalf swearing quite as positively that he never so employed him. O'Nell in his testimony said it was hard work to get subscribers for the Press, and often cost from $2 to $5 to get one! The Enquirer in its report of the case says:

Mr. Metcalf, in the cross examination, wanted to know how it could cost so much to get a single subscriber in some cases. To which O'Neil answered that he often used money to grease the way—getting the crowd together and then "shouting." In answer to a question as to what he meant by "shouting," he said, paying for drinks all round, sometimes three or four times. The inference was that when he got the crowd drunk enough to feel rich, they then subscribed. When asked to gives the names of the places where he "shouted" to procure subscribers for the Press, he first mentioned all the dead rum-sellers, who, of course, could not contradict him; than all the Biddies, and Pats, and Micks, and Rotten-gins he could think of from Lafayette square to "bloody corner;" and when pressed still harder, mentioned all the hotels and drinking places in town, taking them in order, and showing all the familiarity with them of an expert.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

On Sunday night, at Biddeford, as Mrs. James Stanton was leaving her house with a child thirteen months old in her arms, she fell upon the steps, killing the child instantly. Mrs. Stanton was apparently uninjured.

A three-years-old son of Napoleon Tatro, residing on High street, Biddeford, disappeared about four o'clock Friday afternoon, and was found a few hours afterward drowned in a hogshead of water standing before the house.

The first prize of $100, offered by Hon. Stillman B. Allen to the boy of York county who should raise the greatest amount of corn on one-eighth of an acre in the year 1879, has been awarded to Moses Milliken, Jr., of Biddeford, who received a check for the amount of the prize Saturday, with the congratulation of Mr. Allen. The amount raised by him was given in as 1,404 pounds.

Get Out Doors.

The close confinement of all factory work, gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.—Christian Recorder.

Just Your Time

To make money safely, easily and rapidly, is now, while the stock market offers so many splendid opportunities. The combination system has had unprecedented success, and brings good fortune to thousands of shareholders in this and other countries. Investments of from $25 to $10,000 are thus consolidated into one vast capital, and operated by the best skill and experience, result in heavy profits, which are divided among shareholders every month. A New Orleans cotton dealer made $27,649.18 in two months. A Baltimore merchant received an aggregate profit of $9,642.04 from three combinations. A San Francisco mining agent made $22,436.16 from four combinations, his first investment being $100. Others have been equally fortunate. Every day there are new and grand opportunities. New explanatory circular, wish "unerring rules for success," mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.

RUPTURE

DR. J. A. SHERMAN—and the only Dr. Sherman known to the public for the past 35 years or more for his successful method of treating Rupture without the annoyance and injury trusses inflict, may now be consulted weekly at his New York and Boston offices. Dr. Sherman is the discoverer of the only known cure for Rupture by local external applications.

No man is safe who has a rupture, no matter how insignificant he may consider it, for every man who has died from it once flattered himself that it was but a trifling ailment; and every man who wears a truss knows it and the injury it causes, to such an extent that life has no enjoyments, once regarded it as unworthy special attention. It is not a stand-still affliction, it is steadily progressive, even unto death; and he is wise who takes the necessary steps to be effectually relieved of it before the day of suffering and gloom comes upon him. References given to gentlemen in the city who have been cured.

Patients from abroad can receive treatment and leave for home same day.

HIS BOOK ON RUPTURE

gives the most reliable proofs from distinguished professional gentlemen, clergymen and merchants of his successful practice and popularity therefrom throughout this country and the West Indies for the past 35 years or more. The afflicted should read it and inform themselves.

It is illustrated with photographic likenesses of extremely bad cases before and after cure, and mailed to those who send 10 cents. Save this, and remember in writing or calling the address is

Dr. J. A. SHERMAN

251 Broadway, cor. Murray St., New York, and 43 Milk Street, Boston.

In consequence of the great demand for Dr. J. A. Sherman's personal services, he divides his time between New York and Boston—will be at his N. Y. Office on Saturdays, Mondays and Tuesdays; and in Boston, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Tell this to your friends.

The fame of Dr. Sherman, arising from his great success in the treatment and cure of rupture, has induced certain unprincipled men and impostors to represent themselves as Dr. Sherman, the original Dr. Sherman, etc., for the purpose of deceiving and victimizing the unsuspecting.
